

No Dept. Fair Judges This Year

Already plans are under way for Stirling's big Fall Fair, September 19 and 20. At a special meeting of the Agricultural Society, in the Agricultural office, last Thursday night, with Pres. E. J. Pyear presiding, and a fair attendance of members, several important matters were dealt with. Secretary J. E. O'Donnell submitted a letter from J. A. Carroll, Fairs Supt., Toronto, which stated that the Ontario Department of Agriculture would not supply the Society with Judges this year. For many years government judges have been available to Agricultural Societies for Fall Fairs, at a small expense, but have been withdrawn this year, giving "economy" as reason for the action. Assistance will only be given to some fairs in Northern Ontario.

After hearing this news the meeting appointed a committee, composed of Pres. Pyear, Secty. O'Donnell, T. Montgomery Sr., Wm. Fitchett, M. Shea and Jos. Wilson, B.S.A. to make an investigation and submit a list of capable judges at a future meeting. There is no doubt that competent and experienced judges can be secured in this district.

The Government has also decreased the grant to fairs. This year only donations given by municipalities in which the fair serves, will be taken into consideration when the grant is made. In some cases the government may give dollar for dollar in aid grants. In the past it was a percentage of the prize money paid out.

The meeting felt that some means should be developed whereby the Society would make money other than from the fall fair. With this in view the Entertainment Committee, composed of A. S. Murdoff, chairman, R. T. Dunlop, W. J. Whitty, E. J. Pyear, J. E. O'Donnell and A. E. Dobbie were instructed to investigate the possibility of securing George Wade and his Cornhuskers for a dance either on the street or in the Fair building, some time in the near future.

As a holder of the mortgage of the Fair Grounds desired the money for same arrangements will be made to secure the money elsewhere. Mr. Harry Sheridan was given a lease on the fair grounds, for pasture, for three years at $35 per year.

Watch for further announcements regarding dance or other entertainments sponsored by the Society.

NEW GARAGE

Mr. J. E. Salisbury, who formerly conducted a garage for general car repairing in the building north of the News-Argus office, on North Street, has opened up a car repair shop in the south side of Lawrence's Service Station, corner of Front and Mill Streets.

DIVISION COURT

Division Court was held in the Court Room, Public Library, on Tuesday morning, with Judge H. A. Lavell of Kingston, presiding. Considerable interest was shown in the cases, and the court room was crowded.

The case of Miss Ruth Emerson vs. G. Thompson, of Moira, arose over a judgment of suspended sentence against plaintiff last fall, at a court case, the result of a quarrel and strapping of two pupils at her school. However an appeal was allowed by consent of both parties, and at Tuesday's court the suspended sentence was lifted and each party assessed their own witness fees.

Robt. Redcliffe, Wooler, vs. Dr. Hollowell, Sydenham, over an account owing plaintiff when he was in the garage business at Springbrook. This case was transferred from Wooler and Redcliffe was given judgment for claim and costs.

R. H. Williams, Stirling, vs. Geo. Wallace, Rawdon, for an account. Judgment was given in favour of the Plaintiff.

The cases of Jesse Barlow, Bonarlaw, vs. W. A. Bateman, Rawdon and R. W. Fleming, Springbrook, vs. H. F. Bateman, Rawdon, proved to be a mix-up. C. F. Linn had a chattel mortgage against H. F. Bateman. A sale for taxes brought the mortgage due, and a considerable amount was left over from the sale. R. W. Fleming garnished the amount for a feed account against Bateman, and W. A. Bateman had taken three cows from H. F. Bateman, to pay for his note. However, Jesse Barlow had a claim against the latter and took action against W. A. Bateman. The result of the cases were: Jesse Barlow vs. W. A. Bateman—Judgment in favour of plaintiff. Defendants to deliver cows in 5 days or pay $90. R. W. Fleming vs. H. F. Bateman, judgment for plaintiff.

BOARD GASHES FACE

While rolling logs at his saw mill on Emma Street, Mr. Frank Stapley received a nasty gash over his right eye, when a piece of a board struck him. A small artery was severed and medical attention was required.

STORES OPEN SATURDAY

Next Saturday, the King's Birthday will not be observed as a holiday by Stirling merchants, and the stores will be open for business all day. The banks and the Post Office will observe the day as a Statutory holiday, but a mail delivery will be made as usual on the rural routes.

DECLINES CALL

Rev. E. W. Rowland, of St. Paul's United Church, has received a call to a United Church in Napanee. The members of Mr. Rowland's congregation, along with his many friends in the district, will be pleased to learn that the invitation was declined and that he will remain in Stirling.

CUTS HAY IN MAY

We feel sure the honours for the first hay-cutting in this district goes to Mr. Arnold Wannamaker, proprietor of Stirling Dairy. Yesterday Mr. Wannamaker mowed hay, and with the recent rapid growth, there is a fine crop. Hay cutting in May is most unusual and is about three weeks earlier than the regular season.

RECEIVED INTO CHURCH

Preparatory service was held in St. Andrew's Church on Friday evening when the following new members were received into the church: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wilson, Miss Emma Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Disbrow, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Eggleton, Mrs. Koffend, Mr. Louis Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rolins, Donald Ward, Alex Nathan, Mrs. S. McIntosh, Mr. Harold Foster, Mrs. Whitehead, Christina Fargy, Marguerite Rosebush. A number were on certificate.

FLOWER SERVICE UNIQUE

A unique service was held in St. Paul's United Church, on Sunday morning in the form of a special flower service. Rev. E. W. Rowland chose as his subject "Consider the Lilies". Appropriate music was rendered by the choir and a solo, "Leave it with Him" was sung by Mr. G. L. Clute, choir leader, accompanied by Miss Grace Pitman at the organ. The pulpit was surrounded with beautiful flowers, among which was a most artistic bouquet placed by Mr. Thos. W. Solmes, in honour of his mother, the late Mrs. M. Solmes, who had passed away one year ago that day.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

The closing night at St. Andrew's Guild was a most enjoyable one indeed. The enthusiasm and spirit of the meeting speaks a bright future for next year's meetings. The program had been arranged largely by the President, Mrs. R. W. Meiklejohn, who in no small part was responsible for the success of the evening. After the usual devotional period, Mr. J. Wilson put on the principal feature of the program, moving pictures, which consisted of a comic for the children and a comic for the grown-ups. Much appreciation was expressed by all to Mr. Wilson for his very fine contribution to the program. This was clearly evident by the hearty applause from young and old. Mr. A. S. Murdoff expressed to Mr. Wilson the thanks of the Guild. A duet, "Sweet and Low" was sung by Mrs. A. S. Murdoff and Mrs. R. Eggleton. A musical drill, in which the various occupations such as sawing, hammering nails, mixing cake, rocking cradle were set to music, was then staged. A dress-making contest in which those taking part displayed wonderful sewing ability, caused much merriment. Mr. Alex Nathan made a dress with Rosa Spry as his model and won first place in the competition. Mr. W. L. Anderson, with Mrs. J. Whitehead as his model, held second place. Rev. J. Koffend, with Mrs. C. Baker as his model held third place and Harold Baker, with Lena Ward as his model, carried off the fourth prize. In these days of unemployment we can readily anticipate greater unemployment for the lady dressmakers of Stirling, with these gentlemen taking first place. Miss L. Smith put on a musical number entitled "Memories". Mrs. T. Spry occupied the centre of the stage with her old-fashioned photograph album reflecting over the days gone by as a number of old stage songs, a few of the old-time songs. A car contest was most appropriate as the four Guild sides for the year represented well-known cars and brought the meeting to a happy close. Lunch was then served and a social hour spent.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Tucker
Married Sixty-Five Years

Will Observe Anniversary Next Tuesday — Have Seen Rawdon Grow from a Wilderness into a Rich Agricultural Section — Mr. Tucker Relates Some Activities in the Early Days.

Next Tuesday, June 6th, Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker, of Rawdon Township, near Sine, will celebrate their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary. This will indeed be a most unique event in the lives of this grand old couple. For sixty-five years Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker have enjoyed a life that is rich in pleasant memories and one that has had more than its share of good fortune. They have been blessed with good health, a fine tolerance for the weaknesses of others, a fine family and a love for each other that is a lovely thing. To see and converse with them, as was the privilege of a press reporter gives one a conception of the early pioneer life of this county that is privileged to few.

They have watched the years go by and in that time have seen the wilderness that comprised Rawdon Township give way to a rich, populous region that compares most favourably with any other that one may have in mind — Hard work — perhaps labour is the better word — was the lot of the early settlers, but to them it was not so bad as the people of today imagine. They had, however, their pleasures that helped to lighten their lot and they looked forward with keen anticipation to evenings devoted to dances to the tune of the fiddle, to husking bees and to the infrequent visits to relatives and friends. The social life of the early days was purely local and as a rule centred around the church. It was impossible to travel very far for roads were primitive in the extreme, being, in the most part, corduroy, and oh, how rough for the passengers riding in springless lumber wagons. At the time of Mr. Tucker's birth, there were very few horses in general use and oxen were the beasts of burden.

It was during this stage of development of the new settlement that Mr. Tucker was born, on August 20th, 1843. Mrs. Tucker was born a few months earlier in Huntingdon Township and not far from Moira. She was Miss Eliza Nicholson, daughter of another pioneer family.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tucker are very much younger appearing than might be imagined and, while figures are dangerous when mentioned in connection with the fair sex, it might be said that Mrs. Tucker appears to be twenty years younger than she is. They are mentally alert and what a pleasure it was to listen to them reminiscing and recalling in a very descriptive way early days, early scenes and the joys and sorrows of their life together.

Mr. Tucker was born in a log cabin not far west of Sine and was the youngest of a family of nine — four brothers and four sisters. His father was Luther Tucker, who left New York some years before and settled at Sine. There he laboriously cleared the land by cutting down the trees, mostly beech and maple, allowing them to dry and then firing the lot. There was no thought of conservation for wood was so plentiful. Of course, some of it was split and used to fence in fields as they were cleared.

WALKS REPAIRED

Some broken spots in the sidewalks have been repaired in certain sections by the Street Committee of the Village Council. The Henry Street crossing at Mill street, has also been repaired. A new stretch of sidewalk has also been laid on the east side of Station Street in front of Councillor Cranston's house.

LIBRARIAN HOME

Miss Gladys Joblin, local Librarian, who recently underwent a serious operation in Belleville hospital, returned to her home on Friday. After leaving the hospital she visited with friends in Bayville. Her many friends will be pleased to learn that she is making a rapid recovery.

One of the earliest recollections was the sight of three or four wolves pulling down a sheep in the pasture field some distance from the log cabin. His father and some one else set out in pursuit with guns but to no avail. This occurred when he was about ten years old and was the only time he ever saw wolves. There were plenty of deer in the woods nearby, as well as partridge and Rawdon Creek teemed with brook trout. Truly, the old timers did not labour all the time.

He recalled that the chimney leading up from the fireplace was composed of hardwood staves laid flatwise and chinked with mud and clay to protect from the sparks and heat. This was always a worry to his parents and occasionally the improvised chimney did catch fire and had to be immediately doused with water kept ready for that purpose. All the cooking was done at the fireplace by means of large kettles swung on a crane and bread was baked in a covered pan that was set on wood coals with fresh coals placed on top. Food was plentiful but many items were not as cheap as they are today. White sugar was expensive and maple sugar was used extensively. Instead of preserving fruits and vegetables in glass jars as is done today, they were dried either in the sun or by the fire and stored away in crocks. Most of the clothing was woven at home and the making of this up into suits and dresses was a real chore in itself, but in those days was considered just another part of a day's work.

The barns, Mr. Tucker recalled, were very primitive, being for the most part composed of three log-built walls, open at the south side and covered with a thatched roof. As saw mills came into being, the counterpart of the modern barn was built throughout the country. Despite this cattle wintered well and by spring had a heavy coat of hair. As has been pointed out horses were not in general use and consequently barns did not have to be as warm as is now the case.

Having reviewed conditions as have been given above, Mr. Tucker settled back on the couch and continued to reminisce in a general way. At times Mrs. Tucker put in a few words and it could be seen that she genuinely enjoyed the interview and frequently recalled events to her husband. He continued:

"Life hasn't changed much during the past three-quarters of a century. People are essentially the same. Habits and living, though, may have changed. Perhaps we have become a little softer — less ready to do things for ourselves such as our fathers considered part of the daily chores not so very long ago. That's to be expected," he added.

He might have been thinking of the house his father had hewed from a tangled wilderness over one hundred years ago, using his bare hands and a few tools, sand and mud as mortar to chink the walls of the log cabin, and hold the stones of the massive fire place in shape. Or the days (Continued on Page Two)

GOES TO WINCHESTER

Mr. E. J. Spinks, Principal of Norwood High School for the past year, has resigned to accept the principalship of Winchester High School. Prior to going to Norwood, Mr. Spinks was principal of Stirling H. S. for two years.

AN OLD COIN

Mr. David Bell, employed by Mr. Manson McConnell, Mount Pleasant, found an old coin while working in the field one day last week. The money-piece was about the size of a present-day Canadian cent, and on one side were the words "Wellington, Waterloo 1915", and also a picture of a galleon.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. William Ed. Fitchett announce the engagement of their only daughter, Mary Olive, to Mr. Alfred Edward Strickland, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Strickland, of Picton, Ontario. The marriage to take place the latter part of June.

MUST HAVE GUN PERMIT

On and after today, June 1st, all persons other than farmers on their own lands, hunting, must have a gun permit, under the ruling of an order-in-council recently passed by the Ontario Legislature. Anyone hunting without a permit will be fined.

HUME FAMILY REUNION

A family reunion of the Hume family took place at the home of a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rennie, of Menie, on May 24th. Those present were Mrs. Bissonnette, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hume, Burnaby; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rennie, Guelph; Mr. Wm. Hume, Campbellford; Miss Hume, Stirling; Mrs. Jack Deakin, Fort William (niece), Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rennie, nephew and niece, and little Jean Rennie, 10 months old grand niece, all of Menie. A very fine luncheon was served at twelve thirty p.m. to which ample justice was done. The afternoon was spent in social intercourse. A snapshot of the group was taken. The only one of the Humes absent was Mr. J. P. Hume, principal of Goderich high school. The day was ideal and a very pleasant day was spent.

DIST. BOWLING CONTESTS

The following are the 1933 tournaments for District No. 15, of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association. Tuesday — Men's Rinks, June 21. Deseronto — Men's Rinks, June 23. Belleville — Scotch Doubles, July 3. Picton — Men's Rinks, July 12. Brighton — Men's Rinks, July 19. Hastings County League Play-offs — Aug. 2. Stirling — Men's Rinks, Aug. 7. Deloro — Men's Rinks, Aug. 16. Belleville — Men's Rinks, Aug. 23. Kingston — Men's Rinks and Scotch Doubles, Aug. 30. Provincial Playoffs — Belleville, July 26.

Entries for all tournaments, with the exception of Provincial Playoffs, must be in the hands of secretary of the clubs, by 8 o'clock on the evening previous to date of tournament. Provincial playoff entries must be in hands of District Secretary by July 19th.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Board of Education met on Monday evening with Chairman J. B. Belshaw, J. S. Morton, H. C. Martin, Dr. H. H. Alger, Walter Wright, C. R. Bastedo, E. G. Bailey, E. Luery, C. F. Linn, E. W. Bailey and Dr. C. F. Walt present.

The matter of swings for the Public School was discussed, and it was decided that chain swings would be purchased, they being stronger and of little extra cost. The rope swings, now in use have to be replaced quite frequently and it was thought the chain would outlast the rope.

The matter of prizes for the manual training and household science exhibits; also art exhibits, at the Championship School Fair was discussed. It was thought advisable to have even a small prize as an incentive to pupils in this class of work. Last year this exhibit was a very creditable one, but as the exhibits were not judged there was considerable disappointment felt by the pupils whose work was exhibited. The Board felt that a small grant for this purpose would be most acceptable.

BIRTH

JOYCE — On Sunday, May 28th, to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Joyce (nee Florence Fairies), of Foxboro, twin sons.

KERR — In Deloro on Monday, May 29th, to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kerr Jr. (nee Dorothy Haacke), a son, William Jack.

Local Bowlers
Open Season

The official opening of the lawn bowling season in Stirling was carried out last night at the green. After welcoming many new bowlers and the former members, President Thos. W. Solmes declared the greens open. It was most pleasing to the officers to have such a good turnout for the opening game, and it is to be hoped many more will take part in this great old game. Thirty ladies and gentlemen, many of them for the first time, were on hand when the skips called for the first Bowl to be placed on the Jack. One game of fourteen ends was played, after which the ladies served tea and sandwiches in the Clubhouse. "And was it enjoyed!"

Judging from the number who turned out last night, and who intend to bowl this year, the club is headed for the best year in its history. The greens, although somewhat heavy, are in excellent shape and much credit is due the caretaker, Mr. Carl Conley, both for the care of the greens and the clean orderly appearance of the clubhouse. It is expected that a telephone will be installed at the clubhouse next week. The membership of the Club this year will be almost double what it was last year, but there are still many more in the village and surrounding district who should bowl and whom we know would enjoy the game. You will be made welcome any night at the greens.

As far as possible one night each week will be set aside for mixed bowling, and Monday night, June 5th, at 7.30 sharp, the next tournament will be held. Tomorrow (Friday) night at 7.30 all the men are asked to be on hand so that rinks can be arranged for the summer tournaments.

SPRINGBROOK VS. HOARDS

On Tuesday evening Springbrook met Hoards in their first home game winning the tilt. Both teams played good ball, but Bateman showing some of his last year's speed and control made victory more easily obtained for his team. There were few hits in the outfield, most of the play being in the infield. The Springbrook lineup is as follows:

Williams, c.; Bateman, p.; M. Mason, 1b.; B. Heath, 2b.; G. Bailey, 2b.; G. Haslett, ss.; Morton, 1f.; Burkitt, cf.; G. Heath, rf.

CURRENT COMMENT

A man may have reasons why he should deceive others, but we cannot understand why he should try to deceive himself.

Deseronto Post — If more money were spent on house paint than on face paint, the beauty of the paint job would be more lasting.

Remember folks! — Your enemies want to do you harm, but usually can't — and your friends are not supposed to do you harm, but they can.

Welcome June! — The month of brides, etc., etc. May closed yesterday with a burst of mid-summer weather, which, we hope, is a foretaste of what the summer has in store.

The News-Argus has been highly commended for its gift of three months' free subscription to paid-in-advance subscribers, as announced in last week's issue. We are pleased to note that our efforts to show our appreciation for the loyalty of subscribers is being received as we hoped it would be.

It is too bad some means could not be developed whereby a searchlight would be erected on top of the permanent waterworks tank as suggested by a rural subscriber. This is a project that could be undertaken by an active Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade — but then Stirling has neither.

Madoc Review — There was a time when we were boys at school, the teacher very emphatically impressed on the mind of all, the evils of shooting at birds, especially at mating time. The same may hold good even now, at school, but if not, a word from the teacher might go a long way toward protecting our feathered friend.

The "Welcome" signs on the roads entering the village are anything but neat and tidy. A good act on the part of the local Hydro Electric Commission, would be to instal electric "welcome" signs, similar to those we have seen in other towns. The letters on the sign would be "Welcome to Stirling" and they would appear in electric lights at night. This would be a most acceptable gift to the Corporation from the Hydro Commission and would show an ideal spirit of municipal co-operation.

The City of Kingston seems to be determined to keep itself in the limelight. Some time ago the Portsmouth pen riot created considerable newspaper copy. This "noise" had been practically silenced and the limestone city was being forgotten by the outside world. However, the unemployed there came forward and to still keep the city before the world at large, they rushed the City Hall last week to protest against relief allowance being discontinued. Considerable damage was done to the civic building and we feel sure that such actions are the wrong way to have grievances rectified.

"Slow and Easy" is the slogan for the new dances. Those hectic, racing dances, which left the participants all out of breath, will give way to the smoother, more graceful dances of slower tempo. The crowded dance floor, and not dignity and decorum, are to be credited with the change. Dance steps are to be simplified, that every man, woman and child may learn them readily. Gyration, elbows, knees and feet; jerking, jiggling, jouncing, bounding and bouncing are passing out with the jazz age, which we have just left behind. With smoother "antics" in the grand fantastic, dashing young heroes should not feel so tired when they have to get up in the morning after a dance.

It is a "17-ix 77-ix" (reader, use your own expression) shame that Stirling has not a Police Magistrate! Why? Who is at fault? Why should we have to depend upon the judgments of magistrates in Belleville and Madoc? Surely Stirling has at least ONE man intelligent enough to be able to execute the duties of a P. M. With the appointment of same delayed or ignored it certainly is a slam on the mental efficiency of the male species of this village. What's wrong? Is it jealousy on the part of some citizens, or have some citizens too much to say as to whom should fill this position — why the delay? A couple of years ago a capable man was chosen and was thought this matter was settled, but apparently someone put a "wrench in the Government appointment machinery" and the appointment was shelved. Stirling needs a Police Magistrate and an appointment should be made at once.

A Public Drinking Fountain

Now that Stirling has permanent waterworks, how about installing a public drinking fountain in front of the Memorial Park or somewhere in a convenient place, in the business section? Such a drinking place would no doubt meet with the approval of both local and rural residents.

Perhaps a local organization would take over the responsibility as to cost of a fountain, and no doubt the Village Council would be willing to co-operate in the installation of such an asset. Automatic shut-off fountains can be secured, thereby eliminating the unnecessary waste of water.

The water could be shut off in the Fall and turned on each Spring. It is to be hoped this suggestion will become a reality and if Stirling's outstanding Women's Organization, the W. I., would get behind the project, no doubt their efforts to raise the necessary monies would receive the wholehearted support of the citizens of the Community.

The Value of Farm Land

What is good farm land worth? An Englishman, a friend of ours, stated not long ago, that the best land in England, where the average production per acre of all crops is much higher than in Canada, the markets are at the door, the growing season is longer, and the climate generally more favourable, can be bought for $100 or less per acre, when it can be bought at all. With an experience of two thousand years behind them, English farmers are pretty likely to know what values are. We doubt whether any land in Canada can earn interest on a very much higher valuation than that, except in a very few highly favoured spots and then only by intensive cultivation of high priced perishable fruits and garden truck. One of the principal causes of much of the present trouble of farmers is that they paid, or promised to pay, more for their land than it was worth, and their mortgages represent more than the actual value. Land, like anything else, is worth only what it can earn.

Sunday Rural Visiting

A very timely protest is made by the Hanover Post against the way in which country people are frequently imposed upon through the "Sunday visiting" practice which has grown tremendously with the greater facilities for travel afforded by automobiles. Residents of the rural sections are often made the goats in this Sunday exodus from the cities and towns, and this fact is borne out in the country correspondence appearing in weekly newspapers.

Last week one correspondent of the News-Argus recorded the fact that no less than ten people were at one home on Sunday in her neighbourhood, and they were from urban points. Perhaps they were invited, but more likely they just dropped in unexpectedly. Farmers as a rule are a hospitable class, but there would appear to be reason to believe that this hospitality is often imposed upon. When urban residents swoop down upon them to the number of ten, or twenty, what does it mean to the farm family? It may entail an expenditure from which the farmer may be glad to be relieved at the present time and it also means a great deal for the women folk—and they are as much entitled to a day of rest as anyone. One wonders what would happen if some Sunday afternoon a farmer and his large family called at a home in Stirling or some other town or village in this district, and announced that he would stay for supper.

recalled as Mr. Tucker leaned back and dwelt on the clearing of Rawdon Township.

His father, he recalled, was the first man in that district to use a team of horses. These animals were brought from the States across the ice near Ogdensburg, in mid-winter, and created a sensation when they finally reached Rawdon. Then everyone wanted to get horses, but their entry into the township was slow, for a long time afterward, and the oxen still held their own when it came to ploughing and even carting the grain to the grist mill in Stirling.

"The oxen were stolid, and quiet appearing animals," recollected Mr. Tucker, with a deep chuckle, "but they had their own way about doing things too. And, when they didn't want to do a thing they were smarter than a horse in finding a way out of it."

"Back of our barn we had a sort of swale, with a pretty deep pond of water, just a little too deep for a man to wade it, and the oxen seemed to know it. One day I had yoked one of them up to do some ploughing, and started off to the field. The old ox thought differently. When I attempted to reason with it, with a switch in my hand, the animal broke loose from the neck yoke and then ran for the pond, plunged in and stood right in the middle of it, looking at me."

Horses, when they arrived, seemed such a novelty that those who had them often made a bet that a team would do more ploughing in a given time than the oxen. "But the oxen generally won out. They could plough in an hour more than a horse could, and they drew a straighter furrow."

Memories of wheat at two dollars and over a bushel in the year 1865 are still fresh in the mind of Mr. Tucker. Fall wheat in that year sold at the lowest for $2.10 a bushel. Spring wheat averaged just $2. And the millers in Cannifton, where they hauled it — a good day's trip for a stout team — were anxious to get it. "Ever come back to that price? Hardly. We may see it a dollar a bushel some of these days, but I think that year will hold the record for price. You must remember that a lot more land is under cultivation now than there was then."

To the average motorist who speeds over the hills in that district in fast motor cars nowadays, it is hard to realize that eighty years ago, from Sine to Stirling one would count on the fingers of one hand the number of houses to be passed. And it was years later that the road really began to show signs of building up. A few taverns were the first to make their appearance.

Although a teetotaler and non-smoker all his life, Mr. Tucker remembers the fighting and drinking and swearing and carousing that went on along the length of the road from Stirling to Marmora in those early years.

"There were five taverns from Stirling to Marmora and generally they were pretty well filled. And besides the taverns there were probably a dozen grog holes along the line where a man could fill up while the team waited outside. Then when he did come out he was just able to hang on to the wagon while the team pulled for home. They had the best of it in these days in that respect, anyhow. Nowadays it would be a pretty good car that could take the driver home in the same circumstances."

If you became sick in those days the unfortunate one had to wait for a considerable time before the doctor could put in an appearance. Mr. Tucker still remembers the rounds old Dr. McLean used to make of the district in a saddle on his favourite horse. His method was more of a prevention than cure and meant a good word of advice he used to pass along free of charge to his non-paying patients. Only when the circumstances warranted it was the medicine produced. Old-fashioned remedies that stood in the chimney corner of every home speedily cured the pains of colic or other attacks of the Lardy pioneers. Hard food and hard work did the rest, he recollected.

In his early twenties, Mr. Tucker met the girl who was destined to be his life companion at a church social at Stirling. After a short courtship they were married in June, sixty-five years ago. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Amos Campbell, who was in charge of the Sine circuit at that time. The union was blessed with four children, three of whom are still alive. Mrs. Harry Sarges, of Alberta; Mrs. (Dr.) Chas. Greff, of New York City, and a son, Burton, at home, now carrying on the work of the farm. Mrs. Tucker has one sister, Mrs. Edmund Caverly, now residing on Anne Street, Belleville, and another sister, Miss H. Nicholson, residing on the Trent Road, Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker have always been members of the Methodist Church and only recently have they been unable to keep up with the demands of active participation in the various activities of social life in connection with the church. Mr. Tucker confesses that he never quite had the time to join any lodge.

In the twilight of life this hardy couple await the future in all confidence, trusting in the benevolence of a kind Providence that has spared and kept them together down through the years. The News-Argus joins with their many friends in extending to them every good wish for their welfare and congratulations on the sixty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

WHAT'S SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE

(Oshawa Times)

President Roosevelt has intimated that the United States is going completely off the gold standard, that its obligations, both domestic and foreign, will not be met in gold, where gold is specifically named as legal tender, but in paper dollars.

This opens up a problem which might have serious international complications. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander, and the nations who are debtors to the United States for hundreds of millions of dollars might well say that they are going to follow its example, and refuse to pay these war debts in gold. It would be quite in order for them to say that they are going to use their own paper currency to meet these obligations.

The United States might not like that. International exchange is in such a state of flux at the present time that there is no stability, and the country to the south might have by far the worst of such a bargain.

This stresses, more than ever, the need for a stabilization of world currencies when the world economic conference meets in London on June 12. Until there is such a stabilization, there can be no economic security for any nation. Until there is such stabilization, settlement of the war debts will remain a serious problem.

And if the United States is in earnest in its protestations of willingness to help the world out of the morass into which it has fallen, it will join with Great Britain in giving leadership in currency stabilization.

MR. AND MRS. B. TUCKER

When he, himself, had yoked oxen in the bitter cold of the long Canadian winter. When, with the bitter months of zero weather, snow piled high and drifted over the snake fences on the section roads. Marooned whole families for weeks in the white wastes.

"No, winters have become different," the announcement was abrupt. In reply to a question in regard to the severity of the present winters in comparison to those of fifty or more years ago. "We used to have cold weather; even that has undergone a change. But, we got along. We lived comfortably, even if it was cold outside."

People didn't talk technocracy in those days. Movie houses were unheard of; the camera and phonograph had yet to be invented. They talked of the best ways to smoke meat with hickory twigs. . . . and passed recipes among themselves which showed the best way of preparing and cooking the simple products of their farm and garden. But they had good times. They danced, yes. . . . and met at each others' homes for social evening.

Here a responsive chord was awakened. Mrs. Tucker added with a smile.

"Perhaps there was more fun in those days," people lost something when they let those old-time meetings and socials drop. The young folk used to dance, and dance well. There more grace than there is now with the modern orchestras and fancier dance halls. The younger set enjoyed themselves. I wonder if they do now."

There is a modernity about this couple that one sensed immediately, and a charitableness that even embraced the younger generation of boys and girls in this newer age of hectic gin parties, fast motor cars and roadhouses.

"The young folk are as good as ever they were," defended Mrs. Tucker. "Conditions these days and the manner in which they live has made the difference. Underneath you'll find them just the same." It was a calm philosophy and a broad outlook on a life that has flowed serenely past for ninety years, despite the changes that have rolled in with each decade. It was a far cry from the modern radio which graced the corner of the room, to the days that were

It is said that over in parts of Africa, women are still sold, like coal, at so much a pound. Apparently the modern girlish figures wouldn't command much of a price over there.

Our idea of perfect co-operation is when all the freckles on a girl's face come together and make one beautiful tan.

Teacher—Josephine, can you explain what is meant by the word "Unaware"?

Josephine—Yes, "unaware" is what you take off just before you put on your nightie.

General News of Interest

Frankford—When proceeding east on 131 St. a week ago last Sunday evening a car driven by Mr. Caleb Lloyd, of Harold collided with a car being backed out of the Arnott garage by Mr. K. Arnott. The Lloyd car suffered a damaged fender while a rear bumper was torn off the Arnott car. Constable E. Lockwood investigated the accident and a settlement was made between the parties. No one was injured.

Pictou—A sturgeon tipping the scales at 151 pounds and measuring six and one-half feet from tip to tip, was landed by Morley Helmer and Charles Hudgin, fishermen in Lake Ontario, off Point Traverse, Prince Edward county on Friday. The huge fish was entangled in the whitefish nets and the fishermen had quite a struggle to land the big fellow. It was shipped to New York where about 30 cents a pound is paid for it. This unexpected catch is welcomed by the fishermen as catches of trout and whitefish are light just now.

Campbellford—A fine of five dollars and costs was levied against four of the Campbellford store keepers who pleaded guilty to having their places of business opened after the hour set by the town by-law last week. Magistrate J. M. Bygott hearing the charge, which was brought by Chief G. C. Bromley. Six stores in all were found open after eleven o'clock last Saturday evening. Contrary to the act, despite the fact that Chief Bromley had warned them earlier in the evening that a check-up would be made.

Frankford—An important meeting of the Public School Board was held on Monday evening last week, with all the members present. The board discussed the re-appointment of the present teaching staff and was able to make a total saving to the taxpayers of the village of $1600 and still retain the services of all employees. Last year public school teachers' salaries cost the ratepayers $4,400.00 and the Continuation School $4,700.00. The saving in teachers' salaries of the combined staffs was $1,450.00, and on other salaries it was $150.00.

Plainfield—Dashing out from behind his father's parked car, little Keith Dunning, aged seven, of Plainfield and son of Mr. Harry Dunning, sustained severe head injuries, when he ran into the side of a car being driven by Mr. John Deline of Sulphide in the village of Plainfield about 7.30 p.m. last Thursday evening. The little Dunning lad was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital where after an X-Ray was taken it was found that the handle of the Deline car door had punctured the little fellow's scalp. A successful operation followed.

Toronto—Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney General of Ontario, on Saturday announced he had ordered the Crown Attorney at Sault Ste. Marie to bring a charge of murder or manslaughter against Provincial Constable Frank Tompkins, who allegedly shot and killed Peter Graboski, transient, at Hornepayne. A coronor's jury had previously found the constable shot Graboski in pursuit of his duties and described the transient's death as accidental. Tompkins was suspended following the shooting. The Provincial Constable was searching a number of transients when some of them started to run. Witnesses declared at the inquest that Tompkins called on Graboski to halt, but when he failed to do so he had fired at the ground, the gun evidently jumping upward and the bullet striking Graboski in the back.

Frankford—Simplicity marked the laying to rest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spencer, who so tragically met death by drowning on Wednesday night in a troop.

Lady—Certainly, my poor man, here's the quarter. Where is your family?

Every walk of life of the community was represented at the funeral service, on Friday afternoon, it being one of the largest funerals ever to be held in Frankford, and genuine regret and sympathy was expressed in their untimely passing. The service at the home was brief, Rev. J. F. Main, assisted by Rev. H. B. Stinson referring to the sterling qualities of heart and mind of the deceased and the high esteem in which they were held in the community. A passage of scripture and a simple prayer constituted the remainder of the service and the funeral cortege moved off to Frankford cemetery where the last rites were performed. A wealth of floral tributes testified to the esteem of the deceased and the bearers were Mr. Spencer, D. A. Vandervoort, D. Ketcheson, George Pollard, Jr., Michael Searles and P. J. Why Telephone Rates Have Not Been Reduced

(The Blue Bell)

Those unfamiliar with the telephone business find it difficult to understand why telephone rates have remained level when the prices of so many things have come down. Why is this? Raw materials are down, wages in most lines are lower, almost every commodity is lower, why not telephone rates? This is a fair question. It must be met fairly and squarely. Here are some of the answers.

The Telephone Business Differs from Others

The telephone business is fundamentally different. We sell in the first place a service rather than a commodity like shoes or tires. We sell telephone calls, thousands of them daily. Each call is "tailor-made." must be produced on demand night or day. Therefore, the more calls, the greater the cost to us. Just now, because so many families are living together and notwithstanding the falling off in business, calls per telephone are about equal to normal times. There were more in 1932 than in 1931; indeed, last year was only slightly below the peak year 1929.

The telephone business should not be compared with the ordinary business for a second reason, it is a permanent business.

To meet the public demand for adequate telephone service we have had to erect an extensive system of wires, cables, poles, buildings and equipment that reaches into every part of Ontario and Quebec. This is the "plant", and this plant is permanent. Once installed, the property remains until replaced.

A cable is up, we will assume, to serve fifty subscribers in three blocks. Along come hard times and twenty-five of these people lose their jobs. They promptly order out their telephones. Can we take down the cable, roll it up and store it away, explaining to the other twenty-five subscribers that this particular section is no longer profitable, and that we will resume service later?

The answer, of course, is "No". The cable remains. We must keep on inspecting it, repairing it, servicing it. The expenses keep on, the income goes down.

Throughout the telephone system this fact of fixed plant, of almost inflexible overhead, is demonstrated. It is a telephone economic principle recognized by all who have studied the peculiarities of the telephone business. Other businesses may reduce stocks. If things get worse they may finally close up, bank the surplus made in the good old days when profit was high, and wait for conditions the three teams will be back—Menle, Seymour West and Pethericks. Hoards are already playing in the Rawdon League, but some of their players have been protested by the other teams and if censured by that group, they may form a welcome addition to the Seymour organization. If grounds can be secured as last year, it is expected that all Seymour League games will be played in the Campbellford High School grounds.

Campbellford—Charged with breaking and entering the office of A. C. Connor and Son, local coal dealers, early on Saturday morning, and with escaping from arrest when in custody, Arthur Wannamaker, 19, of Campbellford pleaded guilty to both charges before Magistrate J. M. Bygott on Saturday and was given one year suspended sentence on each charge, to run concurrently.

H. J. Humphrey, newly appointed general manager Eastern Lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters in Montreal, succeeding J. J. Scully, who relinquished his post on account of ill health after many years service. Mr. Humphrey was formerly assistant to Mr. Grant Hall, Vice-President.

to improve. We cannot. We are obligated to continue to furnish service. Our plant is up. It must stay there.

A third fundamental difference to consider seriously before thinking of the telephone business in terms of falling prices is that telephone rates do not go up in boom times. Other prices go soaring, but not the telephone rates.

Each subscriber added to a telephone system increases the value of the service from that system to each other subscriber. In the ten years 1923 to 1932 inclusive, Bell telephones in service increased forty-seven per cent.

The telephone business differs from other utilities in that it is the only utility that furnishes, owns and maintains all apparatus used in the rendering of its service. All other utilities require their patrons to furnish the wiring and all apparatus used on their premises. In other words, the telephone company is the only utility that does not require its patrons to make an investment before they can receive service.

2. The Telephone Business Is Regulated by Law

Telephone companies are limited by law as to their earnings, and are by law as to their earnings, and are during good times, so, in order to stay in business, they cannot continue to operate at a loss during times of depression.

Would it not be an inconsistent law which one year says, "You cannot go up with everything else," and another year says, "You must go down. Everything else is down?"

3. Expenses in the Telephone Business

Investment in telephone plant is fixed, and cannot be reduced during periods of depression. The fixed charges are therefore practically uniform at all times. Our business may be compared to a rural school district—the cost of maintaining the school is about the same whether there are two or twenty-two students.

The telephone utility differs from other utilities in that it cannot increase its revenue without increasing its investment. In event of a telephone company furnishing an extension set or other special equipment on a subscriber's premises, this extension set or other equipment is bought by the telephone company, not by the subscriber as is the case with all other utility services.

Raw materials are down. Yes, but remember raw materials do not make up the things we sell—telephone calls. The raw materials are in the plant, and by far the greater part of this was erected when prices were high. It is a fact that purchases made now will effect a small saving, but so small as to afford almost no relief. In hard times like the present, the private business ceases to borrow money and immediately curtails expenditures by cutting down production or by refusing to buy unless the price is satisfactory, and, if necessary, closes a shop and awaits more prosperous times.

Due to its obligation to continue to render adequate service, a public utility is limited in the extent to which it can go in making such economies.

Taxes are high and increasing. Our taxes in 1930 amounted to about $2.23 per telephone, while in 1932 they were $2.93 per telephone.

4. The Quality of Telephone Service Must Remain High

Our subscribers are receiving good telephone service. True, now and then they do get a wrong number; now and then the telephone does go out of order; now and then a telephone is not moved or installed as quickly as they might like it. Such things happen in any organization where men and women are striving to do a big job.

But when the youngster's forehead is hot with fever and the subscriber rushes to the telephone, the doctor is there in a matter of minutes; and when, with an empty feeling of fear, it is discovered that the home is on fire, it's the telephone that brings help on the run.

Our subscribers get full value for their telephone dollars. Judged from the value of standpoint alone, they get as much or more from their telephone as from anything else they buy. Despite lowered income we have not lowered service standards.

Good telephone service is vital. To reduce costs to a level where the price to the public could be lowered would seriously impair the quality of the service, and would be short-sighted and against the best interests of the community in general.

5. Rate Reductions Do Not Help The Subscriber

Experiments in rate reductions have proven conclusively that the number of subscribers will not be increased if rates are reduced. A reduction of twenty-five cents per month—or even more—seldom prevents a subscriber from dispensing with his telephone service if he is hard up. A rate reduction of twenty-five cents per month, or $3.00 per year, per telephone would mean a saving of less than one cent per day—a negligible saving—to each subscriber, but to the Company it would mean a reduction in revenue of over $2,139,000 per year, which, based on present revenue, is eight per cent of our income from exchange service. Such a reduction would be disastrous at a time when revenues are already insufficient to cover expenses.

6. The Situation with Respect to Our Company

Economies have been effected in the operation of our exchanges, but these economies do not offset the revenue losses due to discontinuance of service by subscribers and to falling off in toll usage.

Our station loss in 1932 was equivalent to eight per cent of the telephones in service at the first of the year. In 1932 our long distance revenue decreased 18.1 per cent below our 1931 revenue. It was about the same as that we received in 1927.

Our records show that in 1932 the Company's deficit was over $836,000. Our best estimates indicate that, despite salary reductions, dividend reductions and rigid economies in all operating expenses, unless business conditions improve materially we shall have to face a further loss this year.

These statements are from official records. The methods used in keeping them are laid down in strict fashion by the Board of Railway Commissioners, and they are correct.

7. Our Policy

Our policy in broad terms is to supply our subscribers—the public—the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety. We are confident that such a policy is bound to succeed in the long run, and since we add those who follow us expect to be identified throughout the years with a nationwide telephone service, it is important that we act with the long run aspect of the business constantly in view.

As members of the telephone organization, we must operate the property entrusted to us in such a way as to assure to the user the best possible telephone service at all times, obtain from its operation earnings that are sufficient to take reasonably good care of the people who are supplying this service, and earnings that are sufficient to pay a reasonable return to those who supply the money to build the plant.

It is not that we are unwilling to reduce rates—we are unable to do so.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Softball

On Tuesday evening, May 23rd, the first of the schedule games of the Rawdon Softball league was played at Mount Pleasant when the Springbrook lads paid a friendly visit and carried off the laurels, the score being 20-8. The lineup for Mount Pleasant was: A. Kelly, p.; John Coggins, c.; H. Higgs, 1b.; C. Holmes, 2b.; D. Campbell, 3b.; Roy Irvin, ss.; B. Jeffs, C. Dunkley and H. Hagerman, fielders. Herb Higgs had the honour of making the only home run.

Football

On the afternoon of May 24th the Mount Pleasant boys journeyed to Glen Ross and played a friendly game of football and won by the score of 1-0. The line-up for Mount Pleasant was: goal, Ashley Dale; left back, Harry Campbell; right back, Bill Adey; centre half, George Beatty; left half, Harold White; right half, John Fairman; centre forward, Herbert Higgs; inside left, David Bell; outside left, Jack Hutcheon; inside right, Ronald Nicholson; outside right, Bob Hedley.

Surprise for Wm. Emmons

On Wednesday evening, May 24th, about one hundred neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. Wm. Emmons, to say farewell before his departure to Stirling, as he has lived in our community since the age of seven years. Mr. John Johnston was master of ceremonies and the program consisted of musical numbers by Mrs. Edgar McKeown and Mr. Herbert Higgs, piano and harmonica and by Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers, autoharp and harmonica. Readings were given by Mrs. Arthur Phillips, "The song of the Plains"; Mrs. Thomas McKeown, "Woman's Place"; Mr. Allan Bailey read the address and Messrs Conger McConnell and James Sharp presented Mr. Emmons with an upholstered arm chair and an electric floor lamp. Mr. Emmons feelingly replied, thanking his friends for their lovely gifts and inviting one and all to visit him in town. The ladies then served a delicious lunch and all enjoyed a social half hour together.

Stirling, Ont., R.R. 3,
May 24th, 1933

Mr. Emmons

We, your friends and neighbours, have gathered here tonight to spend a few social hours with you before you move from our midst. It is with regret that we learn you are leaving us, but we are very glad to know you are not going so far away, but that we may see you often and we sincerely hope your footsteps will often wander back to Mount Pleasant, where you have spent so many years among us.

Our best wishes follow you, and we assure you, that our interest in your welfare, will not cease, and so we wish you health and prosperity in your new surroundings. We ask you to accept these gifts, not for their intrinsic value, but as a token of remembrance from your friends and neighbours at Hubble Hill.

Signed on behalf of friends and neighbours, James Sharp, John Johnston and Conger McConnell.

The many friends of Miss Gladys Joblin are pleased to know that she returned to the parsonage last Friday and is slowly improving after her recent operation.

WEST HUNTINGDON

We are pleased to report that our town is growing. In fact it has grown so rapidly that the name West Huntingdon does not or is not large enough to cover it. So now a brand new town called Centre Huntingdon has sprung into existence. We can not find out if it has been incorporated yet, or if the streets have been named. We do not believe that anyone need be in cutting loss, as any of the new officials will gladly furnish any information necessary. And now we must give our word of welcome to the columns of the News-Argus; also our warning to keep to your own side of the Road or there may be an accident.

A number of unemployed have secured work.

Mr. Keith Bray has secured a position as assistant cheese-maker at Harold cheese factory.

Mr. Frank Cosby is working up at Hoards.

And nearly all the farmers are working overtime.

Mr. Arthur Thompson was home for a day from General Hospital and is looking fine. He is still staying at the hospital for a few days.

Rev. C. A. Sales is attending Conference at Bowmanville this week. Mrs. Jas. McGowan attended the

The box social held by the Bethel C.G.I.T. group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tucker on May 24 was a great success. Rev. Mr. Joblin very ably acted as chairman and the program consisted of readings by Miss Dayman, Wellmans; campfire scenes, group songs, and orchestra numbers by the girls. Concluding songs by "Three Black Crows", namely Messrs. J. Warren, S. Elliott and Mr. C. M. Sine. After this followed a comparison in costume and actions of the young people of 1833 and 1933, given by Misses Laura Tucker and Thelma Ketcheson and Irene Tucker and Jean Donald. The parts were very well taken and greatly enjoyed. Then the Misses Vera and Thelma Ketcheson rendered a very pleasing duet. Mr. Joblin then called on Miss Mildred Elliott, leader of the group for a few remarks, who replied, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Tucker for their kindness in opening their home for the occasion. Mr. C. U. Heath was then called on and moved a vote of thanks to those who had taken part in the program. Mr. J. Green replied to this, after which the boxes were sold and amounted to $20.40.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Wm. E. Emmons desires to thank his friends and neighbours for the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown in his recent bereavement.

A Loaf of Bread!

The Museum Expedition found a Loaf of Bread in the Pompeian Ruins — in 76 A.D.

A perfect loaf of Bread, almost two thousand years old!

Excavation in the interests of scientific research has unearthed such a loaf, preserved by the lava of Vesuvius, in the buried ruins of the city of Pompeii.

Your strongest human link with this former civilization is that small familiar loaf of Bread, their most nourishing and necessary food then, just as it is yours today.

Bread is the basis of the diet for civilization. Have you ever thought that you can measure the advancement of any nation by the kind of Bread they demand?

AWAKENED WOMAN

by ELINORE BARRY

The Eleventh Instalment

SYNOPSIS

Synopsis: Joyce Ashton, poor stenographer, suffered loss of memory in a skidding taxi accident in Chicago. One morning two years later she woke after a fall from her horse, her memory restored, to find herself the wife of Neil Packard, rich California fruit packer. She determined to tell nobody of her predicament, but set about learning what she could of her life in the interval. From the conversation of her friends and letters in her desk she gathered that she had been a heartless, pleasure-loving young woman. One letter that troubled her was from a woman signing herself Sophie, blaming Frills for not giving a home to a baby. Frills was caring for. Could it be her baby, Frills wondered! She also found herself involved in an affair with a man named Maitland. In San Francisco, where she went while her husband was away on business, she met Robert Ainsworth, a poet whose work she had always admired. When Joyce returned home, she decided to be pleasant to Neil than Frills had been. But this line was dangerous, too, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back Frills' love. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

It was evident that Neil was blowing off steam which had accumulated for some time, and secretly Joyce's spirits rose a little. She was glad that he was asserting himself. She had an odd little feeling — odd when you considered that he was, in terms of actual experience, nothing to her — of pride in his outburst. Frills seemed to her more than ever an alien, a separate individual, almost like a first wife. She was moved by Packard's emotion and filled with an overwhelming desire to erase that hurt look from his face. "I'm not trying to put anything over on you. I ... I don't blame you for not believing me now, but I swear I'm telling the truth about this. I know I've been pretty rotten, but now ..." she paused. It was so difficult to say what she wanted to. A mixture of shyness and fear, and the unaccustomedness of putting her feelings into words, held her back for a moment. But again her desire to make Neil realize that she wanted to be friends with him, that in the future he would not have to worry about her actions, drove her on. "Well ... perhaps that blow on the head knocked a little ... sense into me."

On impulse alone Joyce suddenly came close to him and smiled up into his face, a little tremulously, and said, "Please, let's start over again ... and, after this ... well, don't expect me to be any white-robed angel, but I'll try not to worry you too much."

She was unable to say more, for Packard abruptly drew her close to him and kissed her again and again, murmuring words of grateful surprise and happiness. "Frills, darling ... I love you so, sweetheart! You ... you really mean it, dear? ... I thought all my chances of happiness were gone, but now ... I'll do everything I can to make it worth while — to help you really mean it."

Joyce, submitting to his caresses, reflected ruefully that she had never been so much kissed in her life as she had been since she woke up in Mrs. Neil Packard's bed. Gently she tried to free herself. Poor Neil! He did find it hard to believe that any such miracle as this had happened. She smiled again, all her joy in the day restored, knowing that he would go off to work filled with hope for the future security of his home and happiness.

"Of course, I mean it. But you needn't take my word for it. Just give it a thirty days' trial. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded," she replied lightly, slipping out of his arms, "better run along to work now or you might lose your job. And don't forget our date at five this afternoon."

"You bet I won't! Gee, but ... whoopee! I ... I wish I didn't have to go down to the office. I feel like cel-and made it plain that she preferred to avoid his greeting. To her relief he did not press the matter.

"How's the Duesenberg working?" he inquired as they went out together.

"Oh, it's all right," replied Joyce indifferently. She went up to Neil's big blue car and waited for him to open the front door.

"Don't you want to go in your roadster?" asked Neil in surprise, stopping beside the car.

"No, I don't. I don't like the colour of it," retorted Joyce, and suppressing a smile, she continued hastily, "anyhow, I prefer to have you drive today."

Packard got in and started the engine without further delay. They drove down the main street of Manzanita where they were greeted right and left by a bewildering number of people and Joyce was on pins and needles for fear Neil would stop to talk to any of them. After half an hour, during which she grew more nervous every minute — what in the world would she say to Neil's mother? — they finally stopped at a charming little bungalow covered with rose vines and surrounded by a garden of

"You go along!" exclaimed Joyce, alarmed at the threatened loss of her day of freedom and feeling the need of a rest after the strain of this stormy scene. "I can't have you around all day. I'm going to be busy."

"All right! And say, if anything does come up you'd rather do this afternoon, it's all right, you know. We can go to mother's some other time."

"The date is made. If it's broken, it'll be your doing."

When she got out to the stable Joyce found Sam about to mount the black horse. "Oh, Sam, where are you going?"

"Why, Mr. Packard asked me to take some papers to Jake Anson. It's up beyond Elk Flat in the hills, a good long way from the road, so he told me I'd better ride Barney," explained Sam.

"Well, couldn't I go with you?" demanded Joyce. She was still a little nervous about going out alone, when all the trails were so unfamiliar to her.

"Why sure! I'll saddle Rosita!"

When Joyce got back at noon after a two-hour ride, during which she learned much about the country and its possibilities for horseback riding, she was informed by Roxie that she had missed two sets of callers.

Joyce played in the garden for half an hour, during which she retired to her room to rest and read until time for Neil's return. "I'm out to everyone, Roxie," she gave definite instructions, "I don't care if it's the Prince of Wales."

At four-thirty she dressed carefully and then waited for Neil to appear. She was pleased when she heard him arriving at ten minutes before five, an evidence that he intended to take no chances of missing their appointment.

When he came in and saw Joyce in the living room, obviously ready to go, his anxious look turned into positive beam of pleasure and relief.

"Hullo, Frills, all ready to go? Fine!" and as Joyce got up he approached her with the intention of kissing her. But she stepped aside beautiful flowers. They entered a friendly, low-ceilinged room paneled in white with wide windows framing a view of distant mountains across the valley.

Mrs. Packard rose to meet them, and Neil, kissing her, said gently, "Well, mother, here we are, come to make you a little call. Frills and I."

"My dears, I'm delighted to see you both!" exclaimed his mother, holding out her hand to Joyce while she kept Neil's in her clasp at the same time. Joyce shook hands with her and smiled silently.

"Do sit down, children, it's so good to see you," went on Mrs. Packard, beaming happily as she returned to her comfortable armchair in front of one of the windows, "when did you get back, Neil?"

"Last night, mother, and you bet I'm glad to be back," replied Packard.

Neil's mother was a woman in her late sixties, with soft gray hair, and a face pleasantly fresh and clear-skinned. Only in her dark eyes could one read the shadow of past sorrows mingled with present loneliness and pain. Joyce thought, and when she did not smile her mouth was set in curves of quiet resignation.

"Are you feeling quite well again, my dear?" asked Mrs. Packard after Neil had told about his trip. "Neil said you had a bad fall."

"Oh, yes, I didn't really get hurt," replied Joyce, "though I suppose I might easily have been killed."

"Yes, it frightens me to think of it," said Mrs. Packard, a shadow crossing her face.

"Frills is looking well, though, don't you think, mother?" asked Neil. "Doe spoke of it to me today. She's been keeping sort of quiet since the accident and getting in a lot of sleep."

When they were outside the house, Joyce, seized with a sudden impulse, said to Neil, "Wait a minute, I'll be right out again," and turning, she went back into the house. Mrs. Packard, who had been sitting quietly gazing out of the window, looked up in surprise when she saw her daughter-in-law reappear.

Joyce ran across the room and kneeling beside the chair, she said hastily, before her courage should go back on her, "Do you ... do you suppose we could be friends, after all? Or has Frills ... have I been too awful?"

To her dismay she saw Mrs. Packard's eyes fill with quick tears and a flush mount to her forehead. "My dear, my dear, nothing would make me happier than to ... to be able to be a friend of my son's wife," she replied, her lips quivering, "to have you want it!" She laid her arm gently around Joyce's shoulders.

"I'm coming again soon, alone, and then we'll ... we'll get acquainted," stammered Joyce. She rose and lifting her head nearer, kissed Mrs. Packard lightly. Then she ran out of the room to Neil.

When they got back to the house Joyce was relieved to find that they had no company.

"Let's see what's on the radio tonight," suggested Neil. Joyce assented, rather curious to hear. She soon discovered that Neil's idea of enjoying the radio was to spend all his time and effort trying to get distant stations.

Joyce, bored finally at the superlatives of the unseen speaker who was boasting enthusiastically for the glories of California, got up and said goodnight, hoping that Neil would remain downstairs.

Packard immediately shut off the radio and announced his intention of accompanying her. By the air of happy expectation on his face, Joyce realized that she was about to reap the inevitable results of her friendliness toward him that day.

She decided this time to take no chance of repeating the soap incident and when they reached the bedroom she turned to him and said "Good-night, Neil, I'm going to read for a while."

"But, Frills sweetheart," he began, detaining her, "you've been so wonderful today and — I love you so! I want you so dear." He drew her closer into his arms, whispering the last words close to her ear. "Such adorable little ears!" he said, kissing them again and again. "I'd be so happy if I were sure of you!"

"Listen Neil," she said quietly, "won't you, if I ask you as a favour to me and as a return for being what you call reasonable and sensible, won't you please let me sleep in the other room without asking questions and going through this sort of thing every night?"

Her manner evidently made an impression on him for he released her immediately, saying, "I'm sorry, dear. It's just that I love you so." He paused and added hesitatingly, "But — will you come of your own accord when you're ready?"

"Of course," promised Joyce hastily, suddenly extremely embarrassed by the conversation after her momentary self-confidence. She said goodnight again and went off to her room and shut the door.

The next night when they were going upstairs Neil said, "Look here, sweet, I hate like the devil to have you sleeping indoors. You ought to be getting all this wonderful fresh air. Let me move your bed out to the other end of the porch. I won't bother you."

"Oh, there's plenty of fresh air in my room with all those windows open," returned Joyce hastily, "really it's just like being out of doors."

"Let me sleep indoors then," he suggested, generously, "and you sleep out here."

"I'm lots more comfortable inside — you're lots more dependent on air than I am," she told him.

Nearly a fortnight later Joyce set off one morning on Rosita for an all-day ramble through the hills. She carried her lunch and a book with her and told Roxie not to expect her back until late in the afternoon.

MARMORA MINISTER AND WIFE KILLED AT ARDEN

Arden—Four persons were killed on Friday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Canadian Pacific freight train at Elmtree crossing near here on Friday morning. The dead are: Rev. A. E. Carson, 60, Bancroft; Asa Carson, 16; Rev. M. F. Leddy, Marmora; Mrs. M. F. Leddy, Marmora.

The crossing at which the accident occurred has long been regarded as a very dangerous one, and is known to railroaders as "the Devil's Elbow". The railway is paralleled for some distance by the new Actinolite-Perth Highway, but at Elmtree is crossed by the new road. J. Parks, farmer, who resides near the crossing, declared the whistle of the engine was blowing and the bell ringing, but for some unknown reason the driver of the machine attempted to cross ahead of the engine. The car was struck in the centre and badly smashed up, the four people being instantly killed. According to the train crew, the car simply rushed onto the tracks in front of the train. The whistle had been blown for the crossing, they said, and the accident was unaccountable to them. The train stopped and the debris was removed, the crew picking up the bodies and putting a section force in charge until the coroner could arrive.

The freight was moving slowly, the roadbed being a very twisty one in this vicinity, as are the highways. It was some time before word of the accident could be flashed to outside points.

The party was returning from a meeting at Arden. There were no eye witnesses to the accident and the cause of the accident could not be established. Coroner Dr. Selden, of Sharbot Lake was notified at once and rushed to the scene, the bodies meanwhile being left at the crossing. Mr. Leddy is the minister in charge of the Standard Church in Marmora, and had only recently taken charge there. About 18 months ago three men were killed on a crossing just five miles east of this crossing. Mr. Leddy was driving the machine, according to the railway's report of the accident.

THIS MEANS MONEY SAVED TO SUBSCRIBERS

The News-Argus boasts of serving the most loyal group of Subscribers of any weekly in the Province of Ontario. Since the first of this year — 1933 — our mailing list has not suffered a NET LOSS, which is indeed a high compliment to this paper, particularly during these times of Depression.

In order to show our appreciation we are giving away Three Months' Subscription FREE to paid-in-advance Subscribers — which we feel sure will be appreciated.

On all subscriptions NEW or OLD — paid in advance, we will add three months — for each year — Free. For example: if an OLD Subscription is paid to October 1st, 1933, by the addition of the FREE Three Months, it will extend it to January 1st, 1934. All NEW Subscriptions must be for one Year — that is, if a person subscribes for the paper on or before June 17th, 1933, by paying $2.00 he will be given the paper for 15 months in place of 12. With these Three Months given away FREE it means that the subscription rate is the same as $1.50 for one year.

We have several subscribers who are now paid up more than one year in advance — in that case they will be given three months' credit for each year they are paid in advance — if it does not exceed three years, as follows:

- 1 Year in Advance — 3 Months Free.
- 2 Years in Advance — 6 Months Free.
- 3 Years in Advance — 9 Months Free.

This Offer is ONLY good until 10 p.m.
Sat., June 17, 1933

AFTER THAT DATE THE SUBSCRIPTION WILL BE
$2.00 IN CANADA AND $2.50 IN THE UNITED STATES FOR 12 MONTHS ONLY

We are giving All Subscribers Sufficient
Time to Take Advantage of this offer.

This Special Offer is made in keeping with the decreased purchasing power of the majority of our Subscribers and people in general, particularly those engaged in the agricultural industry, and also to correspond with the lower prices now obtained for nearly all lines of goods, not excluding some newspapers and periodicals. This is an opportunity for all Subscribers — both those paid in advance and in arrears, to save money.

Although this Special Offer is made, there will be absolutely no sacrifice in quality. The News-Argus will continue to give a complete coverage of the news of the Village of Stirling and the surrounding district, retaining all of its present popular features, such as the news from our many rural correspondents; the editorial page, for which the paper is noted, and the news of Councils, both village, township and county, church organizations, lodges, sporting organizations, etc.

To those who have been subscribers to the paper for many years, or who have more recently been added to the subscription lists, the publishers extend their sincere thanks, and trust that this Special FREE OFFER price will meet with their approval. It will be our constant aim to give the people a first-class paper.

SPECIAL TO OLD SUBSCRIBERS — As long as your Subscription is paid in advance by June 17th, 1933, even if it is only until August 1st, 1933, you will be given the Three Months' Credit. It is to you who have stood by us that we really want to show our appreciation. We want to emphasize that OLD Subscribers do not have to have their subscription paid in advance for a full year. Any portion is all that is necessary to get the Three Months added Free; But New Subscribers who may be added to our lists between now and June 17th — Must pay $2.00 before they get the Three Months Free.

DIES IN SASKATOON

Mrs. J. R. Belshaw of Madoc received the sad news the last of the week of the death of her brother, Peter Fargey, in the Saskatoon General Hospital, Monday last week. The deceased had been in failing health for two years and during that time had undergone two serious operations, he had been a patient in the hospital where his death occurred, since December 20th, last. The late Mr. Fargey was born in West Huntingdon 51 years ago, the son of the late Mr. and

Mrs. Peter Fargey; 19 years ago he went to Watrous, Sask., and established a farm there, where he had since resided. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Masonic order and a Conservative in politics. Immediately surviving are his widow, previous to marriage, Miss Cora Sills, of Foxboro; two sons, Gordon and Roy, and two daughters, Phyllis and Margaret, all at home on the farm at Watrous, Sask.; three sisters, Mrs. G. H. Wilson and Mrs. J. A. Wharry in Westmount, Que., and Mrs. J. R. Belshaw of Madoc and two brothers, Fred in Kenmore, N.Y., and Sam, of West Huntingdon.

To those left to mourn his loss is extended the sympathy of their many friends throughout Hastings County.

P. O. ORDER THIEF GETS THREE YEARS

Robert Douglas, 25, of Toronto, was sentenced to serve three years in the Portsmouth Penitentiary by Magistrate Casement in last Thursday's county police court held in Belleville on a charge of breaking, entering and stealing express orders from the C.N.R. station at Eldorado on the night of May 3rd last. Douglas, who was arrested by a deputation of C.N.R. and C.P.R. constables in Toronto last week, had some of the stolen express orders on his person when apprehended. Douglas pleaded guilty to the charge after having elected summary trial before Magistrate Casement. B. C. Donnan, local Crown Attorney, produced records to show that Douglas had been convicted on six occasions previously and was at present awaiting a two year sentence imposed on him for issuing stolen express orders in Toronto. Douglas also had the record of serving a two year term in Kingston for escaping from the Ontario Reformatory in 1930.

During the proceedings the Crown produced the express orders which had been cashed by Douglas under the name of Jack Phillips of Toronto. The amounts cashed were $48.50, $42.75 and two others for $48.50. Douglas had procured a rubber stamp which he bought to date the orders, and another marked Tweed, Ont., from where the orders were supposed to be issued. The negotiable stamp he stole from the Eldorado station. The maximum value of the stolen money orders was $1,000.00. The sentence meted out by His Worship of three years in the penitentiary is to run concurrently with and after the sentence which was passed in the Toronto police court on Douglas recently. Fred Chapman of the Belleville office of the C.N.R. police appeared as informant in the case. Douglas was undefended.

MADOC JUNCTION

On Friday evening a number of neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stapley to spend a social evening with them and to extend a welcome to the young bride who was formerly Miss Marjorie Cook, of West Huntingdon. About ten o'clock Mr. Raymond Chambers called on Miss Margaret Danford, who read the following address and Miss Helen McMullen presented the gifts, an Aladdin lamp, pyrex dish and apron.

To Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stapley: Dear Friends,—

"The voice that breathed o'er Eden That earliest wedding day" has again breathed over our community and made "Two minds with but a single thought and two hearts that beat as one." We have gathered here tonight to rejoice with you in your happiness and in the establishing of a new home in our midst. Upon nothing does the strength of a nation depend more than upon the home; thus you are engaged in a great and noble enterprise. Dr. Talmage once said that the three words "Heaven, home and happiness, were as strings upon a harp. The ideal earthly home is a small Heaven. Heaven is an eternal home and happiness presides over both of them. May happiness ever preside over your home. In wishing this, we wish blessing for ourselves as well as you for each home contributes its share to the community life. Therefore the brighter the sunshine of your home, the more of us will be reached by its rays. While neither of you are strangers here, we feel that a word of welcome is opportune. It is with pleasure we open our hearts and homes to you. Marjorie, we know you will be missed in church circles at West Huntingdon and we trust that you will take a keen interest in the work of the church and Sunday school at Eggleton. Mere words would not suffice to remember this occasion so we ask you to accept this lamp and may it shed light on many happy gatherings in the days that are before us.

Signed on behalf of friends and neighbours: Helen McMullen, Margaret Danford, Clayton Reid, Ken. Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. Stapley thanked their friends for their kindly feelings toward them and extended a cordial invitation to everyone to visit them in their home. A social time was enjoyed after which lunch was served by the ladies.

MISSION BAND

The Mission Band was held after Sunday School at the usual hour. Miss Eliza McCann, the president, in the chair. After the opening exercises Mr. Bray led in prayer. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Irene Elliott acted as Secretary and Georgia Pitman took charge of the music. Roll call was then taken by the secretary and a goodly number were present. Scripture lesson was given by Tom Young. An exercise was given by three little boys, Arthur Hassel, David Fargey and Lindsay Sills. Then four little girls sang very nicely together, Irene and Margaret Elliott, Ruth Murray and Eliza McCann. Mrs. James Wilson then gave a splendid talk to the Band on "Light and Life of Christ". After singing, Rev. Sales gave a good address to the children, and this was very helpful, and he explained in a short story of how in a burning building their ladder was six feet too short to reach a woman hanging out of a burning building; comparing this little illustration to our short vigils in the work of missions, and

"Drink milk and have bright, shining teeth" is the cry of the medical profession. One look at a photo of Mr. Mahatma P. Gandhi's physiognomy, makes us feel sure they didn't mean goat's milk!

And we've often wondered, if, when Mr. Gandhi goes a little farther north than his home town if he wears red flannels under that bed-sheet of his?

If there should be "a place for everything, and everything in its place" — Why in thunderation should a bald-headed man be the possessor of such a fine crop of whiskers?

European countries are trying to get a ten-year Peace treaty — probably some of them aren't just prepared for a worth-while fracas yet, but need another few years' to get in shape for the show.

Times have certainly changed "Since you and I were young Magpie". A parking place then was just a spot to put the horse and buggy while we shopped at the village "corner store". When the term is used now it might be changed to "sparking place."

Often we hear it said that so-and-so has a "screw loose". At the same time it might be well to remember that often it's the constantly working machine that is the first to loosen up.

Once upon a time there was a Scotchman, who after receiving a slight injury in a Chicago hotel elevator, thought the doctor bill should be paid by the American Uplift Society.

While one part of the government is waging a struggle to prevent the increasing numbers of mentally deficient in the province, the other department has published a booklet entitled "Nut Culture in Ontario." We were just wondering!

A great many who sit back and wait for Dame Fortune to knock at their door, forget that the wheel that does the squeaking is the one that gets the grease.

"Consider the Lillies of the field, they toil not, neither do they spin", says a scriptural passage. We noticed that there was quite a large 'bouquet' of them on relief last winter in some Ontario towns.

"Talkies" to the right of us, "Talkies" to the left of us, "Talkies" behind us vollied and thundered.

In our efforts to listen to Actors endeavour to Portray a story true— We guess we blundered.

(Apologies to Tennyson)
Why do so many people who attend the local theatre have to sit and "blab" all through the performance. They don't see half the entertainment themselves and those sitting around them don't enjoy any of it. Shut up!

Rumour has it that Mr. Bennett is to be knighted and called "Sir." Well, that's about the only thing he hasn't been called during the past couple of years!

Wouldn't it be tragic, if along with all the rest of the exterior decorating the present-day lassie has to do before attending any function, she had two-days' whiskers to scrape off?

While the lady of the house is on the golf course endeavouring to make "a hole in one", the other half is saying a few unkind words because when putting on his other sock he finds a "hole in two."

"Modern music does not ring true", says a critic. Maybe not—but we heard a selection on the radio the other night, entitled "The Storm", and as well as sending cold chills up our spine, it sounded as though the wind was blowing the roof of the hen-house.

STIRLING — ONTARIO

Tax Rate Down One Mill Council Strikes 47 Mill Rate

At Regular Meeting Monday Night — 48 Mills Last Year — Permanent Waterworks is Self Supporting as Predicted by News-Argus — Hydrant Rentals in Mill Rate — School Costs Down.

The tax rate for 1933 is 47 mills, one mill lower than last year. No doubt this news has made the rate-payers of the village feel happier particularly after the predictions of some of those opposed to waterworks, that the taxes would be raised anywhere from ten to fifteen mills, owing to the installation of permanent waterworks. However, the News-Argus prophesied the project would be self-sustaining.

The members of the Council, who were all present at Monday night's meeting were delighted to learn—and undoubtedly residents who were either for or against waterworks, will feel likewise—that the waterworks is already self-supporting. The only mill levy necessary is for hydrant rentals, and in all probability, after a report of the Fire Underwriters' inspection yesterday, the decrease in insurance premiums will make up for that levy. The following letter was received by the Council from F. A. Sprentall, Supt. of the waterworks system:

June 5th, 1933

The Reeve and Council, Village of Stirling.

Gentlemen:—

As Superintendent of Stirling Waterworks System I beg to report that according to estimates based upon current revenue the Stirling Waterworks System will close its books for the fiscal year with a surplus over all liabilities and it would seem not necessary to levy any special tax to meet interest and principal on debenture payments falling due within the present year.

Two thousand dollars of unsold debenture still remain to the Credit of the System, and I would strongly advise that immediate steps be taken toward the installation of an aerator and detention tanks to remove certain gases and iron in the water supply, which are excessive.

Yours respectfully,
F. A. SPRENTALL,
Superintendent.

Taking into consideration additional relief costs, although two-thirds were paid by the government, and the purchasing of talkie equipment with monies out of the general fund—equal to approximately two mills—the lowering of the tax rate demonstrates that the Council is financing the business of the corporation in a capable manner.

The total assessment for 1933 is $467,387.11, and the rate of 47 mills is made up as follows:

County Rate	12 1/2	Mills
Schools	10	Mills
Library	1	Mill
Debentures	11	Mills
General	6 1/2	Mills
Street Lights	3	Mills
Hydrant Rentals	3	Mills
Total	47	Mills

Mr. Jos. Wilson, agricultural representative, tendered his resignation as Village Engineer, as he had been directed by the Dept. of Agriculture. No action was taken.

Horton Steel Co. informed the Council, by letter, that the leak in the standpipe would receive the necessary repairs within the next two weeks.

The Rochester & Pittsburg Coal Co. submitted prices for Stoker coal but as the fuel supply for the Community Building was not secured until the fall, no action was taken.

The Street Committee was instructed to repair the bridge over Rawdon Creek on Henry Street, and also the board sidewalk on Church Street, west of C. W. Thompson's residence. Reeve West spoke of complaints received over the condition of the ditch on the Campbellford road, but no action was taken.

The question of laying a sidewalk on Annis Street, west of R. A. Patterson's residence, connecting Front and Church Street, as suggested by a resident of Church Street, was considered by the Council and no action was taken.

The Street Com. was instructed to inspect culvert on street between the properties of Messrs Murney Hagerman and Henry Tulloch.

The question of tree trimming was referred to the Street Committee.

A resolution was passed instructing the Clerk to write S. Fox, Co. Road Supt. and the Raynor Construction Co. re repairs in pavement. The pavement was laid by the latter firm and guaranteed for five years. This is the last year of the guarantee.

Rev. B. F. Byers Resigns

After twenty-eight years of devoted service in the parish, the community will deeply regret to learn that Rev. B. F. Byers, M.A., rector of St. John's Church, Stirling, and Trinity Church, Frankford, has placed his resignation in the hands of the Bishop, owing to the ill health of both himself and Mrs. Byers.

"KIRK" 40 YEARS OLD

On Tuesday, through the courtesy of Miss Emily Parker, the Editor saw a unique, as well as antique, badge or ribbon. It is owned by Miss Parker's mother, Mrs. F. B. Parker, and was printed to commemorate the laying of the corner stone of the present St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, which occurred forty years ago today, June 8th, 1893. The ribbon was neatly printed with the name of the church; the "Burning Bush", date and the words "laid by I.O.O.F. Lodge", along with a verse. This will no doubt be of interest to members and adherents of the "Kirk".

GRAPPLING MUST STOP

The grappling of fish is again being practised in the Trent River this year. Last year this paper warned would-be grapplers against this unsportsmanlike habit—which is against the law, and guilty parties are subject to a fine. Many dead fish, with grapple hook marks in their sides, have been found in the river, near Glen Ross. Where are the Game Inspectors? A citizen informed the News-Argus last Thursday that if the Game Inspectors could not stop this "crime", he would lay a complaint against the guilty parties himself. Grappling must be stopped at once—So those who have the habit had better take heed!

FIRE INSPECTOR HERE

Yesterday morning the fire alarm sounded about 8.15 o'clock. The firemen responded promptly and learned that the cause of the summons was that a Fire Underwriters' official was making an inspection. Pressures at hydrants and hose nozzles in the different sections of the village were taken, and we understand the Inspector was most favourably impressed by Stirling's fire protection. A report of yesterday's survey, however, will not be received for some weeks, but it is expected that the fire insurance rates for the village, particularly the business section, will be reduced as a result of the inspection.

BOWLING CLUB NEWS

On Monday evening the weekly bowling tournament took place on the local green. Two ten-end games were played, as follows:

Don't Park Near Hydrants

Motorists are hereby warned and requested not to park in front of a hydrant in Stirling. Such parking will be checked up more closely in future, so this paper advises car drivers not to park within ten feet of a hydrant. A fine may be imposed for this neglect.

Bone Fractured in Ankle

The first serious casualty has occurred in the horse-shoe pitching sport. Postmaster F. T. Hullin in a game, a week or so, was hit in the left ankle by one of the caulked toys. No particular notice was taken at the time, but later the ankle became swollen. Upon examination by a doctor a small bone was found to be fractured. Mr. Hullin has been compelled to use a cane and as yet cannot step his full weight on it.

G. WADE'S CORNHUSKERS COMING TO STIRLING

At a meeting of the Agricultural Directors and representatives of Stirling Legion on Tuesday night, it was decided to hold a dance in the exhibit hall, in the Agricultural grounds on Tuesday night, June 27th, with George Wade and his Cornhuskers, of radio fame, supplying the music. The Legion had planned to have the Cornhuskers, and were willing to join in with the Fair Society. The dance will be staged under the auspices of both organizations. Watch for further particulars.

84-YEAR-OLD MOTORIST

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fanning, of Rochester, N.Y. are spending this week the guests of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fanning, Wellmans. They arrived by motor on Saturday, and although Mr. Fanning is 84 years of age he piloted the car the entire distance. On Monday he and his nephew, Harry, enjoyed a trout fishing expedition to Squire's Creek, near Springbrook, and the total catch was fourteen speckled beauties. Mr. Fanning is very active for four score years and four and is almost as "spry" as the average man of sixty years of age.

A WRONG IMPRESSION

In the report of the Division Court news in last week's issue, apparently the wrong impression was created in the Emerson vs. Thompson case, of Moira. Miss Ruth Emerson, the plaintiff, in the case, in a letter to the News-Argus, gives the facts of the case as follows:

"The trouble arose when Thompson's child resisted my authority and refused to obey. The trouble did not concern any more than one child (Viola Thompson) and I did not strap anyone. The appeal was allowed and I would like it made plain that the suspended sentence was lifted and Thompson paid the costs of both courts. Each party assessed their own witness fees."

STIRLING W. I.

The regular meeting of Stirling Women's Institute was held in the Community Hall on Thursday, June 1st, with a good attendance. The President, Mrs. Claude Belshaw, was in the chair. The Secretary's report was read by Mrs. Melkiohn. Following this the roll call was taken. A resolution was adopted that the Women's Institute donate a percentage of their profits throughout the year to the Community Hall. Mrs. A. Hammond, Mrs. C. Belshaw, Mrs. M. V. Sine and Mrs. J. M. Magee were appointed delegates to the district convention of the W. I. to be held in the Rosebush Pavilion. Mrs. Hullin and Mrs. Hammond were appointed as program committee for the July meeting to be held in the Community Hall. The business for the evening being over, a short program was given, consisting of a contest by Mrs. C. Belshaw, a reading by Mrs. Hammond entitled "Biddy's troubles in Canada". A reading by Mrs. Melkiohn "The Party Time". A musical number was given by Maurice Bell, banjo, and Mrs. E. W. Rowland, piano. A reading by Mrs. Louis Rodgers, "Drivers of Human Motors". The door prize donated by the president was won by little Dora Rodgers. A dainty lunch was then served. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

BUILDS NEW COTTAGE

Mr. Thos. Spry is erecting a new cottage on the east side of Oak Lake, north of E. Luery's cottage. This summer rendezvous is becoming more popular annually and is an asset to Stirling and really belongs to Stirling, although hog-town Belleville tries to claim it.

Won Proficiency Prize

Miss Helena Fargey, nurse in training at the Homewood Training School for nurses in Guelph, has been awarded the general proficiency prize for her class and was presented with a Parker fountain pen after graduation exercises last week. Miss Fargey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fargey, Ridge Road.

ARE NOW NURSES

The News-Argus extends congratulations to Misses Grace and Muriel McKee, who were among the successful nurses to receive their diplomas at the graduation exercises held by Kingston General Hospital, in Grant Hall, Queen's University, Kingston, on Monday night. Both young ladies are ex-students of Stirling High School and are daughters of Mr. F. N. McKee. Mr. and Mrs. McKee and Marie, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Green attended the graduating exercises.

VISITING FATHER

Rev. F. G. Joblin, of Rawdon Circuit, has been enjoying this week, visiting his father at Scugog, after attending the United Church Conference at Bowmanville. The latter town was Mr. Joblin's former home, and while at the Conference he met many old friends whom he had not seen for forty years. Mr. Joblin's father, who is in his 84th year, is surprisingly active for his age, still makes his old Ford truck travel Scugog Island's roads at a lively speed.

Attend Liberal Convention

Messrs J. E. O'Donnell, Alex Park, Harry McFaul and Walter Barker attended the Central Ontario Liberal Convention, held in Belleville yesterday, as delegates from the local association. A mammoth banquet was held in the arena last night, with over 800 present. The chief speakers were Hon. McKenzie King, Federal Liberal Leader, and Mitchell Hepburn, Provincial leader. J. J. Duffus, of Peterboro, was toastmaster and Mr. Wm. Fraser, M.P., of Trenton, introduced the candidates from the different ridings. At the afternoon session held in the City Hall, Messrs Nelson Parliament and W. Fraser were the speakers.

Take "Crook" to Peterboro

Last night a number of Patriarchs from Stirling Encampment No. 80 journeyed to Peterboro by bus to witness degree work as exemplified by the Peterboro brethren. The travelling crook, recently presented to the Stirling lodge by Belleville lodge, was left in charge of the Peterboro Encampment. Among those attending were Patriarchs — J. B. Thompson, Geo. Carlisle, Karl Sine, Victor Taylor, Roy Walker, W. H. Patterson, Elgin Jackson, Ernest Carlisle, Henry Parrell, E. T. Ward, Bert Eggleton, John Carlisle, Alex Fargey, Geo. Cook, Arthur Vandervoort, Harry Hall, Thos. Carter.

Attend Horticultural Meeting

Over sixty members of District No. 3 of the Ontario Horticultural Society met in St. Thomas Parish Hall, Belleville, yesterday. The district is composed of societies in the counties of Hastings, Lennox & Addington, Frontenac and Prince Edward. Mr. J. B. Belshaw, president of Stirling Horticultural Society, is Director for the district, and it was through his efforts that yesterday's meeting was held. The program was arranged by him, which included a visit to the Ontario School for the Deaf and the Dominion Parable Laboratory, Denison Street, east of that city. The following were among those from Stirling who attended: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Belshaw, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Walt and Margaret, Mrs. R. H. Williams and son, Ray, Misses Gena Spry and Evelyn Drewery, Mrs. M. W. Sine, Mrs. Annie Bailey, Mrs. J. E. O'Donnell, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Koffend, Mrs. A. Hammond and Mrs. M. Nolan.

Over 250 Girl Guides and Boy Scouts in Church Parade

250 Girls and Boys of the District take part in Church Parade to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church — Rev. Koffend Delivers Inspiring Sermon — Event in Charge of and Arranged by S.M. Tom Ward of Stirling Troop.

Sunday will go down as a "Red Letter" day in the lives of many of the boys and girls in this district. Through the efforts of Mr. Tom Ward, Scoutmaster of the local Boy Scouts, a mammoth church parade was held to the morning service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Scouts, Cubs and Girl Guides and Brownies were present from Frankford, Marmora, Deloro, Campbellford, Trenton, Colborne, Belleville; also the Sea Cadet Corps and Band from Belleville. Over 250 boys and girls, along with the leaders were in the march.

The procession was formed at the High School grounds, and at 10.30 a.m. left for the church service in the following order:

Leader—Tom Ward, S.M., Stirling Troop, and in charge of the event. Cadet Corps band of twelve, and twenty-eight cadets, from Belleville. The band was in charge of Bandmaster A. Skelcher, Commanding Officer, Capt. G. H. Griffin; 2nd in Command, Lieut. Coxan; Instruction Officer, A. J. Rickens; Chief Petty Officer, D. R. Carr; Petty Officer, P. Renny; Quart. M. F. Davis. This Corps had inspection a week ago and was considered one of the best Sea Cadet Corps in Ontario. An admiral of the British Navy was one of the inspectors. Their boat is connected with H.M.S. "Arethusa". Colour Party — Patrol Leaders Arthur Gould and Fred Joblin and Troop Leader Reg. Clarke, of 1st Stirling Troop.

Stirling Girl Guides (15 in all). Leader, Capt. K. Mundy; Lieut. Lenora Ward; Colour Bearer, Olive Munro.

Frankford Brownies (23 in all) — Brown Owl, Eleanor McRostie; Tawny Owl, Eileen McLaren; Sixers, Charlene Murray, Thelma Lawrence, Hylis Slingerland.

Frankford Girl Guides (32 in all) — in charge of Com. Mrs. E. E. Ketcheson; Capt. Rita Badgley; Lieutenant Doreen Loney; Co. Patrol Leader, Jessie Dickson; Patrol Leaders, Pearl Powell, Norma McGregor, Helen Gay, Hazel Mikel; Seconds, Clute Nugent, Annie Kellar, Beatrice Harrison, Jean Sprague.

1st Stirling Troop (38 in all) in charge of A.S.M. Don Ward; Troop Leader, Reg. Clark; Second in Command, Fred Joblin; Patrol Leaders, John Munro, James Ward, Ray Williams, Arthur Gould; Seconds, Lloyd Rowland, Gerald Sprentall, George Duffin, Reg. Matheson.

5th Belleville Troop (28 in all) in charge of S. M. Robt. Brown; Troop Leader, John White; Patrol Leaders, John Atchison, Wes. Irwin; Seconds, Doug. Chant, W. Adams, Geo. Hunter.

1st Campbellford Troop (18 in all) — S. M. Mat. Sergeant; A.S.M., C. Colard; Patrol Leaders, B. Linton, B. Morrison, D. Pickering, Q. M. G. Fox.

1st Frankford Troop in charge of S. M. Powell, and 24 Scouts.

1st Trenton Troop, represented by Patrol Leader Yardley and 9 Scouts. (Four of these Scouts wheeled up for the event).

Three Lone Scouts from Colborne. 1st Scout Troop, Marmora — (15 Scouts) — S. M. Percy Gray; A. S. M., G. Sabine; Troop Leader, D. H. Hewitt.

Marmora Cubs, (11 in all) — Sr. Sixer, R. Gray; Sixers, W. Smith and E. Nobes.

Deloro Scouts (8 in all) — S. M., W. Simmons; Patrol Leaders, R. Lovelace, G. Stewart.

Deloro Cubs — Sr. Sixer, W. Reynolds and 7 Cubs.

The local Scout Committee, including Dr. C. F. Walt; Reeve W. C. West,

J. B. Belshaw and A. E. Dobbie were in the rear of the procession.

Arriving at the church, it took some time for the line of march to enter. The Church was packed to the doors, and it was most inspiring to see such a display of the young people — the men and women of tomorrow. A special service had been arranged, and the minister, Rev. J. A. Koffend, delivered a most appropriate sermon, emphasizing the importance of clean living — both physically and spiritually, and related the lives of some of the disciples of old as an example. The National Anthem followed by the benediction concluded the service.

Enroute from Church, the parade halted in front of the Cenotaph and formed two horse-shoes, with the girl guides and Brownies inside and the Scouts circling around the outside. The leaders and seconds formed a semi-circle behind the cenotaph, with colour party and bugle band in front.

TENNIS NEWS

The local courts at the High School grounds are now in good shape and each evening finds the game in full swing. Several new members have been added to last year's list and it is expected that a local tournament will be started next week, or as soon as the tournament committee can arrange the games. The club is away to a good start and a successful year is looked forward to.

MOTORISTS MUST STOP

There are still cars and trucks who travel south past the Stop Street sign on North Street as if they were being chased by Satan. On Monday afternoon a near-collision occurred at the Corner of North and Mill Streets, when a truck and trailer laden with eggs failed to observe the stop sign, with the result that it nearly "rammed" a car crossing off Mill. Fortunately brakes were applied a "miss" was the result. There apparently are many motorists who yet cannot see or spell "STOP" at least they ignore it on a stop street sign.

Why Not A Local League?

From time to time we hear the remark that there should be a Stirling Softball league. There are plenty of men in Stirling for at least three good teams. Why not get together and have some fun? In the past there has been a fairly good team representing Stirling in the Rawdon or some other league, but this year even that organization seems to have gone astray. Lack of ambition seems to be a drawback to a lot of the younger fellows around town, while the older gent is anxious to get things going. Why not snap out of it boys and start the ball rolling in earnest on the High School Campus?

CURRENT COMMENT

When we act the same in our home, whether there's company present or not, we have a pretty good stand-in with our family.

Premier Bennett intends to put up a fight for revaluation of gold. With Canada the second largest gold-producing country in the world, one can hardly blame him.

No doubt the village ratepayers were elated and surprised when they learned that the tax rate for this year had been reduced one mill — particularly after the "blue ruin talk" of some regarding the installation of permanent waterworks. The only mill rate assessed is for hydrant rentals. The permanent waterworks is paying its way, beyond all expectations, even to those who were in favour of same.

From accurate information obtained by the News-Argus, there appears to be a better feeling in the Stirling rural district at least with respect to business prospects.
While there is no sharp rise of prices of commodities, some lines of farm produce have advanced, and there are prominent farmers who believe that there will be a change for the better this fall. This is very encouraging and we hope that the faith of these farmers will be found to have been well grounded. There is less talk of hard times on the concession lines and in the market place, and this too is an encouraging sign. When the great basic industry of agriculture gets a new deal that will increase prices and give the farmer more for his produce and his labour, business conditions in the urban centres will also improve.

A Province of Ontario Bond issue of $25,000,000 was entirely subscribed in less than two days. In these days, that is a remarkable record. It shows two things. It shows that there is still an abundance of money available for investment. And it shows that the investing people of this province have abundant confidence in the financial position of Ontario. Had that confidence been lacking, it would have been a hard task to place this large issue. But there is plenty of faith in the future, not only in Ontario, but of the whole Dominion, and so the $25,000,000 requirement was soon forthcoming. The quickness with which the bond issue was subscribed is encouraging, since it indicates that there has been no lessening of public confidence in the government of the province, and that is essential if there is to be a healthy public opinion in Ontario.

The Brampton Conservator aptly sums up a buy-at-home situation in the following paragraph: "With only a few exceptions it is not necessary for citizens to go beyond the town limits to secure any article or service which may be required. But, how many townspeople are aware of this fact? Are we entirely justified in losing patience too quickly with those who, when in the market for some article or product, rush off to the city and afterwards announce to their friends: 'I bought so and so in the city, and it only cost me so much, wasn't that a bargain?' Maybe, then, the purchaser is not altogether to blame. Is it not possible that our merchants have been a little lax? They have good stocks and can give excellent service at right prices. But what are they doing about it?
Are they afraid that a public announcement of these facts in their local newspaper will make it impossible for them to look after the crowds? Why keep the facts obscured in secrecy while out-of-town merchants absorb business by means of modern and concentrated advertising methods?"

We Want Your Opinions

We're not too conceited to believe that there must be times when you are aching to tell us what you think of us.
Times when you have struck a snag in our service, when our news service has not been as adequate as it might have been, when there has been a shortcoming or bias in our editorial opinion. And you are aching for the chance to tell us that if The News-Argus really wants to please or instruct, as it says it does, it will do certain things that it is not doing now or will discard certain things that its readers do not care about.

Well, believe it or not, The News-Argus actually welcomes adverse criticism, if its honest and constructive.
We invite you to write us frankly, now or any time, concerning the ways we can better meet your needs in publishing a Community Newspaper. Perhaps you would like some features we do not carry. Perhaps you would have us dispense some feature that would improve The News-Argus by its absence. If you have any criticism, or any reasonable suggestion to make, do not stifle it, but drop a letter to the editor, for our private perusal or for publication. Don't withhold any reasonable complaint, because we will be glad to adopt your suggestions if they are feasible.

And talking about complaints, The News-Argus' chief pride in its 54 years of service to the community has been the general satisfaction its readers have derived from reading it from week to week. We do not get many complaints, but if your complaints will help to make The News-Argus a better newspaper, a bigger asset to the community, then send them along. We thrive on honest adverse criticism.

RECALLS LABOUR PARTY STRUGGLE IN ENGLAND

The following article written by R.
E. Knowles and referring to Mr. Jno.
Duncan, father of Mr. Arthur Duncan, Stirling, appeared in last Thursday's issue of the Toronto Star. The Rev.
F. A. Robinson, mentioned in the first paragraph, is well known in Stirling and is a former minister of the local St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

(By R. E. Knowles)
Mr. John Duncan, of 54 Pickering St., Toronto, is stationary engineer at the Carswell Printing Company. He is an Englishman, a product and long-time citizen of Leicester, Rev. F.
A. Robinson, who first told me I would find Mr. Duncan interesting and informational.

I found him both.
For Mr. Duncan is a leading member of the "I Knew Him When" club.
This is one of the most interesting clubs in the world — and all who "knew him when" — some ultimately great and distinguished man was poor and unknown are life members of the same. The chaps who "knew him when" he (Lincoln) split rails and butchered hogs were luminaries in this club. The guys who "knew him when" he (Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas) was an engine-wiper are Past Grand Worshipful Masters in this great gargantuan and unforgetting order.

Mr. John Duncan, by no means gargantuan but modest and interesting as a talker, "knew him when" he (the Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, now one of the two biggest figures in the world) was on the very threshold of his wonderful political career.
Watch Career With Pride
"Do you admire Mr. MacDonald very much?" I asked Mr. Duncan after a few preliminaries. "About as much as one man can admire another," was the ready answer; "after knowing him so long ago, when he was comparatively unknown, both the wife and I take great satisfaction in what he has gone to be. We have followed his marvellous career with devoted interest."

"Where did you first know Mr. Mac-Donald?" I asked. "Oh, in Leicester — it was from that city that he first went to parliament as one of their representatives."

"What year was that?" "As nearly as I can make it, it was either 1905 or 1906 — I rather think the former."

"How did you come to know him?"
— how were you thrown in with him? "By the political struggle in our city, I was one of his supporters,

I belonged to the Labour party in Leicester," was the reply.

"How did the whole thing begin, so far as the city of Leicester was concerned?" I pursued. "Well, a group of us toilers there — I myself was a shoemaker — got together and organized the Independent Labor party. That began it."

"What was the reaction, on the part of the citizens generally, to this movement?" "They regarded us pretty much the same as the 'Reds' are regarded now," returned Mr. Duncan.

Free Speech Sacred

"What was your principal method of furthering your cause?" I asked.
"The 'soap box' method was pretty much all we had. Public speaking was our principal agency."

"Were you fellows pretty handy as public speakers?" "No, I'm afraid we were a pretty raw bunch of orators — and the grammar, I fancy, was often decidedly of the home-made brand."

"Was there much opposition — to your public utterances, I mean?"
"Only when the crowd, the audience was hostile. Not by the authorities at all. Then, as now, the right of free speech was considered a sacred thing in England."

"May I tell you a remarkable thing that Lord Byng, when chief of police for London, once said to me?" I interpolated. "He said, when I asked him about the Hyde Park 'soap-boxers' that to let them blather, within limits, was the best way to disarm them. And I recall his last words:
'Those fellows are their own fireextinguishers.'"

"Pretty much the fact of the case," replied the veteran laborer and Laborite; "anyhow, we knew the police wouldn't interfere with us, as long as we kept away from sedition or urging violence. And we always did."
"Did your Labour group, in that early day, have any political affiliation?" I queried. "Yes. At the start, we rather worked in with the Liberal party. Then, about 1898, I think, we rather broke away and began appealing to the crowds as an organization of our own apart."

Followed Salvation Army
"What crowds?" I asked. "Street corner crowds. We adopted the Salvation Army round — then, when they stopped, we began; kind of fell heir to their crowds, you see."

"Who, before Ramsay MacDonald appeared on the scene, were some of your principal leaders?" "Not very many prominent, I'm afraid. Mr. Henry Broadhurst was a conspicuous figure. He used to hold forth in the old Leicester town hall."

"Who was your first candidate for parliament?" "Joe Burgess of Birmingham — he came down and ran for Leicester. We fought hard. But we were poor. We had no money.
Mr. Burgess was beaten."

"What happened then?" I pursued.
"We just marked time, till Ramsay MacDonald came along. He was comparatively unknown — but very ambitious."

"Did Ramsay Jack things up a bit?"
"Very decidedly — it's wonderful what a difference one strong personality can make. His gifts helped amazingly — and his character helped still more. He was always a sane zealot — he was always a prophet.
He believed something — and you always have to reckon with a man who believes something."

Demand Free Hand

"Did the Leicester Labor crowd take him on at once?" "Right away
— I think his voice, that honest voice of his, had a lot to do with it. We took him right on as our candidate for M.P."

"Was he eager to run?" "No, but willing. He first came down to Leicester and met with the Trades and Labor Council. He agreed to run — but he stipulated he must run on his own time-table. He demanded a free hand. He started, along with us, a chain of sort of coffee taverns — much better and more inviting than the pubs — and we'd meet there for tea and talk. It only cost sixpence for both. And we soon had a better class of supporters coming round."

"What, in your opinion, was the secret, then — and I suppose stiff — of Mr. MacDonald's power?" I asked his old friend.

Mr. Duncan, after a minute or two for thought, replied: "I should say, his frank courage. You felt he was genuine."
"Did he win out easily?" I renewed. "He didn't win at all the first try. He was defeated. But that did not settle MacDonald. He kept right on. The next election, he won. And I can tell you the incident that won it for him," assured his old supporter.

"Then tell me," said his listener.
"Well, it was at one of the biggest crowd meetings I ever saw in Leicester. Mr. MacDonald had spoken for about an hour and a half. Suddenly — of course he saw they were awful interested — he stopped and said: 'Do you people want to win for yourselves, and for your children, the things I've been talking to you about, the things you've been cheering to the echo?' And there came a great shout

— I remember the army of hands thrown up in the air as the shout came — a great shout of 'Yes, yes!'
"And was that what won for him?"
I broke in. "Oh, no. After the shout — Ramsay MacDonald is a great orator, to my mind — after the shout he stood silent and looked at them for what seemed a long time. He has a wonderful eye, you know; and then he said slowly: 'Then, if you're in earnest; I call on you to leave your tap-rooms, leave your horse-racing, leave your footballing — and come out and help me to win! And they did.
And he won. And from then on, he never stopped till he became prime minister of Great Britain — till he was three different times sent for by his King."

This concluded, in essence, my thrilling interview with this interesting man. The rest was scattered conversation. About the great Welf Haddie; who, Mr. MacDonald told me, had influenced his life more, with the exception of his noble wife, Ellen Gladstone, than any other soul he had known. And Mr. Duncan told me of his visit to Mr. MacDonald's London home, in Gray's Inn Rd., where he met, and came to know and honor, the gracious lady who kindled and kept aflame within her husband, heart the spiritual fire that has made him great.

And we spoke of other Labour prophets of that early and embattled day. Of Philip Snowden and J. R.
Clynes and Arthur Henderson and others.

And we gossiped a bit. Chiefly about Mr. MacDonald's cultured and aristocratic wife, long lost now. And Mr. Duncan told me, as generally believed, that Mrs. MacDonald's fortune had been left to her on terms of devotion to her own and her children's advantage — and that the courtly Ramsay had always refused to use one penny of it for his own public or private purposes. "Which is easy to believe," I assured, as we parted, this most enjoyable member of the "I knew him when's" I have met for long.

FIRST DELORO WOLF CUBS

May 30 — The meeting opened with the Grand Howl, taken by C. M. Kerr.
The Jungle Dance of Tabaku was reviewed once or twice under the direction of Willie Reynolds, Senior Sixty. The work from the last meeting was also reviewed to Cubmaster Kerr.
A game, Shere Khan and Mewgli was played indoors for some time; as the smaller boys did not seem to have an equal chance there it was continued outdoors, where races were run as well. The meeting closed on time with the final Grand Howl.
First Deloro Company of Girl Guides have suspended their meetings for the summer months. An invitation to a Church Parade in Stirling was regrettably refused as it was found impossible to attend.

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue June 12th, 1913)
Golden Wedding

An event of unusual interest took place in our village on Tuesday, June 3rd, when Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Badgley celebrated their golden wedding. In Sidney township fifty years ago on June 3rd, Mr. Stephen Badgley was united in holy wedlock to Miss Abby Ann Barragar. The best man on that occasion was Mr. Paul Kingston, a resident of this village and present at the celebration. The bridesmaid, Miss Maretha Badgley, who resides in Trenton, was unable to be present.

St. Thomas Church, 8th line, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, May 28th, when Miss Cora May, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jeffrey, was united in marriage to Mr. John B. Hagerman, of Minto. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Fannie Stout, the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father. The ceremony was performed by the Rev.
H. Hall.

Springbrook

The traditional stork passed over the village last Monday night and left a baby boy with Mrs. John N. Moore.
Mr. W. E. Green is back from the Peace River District. He is well pleased with the country and leaves again in a short time with his family and another car of settlers effects.

Local and Personal

Rev. A. J. Terrill, who has been at Tweed for the past four years, will succeed Rev. L. S. Wight in the Methodist Church. He is expected to take charge about the first of July.

The annual picnic of the West Hastingings Farmers' and Women's Institutes was held on Wednesday at Wilson's Grove, Oak Lake. The proceedings were intensely interesting and instructive. Prof. Reynolds, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Mr.
Ketcheson, reeve of Sidney, F. R.
Mallory, of Frankford and the president of the Women's Institute were the chief speakers. Mr. Clem Ketch-eson acted as chairman. Mr. Kerr gave a practical talk. The Professor's address was well thought out and instructive on the subject of "Keeping the Boy on the Farm." The picnic was fairly well attended.

Mrs. Thos. Mutrie, of Regina, Sask., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Faulkner and will likely remain for about two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Badgley, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Barragar, of Elm Creek, Man., Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd, of Barrie, and Mrs. Hawkins, of Michigan, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clements on Sunday last.

C. I. Baragar, a native and former resident of Rawdon, arrived here last week accompanied by his wife. They expect to remain most of the summer. Their many friends will be pleased to see them. Mr. Baragar now lives at Elm Creek, Man. On leaving that place Dr. B. F. Butler, who formerly practiced his profession in this village and is now settled down to farming at Elm Creek, gave Mr. Baragar an egg laid by a six months' old pullet weighing 5 ounces and measuring 7 x 8 inches, to show his friends as a sample of what he is doing in the farming line.

The usual weekly meeting of the Cheese Board was held on Tuesday afternoon. There were 850 boxes boarded as follows: Central 140; Hoards 75, sold to Cook at 11%; Evergreen 100, Harold 85, Shamrock 95, bought by Watkin at 11%; Marmora 80, Maple Leaf 100, Stirling 60, bought by Ayer and Co. at 11%; Riverside 30, Spry 30, bought by Ayer & Co., at 11 9-16c. Springbrook had 55 boxes but refused to accept price offered.
With this exception the board was cleared.

Business Changes

J. L. Ashley has opened up in his new store which presents a very pleasing appearance. He has also installed an ice cream parlour and will serve light lunches.

G. W. Anderson has sold out his business to G. H. Luery, a former merchant of the village, who will take possession some time in August. In the meantime Mr. Anderson will conduct a clearance sale.

J. F. Long, who has first class Ice Cream Parlours and Confectionery Stores in Campbellford and one or two other places, has taken the store lately occupied by J. L. Ashley and is now fitting it up, expecting to open at once. There are rumours of other changes in business, of which Stirling during the past few months, seems to have had a regular epidemic.

Static by the Editor

When a man has been pounded by overwhelming odds for a long time either of two things happens; he is whipped and knows he is whipped, in which case he loses his initiative and his ability to fight back; or he is roused to such a pitch of grim determination that he gets in and fights his way back.

Bride—You didn't talk that way before we were married?
Groom—What way?

Bride—You said you would go through fire and water for me, and now you refuse every time I ask you for money.

Groom—But I never said I'd go through bankruptcy for you.

Some men would rather be right than be Premier, but most of us have no ambitions along either line.

Stirling Girl—It's sweet of you to bring me this mistletoe.

Boy Friend—Don't mention it. The pleasure is going to be mine.

A nickel never sounds any louder than when it is dropped in a church collection plate.

What a man can't understand is why his wife can't be as satisfied with him as he is with himself.

Billie (who has eaten his apple)—Let's play Adam and Eve.

Little Pattie—How do we play it?

Billie—You tempt me to eat your apple and I'll give in.

There is something mysteriously attractive about all mysteries except bash.

On the wall of a large corporation this saying is displayed: "There never was anything made but what somebody else could make it worse and sell it for less."

"Will you please insert this obituary notice?" asked an old gentleman of the editor of The News-Argus. "I ask it because the deceased had a great many friends around here who'd be glad to hear of her death."

It's hard for a man to climb up in this world, but it hurts him far more to climb down again.

Waiter (after spilling plate of soup down guest's neck)—I beg your pardon, sir!

Guest—Oh, that's all right! I really didn't want the soup anyway.

Magistrate (to Motorist)—Witness said you neither slowed down nor tried to avoid the pedestrian.

Motorist—I took all the precautions. I blew my horn and cursed him. Toot! Toot!

A tabloid newspaper was offering $1.00 each for "embarrassing moments." One letter received read thusly: "I came home from work and found a strange man making love to my wife. I was very embarrassed. Please send $2. as my wife was embarrassed too."

The editor, we are told, sent $3, admitting the possibility that the stranger also might have been embarrassed.

Men condemned to hang are allowed to take any exercise they choose excepting skipping the rope.

A farmer was delivering vegetables to the Insane Hospital and just as he was leaving one of the patients saluted him.

"You're a farmer, ain't yuh?"

The farmer allowed that he was.

"I used to be a farmer once," said the guest of the Province.

"Did yuh?"

Yes, say, stranger, did you ever try bein' crazy?" The farmer never had, and started to move on.

"Well, you oughta try it," was the ex-farmer's parting shot. It bears farmin' all hollow."

EXAM FEES CUT SAVE $10,000

With 50,000 pupils about to write Lower School examinations had pressed family budgets the Province over will be saved an estimated $10,000 by a curtailment of Lower School examination fees from $1.50 for each examination to $1.00.

The Ontario Department of Education is the authority to effect this one reduction in the "high cost of education", and it is done by handing back the Lower School papers to the High School Entrance Boards. Formerly the work had been done in the Department of Education. The High School term has been extended a week, to July 11th.

UNITED CHURCH MINISTERS MOVE

Bowmanville — With an impressive veneration service the ninth annual session of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada came to a close on Sunday.

Five candidates, W. F. Banister, B.Th., B.D.; F. Merrill Ferguson, B.A.; C. H. Ferguson, B.A.; R. E. Spencer, M.A., and H. A. Turner, B.A., were ordained ministers by Rev. M. C. McKinnon, President of the Conference. Assisting in the service were: Rev. G. R. C. McQuade, Secretary of the Conference, Rev. E. F. Armstrong; Rev. Dr. T. E. Holling, who preached the sermon; Rev. Andrew McLaughlin, Rev. Dr. James Semple, Rev. W. A. Earls, Rev. Dr. J. C. Watts, Rev. J. F. Lane, Rev. Roy Richard and Rev. W. B. Archer.

The changes approved by the Settlement Committee and by the Conference in the dying hours of the ninth annual session were as follows:

Turner, newly ordained, to Montague; Rev. A. D. Cornett, outside of Conference, to Smith's Falls; Rev. C. A. Eales, West Huntingdon, to White Lake.

Carleton Place Memorial Park and Flakeny settlement, pending.

COMMUNITY SHEEP DIPPING

Two dippings of sheep every year are advisable, the first in the spring and the second in the fall. Spring dipping should be performed as soon after shearing as possible. June is the most suitable month, since in June all lambs will have arrived and the weather is favourable. Community dipping has a number of advantages over individual farm dipping. It costs less, there is less labour for each individual farmer, and an annual community dipping day insures that all flocks in the district will be dipped.

A community desiring to build a permanent community tank may make application for a set of forms to the District Sheep and Swine Promoter in any of the provinces. A concrete tank properly built is not expensive, is more permanent and gives entire satisfaction. After a suitable location has been selected as central as possible for the sheep owners in the district, the most economical method of building the tank is to arrange the work co-operatively, delegating someone to draw the gravel, another to haul the forms and cement, and others to dig the hole, mix the concrete and fill the forms.

For the individual farmer with a few sheep where no community tank is available, it is not necessary to construct an elaborate dipping plant. A large barred or trough large enough to immerse the sheep thoroughly will answer the purpose. A small draining platform can easily be built, so that the sheep when dipped can be allowed to stand for a few minutes until the dip drains out of the fleece and runs back into the dipping vessel.

Campbellford — Being hit on the head with a piece of emery breaking from a machine while working on his farm in Haven, Alberta, Percy Hall, son of John Hall, of Campbellford, and well-known horse dealer in many parts of the country, and especially in this section, is in a very critical condition at his home in the West. The accident happened yesterday morning while he was operating a sharpening outfit, the emery breaking and flying into Hall's face. The news of the accident was cabled to his father in Campbellford on Wednesday afternoon last week.

YARKER AND COLEBROOK

(Intended for last week)

Rev. G. T. McKenzie, the pastor here was the special speaker at Trinity United Church, Napanee, on Sunday evening and the service here was conducted by Rev. A. D. Waite, of Tamworth.

A bad fire was narrowly averted on Monday noon when the alcove of the United Church caught fire. The Ladies' Aid Society were cleaning the hall nearby and it is thought a spark from the chimney set fire to the roof. The school children gave the alarm and school and church bells started ringing and soon there gathered a crowd who worked hard, and with the liberal use of water from the railway pump-house, the blaze was soon extinguished.

The Yarker W.M.S. held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Jackson last Thursday evening. This home is on the shore of Lake Varty near where Rev. Mr. Rowland had a cottage last summer, and many admired the sunset and the lovely lake as they arrived for the meeting. The Pres., Mrs. Rutan, opened the meeting with prayer and Scripture lesson. Several officers gave reports. A letter from Mrs. (Rev.) Anderson was read and suggestions given. Others taking part were Miss McKenzie, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Lee, Miss Porter, Mrs. Salisbury, Mrs. McFarlane and Mrs. Smith. Dainty refreshments were served. June meeting to be held at Mrs. Allen's.

Mrs. Redden, of Tamworth, District President of the Women's Institute attended the meeting here on Wednesday afternoon and installed the officers for another year. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Redden for the interest she has taken in the district and for her kindness in coming to Yarker on several occasions. Dainty refreshments were served at the close. Mrs. McFarlane was re-elected as President, with several new officers. Mrs. Redden was formerly Miss Gertrude Sexsmith, and will be remembered by many people at Molra, West Huntingdon, Fuller and Eggleston as the daughter of a former pastor over thirty years ago, Rev. M. Sexsmith.

Now that the summer season is approaching the fact that the stores will close each Wednesday afternoon will prove of much pleasure to the merchants and staff members.

A delightful afternoon tea was held at the paragon last Thursday afternoon. Miss Isabel McKenzie welcomed the guests and Miss Pauline Buck presided at the piano. Small tables for four were arranged on the spacious verandah and delicious sandwiches, jellies and cake were served with "the cup that cheers". Mrs. Rutan and Mrs. McFarlane poured tea from three till five, with Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lee assisting. Ladies were present from Colebrook and Moscow, and all enjoyed this social function and look forward with pleasure to attending the next one to be held at the home of Mrs. Purcell.

A number of Yarker members of Arawanna Rebekah Lodge, with Mrs. Gowdy, N. Grand, motored to Napanee on Monday evening to join with the Rebekah Lodge there in the welcome to the President of the Assembly of Ontario, Mrs. M. Disney, of Oshawa. The reception was largely attended and splendid addresses are reported; also beautiful work by the Queen of Sheba degree team. There are at the present time twenty-five thousand Rebekahs in the jurisdiction of Ontario.

Personals

Mrs. Rich, of Toronto, is spending a week with her mother, Mrs. Brown who has been ill for some time.

Dr. Oldham has returned from Toronto where he attended a medical convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Freeman have returned from visiting friends in Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Napolis and Miss Jean, of Napanee, visited Mr. and Mrs. Andrews during the week.

and; also Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery, of Odessa recently.

Mr. M. Foster has completed improvements on his residence on the main street of the village.

Sympathy is extended to Dr. Whytock who received word of the death of his nephew in Madoc, who was drowned while fishing.

Much sympathy has been felt for Mrs. Brown whose daughter, Mildred died in Kingston hospital last week.

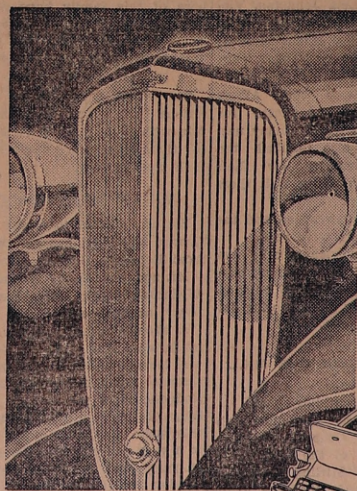

The funeral was held at the home of Mrs. Brown here and conducted by Rev. M. Spencer, assisted by Rev. G. McKenzie on Monday afternoon, and was largely attended. Mrs. Brown is under the doctor's care.

McGill Convocation

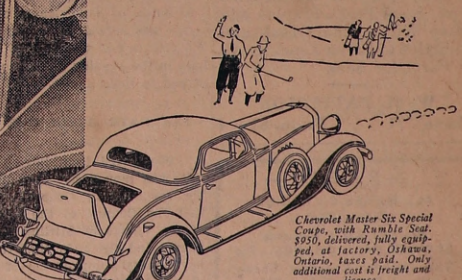

Representative leaders of Canadian religious, educational and business life take part in the traditionally impressive ceremonies connected with the Convocation of McGill University. Of particular interest was the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws conferred upon His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve. In the picture are shown from left to right, front row, in gowns. Right Rev. John C. Farthing, D.D., Anglican Bishop of Montreal; His Eminence Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec; A. J. Brown, K.C. Second row in mortar boards: Chancellor E. W. Beatty, K.C., LL.D., of McGill University, and President, Canadian Pacific Railway; Sir Arthur Currie, Principal of McGill University, and on his left in gown, Mr. John W. Ross. Rear row: W. A. Black, Hon. Vincent Massey and W. M. Birks. In the doorway is Mr. Huntley R. Drummond.

DOWN GOES THE COST OF MOTORING...

NEW Chevrolets... everywhere! Breezing along the open road. Streaking quietly past other cars in traffic. Parking neatly at some crowded curb. Making thousands of owners proud—and comfortable—and happy. And at the same time, saving Canada thousands of dollars every day! That's the beauty of these big, low-priced cars with Fisher No-Draft Ventilation. A gallon of gasoline will take you farther in a Chevrolet than in any other full-size car. So will a quart of oil. As far as upkeep is concerned, no other low-priced car is so completely free from trouble, as a new Chevrolet Six is. And no other low-priced car stands up so well over such a long period of time! Because of this economy, many people are finding it less expensive to buy new Chevrolets than to pay for the upkeep of their old cars. Especially since Chevrolet prices are now down to record-breaking levels! Visit our showrooms and see the new addition to the Chevrolet line—the Standard Six—offered at the lowest price ever placed on a full-size, six-cylinder closed car!

BRIDE-ELECT SHOWERED

On Friday evening, June 2, about two hundred and fifty friends and neighbours of both the bride and groom-to-be gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mumby in honour of their daughter, Mabel, to present her with a miscellaneous shower. The numerous gifts were very useful, consisting of granite, china, linens, glass, pyrex, silver, wickerware and several envelopes containing money which showed the high esteem in which Mabel was held in the community.

About ten o'clock the gathering was called to order by Mr. Ernest Searles, who acted as chairman for the evening. The following program was enjoyed by those who were able to hear it because of the large crowd. A solo by Mr. John B. Hagerman; piano duet by Misses Ethel and Mae Clements; solo by Mrs. Francis Jeffrey, "A Basket of Old-Fashioned Roses"; violin solo by Lorne Hagerman, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lindsay Tanner; "They cut down the old Pine Tree"; a humorous reading given by Muriel Sine, "Matrimonial Warning"; duet by Mrs. Edith Colden and Mr. Roy White, "Molawk Valley"; duet by Mr. John B. Hagerman and Mrs. Francis Jeffrey; solo, Mrs. Francis Jeffrey "Molly O'Grady".

The bride and groom-to-be were seated before a table laden with miscellaneous gifts, during the program and addresses. After the program an address from the members of Salem Sunday School was read by Miss Lela Johnston and a wicker fernery presented by Miss Josephine Sine.

Harold, Ontario, June 2, 1933.

we, the members of Salem Sunday School have gathered here this evening, with other friends, to show our appreciation and gratitude for your loyal service. You have been a willing and cheerful helper in all activities of the church work. As you are not leaving the Community we sincerely trust that you will continue to worship with us.

This gift is presented by your Sunday School as a slight token of the high esteem in which you are held as organist by all its members. In rendering it we give expression of our gratitude and extend sincere wishes for a happy married life. Never doubt or fear or falter if you find the way grows hard; God has promised He will strengthen if you will His way regard.

Members of Salem Sunday School Then followed an address from the community which was read by Mrs. Eddie Colden, as follows:
Dear Mabel and Albert:

This happy crowd has assembled here to spend a social evening before you embark on the sea of matrimony. Mabel, we could not let this occasion pass without showing some appreciation of the many services you have rendered. Among your interests have been that of the Church, and by no means the least of all. We are glad you are not moving out of our midst, so that we may still enjoy your company.

Albert, you are no stranger, having lived in the community for a number of years. We most heartily congratulate you on your choice, our wish is that God's richest and choicest blessing may follow you both throughout your wedded life.

As a small token of our esteem we ask you to accept these gifts and may they serve you well amid the sunshine and showers of life, and ever remind you of your friends.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours: Lela Johnston, Violet Cooke, Letha Colden, Edna Heagle, Ethel Clements, Roma Mumby, Bernice Rollins, Lindsay Tanner, Vera Wright.

After the addresses both Albert and Mabel thanked the guests for their kindness and for the many useful gifts. Mabel also thanked the Sunday School members for their gift. All were invited to visit them in their home.

The gifts were unwrapped and the names of the givers were read.

A lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee was served by the young boys and girls, which was heartily enjoyed. Late in the evening the gathering dispersed to their homes.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ashley, of West Huntingdon, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott (sister of Mrs. Ashley) and Mr. and Mrs. Murney Scott and Miss Anderson, of Nanapanee, and Mrs. Adams of West Huntingdon, a sister of Mrs. Ashley, took dinner with the bride and groom of fifty years ago. In the evening their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Adam Corrigan, of Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ashley and neighbours. Mrs. Ashley was presented with a silver server and Mr. Ashley a smoking set. Three members of this family have celebrated their golden weddings: Mr. and Mrs. Adam Corrigan, Madoc, Mr. and Mrs. Hubble, Syracuse, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ashley.

The News-Argus extends congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ashley and join with many friends in wishing them many more anniversaries of their wedding day.

WEST HUNTINGDON

We are pleased to report that Mr. George McGowan has returned home from Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy McCurdy spent Wednesday with Mrs. Earl Humphrey, at Conseccon.

A shower would be most welcome by farmers just now.

A large number of our people are throwing a few bouquets to Mr. Lewis Rodgers, local patrol man on the Ridge Road. You will remember that this same old Ridge Road has been in a very bad condition for a number of years, and it was the census of opinion that it was doomed that nothing short of paving would ever make it a road, except for a path. But our brave Lewis has shown us that he is the right man in the right place for now you can call along the old Ridge fifty or sixty, one finger on the steering wheel, elbow on the door and no worry. And now Lewis keep up the good work and perhaps we may give you a turkey banquet in the fall.

The farmers seem to be extra busy these days, planting being the main item just now, and judging by the look of the hay the sound of the mower will soon be heard. And would you believe it, our town is growing and becoming more up to date every day.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton have rented the Wright house, which is situated on south Front Street and are making extensive preparations for operating an ice cream parlour and hot-dog stand.

We are sorry to report that the Conference is moving. Rev. C. A. Sales to White Lake Circuit in Renfrew County. Mr. Sales has only been with us for one year. Rev. R. J. Merriam is succeeding him.

Rev. Roy Scomehorn of the Standard Church, who is well known here is also moving to a town down east.

Mr. Lester Fraser has been re-engaged as principal of our public school for another year.

Miss Evelyn McInroy has secured a position on the teaching staff at Foxboro.

Mr. Phillip Carr had charge of the services on the Raydon Circuit on Sunday.

Mr. Arthur Wilson occupied the pulpit at the Eggleton appointment as Rev. C. A. Sales had a funeral on the Ivanhoe circuit for Mr. Mellow. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Simmons, of Foxboro, spent Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McInroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Langdon and son Wilfred, of Toronto, visited a couple of days with Mrs. J. J. Wilson.

A number of Mr. Jas. McGowan's neighbours gathered on Thursday and assisted him with his farm operations.

The cottage prayer meeting held at Mr. George McCurdy's home on Wednesday evening was conducted by Rev. Roy Scomehorn.

Mr. H. Rollins visited his sister, Mrs. Geo. Post, over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. George Holden and Miss June were visitors at Mr. Sandy McCurdy's on Sunday.

MINTO

A large number attended the shower in honour of Miss Mabel Mumby at her home on Friday evening. The presents received were numerous and beautiful. Our best wishes go with Mabel to her new home.

Mr. Jim Reynolds spent Saturday at Eldorado.

Miss Edna McMaster spent Monday with friends at Healey Falls.

The Y.P.S. of Salem took charge of the service on Sunday in the absence of Rev. Mr. Mellow.

Mrs. George Stone spent Friday with Mrs. F. Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Palmer spent Saturday at Mr. C. Morgan's.

HAROLD

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sine spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Sine.

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Mabel Mumby at her home here on Friday evening of last week. A great crowd attended and the bride-to-be received an array of exquisite and serviceable gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. George Snarr and children; also Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Maybee and Billy spent Sunday the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Dracup, of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey, Will. Evelyn and Ross, motored to Peterboro on Saturday and called on Miss Cora Bailey, who has charge of a school near Pontypool.

Mrs. A. D. Runnalls entertained Springbrook Ladies' Aid on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. Harry Heath is making rapid strides towards recovery since her recent operation in Belleville Hospital and it is hoped she will soon be able to return home.

Mrs. G. A. Bailey and Evelyn attended the summer meeting of the W. I. at Marmora on Tuesday of last week when Mrs. Towriss, of Athens, was the department speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Reid motored to Peterboro on Saturday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Collins.

Messrs Merle Todd and W. K. Ball-ey, B.A., motored from Toronto and spent the week-end at their respective homes here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grills, of Campbellford, visited her parents on Wednesday and attended the funeral of the late Clayton Mumby at Rylestone.

BETHEL

Mrs. Marian Sine spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Warren Reid.

Mrs. W. Jackman, Stirling, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Dracup, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gummer spent Saturday in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Holden and June visited Mr. and Mrs. George McCurdy, Ridge Road, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sine visited friends in Frankford on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Heath and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott and Bobby motored to Cobourg on Sunday.

We are glad to report that Miss Eva Hall is able to return home from the Belleville Hospital this week.

Miss Laura Tucker spent Tuesday evening with her friend, Miss Isobel Turner, Mount Pleasant.

On Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sam Elliott and girls attended the funeral of their cousin, The late Roy Rose, Holloway.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tucker visited Mr. John Green last Saturday afternoon.

SPRINGBROOK

Mrs. Susie Bateman is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Lough.

Mr. Wm. Fitzgerald, of the Carry- ing Place, was a guest of his brother, M. Fitzgerald on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. MacConnell and Marion of Brighton, were guests on Sunday of Mrs. Carrie A. MacConnell.

A number from here attended the shower in honour of Miss Mabel Mumby on Friday night last.

Mrs. Herb White and baby son, of Oshawa, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foon.

We are sorry to learn that one of our old residents, Mrs. Sam Forrestel, of Marmora, is in Belleville Hospital.

The marriage of Miss Maud Bell and Mr. Jas. Milne, of Seymour, took place in Belleville on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkitt, of Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Hearn and son, Douglas, of Mountain View, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Burkitt and Tom Burkitt and daughter Doreen, of Frankford, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bush of River Valley, spent Sunday at Mr. Sam McComb's.

A large number from here attended the funeral on Wednesday of Mr. Clayton Mumby at Rylestone. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

A report of the last Springbrook - Bonarlaw game appears elsewhere in this issue.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS

Congratulations to the brides and grooms, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fry and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kerr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forde spent Sunday in Cobourg.

According to the schedule the first Seymour League Softball game will be played on Saturday night in town between Menie and Seymour West.

Mr. David Walker is planning to sail for England some time in July.

Mrs. M. Forde, Convenor of Christian Fellowship Dept. had charge of League last week. Geo. Brunton, Vice President, opened the meeting.

David Walker announced the program as follows: Scripture lesson by Myrtle Miller. Devotional talk and discussion led by Wm. Forde. Reading by Mrs. Fred Barnum; Hawaiian music by Cora Petherick. Topic by Mrs. Forde.

Ball practice will be held before League this week, and League will begin at 8.15 in charge of Violet Wright.

BONARLAW

In their first tilt with the Springbrook team, playing a league game on Tuesday night on the Bonarlaw diamond, the Bonarlaw softball team were defeated, the score being 23 to 5. Bateman was on the mound for Springbrook for the seven inning, and was in good form. He had excellent support from all quarters. Brooks pitched a good game for Bonarlaw, as did Black, who replaced him in the sixth inning, but owing to weakness in the outfield, and the organization of the visiting team, who are veterans in the game, they could not hold them. The line-ups were:
 Springbrook — G. Heath rf, Mason 1b, Haslett ss, Bateman p, Williams c, Morton lf, Burkitt cf, Bailey 3b, W. Heath 2b.
 Bonarlaw — Heath 1b, Brooks p, McGrath ss, Reid c, Prest lf, Black 2b, Chas. Wellman 3b, Peters rf, Neal cf.
 Score by innings:
 Bonarlaw 1 1 1 6 2 - 11
 Springbrook 3 2 2 1 0 - 10
 Umpires — Roy Bone and Geo. Donald.
 Mr. Archie Haslett left for Edmonton, Alberta, on Monday of this week and Mr. Lindsay Mumby several days ago on the Western Excursion.
 Mr. and Mrs. Edward Todd of the 6th concession of Rawdon left on Monday for Vancouver, B.C.
 Rev. S. E. Morton, of Brockville, was in Bonarlaw last week visiting friends.
FULLER
 The past few days every tree and bush seems to have put on their best and one cannot help but admire all nature and wonder.
 Mr. and Mrs. Alger Post entertained Queensboro friends on Sunday.
 A little girl has come to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mitts.
 Mr. and Mrs. Will Dean left on Sunday for Sydneyham to spend a few days with the latter's sister, who is ill.
 Mr. Walter Gazley of Toronto spent the week-end in our midst.

Mr. H. R. Burke accompanied Rev. C. A. Sales to Bowmanville to attend Conference.
 The correspondent has been asked "Would it not be a good thing in reporting weddings, deaths, etc., to print not only the day and month, but also the year, for references in later years?" Just a tip for all correspondents.

IVANHOE

 Quite a number from here attended the shower for Miss Mabel Mumby on Friday evening.
 The trustees have engaged Miss W. McInroy as teacher for another year.
 Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood and George visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Ashley on Sunday afternoon.

BURNBRAE

The Woman's Missionary Society and the Ladies' Aid Society held a joint meeting at the home of Mr. W. Matthews last Thursday, June 1st, with an attendance of 40. After singing hymn 752 Miss Emma Wilson gave the Bible reading and Mrs. Geo. Craighead offered prayer. It was decided to have Rev. Mr. Koffend, of Stirling, deliver a missionary address here the first Sunday of July. The following interesting and instructive program was presented: Mrs. D. A. McKenzie gave a report of the executive meeting of the Dominion W.M.S. which was held in Toronto. Reading, Miss Mina Linn. Solo, Mrs. G. V. Taylor. Miss Violet Atkinson read a chapter from the studybook describing missions in India. Piano solo, Miss Dorothy Watson. Reading, Mrs. T. Weatherill. Solo, Mrs. Roy Walker. Piano selection, Mrs. Alvin Pollock. Hymn and closing prayer. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour spent.

The Young People's Society met on Monday night. The program was patriotic, dealing with our King, Empire and Flag. After devotional exercises a patriotic hymn was sung. This was followed by a reading entitled "Empire First" by Miss Verna Cassan. The next number was a duet "Canada" by Messrs Howard and Malcolm Hutcheon. Miss Violet Atkinson gave a reading entitled "The Flag of Britain". Mr. Malcolm Hutcheon gave an interesting sketch of the life of Queen Mary. This was followed by an account of the life of King George V. by Rev. A. D. McKenzie. Another patriotic duet by Malcolm and Howard Hutcheon and the National Anthem concluded an interesting and instructive program.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson visited at the home of Mr. John Rainie of Wellmans Corners on Sunday.
 Miss Margaret Milne, R.N. of Lockport N. Y., accompanied by two lady friends spent the week-end at the home of Mr. Alex Milne.

While assisting in the raising of his brother's barn, Will Bennett, of the fourth concession of Seymour, narrowly escaped death when struck by a falling girder. The timber, dropping about sixteen feet, struck Mr. Bennett a glancing blow on the head, almost severing one ear, eleven stitches being required to mend the injured member. A few inches variation in the course of the falling timber would have undoubtedly proved fatal to the young man, who is one of the community's most popular and successful farmers. Mr. Fred Bennett is building an addition to his barn to provide more accommodation for the work being done by Lindsay Fry, local carpenter and contractor.

CENTRE HUNTINGDON

Quite a number from here attended a joint meeting of Ivanhoe W. I. and Madoc W.I. which was held in the Town Hall at Ivanhoe on Friday afternoon. A very interesting address was given by Mrs. Towris, speaker for this district. Musical numbers were contributed by the Madoc ladies. At the close of the meeting the Ivanhoe W. I. served a dainty lunch.
 Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ashley celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on June 6th. Their many friends extend to them every good wish for their welfare and congratulations on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

Ivanhoe baseball team played West Huntingdon team here on Friday evening, the score being 15-13 in favour of W. Huntingdon.
 Mr. Jas. Donnan of Stirling spent a few days here last week visiting his old friends and neighbours.
 Preparatory service was held in St. Andrew's Church on Friday evening last when the following were received into the church: Miss Hilda Haggerty, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sills, Mrs. Donald Haggerty, Mr. Milton Shaw.

Rev. F. G. Joblin of Stirling will preach in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday, June 11.

MOUNT PLEASANT

After Sunday School on Sunday morning a Temperance programme was started and was opened with "The Army of Temperance is gathering its men." Mr. Osborne Smith read the Bible Lesson found in 1st Daniel, and gave a brief talk. Messrs John Coggins, David Bell and Herbert Higgs sang as a trio "Dash it down". Mr. A. W. Garrison gave a short address along Temperance lines, and handed out some useful information. The meeting closed with "Stand up for Jesus" and prayer.

Y. P. S. was opened on Friday evening with "Take Time to be Holy" and Mrs. John Reid was in charge of the Devotional topic. Miss Isobel Turner then presided with "All hail the power". Mrs. Roy Thrasher read the Bible Lesson and Miss Francis McKeown read a selection. Mrs. Jas. Sharp read a splendid paper prepared by Miss Helen Smith on the subject "What and how to Worship in the Young People's Society". Miss Helen Spencer sang "Sweeter as the years go by". The meeting closed with "The Whole World was lost" and Miss Edna Thrasher put on a "car" contest.

On Sunday evening Councillor Philip Carr took charge of the Service at Mount Pleasant and discoursed on the text found in Romans 1-16 "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto Salvation to everyone that believeth", and he pointed out that the church is the custodian of the gospel. The speaker paid tribute to the musical assistance, as during the service Miss Olive McConnell sang very effectively "Oh let me walk with Jesus", accompanied by Miss Edna Thrasher. In the children's story the speaker explained how we as individuals have been twice bought by Jesus by the power of creation and by the power of redemption.

Mrs. Irvin Reid, John and Gordon spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harvie, Wooler. Mr. and Mrs. Allan Reid and Mr. Irvin Reid motored up on Sunday and she and the children returned home.

Mrs. M. Cooney visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Cooney part of last week.

On May 30th the game of softball between Mount Pleasant and Glen Ross ended in a tie, 5-5.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heagle, Wellmans, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White.

Miss Edith Hagerman spent the week-end with Miss Helen Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Smith and Joan, of Peterboro, spent the week-end with Mrs. G. Smith.

Mr. Ernest Lake spent Sunday with Messrs John and Lorne White.

Y. P. S. will be in charge of Mr. David Bell on Friday evening.

Services here will be withdrawn next Sunday as the Sunday School have a special invitation to visit Bethel and seats will be reserved for Junior and Intermediate scholars.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Bailey and Barbara and Messrs Alvin and Geo. Crothers, of Toronto spent the holiday week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bailey.

Miss Marguerite White spent Sunday with Miss Agnes Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. James MacMullen, Bessie, Malcolm and Ralph, of Campbellford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen on Sunday.

Mrs. Thos. McKeown is staying with Mrs. Will Allan, of Allan's Mills, who is ill.

The girls are organizing a softball club under the leadership of Mrs. Don Campbell and they met for practice last week. They have chosen Miss Marjorie Hagerman as captain; Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and Miss Frances McKeown as pitchers; Mrs. Margaret White, catcher. Others playing are Misses Olive McConnell, Mildred Sharp, Isobel Turner, Agnes and Mildred Maynes. The other girls are also planning to play after school. So no doubt there will be girls enough to proceed with a team and enjoy a few friendly games with folks from outside points. Miss Evelyn Neal is also playing just now until the close of school, when she will play with Bonarlaw.

Mr. Clifford Holmes attended a Boy Scout meeting in Stirling on Sunday. Friends here were very sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. John Snarr of Wellmans.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McKeown and Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher and Edna, Mr. Frank Smith and Mrs. Angus Summers enjoyed a picnic at Charles' Bridge on Monday, June 5th. Mrs. James Sharp and Mrs. Emma Summers spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Melville Donnan.

Friends here were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Roy Kelly Rose, at Holloway on Friday evening. He was 29 years of age and the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Rose, of Holloway. He was loved and respected by all who knew him and we join a host of friends in extending our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved parents and only sister, Mrs. George Goodfellow, of Latta. Roy was unmarried.

Councillor Sanford attended a meeting in Sidney on Monday.
 Miss Lyla Jewel of Warkworth spent an evening recently with the latter's mother, Mrs. Lake.

Messrs Jas. and Murn Stapley and Mrs. Roy Wilson attended the funeral of the late Mr. Roy Rose at Roslin on Monday afternoon.
 Miss Bernadette Maloney of Stirling spent the week-end at her home here.

Mrs. Nelson Stapley and Harold attended Sidney Baptist church on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd called on Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gallivan and Mr. John Belcour on Thursday evening.
 Mr. and Mrs. W. Cooke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow and Miss Lyla Jewel were Sunday visitors at Mr. Jas. Stapley's.

Mr. Jas. Stapley's friends will be pleased to know he is much better again.

Mrs. Jas. Lake of Rawdon is spending a few days with her son Mr. Wesley Lake.

Mrs. Ernest Wilson, of Holloway, spent a day recently with her aunt, Mrs. George Clarke.

Synopsis: Joyce Ashton, poor stenographer, suffered loss of memory in a skidding taxicab accident in Chicago. One morning two years later she woke, after a fall from her horse, her memory restored, to find herself the wife of Neil Packard, rich California fruit packer. She determined to tell nobody of her predicament, but set about learning what she could of her life in the interval. From the conversation of her friends and letters in her desk she gathered that she had been a heartless, pleasure-loving young woman. One letter that troubled her was from a woman signing herself Sophie, blaming Frills for not giving a home to a baby. Frills wondered! She also found herself involved in an affair with a man named Maitland. In San Francisco, where she went while her husband was away on business, she met Robert Ainsworth, a poet whose work she had always admired. When Joyce returned home, she decided to be pleasant to Neil than Frills had been. But this line was dangerous, too, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back Frills' love. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Far up in the hills Joyce found a little group of pines on the edge of a towering redwood grove. When she lay down on her back in the warm sunshine and looked up through the pines at the blue sky she felt as if she were floating in space.

She lay thinking of Neil, and with a little thrill of satisfaction she decided that he showed no evidence of missing old Frills.

She had now met practically every one who moved in their circle in Maczanita, and had found out enough of their history and circumstances so that she could get safely by in most cases.

The month was not yet up, but Joyce, summarizing her impressions and the knowledge she had gathered, felt that she had given her environment a fair study and was entitled to draw her conclusions and plan her future course without further research.

First, as to Neil. She had made a number of enlightening and cheering discoveries concerning him. He was devoted to golf, but did not care for dancing; he liked liquor but never drank to excess and he disliked risqué stories more than most of his acquaintances guessed. He believed in taking one's part in the life of the community but he would have been happy to stay at home four evenings out of a week to enjoy the quiet pleasures of private life.

On her return from San Francisco she had once more been forced to face the problem of her relations with Maitland. He had telephoned and called several times the first day while she was out, and on the second morning, just as she was ready for a ride on Rosita, he had appeared and caught her. . . . Joyce let her thoughts dwell dreamily for a moment on Maitland and instinctively she found herself comparing him with scorn to two men — Robert Ainsworth and Neil Packard. Measured by Ainsworth's standards, Maitland had no chance at all — it was almost unfair to even compare them.

Maitland had once or twice attempted to reopen the subject of their love, but Joyce had continued to treat him with such unmistakable coldness that he was baffled and finally let her alone.

In her thoughts she now came back with a quickening of her pulses, to the problem of her relations with Neil. They had gone out together the evening before and cooked a camp supper high up on a hillside overlooking the valley. They lingered until it was dark, watching the stars creep into their places. Joyce, hugging her knees, sat and breathed in the peace and quiet, while Neil stretched out close to her, smoking a pipe and playing gently with Dickie's ears.

Suddenly Neil had rolled over toward Joyce, and, putting his arms plans Vacation Camp up in the Sierras and so the committee is planning a big fair and entertainment. We want to find out what you'll do for it. Will you enter the horse show and take on one of the acts in the evening?"

Joyce listened to this appeal with mixed emotions.

"Of course, I'm . . . interested in it," began Joyce slowly, feeling her way and smiling pleasantly as she spoke, "but I'm not riding any more in shows and I'd rather not take part in any entertainment, but I'm . . . I'd like to help in any other way?"

Her acquiescence was received with grateful effusive thanks. The girl then rose, hesitated for a moment and said, with a wistful air which Joyce felt instinctively was not wholly genuine. "I wish we might be friends. I do so like to be friends with every one. If there's anything I can do . . . I'm so sorry."

Who was this girl anyhow? wondered Joyce, slightly exasperated by her meek manner. There had evidently been some unpleasantness between Frills and her. But before she had to speak she was saved by the arrival of Neil.

"Do you remember Me?" asked Joyce around her waist, laid his head on her lap. Joyce, leaning back, resting her weight on her hands behind her and did not touch him. She had lately avoided every slightest demonstration of affection toward him, for she had come to the disconcerting conclusion more than once that Neil was finding it harder and harder to keep his feelings in check.

She could not help realizing that it was both unwise and unkind for her to slip her hand in his, to smooth back his hair, to lean against him when they sat together, to do any one of the dozens of little caressing things which she found herself, in her liking and pity for him, involuntarily and quite innocently inclined to do.

The slightest motion of this sort sent a flame of hope leaping into Neil's eyes.

How long could this go on? It was becoming more and more difficult for them both. Joyce trembled a little to recall the tenseness with which Neil had finally released his hold on her the previous evening.

Joyce had been curious to see Joyce Abbott, the one woman Neil seemed to like, and the meeting with her had come two days after her conversation with Ethel about the dinner for Rhoda Maitland. It was nearly five o'clock and Joyce, dressed in riding clothes, was waiting for Neil to come home and take a ride with her before dinner.

She had just left the mirror in the living room when she heard a motor and looking out saw a small, shiny black roadster drive up to the door.

The girl who got out was dressed in white linen with a white felt sport hat and white buckskin oxfords. She was certainly rather pretty, with her big blue eyes and small neat features. . . . Joyce wondered who she was and nerved herself to the ordeal of meeting another stranger who was not a stranger.

"Sorry to bother you, Frills, but I'm out on business this afternoon," began the girl, smiling in a half-apologetic, half-defiant fashion, "and your name is on the list I had given me to call on. We want to raise a lot more money this year for the Or-

"Well, look who's here! Hullo, Joyce, how are you?" he exclaimed, shaking hands cordially with her. Joyce Abbot, of course!

"Well, why not sit down? What's your hurry?" went on Neil in his heartiest manner, "what do you know? How's the new car working?"

"Oh, it's just fine! but I must run along now. I just came to ask Frills if she'd help on the affair for the Orphans' Vacation Camp. Good-bye and thanks ever so much."

"Good-bye," said Joyce. She spoke shortly, more because she could not think of anything to say than because she wished to be disagreeable. Neil accompanied the caller out to her roadster. Joyce, watching surreptitiously, was again amused to see the interest with which Neil listened and the appealing little glances Joyce Abbot threw at him from her expressive blue eyes.

"I've got her number," thought Joyce, "she's the ultrafeminine sort who clings and makes the men feel big and strong and masculine."

Thinking over the past month Joyce was conscious of a baffled feeling of dissatisfaction when it came to her knowledge of Frills' own past.

In another direction also Joyce felt herself checked. She was no nearer accomplishing her purpose of getting back her baby than she had been when she received the first letter from Sophie. A second letter had arrived that morning — exasperatingly vague, very short and again minus an address. Joyce tormented herself trying to solve the problem, but her determination did not weaken.

Her thoughts swung round again to Neil. What was she going to do? To continue indefinitely living in the same house with him as they had been doing was impossible. She had not known what she was undertaking when she made that decision.

"I suppose I should have gone away in the first place," she thought discouragedly; "I can't realize inside of me that I'm married to Neil Packard and I keep having the feeling that there's something all wrong about living with a man so intimately and yet not really intimately. I'll never lose that feeling of uncomfortable aliveness and strangeness, I know, until . . . unless — oh, dear!"

There might be among them a few congenial spirits but she did not feel any too hopeful. Yet after all, what did it matter? She reproved herself sharply for allowing the standards of Robert Ainsworth to influence her. He was nothing to her, she told herself.

As she sat there motionless, she was startled to see a man appear. With a little gasp of amazement Joyce recognized Robert Ainsworth. "Do you remember me?" asked Joyce.

"Oh, Lord, how like a woman! Of course I remember you, worse luck!" he added with such profound gloom that Joyce giggled. "You're my public, you know!" He looked at her quickly and broke into a smile. "Here — please let me take your horse and turn her out into the corral."

"But . . . I was just thinking what a nice place this was to eat my lunch," said Joyce doubtfully.

"Oh, but wait till you have tasted my coffee," he protested, starting to lead Rosita away. "I'm just going to eat lunch myself and I really can make good coffee."

He was back in a surprisingly short time and said, "I never eat anything except bread and butter and fruit for lunch but I have plenty of fruit in the shack and I can make anything you like. Orders taken until two-thirty."

"Oh, please don't think of getting anything for me except coffee," protested Joyce quickly. "I have my sandwiches which I really must eat or Roxie's feelings would be hurt."

"Well the coffee will be done in a few minutes. Sit down or stand up or do whatever you feel like doing. Just let me present you with the keys to the city."

He put the coffee pot on as he spoke and Joyce asked, "Do the keys of the city include permission to ask questions?"

"On all free admission days, yes. Except, of course, when Claud Alfred is around. He's just a little bit queer that way. Ever since he threw the mother of five children into the brook because she asked him whether he thought a man's necktie should match his socks, I've had to warn casual visitors not to ask him questions."

"Well, I'm glad he isn't around, because I want to ask —"

"Oh, I know. You want to ask how I happen to be here. You want to say how extraordinary it is that we should meet here, after meeting in an equally extraordinary manner in San Francisco. You want to get personal. You're perfectly charming Joyce Ashton, and I'm terrified of you. If I seem to be talking a lot at random you've only yourself to blame. My well-known poise is shattered —"

He broke off abruptly, and Joyce dropped limply into a chair. Nothing could have surprised her more than to hear Robert Ainsworth talking to her in this manner.

"Well, go ahead and tighten the clamps," he continued. "You've heaped coals of fire on my head by your sunny acceptance of everything — haul me over them!" He smiled, but Joyce knew he was in deadly earnest. "Sentence suspended!" she gravely retorted. Their eyes met with mutual approval for a moment, and then Joyce lightly turned the conversation to the world of books.

WORLD TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH STATISTICS

Canada has maintained its leadership of the world in the number of its per capita telephone conversations and in the matter of its telephones per 100 population in communities of 50,000 persons and more. This country stands second only to the United States in telephone mileage per 100 inhabitants. These and other interesting statistics of communication in the Dominion are contained in the official records of the Bell system from which summary has been compiled, as of January 1, 1932, and is made public today.

World progress in the development of telephony has been so rapid within recent months that strictly up-to-the-minute figures are not possible of attainment. For that reason this latest summary which is complete for last year, should be accepted with the thought in mind that telephone development everywhere is an almost daily process that continues to add to the whole result. In relation to this development of last year, Canada's performance is outstanding.

With 22.8 telephones per 100 population in cities of 50,000 and over, Canada continues to lead the world in this particular classification. Sweden is next with 22.2 and the United States is third with 21.9. In the smaller towns and villages, Canada ranks third with 8.8 telephones per 100 inhabitants. The United States is first with 11.8 while New Zealand comes second with a figure of 9.0 based on statistics compiled up to and including those for March 31, 1932. Canada's ranking in this relation emphasizes that residents of our cities and towns of less than 50,000 people are better equipped with telephones and their associated apparatus than are inhabitants of most of Europe's largest and more important centres.

Canadians make more use of the telephone than any other people. In 1931 Canadians had 249.1 telephone conversations per capita. The United States, with a comparable figure of 222.0, is the only other country in which conversations per person exceeds the 200 mark. New Zealand comes next with 197.5 and is followed by Denmark which leads in Europe with 116.6. Canadians make use of seven times more use of the telephone than the British who reported 34.4, and over twelve times more than the people of France who make 20.1 calls per capita.

Canada with 1,364,200, ranks fourth in absolute number of telephones and is led only by the United States, Germany and Great Britain (including Northern Ireland) in that order. But in telephones per 100 population, Canada has 13.1, which is second only to 15.8 in the United States, while Germany and Great Britain have only 4.8 and 4.5 respectively. Eighty-two per cent of the United States are under private ownership and operation. In both Germany and Great Britain all telephones are operated by the respective governments. Argentina leads South America in telephone development with approximately 2.7 per 100 population. Japan easily leads the Asiatic countries but shows a figure of only 1.4 up to and including March 31, last year.

RIVER VALLEY STUDY GROUP

A very pleasant evening was spent at River Valley Schoolhouse when the W.M.S. of Stirling visited the R. V. Study Group on May 19th. There was quite a large crowd present and the program put on by the Stirling ladies was very much enjoyed. Mrs. John Sager, President of the R. V. Study Group opened the meeting and handed the program over to Mrs. C. Macklin, President of the Stirling W.M.S. The opening hymn was sung and several ladies led in prayer. A wonderful report of the Presbyterial Convention was well given by Mrs. E. W. Rowland. The report was very interesting and many incidents were told of the missionaries in the foreign fields. A playlet was put on by the ladies, entitled "Twelve Spies" this was well put on and enjoyed by all. Two little girls, Marie McKee and Iva Lumma sang a Chinese song. Last hymn was sung and the meeting closed with the benediction. A dainty lunch was served by the Study Group.

A Loaf of Bread!

The Museum Expedition found a Loaf of Bread in the Pompeian Ruins — in 76 A.D.

A perfect loaf of Bread, almost two thousand years old!

Excavation in the interests of scientific research has unearthed such a loaf, preserved by the lava of Vesuvius, in the buried ruins of the city of Pompeii.

Your strongest human link with this former civilization is that small familiar loaf of Bread, their most nourishing and necessary food then, just as it is yours today.

Bread is the basis of the diet for civilization. Have you ever thought that you can measure the advancement of any nation by the kind of Bread they demand?

Another property purchase in town is also registered with Mayor N. H. Carr acquiring the Stillman property on Rear Street, adjoining the Trent Valley Creamery.

Tweed News — Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, accompanied by his deputy minister, R. M. Smith, and his chief Engineer, A. A. Smith, was in the north section of the district this week making a trip of inspection over Highway No. 7. It is the intention of the Minister of Highways to smooth out the stretch between Havelock and Peterboro, and already 160 tons of crushed rock have been spread on the highway.

Marmora — After a comparatively brief illness, Blanche, wife of John Gray, passed away at Nichols Hospital, Peterboro, at 12:45 p.m. on Saturday in her fifty-seventh year. The deceased was the daughter of the late William Cronkright and Mrs. Samuel Wright of Marmora village, and was born in Sidney Township. She was of a quiet, industrious nature, and of a friendly disposition. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her loss, a son, Roy, at home, and a stepson, Floyd Gray, of Deloro. A son, Reginald, predeceased her three years ago. She is also survived by four brothers: John of Marmora; Wesley, of Trenton; Edward, of Belleville and Ernest of Holloway, and one half-sister, Mrs. Dan Sharpe, of Frankford. The funeral left her late residence at 2 p.m. on Monday afternoon for service at St. Andrew's United Church, with the pastor, Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth, officiating. Interment followed in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

HOLLOWAY MAN DROWNED

Believed to have suffered a heart attack while bathing in the millpond at Holloway, 25-year-old Roy Rose was drowned Friday night. Coroner Dr. S. Welsh, of Roslin, said Rose had apparently died from some cause other than drowning, as there was no water in his lungs. The body was recovered from 8 feet of water by companions who had been swimming with him. Sherman Conkright, William Brough, Colman Townsend and Donald Nelson, all of Holloway, were his companions. They heard his cries and Brough and Kennedy tried to rescue him but were dragged under and forced to abandon the attempt. A human chain was formed but by that time Rose had disappeared. The body was taken from the water 20 minutes later and unsuccessful efforts made to restore respiration. The coroner decided an inquest was unnecessary. Mrs. Charlotte Rose, mother of the victim, was stricken with nervous prostration when she heard of her son's death, and fears are felt for her safety.

CHEESE UP A LITTLE

The annual meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board of Trade which was to have been held Saturday morning, was postponed till Saturday morning next when the Board will convene at 10:45 a.m. The boarding included 1351 white and 198 coloured cheese. Coloured cheese was offered for sale first and from an opening bid of 9½ cents rose to a closing price of 9½ cents, an increase of ¼ cent over the price paid for like cheese Saturday last. White cheese was bid in at 9½ cents and at the close of the market reached 9 13/16 cents for selection and 9½ for the balance of the board. All cheese offered for sale was sold with the exception of 143 boxes. An increase of ¼ cents over Saturday's last price.

SOFTBALL NEWS

LOCAL GIRLS LOSE TO MADOC

The Stirling Girls' Softball Team journeyed to Madoc last Friday night and brought home the small end of the score. Owing to an accident four miles from Stirling, with one of the cars, which resulted in a two-hour delay, the Stirling girls were at a great disadvantage. In those first few innings the Madocers piled up the score. It is quite necessary in baseball, as in other sports, to have a good support from the home town.
The Madoc citizens were behind their team one hundred per cent, which really is half the game. The return game will be played either Friday, (to-morrow night) or a week from that date at the High School. The team expects to see a large attendance. The line-ups for each team was as follows:

Madoc — A. Armstrong, c.; D. Fox,
p. H. Naylor 1b, L. Ross 2b, L. Empey 3b, G. Golen ss, B. Keene rf, M. Ellis cf, H. Ross lf.

Stirling — R. Spry c, P. Shea p, N.
Fowler 1b, M. Hulin 2b, E. McInroy
3b, M. McInroy ss, L. Ward rf, M.
Bailey cf, M. Shea lf, M. Richardson

CENTRE LEAGUE

Ivanhoe opened their League schedule at home with White Lake as their guest of the evening, on Thursday, May 25th. This is the first year that White Lake has played in the League and they gave an excellent account of themselves by taking the long end of the 17 to 16 score. Jack Fergus pitched for the homesters, while Aylmer Woods had the mound assignment for the visitors. Ivanhoe made a lucky attempt to tie the score in the last half of the fifth innings, but fell one run short of their objective. White Lake got an early lead in the second and third frames.
Meraw, for White Lake, scored four runs.

On Tuesday night Minto won a keenly contested battle with Ivanhoe on the former's home grounds. The score was 16-11 and it went the prescribed seven innings before darkness set in. Milton Shaw led the visitors, with four runs to his credit, while Hagerman tallied three times for Minto. Both teams played a good defensive game and the fielding was for the most part beyond reproach.
The line-ups for the teams were as follows:

Ivanhoe — Harry Benson, 3b; Murray Reid 2nd, H. Henderson 1st, P.
Benson lf, M. Shaw cf, J. Fergus ss, Belch p, F. Rashotte c, Reg. Reid rf.
Minto — L. Tanner catcher, J. Gibson, 3b, G. Gibson p, Don Reid centre, J. Jeffrey 1st, B. Heagle lf, M. Heagle rf, Ken Cook ss, L. Hagerman 2b.

We know His will is best.

Umpires McInroy and Fraser.
On Thursday night White Lake were victorious over Evergreen by the close score of 14-13.

West Huntingdon played Ivanhoe on their home lot on Friday evening, June 2, and the game was in doubt until the final inning. The first half of the fifth saw both teams deadlocked at 13 all. The 13 proved unlucky for Ivanhoe because West Huntingdon added another run in their half, to come out on top, 14 to 13. The teams hit freely and some nice catches were in evidence, besides a couple of home runs, Harry Benson for Ivanhoe and Charles Wright for the home team. Line-ups:

West Huntingdon — E. Murray 2nd,
L. Fraser, ss, J. McMurray rf, R.
Todhunter catcher, Chas. Wright 1st,
L. Wilson, cf, Carl Thompson 3rd, C.
Wright, lf, M. Wright p.

Ivanhoe — H. Henderson 1st, M.
Shaw cf, B. Chaddle lf, Belch ss, J.
Fergus p, F. Rashotte catcher, M.
Reid 2nd, H. Benson 3rd, F. Benson rf.

Umpires — S. Tanner and S. Kilpatrick.
Minto defeated White Lake 27 to 6 at White Lake on Tuesday night and are now leading the League with 3 victories and no defeats.

SEYMOUR LEAGUE

Burnbrae — The following is the schedule of the Seymour Softball League for 1933 as settled at Saturday evening's meeting in Campbell-ford. All games will be played on Wednesday and Saturday evenings on the Campbellford High School grounds unless change is previously announced.

June:
10—Seymour West vs. Menie.
14—Pethericks vs. Menie.
17—Pethericks vs. Seymour West.
24—Menie vs. Seymour West.
28—Menie vs. Pethericks.

July:
5—Seymour West vs. Pethericks.
8—Seymour West vs. Menie.
15—Menie vs. Pethericks.
19—Pethericks vs. Seymour West.

There is still a chance that English Line may put in a team, as every effort is being made to have a four-team group. In that case the added games of the schedule would give every team two games a week.
Harry Tinney, G. H. Free, Harold Dunk and Jim Storie are among those who will be asked to act as umpires in addition to local men who can be secured for base umpires by each team.

Sixteen players may be signed by each team and only those who have been signed previous to the first game will be eligible, and no signed player who has not participated in a league game will be eligible for play-offs except to replace a regular who is on the injured list.

Players are asked to be on hand at 6.45 on the evenings of scheduled games, with start to be made at 7 o'clock standard time.

The league executive consisting of L. Anderson, president; W. Craighead, secretary, and the captains of the respective teams, are asked to meet for a few business matters previous to the June 10th game.

OVER 250 GUIDES AND SCOUTS

The parade was called to the alert.
Rev. Mr. Koffend, in a touching manner referred in a short address to those brave sons who had "gone West", or paid the supreme sacrifice for us. We had a duty to perform in their behalf, to our Country and our Motherland.

At the conclusion of this address
S. M. Tom Ward placed a wreath at the base of the cenotaph on behalf of the Stirling Scouts. Hats were then removed and the "last post" was played by Buglers S. McElrath and Geo. Foster, and Drummers E. Post and E. Plummer, with the entire company facing west. An order to face east was given and "Reveille" was scudded by the same buglers and drummers. A two minutes' silence was observed after which Rev. Mr.
Koffend concluded this service with a short prayer.

Reforming in Marching order, the procession marched around the block and thence to the H. S. grounds and again formed into the horse-shoe formation. Rev. E. W. Rowland, A.S.M. of Stirling troop capably voiced the appreciation and thanks on behalf of the local Guides and Scouts to all who had participated in the service, and helped make it such an outstanding success. Reeve W. C. West was in accord with Mr. Rowland's statements, and Tom Ward, the man responsible, took the opportunity to express his appreciation for the splendid response to his "call" to church service.

A lunch of sandwiches, cake and soft drinks and ice cream was served by the local troop, after which many of the paraders journeyed to Stirling's summer resort, Oak Lake, for the remainder of the afternoon.

The News-Argus desires to take this opportunity of giving "Three Cheers" for Tom Ward, to whom practically all credit is due for the event. It was through his efforts that this parade was one of the largest of its kind, ever held in Eastern Ontario, became a reality, and it no doubt was an inspiration as well as a revelation to the many spectators to see so many clean cut, upright young men and women assembled together. The little Brownies and Cubs "caught the eye", and they marched like "old timers". There wasn't a "hitch" and the parade was a credit to those in charge and those who took part, and may be classed as one of Stirling's outstanding events for this year.

The following is the Scout Prayer,
Our Father, make us Trustworthy.

for there are those who trust us.
Make us Loyal, for through loyalty we reach our highest ideals. Teach us to be Helpful, for through helpfulness we forget ourselves. Make us friendly, for there are so many who need a friend. Train us in courtesy. May we be Brave - brave in the dark and brave in the light. Help us to be clean, in thought and in deed. Above all, O, God, help us to be reverent, not only reverent toward Thee, but reverent toward all things which Thou hast made for our enjoyment. When we are out in Thy great out-of-doors among the trees, along the streams and on the hillside, may we know that it was Thee who hast made the waters to flow, trees to reach heavenward, and the mountains to endure all ages. Help us never to forget the other that we may be good and loyal Scouts. We ask these in Jesus Name. Amen.

SEEN THROUGH THE OFFICE WINDOW

The man who looks for trouble is seldom disappointed.

"All who hoard money should be punished". Thank Heavens we are safe from that anyway.

When a Hollywood actor desires to change directors he merely gets married again.

A lot of us have been off the gold standard so long we wouldn't notice the difference.

Many a man who promises to be "her slave" for life, wakes up later on to find he really is.

Now that divorce courts are so popular, very few people sing that old favourite "Blest be the

The easiest way to find the tallest man in town is to go to the front of you.

Some of the local residents are having trouble keeping "sleazy"

"Every dog has its day" but that isn't what's worrying us at

STIRLING — ONTARIO

TENNIS NEWS

Enthusiasm is running high at the local courts and each night finds the members enjoying the game to the full. A singles tournament has been arranged, for both the ladies and men and the following time-table drawn up, which will, no doubt, undergo a few slight changes in the hours set, for the accommodation of the members:

Thursday, 4 p.m. — Craven vs. Lovibond.

Friday, 4 p.m. — Miss J. Moffatt vs. R. Martin. 6 p.m., Mrs. H. Lovibond vs. Miss Mallory.

Saturday, 2 p.m. — Miss J. McCubbin vs. Miss M. Demorest. 3.30 p.m., N. Potts vs. C. McGee.

Monday, 4.00 p.m. — L. Bateman vs. A. Gould. 6.30 p.m. — Miss A. Calow vs. Mrs. (Dr.) Pedley.

Tuesday, 4 p.m. — F. Joblin vs. C. Duff. 6.30 p.m. — A. E. Dobbie vs. Dr. W. H. Pedley.

Wednesday, 6.30 p.m. — Bob Bibby vs. D. Lamb.

One court will be kept open for those taking part in these tournament games, while the other will be used by members who wish to play while the scheduled games are being played. A further schedule will be arranged for the winners of these contests. A scorekeeper and referee will be on hand for all games of the above schedule and the best two out of three sets will determine the winners. It is expected that some real, snappy games will be the result of the tournament.

SOME EGGS

Mr. Frank Stapley has three or four White Leghorn hens that are doing their bit to eliminate depression. On Friday they laid three large eggs; one measured $6\frac{1}{2}$ " x 7", while the other two were one-quarter of an inch smaller each way and they were "two-in-one". We can prove this as the eggs were presented to the Editor, and when broken to be placed in the frying pan, it was discovered that each egg was "double yoked". Thanks Mr. Stapley, they were delicious.

ATTEND W. I. CONVENTION

Those from Stirling who attended the District meeting of the W. I. held at Rosebush Pavilion, River Valley, on Tuesday were: Mrs. Claude Belshaw, Mrs. J. M. Magee, Mrs. Albert Hammond, Mrs. M. Sine, Mrs. Thos. Cranston, Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Mrs. Lewis Rodgers, Mrs. Hiram Rodgers, Mrs. James Montgomery, Mrs. V. Matthews, Mrs. Clifford Cain, Mrs. Roger Melkiohn, Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, Mrs. Harry Hulin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Mrs. J. Whitehead, Mrs. Henry Cook, Mrs. A. Gould, Chas. Allan, Rev. J. A. Koffend.

ST. PAUL'S W. M. S.

The June Meeting of St. Paul's W. M. S. was held on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and was open to Mothers and Babies. The President, Mrs. Macklin, opened the meeting with a welcome to the mothers and babies. After singing hymn 85, Mrs. Macklin led in prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Fox gave the Treasurer's report, followed by a temperance reading by Mrs. Jackman. Mrs. Walt gave the Associate Helpers' report. Mrs. Butler sang "Rock me to sleep in that old Rocking Chair". The roll call was answered with a Bible verse containing the word child, or children. The offering was taken and hymn 422 sung. Mary Hulin read the Scripture, taken from Luke 18: 1-17. Ruth Eggleston led in prayer. Mrs. Fred Hulin sang "That Wonderful Mother of Mine". The remainder of the program was prepared and given by the Mission Band, as follows: a short dialogue by Isabelle Dobbie and Marie McKee. A short talk by Mr. Rowland. A recitation by Marion Tulloch and solos by Isabelle Dobbie and Bobbie Jackman; also a duet by Irene Bronson and Helen Jeffrey were all very much enjoyed. After this very interesting meeting a social hour was spent and lunch served. The meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction. The program for the next meeting, which is not until September is being prepared by Mrs. W. Jeffrey.

PASSED EXAMS

Miss Annie Leonard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leonard of Stirling, who has been taking a Post Graduate Course at the Toronto General Hospital since New Year's, has successfully passed her graduation exams, held at Whitby in May. The graduation will not take place until September.

B. C. DONNAN K. C.

In the selection of the 155 members of the Bar in Ontario to receive the distinction and appointment as King's Counsellors recently, the Attorney General of Ontario selected 83 of the recipients from the ranks of ex-servicemen. Major Bryson Carlyle Donnan, of Belleville, Crown Attorney for Hastings County was one of the worthy members of the Bar to receive this recognition, of which mention was briefly made in last week's issue of the News-Argus. Major Donnan was an original member of the 2nd Battalion, Eastern Ontario Regiment, C.E.F., and served with that unit for the duration of the Great War. His many friends in Stirling and district extend congratulations to him in receiving this well deserved recognition. His ex-comrades of the 2nd Battalion throughout Canada will also be pleased to learn of the distinction that has come to one of their members. The new King's Counsellor is a nephew of Mr. Thos. Montgomery sr., and Mr. Thos. W. Donnan, Stirling.

CENTRE LEAGUE

Ivanhoe is still pursued by the relentless jinx, and again on Tuesday evening, June 7th, at White Lake the team suffered another reverse which brings the total number of defeats up to four and sad to relate there is still a goose egg in the win column. Now is an excellent time to predict that the worst is over, and the boys are going to pull a couple of wins out of the fire this week. The team is a comparatively new one, and it always takes a little time for a new team to work in well with each other. The scores have always been close, in the opposition having the one or two runs necessary for the victory, but Ivanhoe isn't done yet and they will give a good account of themselves and be out of the cellar position before long. The score was 25-23 in favour of White Lake, and as the last inning was played in semi darkness it is remarkable that a few more runs were not tallied by either side. Both teams worked hard, but White Lake had a little the edge on the visitors. The line-ups were:

White Lake: Aylmer Woods p. G. Woods c. A. Wood 2nd, Meraw ss, R. Haggerty 3rd, H. Wood rf, E. Holland lb, H. Deline lf, Tanner cf.

Ivanhoe: H. Henderson lb, E. Rasmussen c, Belch p, Fergus ss, M. Reid 2nd, H. Benson 3rd, M. Shaw cf, R. Reid lf, C. Benson rf.

On Monday night West Huntingdon defeated White Lake at the latter diamond by a close count of 9-7. Excellent fielding and good pitching kept the score down.

Minto and West Huntingdon are playing splendid ball and it looks as if they are going to put up a real battle for first place. They are both well balanced teams and it looks as if they are pretty evenly matched. They played each other at Minto on Monday evening, June 5th and Minto won 25 to 5. The game, however, was closer than the score would indicate.

On Monday night, June 11, Minto were again victorious over West Huntingdon on the latter's home ground. The score was 26-3. This game gave Minto a good lead over their nearest rivals.

Evergreen defeated Minto at Minto 15-4 and at the Ridge Road Minto reversed the tables and won by 9 to 5.

G. WADE'S CORNHUSKERS COMING TO STIRLING

MAMMOTH DANCE TO BE HELD IN EXHIBIT HALL, FAIR GROUNDS

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 27th--9 to 1

Hurrah! They're coming! Get ready for the Old Tyme Dances, as well as the modern "whirls" for Geo. Wade and his Cornhuskers are coming to Stirling on Tuesday evening, June 27th.

The Stirling Agricultural Society and Stirling Legion have joined together for the purpose of staging a mammoth dance in the Exhibit Hall, at the Fair Grounds, on the last Tuesday evening in June. They have been fortunate in securing the Cornhuskers, the famous radio musicians for this important event. Special arrangements are being made to accommodate thousands of people and the dance will be staged rain or shine. The proceeds go to the Agricultural Society and the Legion and it is expected that people from all over the county, as well as neighbouring counties, will attend. There will be dancing for young and old from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

At a joint meeting of Committees from both organizations held in the Agricultural office on Tuesday night, plans and preparations were outlined and committees were appointed with the desire and aim to make the Big Dance one of the district's outstanding events. There will be refreshment booths, and in all probability games of chance. The location is ideal — among the trees — and if the weather is hot the atmosphere is Bedford and Shortt, that Mr. Harry Sweet be paid $5.00 for repairs on radiator.

Carr and Shortt that freight on grader blades be paid. Carried. Bedford and Clancy that R. Scarlett's bill of $2.00 for bulbs be paid. Carried.

Bedford and Shortt that Sawyer Massey be paid $3.99 for blades. Carried.

Shortt and Carr that M. Fitzgerald be paid $4.00 for fixing drain. Carried.

Clancy and Carr that Mr. Cornelius Sine be paid $1.50 for 40" tile. Carried.

Clancy and Carr that Schol attendance officer's report be received and filed. Carried.

ANNUAL EXHIBIT

The annual display of exhibits by the P. S. Manual Training and Household Science Classes will be held in the Public School on Friday evening, June 23rd, at 7.30 o'clock. A new feature of this year's exhibit will be the chorus work by the pupils. The public is cordially invited.

WIDE TERRITORY

Mr. Earl G. Bailey, local Chevrolet and Oldsmobile dealer, has gained an enviable reputation as a seller of these G.M.C. cars. As a matter of fact his purchasers come from far away points, for this week he sold a special Chevrolet sedan to a resident of California, who is spending the summer in Coblenz district. This speaks highly for Mr. Bailey's salesmanship as well as the high quality of this Canadian car, as Chev's are manufactured in the U.S.A. and can be purchased at a lower cost than in Canada. However, the Canadian car is reputed to be of superior quality and workmanship.

to won 25 to 5. The game, however, was closer than the score would indicate.

On Monday night, June 11, Minto were again victorious over West Huntingdon on the latter's home ground. The score was 26-3. This game gave Minto a good lead over their nearest rivals.

Evergreen defeated Minto at Minto 15-4 and at the Ridge Road Minto reversed the tables and won by 9 to 5.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ashe, of Madoc, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Blanche, to Mr. Roy Johnston, of Stirling. The marriage to take place quietly in June.

FRACTURED WRIST

Mrs. Alice Bailey had the misfortune to fall in front of the residence of her son, Mr. E. G. Bailey, Front Street, on Saturday, and fracture her left wrist. At first it was thought to be only a sprain, but upon examination on Tuesday by Dr. W. H. Pedley, a bone was found to be broken. Mrs. Bailey was taken to Belleville hospital, yesterday for an X-ray and the fracture reduced.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

The News-Argus joins with the many friends in Stirling, Bethel and surrounding country in extending congratulations to Mrs. Wm. Jackman, Stirling, who will celebrate her 83rd birthday on Saturday, June 17th. Stirling is very fortunate in having as one of her residents one who possesses so many sterling qualities — her sunny smile and cheerful disposition have won for her a host of friends. Mrs. Jackman is very active and still enjoys a fishing trip as much as any of the younger sports. Her two children, Mrs. Chas. Dracup, of Sine, and Mr. Elgin Jackman, Stirling, Treasurer of Rawdon Township, with whom she resides, no doubt greatly appreciate their good fortune in having such a mother, and are very fortunate that she has been spared to such a ripe old age.

TAXES DUE JULY 1ST

Tax Collector J. M. Magee is now busy preparing tax bills and will be sending same to taxpayers within the next week. The first instalment of the taxes must be paid on or before June 1st in order to escape interest charges.

are finished for the night. Therefore the games of the Rawdon softball league seldom, if ever, start at seven o'clock, which they should do, in order that the full seven innings can be played before dark. A mutual agreement between the officials of the teams scheduled to play, and to the effect that five innings only will be played, that is if the game does not start sharp at seven o'clock, would help do away with a lot of unnecessary "squabbles". Generally about the time darkness begins to fall, or in the fifth or sixth innings, one or the other of the teams is coming from behind and in a fair way to score a few runs, or else the score is so close that a referee is loathe to call the game. On one or two occasions last season, the writer remembers seeing teams playing in the pouring rain, just because a team was so busy scoring runs and trying to even the score that they did not want to stop; at the same time, the other team was yelling "quits". To us, this puts a referee in a bad hole, and the only way out of this is to have the managers come to some sort of an agreement before the game starts. A lot of ill-feelings would be avoided if the players put forth an effort to be on hand in the proper time — either that or if they can't get around in time, pull out and let somebody play that can. Any player who can turn up at twenty minutes past the scheduled time, can be there ten minutes before the time the game started on time!

PECULIAR WEATHER

Peculiar weather has been experienced in this district during the past week. Last week a heat wave centred over Stirling district, and the citizens of the community sweltered in the blazing sunshine, with enough humidity in the atmosphere to make conditions uncomfortably hot. There was no escaping the heat. However, on Sunday a change came and a severe electrical storm, accompanied by a cyclonic wind and large hailstones passed over the section north of the village, about seven o'clock. No damage was done until the storm hit Madoc where the cross of the Roman Catholic Church on the hill was blown down. Roofs were torn off the apartments occupied by Walter Pretz, planks were flung across the street, one into the window of Naylor's garage and another destroying the awning of Cochran's electric equipment store. Shade trees were uprooted and torn down in many places, many were thrown across the street on East St. Lawrence, and in other parts of the village. In Ivanhoe, which is about half way between Stirling and Madoc, there was just a light shower. No other damage has been reported in this district.

The weather so far this week has been quite cool with fires necessary in stoves at night to keep warm. Looking exactly like a vast searchlight beam, a brilliant shaft of light, which spread across the sky in a huge arc from north to south-west attracted considerable attention late Monday evening. Amateur astronomers were at a loss to explain the meaning of the phenomenon, other than the explanation that the bluish-white shaft of light was part of a Northern Light display and was probably a brilliant reflection of the sun from some huge iceberg in the north. Some say it is a sign of cold weather to come.

THE STYLE

EACH year, a small group of automobiles comes to the fore as creators of style. And of these, one usually stands out by reason of its compelling and original design. For 1933 that car is Oldsmobile... a brilliant Six and Straight Eight in the ultra-modern "Airstream" manner. Fleet and graceful though Oldsmobile's modish lines are, they can convey only an idea of the car's advanced performance. See Oldsmobile's new 1933 models at the car show at the Front Street, Belleville, Ont. Phone 233.

CURRENT COMMENT

Next Sunday is "Father's Day". Get something for poor old Dad — you know he has been having a tough time of it — make him smile on the day set aside in his honour.

Students at County High Schools, who have been attending over six years, will, under the new School Act, be compelled to pay fees thereafter. Boards of Education must watch these things.

You hear that the darkest hour is just before dawn. We suppose we could ask some of the present-day young people if this were true — however, we will accept the statement as we don't care to get up so early to verify it.

Here readers is a little advice: Early to bed, early to rise, cut the weeds and sweat the files; mind your own business, tell no lies; Don't get gay and deceive your wives; don't pay your debts, use enterprise; and buy from those who advertise.

A man in a certain Ontario town quit the newspaper business and went into law, and the other day he was sent up for a year for using other people's money. Had he stayed in the newspaper office, he never would have been tempted.

A subscriber boasted to the Editor on Saturday afternoon that he could tell the single man from the married one. We were dubious, but he proved it by saying that the one is generally up to his ears in love, while the other is up to his neck in debt. The message delivered by King George on Monday was a splendid and ideal keynote for the World Economic Conference which is now in session in England. There is no doubt that the people of the civilized world hope that the Conference may be a decided success, as relating to Peace and Prosperity.

With hogs and wool greatly advanced in price over a year ago, and cheese advancing to ten and three-quarters cents on Saturday, farmers are feeling more optimistic. The depressed state of affairs cannot last forever, and judging by reports from all parts of Canada, conditions are greatly improved.

The majority of residents take great pains to make their homes and grounds neat and attractive. The few who do not, detract from the beauty of the town by their neglect or thoughtlessness. The Horticultural Society urges all property owners to assist in their campaign to make Stirling still more beautiful.

Deseronto Post — The world is full of women who can amuse the ordinary man. They can sing, dance, play bridge or recite to him; can paint, write or decorate in a manner most pleasing, but the poor man often goes a begging for a woman who can sew on buttons or mend his clothes; who can cook his food with economy and flavour it to his taste.

Tweed News — At no time in the history of the press have newspapers passed through as difficult a period as they have been going through during the past three years. Not only were they caught in the business depression that seriously reduced their income, but in the most important source of revenue, that of selling advertising space, they met with keen competition from the radio. Yet, in the face of this serious situation, only the newspaper, of all publicity mediums, remains the firm foundation upon which the country leans for the support of its morale.

HOME TOWN NEWS

(Montreal Daily Star)

The importance of home town news in the small town paper has been emphasized by a large gathering of editors of the smaller American newspapers in New York. Local needs and little personal items, it was shown, possessed the strongest appeal for their readers. The dwellers in a small town are undoubtedly more interested in what is going on immediately around him than he is in plans, say for the development of wheat-growing in Siberia.

It is what most immediately concerns us that is of the greatest personal interest to us. That does not mean that a man in a small town has no interest in world affairs. In many instances, indeed, it will be found that the editors of small town newspapers are exceptionally well-informed upon world affairs. But they wisely judge that their readers will find more delectable material for debate in the developments and happenings of the town in which they live than in what is going on in Tibet or Timbuctoo.

There is nothing of narrowness, nothing of prejudice, nothing of small vision. It is just plain horse sense.

Beauty is only skin deep and often it is only powdered on.

The report of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association on the visit of their inspector to Stirling last week is eagerly awaited by the Village Council, as well as the citizens. The inspector came to town without advance notice, as is always the case, called out the firemen and every piece of fire fighting equipment, ordered several tests, and there is every reason to believe that the inspector found things in very good condition here. The firemen responded to the alarm in short order, and the equipment was to all intents and purposes well handled. It is expected that through the inspector's visit, that the insurance rate will be lower in the village, as permanent waterworks has been installed since the last visit of the inspector. Here's hoping.

That the village council is practicing economy in the management of the municipality this year, is borne out by the fact that the tax rate has been reduced one mill in the face of increased expenditure for relief purposes during the past winter, something that was almost unheard of in Stirling in years previous. It was thought that it may be necessary to increase the rate owing to the relief expenditures, but by co-operation of the Board of Education, which reduced its requisition by one mill, and the council in the matter of expenditures, the one-mill lower rate was set. The permanent waterworks is self-sustaining, with three mills set for hydrant rentals. Taking the cost of this new fire protection service into consideration, it again shows that the members of the Council are practicing strict economy.

Call and Mr. and Mrs. Leda Mumby and Vera Wright. The dining room was decorated in pink and white with bouquets of peonies, spiraea, orange blossoms and iris. The bride's table was centred by a large wedding cake. After the dinner a toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Mellow. This was responded to by the groom who also invited all to their home and thanked them for their lovely gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pendant set with amber and pearls, to the bridesmaid and pianist white gold bracelets set with sapphires and to the best man a silver cigarette lighter.

On their return from their honeymoon they will reside on the groom's farm in Rawdon.

Oh Girls! Listen to This!

The following relating to "Men", which we consider worthy of appearing in our Editorial Columns, has been handed in for publication by one of our esteemed subscribers in Carmel district:

Men are what women marry. They have two feet, two hands and sometimes two wives, but never more than one dollar or one idea at a time.

Like Turkish cigarettes, men are all made of the same material. The only difference is that some are a little better disguised than others.

Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes — husbands, bachelors and widowers. An eligible bachelor is a man of obstinacy, entirely surrounded by suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties — Prizes, Surprises and Consolation Prizes.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common-sense, faith, hope and charity — especially charity.

It is a psychological marvel that a soft, fluffy, tender, violet-scented sweet little thing like a woman should enjoy kissing a big, awkward, stubby chinned tobacco and bay-rum scented thing like a man.

If you flatter a man it frightens him to death, if you don't it bores him to death. If you permit him to make love to you he gets tired of you in the end and if you don't he gets tired of you in the beginning.

If you believe all he tells you he thinks you are a fool, if you don't he thinks you are a cynic.

If you believe him in everything, you soon cease to interest him, if you argue with him in everything, you soon cease to charm him.

If you wear gay colours and rouge and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out, if you wear a little brown toque and a tailor-made he takes you out and stares all evening at a woman in gay colours, rouge and a startling hat.

If you join him in his gayeties and approve him in his Coosmoking he swears that you are driving him to the devil, and if you don't approve of his gayeties and urge him to give up smoking, he vows you are driving him to the devil. If you are the clinging vine type, he doubts whether you are a brain, and if you are a modern, advanced and independent woman, he doubts whether you are brilliant service of Moira and intellectual, and longs for a playmate. If you are in Holloway United popular with other men he is jealous, and if you are not, on Sunday morning he hesitates to marry a wall-flower.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of
The Stirling News-Argus

Dear Sir,—

I would like to ask, are the business men and people of this village and community Christian, Heathen or Pagan? Do they believe in the Ten Commandments or only part of them? For some few years past I have learned from observation and information obtained from others that there are several of our merchants who continue to do business until one, one-thirty or even two o'clock Sunday morning. And one merchant makes a boast about the business they do after midnight on Saturday, after other places are closed. People have been seen coming out of some places of business on Sunday morning with their arms full of parcels, when folks were going home from Church.

Now, Mr. Editor, I don't believe the right-thinking people of this community want this to continue.

I am credibly informed that there is a by-law on our Village By-Law Book that says the places of business in Stirling must close at 11 o'clock p.m., during the months of May, June, July, August and Sept., on Saturday nights, and at 10 o'clock p.m. during the months of Oct., Nov., Dec., Jan., Feb., March and April.

What about our Village Council seeing to it that this By-Law is enforced?

A CITIZEN

To the Editor of
The Stirling News-Argus

Dear Sir,—

In last week's News-Argus we noticed you asked for the opinions or complaints of your readers. Here are some thoughts of one of your readers; also an opinion or two from other readers with whom we have sometimes "voiced our appreciation".

We admire and wonder at your frankness and daring, often in the face of much opposition, and hope you never allow any other influence to alter your clever and impartial comments on matters that have to be dealt with. I might ask for more articles by Mr. E. Knowles, as many of his articles were to be found among our treasures. We especially prize his "William disterridge the fourth". Many clippings from Editorials in the News-Argus give "adorn" our treasures, which I might say sometimes a laugh and sometimes tears. We like a writer who "knows the human heart and is Corvace enough to picture himself in ridiculous positions to give point to his articles". One reader looks for true "Static by the Editor" when he reads his or the column by the "Office Owl".

Just at present an article on "Peace" would be more than appreciated as we know a person who has been asked to speak on the subject, and who needs help.

As well as asking for opinions and complaints, you speak of criticism, and ask for and welcome, helpful, honest criticism, but we will leave that to some other reader, and close with a few lines by Edgar A. Guest on how to avoid criticism.

"Now if perchance the public eye should notice you as you go by, Some smaller body's bound to say: 'I wonder how he gets that way.'"

If from the multitude you dare To rise by but a single hair, Someone among the throng will shout Your every fault or weakness out; And gossips, strangers to your life, Will whisper that you beat your wife. But if you'd live unscorned, unsung, Unnoticed, undisturbed, unsung, Make nothing new your rule— Play neither wise man, nor the fool. Stay low, and never say one word To mark you from the common herd.

Just march in line from day to day, Suggest to none a better way: Be meek, indifferent, eat and sleep, Think what you will, but silent keep. Thus with your presence scarcely known, At you no one will cast a stone."

Sincerely yours,

Lindquist - Boulton

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the Presbyterian Parsonage at Rush Lake, Sask., on Wednesday, June 4th, at 3:30 o'clock, when Miss Gertrude Isadora Boulton, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Boulton, of Stirling, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. August Lloyd Lindquist, of Rush Lake, Sask.

Wright - Wilson

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Foxboro, on Wednesday, June 11th, at three o'clock, when Mr. Ambrose Blecker Wright and Miss Ruby Eleanor Wilson, both of Holloway, were united in marriage by Rev. A. L. Brown. They were accompanied only by the witnesses, Miss Maude Wilson and Mr. Harry Carter. The happy couple will take up their residence on the groom's farm in Huntingdon.

Local and Personal

B Company, 49th regiment, left on Monday for their annual camp drill of 12 days at Barriefield, near Kingston. Capt. D. Green was in command with C. F. Walt and S. Danford as Lieutenants. About 25 men went.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brooks, who for many years have been residents of Glen Ross, on removing to Peterboro County, a number of their friends presented them with a large arm chair, clock and an address on the evening of June 17th.

Miss Norah M. Bailey, of Maple Grade, returned to Toronto on Saturday to resume her duties in music after an extended visit home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. German I. Bailey.

Mr. Thos. Doak, who left some weeks ago for a trip out west, returned home on Friday of last week. He through a slight illness did not stay as long as he intended, going as far as Saskatoon.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Beesie Richardson has had pneumonia and has been unable to try her examinations from first to second form in the high school.

Miss Edna Girdwood leaves this week for an extended visit with relatives in Orillia.

The Cheese Board met on Tuesday. There were 850 boarded as follows: Central 140, Evergreen 100, Shamrock 90, bought by W. S. Cooke & Son, Belleville at 12-1-6; Harold 95, Hoards 95, Marmora 100, Maple Leaf 100, Springbrook 60, Stirling 70, bought by Morton for Messrs Lovell & Christmas of Montreal at 12c, this clearing the board. Mr. Watkin, seconded by Mr. Bird, that the board adjourn to Monday, June 23rd, at 4 p.m.

Miss Cora Warren left on Wednesday for Winnipeg.

Mrs. Donald Rollo, of Winnipeg, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. McMullen, of Anson, for the past few weeks and will likely remain a few weeks longer.

Mrs. Lavina McGillivray, of Swift Current, Sask., is visiting friends and relatives at Anson, renewing old acquaintances and expects to remain some weeks longer.

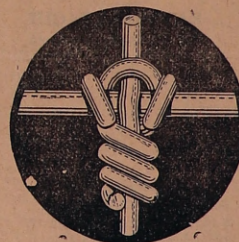

Madoc Junction Items
Mrs. Philip Carr left here on Saturday to join her husband in Detroit, where he has secured a position.

We will be glad to have Miss Mabel Eggleton and Miss Annie Stapley home for the holidays. They have been attending High School in Stirling.

Oak Hill Jottings
Miss Evelyn Hawkins, Stirling, was a Sunday guest of Miss Lillie Bronson.

Mrs. Robt. Chambers has returned after spending a few days with her mother at Malton.

Mount Pleasant
Many from here attended the farewell sermon at Carmel given by Mr. Wright. We are sorry that he is leaving but hope he will make new friends in Edmonton.

REPRESENTING THE CANADIAN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

Static by the Editor

"I've been saving up for my wee wife's birthday present for nearly a year," said the artful McTosh.

"Ay, but that's right good of ye," put in Sandy, his friend. "How much have you saved?"

"Nearly two hundred," replied McTosh proudly.

Sandy gasped.

"Two hundred pounds?" he ejaculated.

"No, laddie," said the other, "cigarette coupons."

She was reading a book. Suddenly she put it down and stood up and faced her mother.

"Oh, mother," she exclaimed, "I've decided what I want to do! I want to rise to great heights. I want to act, to go on the stage, the films, to reach the topmost rung of the ladder."

Mother nodded.

"That's the spirit darling," she said. "Now climb up the steps and help me put up these clean curtains."

On Her Mettle

The mistress of the house was going out of her way to find extra work for her maid to do. In the end the poor girl began to get fed up.

Just then the mistress entered the kitchen.

"Mary," she said sharply, "have you finished polishing the brass ornaments yet?"

Mary sighed.

"Yes, madam," she replied—"all except your rings and bracelets."

Yearnings

Forgotten are the icy blasts,
The cold and sleet and show,
When days were chilly Arctic blasts
And nights were three below.
And now, while wilting in the heat,
Each house a stifling fen,
We dream of snows and winter's throes,
And long for them again.

As a man grows older he is more concerned about the possibility of a breeze over his bed and less concerned about the crease in his pants.

Rawdon Mother (as she came into the room where the children were playing)—Bessie, what do you mean by shouting and storming about like that? Why can't you play quietly like Ted. He isn't saying a word.

Little Bessie — Of course he's not. It's his part in the game to play like that. He is being badly coming home late at night, and I am you.

A girl will never forget her first kiss, but a boy is more apt to remember the kiss he tried to get and couldn't.

Best Man (just after wedding) — "Why do you look so worried?" Groom—"I don't like the way the bride smiled when she promised to obey me."

Views and Near-Views: It appears that fixing depression guilt is as difficult as fixing war-guilt. We hear much about the deeper things of life. What are they? A pretty, slender woman of 20 with fat ancestors has plenty to worry about. They call them roasting ears, but they always boil them. The reason slickers can make money without working is because suckers are eager to do the same thing. The police dog is not the only German dog popular in Canada. There's the hot dog. If you are unable to find an opportunity, go to work and make one. A boy in the family always comes in handy when the pie left over is not enough to save. The old bachelor says the difference between firmness and obstinacy is merely a matter of sex. Too many men who say they are "self made" seem to have been interrupted before the job was finished. About all some of us have saved for a rainy day is a case of rheumatism.

A naval officer fell overboard. He was rescued by a deck hand. The officer asked his preserver how he could reward him.

"The best way, sir," said the lowly deck hand, "is to say nothing about it. If the other fellows knew I had pulled you out, they'd chuck me in."

Mrs. Jeter—"So you're divorced—did you manage to make a satisfactory settlement?"

Mrs. Petty—"Yes, my husband takes the house and I take the children."

Mrs. Jeter—"What about the money?"

Mrs. Petty—"The lawyer took what."

We read that "well-timed silence is more eloquent than speech." And most silence is well-timed.

CHEESE RISES TO 10½c

The annual meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board of Trade was held on Saturday morning last at 11 o'clock. Owing to the death of Mr. J. H. Elliott, a member had to be appointed to fill the office of Treasurer of the Board's Patriotic and Savings Fund, and Mr. W. H. Morton, of this city was elected to that position. A grant of $25 was made to the Belleville Fair Board for special prizes for dairy produce exhibits.

Mr. Cyril Waite, president of the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society addressed the Board, on the work of the Red Cross, and asked that the grant of $50 made last year might be again forthcoming this year. He explained that this money went directly to headquarters in Toronto for the general work of the society, and none given to the work in Belleville, which was looked after locally. The outpost hospitals in Bancroft and Coe Hill were costing the society $5000 annually, and the donation would go toward the upkeep and furtherance of such work. Mr. Waite's request met the hearty accord of the members of the Board.

The Secretary-Treasurer's report was presented by Mr. F. R. Mallory, and that of the auditors by Mr. F. Wessels, and both met the approval of the Board.

Mr. E. B. Finkle, retiring president, made a few remarks regarding the pleasure he had taken in presiding over the Board the past year. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. W. H. Morton, seconded by Mr. W. S. Cook, to Mr. Finkle for the efficient manner in which he had carried through his office during the past twelve months. Also Mr. Ray, the incoming president, made a few brief remarks thanking the members for the honour done him.

The election of officers for 1933 resulted as follows: President, W. Ray, Holloway; 1st Vice-President, W. H. Montgomery, R.R. 1, Carrying Place; 2nd Vice-President, W. E. Morrow, Frankford; 3rd Vice-President, Chas. Mitts, Ivanhoe; Secretary-Treasurer, F. R. Mallory, Frankford; Auditors, Frank Wessels and Charles Mumby.

When offerings were called for, 1698 white and 264 coloured cheese were boarded, bidding was brisk and the entire quantity sold. For the first time this year the quantity of cheese offered for sale has approached the amount offered at the corresponding Saturday a year ago. Saturday's board carried 1962 cheese in all as compared with 2091 cheese sold June 11th, 1932. The price a year ago was 8 7-8c and Saturday last prices were 10 11-16c for white and 10½c for coloured. A substantial gain was shown also over the prices of a week ago which were 9 7-8c for coloured and 9 13-16c and 9 3-4c for white.

OLDSMOBILE

E. G. BAILEY - Dealer - Stirling

PRODUCED IN CANADA

EACH year, a small group of automobiles comes to the fore as creators of style. And of these, one usually stands out by reason of its compelling and original design. For 1933 that car is Oldsmobile... a brilliant Six and Straight Eight in the ultra-modern "Airstream" manner.

Fleet and graceful though Oldsmobile's modish lines are, they can convey only an impression of the car's advanced performance. For this model surpasses even previous Oldsmobiles in sheer, breath-taking ability to do all things well.

You will begin to understand this when you see the new Oldsmobiles. You will be thoroughly convinced when you have driven them. A hearty welcome, and a real thrill await you at your Oldsmobile dealer's. He is eager to tell you about this "Completely Modern Car" which adds style leadership to proved dependability and economy... and offers all at substantially lowered prices.

Mrs. Westley Heath and Garnet motored to Kinmount on Sunday and spent a couple of days.

Ladies' Aid

On June 8th thirty ladies of Springbrook Ladies Aid convened at the home of Mrs. A. Runnalls. The President, Mrs. A. P. Williams, conducted the devotional exercises. The theme was the joy derived from prevailing over temptation and in giving God first place in our lives. The roll call, a verse from Proverbs, was then given. Business of the day included discussion regarding the convention to be held in Belleville June 22nd, and fixing the time of opening for the future local meetings at 2 p.m. Mrs. A. Runnalls gave a reading entitled "Guilty or Not Guilty", in which the victim of hard times might have provided an example of modern times as fittingly as of former times. Mrs. S. Mason in her contribution to the program stressed the need for habitual attendance at church, showing that it was in one's own best interests socially, mentally and spiritually, as well as an encouragement to others. Mrs. G. Webb sang a solo "Somebody Knows". She was accompanied by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. A. McInroy in her reading "A Debt We all Owe", stated that we should be thankful for misfortunes that do not come to us. Mrs. Bunt, who is moving to another charge, was then presented with a linen table cloth. Mrs. George Bailey read the address and Mrs. A. Haslett made the presentation. The address follows:

Springbrook, June 8, 1933
Dear Friend and Co-Worker,—

About four months ago, we (frankly speaking) to our sorrow, learned that shortly you would be called on to sever your relations with us as a member and fellow laborer of the Ladies' Aid.

That time has arrived, yes, all too soon, and realizing that today would be your last opportunity of meeting with us we felt we could not let you go from us without showing in some tangible form how much we have appreciated your comradeship and kindly acts of service.

We had hoped you would not be going too far away from us, and that maybe sometimes you would be permitted to call on us. As a token of our love and esteem for you, we ask you to accept this gift, not for its intrinsic value, but we trust and hope that as often as you use it in the coming days you will be reminded of the members of Springbrook Ladies' Aid. Always a ready and willing worker in whatever good cause your lot was cast, we are loth to have you leave us, but we realize what is our loss will be another's gain.

And now in conclusion, as we say good-bye and God-speed, we trust and hope that God's richest blessing will rest on you and yours, and that the new charge to which you have been appointed will soon learn to admire you for your true worth as the field you are leaving now does.

Springbrook Ladies' Aid
Mrs. Bunt replied and the ladies united in singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again". The Hebrew Benediction followed.

Mrs. Runnalls then served lunch, whilst conversation flowed freely.

SIDNEY CROSSING

Miss Edna Wheeler spent last week with friends in Brighton and with her sister, Mrs. H. Hamilton here. On Monday afternoon they called on Mrs. K. Tufts and baby Beverly, of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle attended the funeral at Bowmanville of the late Arthur Stickle of Walkerville on Tuesday of last week.

Mrs. Earle Elmy, Joyce and Ronald spent Tuesday with Mrs. G. Dickens and Miss Mary.

Mr. Ernest Outwater lost a nice colt recently.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Stickle, Front Road, called on Mr. and Mrs. Bruce

Hogle on Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hamilton and baby Barbara accompanied by Miss Edna Wheeler called on Mr. and Mrs. G. Brickman on Wednesday night.

A few from here attended the Garden Party at the O.S.D., Belleville, on Thursday night. All report a delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Grills and Gordon called on Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Outwater on Friday night.

Mr. Robert Eaton and daughter, Hazel, called at Mr. B. Hogle's on Wednesday night.

Little Joyce Elmy has returned to her home after spending a few days with her grandparents.

On sultry evenings some of the young men of the neighbourhood are renewing acquaintances with the "Old Swimm'n' Hole".

Mr. Wm. Wheeler and family spent the tea hour on Sunday evening at Mr. Harleigh Hamilton's.

Mrs. Albert Page spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. Jennie Hogle, Bridge Street, Belleville.

BONARLAW

A pretty wedding took place in the United Church Parsonage, Campbellford, Wednesday, June 7th, when Maude L. Bell, of Springbrook, was married to James Milne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milne, of the Twp. of Seymour. The Rev. Mr. McTavish officiated. The bride was dressed in pink georgette with hat to match and was attended by Miss Wilma Seeley, of Belleville. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of red roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Fred Milne. Miss Annie Bell, of Toronto, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Bogart Linn, sister of the groom attended the wedding. After the ceremony all returned to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Mumby, Springbrook, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Milne left by motor car for a trip through Eastern Ontario, the bride wearing a blue travelling suit. On their return they will reside in Seymour Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tokeley and son Roy, of Queensboro, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Matthews.

BETHEL C. G. I. T.

(Too late for last week)

The meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. Sutherland, was opened by repeating the Opening Verse. "Breathe on Me Breath of God" was sung and the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and the roll was called, showing ten members present. The group sang "Rise-a-jig-jig" and "I know a little Pussy". In the business part of the meeting it was decided that all would take a course in First Aid before camping out. Different group activities were discussed and Dorothy McMullen moved the adjournment of the business meeting.

Several rounds such as "Row, row, row your boat" "Sing with me" and "Rheumatism" were sung and the meeting was closed with the "Gloria". Purpose. Mrs. Sutherland served a dainty lunch.

FULLER

Those uninvited guests which were numerous last year are making their appearance again. Though perhaps prettily marked like kittens, they are very unattractive in other ways. Guard the coops.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kilpatrick and family, of Foxboro, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hollinger spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Martin, Thomasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cooney, of Moira, visited Mr. and Mrs. Murney Moreland one day recently.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. Archie Reid is not gaining very fast after her operation in Kingston Hospital. We hope for a speedy recovery.

BURNBRAE

The Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church met on Saturday afternoon in the church with an attendance of 25. After singing hymn 494, Miss Linn gave the Bible reading and Mrs. D. A. McKenzie offered prayer. The following interesting and instructive program was presented: solo, Marion Walker; recitation, Yvonne Little; Piano solo, Dorothy Watson. The next number was a Mission Band Broadcast, reporting Mission Band news from the Atlantic to the Pacific in all parts of the country. Those taking part were Edith Wallace, Annie Hobbs, Clara Thain, Gladys Little, Helen Murray, Doreen Pollock, Margaret Taylor, Lella Linn. Solo, Gerald Taylor; Study Book on India by Verna Cassan; hymn 771 and the Apostles' Creed. Refreshments were served.

Centreville congregation, during the last two Sundays, celebrated the one-hundredth anniversary of the founding of their church, former ministers occupying the pulpit on each occasion. Rev. D. A. McKenzie was minister at Centreville for about 8 years. He was the guest speaker last Sunday night. Mrs. McKenzie accompanied him. They attended the General Assembly in Peterboro, the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hutcheon and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Farrel, of Bethel on Sunday.

Mr. Wadland, of Toronto, representing the British and Foreign Bible Society will occupy the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church next Sunday morning.

The success of the opening game of the Seymour Softball League on Saturday evening points to a good season ahead for this league. A splendid crowd of fans greeted the old rivals, Menie and West Seymour, as they tangled in seven innings of fast, exciting ball. The westerners borrowed Lambert and Spicer of town to fill vacancies and they put up an excellent brand of the sport. The first three spasms were scoreless, featured by good defensive work on both sides. Menie got a winning break in the fourth when a flock of errors by McCulloch, Rutherford and Hooper paved the way for five runs. The westerners counted steadily toward the end but were nosed out by a 7 to 6 count. The line-ups were:

Menie—Eagleson, p; Little, c; Craighead 1b; Wallace, 2b; Hutchison, 3b; K. Oddie, ss; Rennie, lf; Milne, cf; R. Oddie, rf.
Seymour West—Anderson, p; Lambert, c; Spicer, 1b; Fraser, 2b; Rutherford, 3b; McCulloch, ss; Hooper, lf; Chadwick, cf; Russell, rf.

COUNTY COUNCIL

In a brisk, late afternoon session of Hastings County Council, Tuesday, the first meeting of the June session, preliminary arrangements were made by Warden Walter Whytock to deal with the considerable amount of work that lies before Council at this session.

The following were appointed by Warden Whytock on the Estimates Committee: A. L. Burke, Reeve of Sidney; Wm. West, Reeve of Stirling; Frank Reynolds, Reeve of Madoc Township; Jas. A. Moore, Reeve of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe; Jas. J. Bronson, Reeve of Mayo; E. C. Metcalfe, Reeve of Deseronto; Chas. J. Pollins, Reeve of Wollaston, Clerk of the County, Wm. Nugent, and County Treasurer, Jas. J. Hagerty.

Equalization Committee: Judson A. Gunter, Reeve of Bancroft; Henry Larkin, Reeve of Tyendinaga; Wm. Morton, Reeve of Huntingdon; Wesley Gray, Reeve of Thurlow; Mr. L. E. Neal, Reeve of Marmora and Lake; Mr. Geo. Jordan, Reeve of Hungerford.

On the motion of Mr. R. C. Brett, and seconded by Mr. Henry Larkin, Mr. Wm. Nugent Jr. was appointed assistant clerk to County Clerk Wm. Nugent. Considerable correspondence was read.

A letter received from Mr. Thos. Ruston of the Children's Aid Society asked for some advice regarding the disposition of a blind orphan, who had been under the care of the local Shelter. The matter was laid over until a personal appearance could be made by Mr. Ruston to state the case. A number of communications were received from several other counties in the province, concurring in a resolution passed by the Hastings County Council whereby wood as fuel would be used exclusively in county buildings. In some of the counties, however, the idea was not feasible.

A request from the Canadian Red Cross Society for an increase in their grant from the $200.00 usually given to $500.00 this year, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee on a motion by Mr. Chas. Rollins and seconded by Mr. Frank Reynolds.

The motion that Mrs. Charles Vandewater and Mr. W. Nugent be appointed members of the Mothers' Allowance Board, seconded by Mr. Geo. Jordan, was carried.

A letter was received from Butler and Butler, solicitors of the city, advised council that recent road repair work in Thurlow, on Highway No. 14 had left the farm of Mr. F. P. Sine, Lot 1, 5th concession of Thurlow in such a condition that water now drained from a newly constructed ditch on to the latter's land. The matter was left to the Road Commission on the advice of Road Supt. S. Fox.

On motion by Mr. Judson Gunter, an early adjournment was made.

Reeve W. C. West, Stirling; Reeve Geo. E. Thompson and Deputy-Reeve Phillip Carr, of Rawdon; Reeve Arthur Burke and Deputy-Reeve Geo. Bush, of Sidney, and Reeve W. A. Morton, of Huntingdon, are attending June session of the County Council being held in Belleville this week.

WELLMAN'S W. I.

The Wellmans Women's Institute met at the home of Miss Emma Rainie on Thursday, June 8th, with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. C. Dunham, presided and the meeting was opened with singing "The Institute Ode" and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Percy Jackson, and approved. As this was a business session part of the usual program was not given. Plans were made for the District Annual Convention to be held in the United Church, Wellmans, on June 20th, when Rylestone and Wellmans Branches will be hostesses and serve dinner in the Orange Hall. A paper on Canadian Industries was given by Mrs. Carl Clancy and a reading entitled "The Laughing Sally" was given by Mrs. Lindsay Pollock. The hostess served candy. It was decided to hold a community picnic at Crow Lake in place of the July meeting. Date to be arranged later. Moved by Mrs. L. Pollock and seconded by Mrs. Clifford Clancy a vote of thanks to the hostess for kind hospitality, and the meeting closed with singing the National Anthem.

RIVER VALLEY W. I.

The River Valley Women's Institute held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Carr on June 1st, with a good attendance of both members and visitors. The new President, who was greeted with applause, Mrs. Alec Bush, presided and opened the meeting with the Opening Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer. Correspondence was dealt with, including letters of thanks and appreciation for fruit to the sick; also the offer of a substantial gift to the branch from Mr. F. Irven. This was gratefully accepted, and decided that tickets be sold on this donation and drawn at the next gathering. Plans were next made for the District Annual dinner to be held at Rosebush pavilion. Mrs. Vandervoort kindly offered her home for the meeting on July 6th, and Mrs. Utman and Mrs. McIntosh were appointed programme convenors. Mrs. Frank Carr then took charge of the following program. A talk on the values of grapefruit and a demonstration on the serving of same was ably given by Mrs. J.

Sager; also its nutritious addition and luscious flavour to marmalades, which she kindly passed for all to sample. Miss Gladys Rosebush conducted a contest of "Musical Terms", the winning group being rewarded by a box of confections. A humorous reading entitled "Little Pitchers have long ears" was well narrated by Mrs. F. Hubble. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, after which an assortment of home-made candies were kindly served by the hostess. A vote of thanks was tendered her for the use of her home and hospitality.

"Laden with BREAD"

"When young David came bringing rich gifts to Saul, chief among them were loaves of Bread."

Bread, a gift for a King.

Bread, the food the whole world shares with royalty.

Bread is the universal food, because there is a world wide need for the nourishment and the delicious flavour only Bread can supply.

Precious vitamins were contained in this gift of David to Saul - though neither of them knew it. For the discovery of Vitamins is recent.

You know now why Bread is all nourishment and no waste. Why its food-value is greater than that of more expensive foods which do not contain these life-giving food-factors.

CURE - YOUR - HAY Spontaneous Combustion!

You may not believe in spontaneous combustion, but you do know that wet hay or grain will heat, so also will hay or grain that is dumped from fork or slings and not well spread.

The place to cure hay is in the field, not the mow. At the first of the season there is always the temptation to bring in hay that is a bit tough. This would not be so bad if it were at the top of the mow, but it's at the bottom instead. If you must bring in hay in this condition, salt it well, and spread it well. Half a pail of salt to the load isn't a bit too much. Help is cheap this year, keep enough of it in the mow.

SYNOPSIS

Synopsis: Joyce Ashton, poor stenographer, suffered loss of memory in a skidding taxicab accident in Chicago. One morning two years later she woke, after a fall from her horse, her memory restored, to find herself the wife of Neil Packard, rich California fruit packer. She determined to tell nobody of her predicament, but set about learning what she could of her life in the interval. From the conversation of her friends and letters in her desk she gathered that she had been a heartless, pleasure-loving woman. One letter that troubled her was from a woman signing herself Sophie. Sophie was not giving a home to a baby Frills for not giving a home to a baby Frills? Joyce wondered! She also found herself involved in an affair with a man named Matfield. In San Francisco, where she went while her husband was away on business, she met Robert Ainsworth, a poet whose work she had always admired. When Joyce returned home, she decided to be pleasant to Neil than Frills had been. But this line was dangerous, too, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back Frills' love. At his request they call upon Neil's mother, whom Joyce finds adorable. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"And you live here all alone and write?" asked Joyce.

"You forget Claude Alfred," replied Ainsworth with a smile.

Joyce giggled at the fiction of Claude Alfred. Why had she known from the first that there was no Claude Alfred Tremayne?

She found out, among other scattered items of information, that this shack was his real headquarters, from which he went away every few months and stayed in San Francisco, New York, New Orleans, St. Augustine, Boston or various middle west cities. He had now been at the shack for three months and expected to stay until he finished his present book, which would probably be about two more months.

When she reluctantly decided she must start back to Manzanita, Ainsworth suggested riding part of the way with her, to the point where he would branch off onto the road to Manana. He saddled Rosita and his own, a strong-looking dapple gray, who came to his call from the far end of the corral.

Drawing rein at the parting place Ainsworth gave her an inquiring look and Joyce knew that he was about to ask her if he might not go to see her. "I'll—I'll come out again soon," she said quickly and spurred her horse to a galloping start. She waved her hand without looking back.

Joyce rode home in a daze. Mechanically she undressed, bathed, dressed again and ate her dinner. After dinner she retreated to her room and settled herself luxuriously on the couch.

She lay in her blissful trance. She held both of Robert Ainsworth's books, fingering them, stroking them with worshipping fingers, opening the covers, glancing at the first sentences and tasting, and then putting off the delights of reading.

She wondered how the shack looked at night, what Robert Ainsworth was doing at that moment, while she lay and thought about him. Did he sleep on that wide couch under the window, or out of doors in the hammock under the pines with the multitude of stars gravely keeping watch overhead in the deep velvet of the sky?

As she came to this thought something seemed to grip her heart, and she clenched her hands suddenly.

She was in love with Robert Ainsworth!

Thank God, Neil was away. Joyce had never valued the luxury of privacy and undisturbed quiet more than on this particular night. She wanted to forget everything and everybody except Robert Ainsworth.

During the next day, however, the inevitable reaction occurred. Doubts and fears plunged her down disastrously from the heights of exaltation to frequent moods of black uncertainty and hopelessness. Where could this think her stupid; "of course, you don't need any praise from me, but I do want you to know how much I enjoy your books. Everything you write is so satisfactory ... it has such strength ... there always seems to be something to bite on." She paused, suddenly overcome by the futility of her groping for words and looked at him, appealing to his tolerance and understanding of her difficulty.

He smiled at her and in his smile there was no trace of condescension or mockery nor bored disgust. It was a cheerful, completely understanding, even a grateful smile. It warmed Joyce to the tips of her toes, made her feel as if he had accepted her as a friend, an equal, not just as a girl who might be flirted with.

"Nice girl!" he commented briefly. "Strength ... something to bite on. You couldn't say anything to please me any better than that."

When she was leaving Ainsworth said, "Do you think you can find the way if you drive out sometime? I'm sort of looking forward to meeting Dickie. You'll bring him sure, won't you?"

"Oh yes, I can find that back road and I'll bring Dickie. But ... but I end, this delightful, this miraculous meeting? She was married to Neil Packard. Yet even as she forced this undeniable fact upon her consciousness, there stole into her mind the disturbing thought, "But that was why I was holding Neil off all this time ... I was waiting for Robert!" How could she be Neil's wife now? Every heart beat was lifting her on an irresistible wave of longing and sweeping her toward the other man.

Joyce was in bed before Neil got home that night and the next morning, a little ashamed of her cowardice, she remained in her room until he had left for the day, pretending to be asleep when he knocked gently before he finally departed. She got up as soon as she heard his car roll out of the drive, dressed in her riding habit, and ate a hurried breakfast. She pretended to herself that she was simply going for a long ride. She told herself that it was too soon to make another call on Ainsworth and that she had no intention of doing anything so foolish. She certainly did not want him to think she was pursuing him! Yet, somehow, about noon she found herself at the foot of the trail. Suddenly she heard horse's hoofs behind her.

"Hullo," exclaimed Robert Ainsworth, coming up at a gallop. "I was just thinking as I rode along that to have to eat lunch alone on such a day was enough to make the angels weep!"

Joyce's heart lightened at a bound. Deep gratitude flooded her at this casual but warm reception. She smiled happily, all her doubts dispelled. She was glad, glad, glad that she had come! And during the three hours she stayed with Robert Ainsworth, eating lunch with him, helping him wash the dishes, and listening to his nonsense, she continued to be glad.

The conversation was kept, as if by mutual consent, light and bantering, impersonal.

"I've finished Glittering Pavements," she remarked in a pause, "but I'm saving The Rose Abode a little longer. It's such riches to have two books by Robert Ainsworth at once! You can't think how I adore your writings. I wish I could express myself better," hoping he would not can't help worrying about ... about interrupting you?"

"Forget it! While Claude Alfred's away I do as I damn please in the matter of visitors. I often work at night too, you see. There isn't much else that's more tempting to do out here so I tear off quite a bit each twenty-four hours just whenever I feel like it. No particular hurry, either."

She dismounted from Rosita just as Neil drove his car into the garage. When he joined her and they turned toward the house together, he said, "Been out long, Frills?"

"Why, most all day. It was so lovely and I had my lunch so I kept going farther and farther."

"I was sort of hoping you'd feel like a ride with me but—"

"Oh, I'm sorry Neil. But I really am tired. I went pretty far."

"Want to go over to Paul's tonight?" went on Neil, "he's leaving in a couple of weeks now, he said to-day. Got most of his plans all made. I'll ... I'll miss old Paul."

Joyce bit her lips and frowned as she tried to decide what to do.

"You go on over to Paul's Neil. I'm going to be so sleepy from my long ride that I'd yawn my head off, I know, and that would be so annoying to Paul," she said finally.

Neil did not urge her and at dinner after his first few attempts at conversation had met with vague, absent-minded replies, he finished the meal in silence.

The next morning during breakfast Joyce said: "Neil, I'm so sick of that hideous yellow Duesenberg. I wish I could turn it in and get a different one. Would you mind?"

Neil grinned. "Well, I never did care much for it myself. Sure, you can do whatever you like about it."

"If ... if I drove the Duesenberg up to the city today, do you think I could make the exchange right off without too much red tape?"

"Oh, yes, I don't believe you'd have any trouble. How about running up and taking in a show tonight and driving back tomorrow? I've got a little business to see in the city, and I'd like to drive up with you," suggested Neil.

Joyce sighed inwardly. She did not want to go to a show. She had looked forward to the drive alone, a chance to dream uninterrupted ... But after all she owed Neil a debt that seemed to grow greater in proportion to her regard for Robert Ainsworth.

"All right," she said.

To her disappointment Joyce found that she would have to wait a couple of days in order to obtain the car she wanted. And when they ran into Ross and Clarice Emery, Neil suggested their staying up in San Francisco a second night and making a party to go to the theatre together.

The following day they started back at about noon and drove to Manzanita in the new roadster, a beautiful car, but entirely unlike the "Easter Egg", for its mirror-like enamel surface was a deep blue, almost black.

Three whole days since she had seen Robert Ainsworth! That was the thought which pushed all others into the background as they approached Manzanita.

So impatient was she to see Ainsworth again that it was not yet noon the next day when she arrived at the entrance to the wood road and guided the new Duesenberg carefully down through the pines to the rustic garage.

When Joyce arrived at the shack she found Ainsworth engaged in giving his horse a thorough currying. He stopped and came to welcome her and Dickie, displaying a most satisfactory amount of enthusiasm.

After a stick had been thrown for Dickie until the little dog was weary and panting, Robert and Joyce talked. And as usual, the world drifted for Joyce far away from this lonely spot.

Toward the end of the afternoon they happened to be inside the house for a moment, standing in front of the bookshelves while Ainsworth hunted for a volume of poems which he had mentioned and from which he wanted to read to her.

Joyce watched him as he bent over the bookcase, his eyes running swiftly over the titles along the shelves. Her heart filled with sudden pain. She loved him! She adored him! This feeling which surged through her was the kind of love she had dreamed about, for which she had wistfully yearned as a young girl. Instinctively she recognized it. Was love always partly pain? Ainsworth was speaking, but she hardly heard what he was saying.

"Oh, damn the luck! I must have left it in the city last time. I'll get it when I go up next week if I can remember to ... I want to read you the one on the Eucalyptus Grove. You'd like it...." He turned.

Joyce looked up into his face silently. His expression changed abruptly. Suddenly he put his hands on her shoulders. "Why don't you bring your aunt along as a chaperone?" he demanded. He was smiling but to Joyce's amazement his voice shook. "You ... you can't expect me to stay impersonal much longer, you know," he continued, now very softly, "Not while you're so ... while you're such a sweet child! I ... I can't keep my hands off you, you lovely ... adorable ... beautiful—" Very gently his one arm slid about her shoulders, and he drew her close to him. Then he bent his head and laid his cheek against hers as he murmured the last words. His arms tightened around Joyce's yielding form.

THREE LOVES IN CAVALCADE

In "Cavalcade" which will be shown at Stirling Theatre tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday, matinee and night, starring Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook, Noel Coward has woven three romances into the pattern of his tapestry record of the march of the generation. The first romance is one between husband and wife, a rather unique departure in these days when marital infidelities supply the theme for so many dramas. It is this romance of the Maryots enduring through the trials and vicissitudes of the chaotic past thirty years that is said to add much power and strength to "Cavalcade". The second romance starts with a boy and girl affair between the older Maryot son and Edith, the daughter of Mrs. Maryot's friend. It culminates in a happy honeymoon, fated for a tragic termination when the Titanic, on which they are passengers, goes down in mid-Atlantic.

The third is a modern-day sort of affair between young Joe Maryot, proud and handsome in his officer's uniform, and Fanny Bridges, a dancer who is the toast of London, but whose parents were formerly servants of the Maryots. Their affair persists throughout the war years. Fanny steadfastly refusing to marry Joe or discuss the matter until peace is declared. Despite his protests she is skeptical of the attitude of his family toward their marriage.

Mrs. Hendry was in great distress. She had broken her spectacles and the prescription was at the optician's in the city.

"That means I can't go to the social tomorrow night," she said. "Whatever will I do?"

"Don't worry," Tom Hendry consoled her. "I'll just 'phone the optician right now and he can have a new pair here in tomorrow's mail."

General News of Interest

Madoc Review — Congratulations are due Alex Rupert, who recently graduated with honours from the College of Pharmacy, standing third in a class of 110. John Vinco, formerly of Madoc, is also among the list who graduated.

Apparently starting from an overheated engine, a fire partially destroyed William Oliphant's (Belleville) truck on Boardman's Hill on Highway No. 14, last Thursday afternoon. Fortunately a large gasoline truck was passing at the time and with the aid of a fire extinguisher, put out the blaze. The engine, wiring front panel and dash board of the truck were badly damaged during the blaze.

Mr. Malcolm MacBeth, of Milverton has sold the Sun of that place to his foreman, Albert W. Reis, and will confine himself to his duties as postmaster. Mr. MacBeth, who is one of the kindest personalities in Ontario journalism, has made the Sun shine brightly, and has also taken a practical interest in the educational affairs of the province. In 1932 he was president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association and chairman of the Ontario Educational Association.

Madoc — Shortly after noon Friday the death occurred of Edward Phillips, a miner, of this village. Following a very serious accident in the Henderson talc mine operated by Mr. Gillespie, in which Mr. Phillips fell with a large mass of rock, and was fatally injured, both legs being broken, and internal injuries inflicted. Dr. Eagleson was called to the scene of the accident, and Mr. Phillips was removed to his home in Madoc Village, but was not in a condition for removal to the hospital. The accident occurred in the morning and his daughter, Mrs. Keith Smith of Peterborough was sent for to nurse him. But he succumbed to his injuries early in the afternoon. Mr. Phillips was a life-long resident in Madoc, and has worked in the talc mine for several years. He leaves to mourn his loss besides his sorrowing wife, one son, Charles, at home; and three daughters, Miss Jean, at home; Mrs. Donald Foote, of Madoc, and Mrs. Keith Smith of Peterborough. Mr. Phillips was a member of the I.O.O.F. in Madoc, and the funeral took place under the auspices of that Order on Sunday afternoon from St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, to Lakeview Cemetery.

Peterboro — Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant, of Fort William, known for his many years of toil in the mission fields of the West as "The Sky Pilot of the Foot Hills" was elected Moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada on Wednesday evening, last week at the opening session of the 59th Assembly in St. Paul's Church. Rev. Dr. James S. Shortt, of Barrie, was the only other nominated for the highest office of the Presbyterian Church. In the vote Rev. Dr. Grant was elected 95 to 66. On the motion of Rev. Dr. Shortt, Rev. Dr. Grant's election as Moderator was made unanimous by the General Assembly. The new Moderator is a native-born Canadian, St. Andrew's Quebec being his birth-place. He graduated from Queen's University in 1893, continuing his studies for a short period in Scotland. On his return to Canada he ministered to the religious needs of a mining camp at Fernie, B.C. Later he conducted for many years a mission among the cowboys of Pincher Creek, Alberta, where he gained wide fame as a man's man among the ranchers and became known as the "Sky Pilot of the Foot Hills". Still later he conducted a mission at Prince Rupert, B.C. He was active in mission work in the West for 36 years, only a few years ago accepting the call to St. Andrew's Church Fort William.

Personals

Mrs. Frank Sheppard, Marie and Monroe, of Peterboro, visited with Mrs. Sheppard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Finch, a few days this week. We are sorry to report the death of Clayton Mumby, one of the popular young men in the community. Clayton contracted the flu a few days ago, which later developed into pneumonia and from which he died on Monday morning about 8 o'clock, in spite of all that medical attention and care could do. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife (nee Gladys Gibson) to whom he has been married scarcely two years, and his baby son, Jimmie. Clayton was well-liked by all who knew him, and his loss will be keenly felt by a host of friends. He also leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mumby, three brothers, Earl, Ross and Harry and one sister, Della. We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones. Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Melkijohn and children, Laird, Marie and Jackie were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Minna.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Samos were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Finch.

Miss Jennie Dainard, of Stirling, was a week-end visitor of Winnie Spencer.

Dr. and Mrs. Allan Melkijohn, of Kingston, spent the week-end with relatives at Rylestone.

Rylestone Community League

On Wednesday evening, the Rylestone Community League met at the home of Mr. Herbert Spencer. The meeting opened with hymn 347 "Jesus Calls us O'er the Tumult" and the Lord's Prayer in unison. The Scripture reading, Romans 9-12 was read by Leah Stewart. Hymn "Jesus is tenderly calling Me Home" was sung and the roll call taken. There were thirty-four present. After another hymn "Stand up, Stand up for Jesus" Jean Stewart took charge of the meeting and acted as chairlady for the following program: Topic—Jean Stewart; reading "The Modern Home" Margaret Cook; Current Events, Mrs. G. I. Melkijohn; reading "Dear Old Dad", by Della Mumby; Reading "Mother", by Pearl Stewart; piano solo, "Minuet in G." Miss Ethel Horsman; memory reading, "Spring Housecleaning", by Jim Barnett; Contests, "Romance in an Apple Orchard" and "A Farmer Boy's Love Letter", by Jean Stewart. Hymn "Yield Not to Temptation". Mizpah Benediction. Candy was served by the hostess.

MADOC JUNCTION

Mr. Arthur Wilson, of West Huntsgton, preached here on Sunday. Mr. George McCurdy and Mr. Ed. Pitman accompanied him.

Mr. Clayton Reid and Miss Myrtle Reid, of Holloway motored to Yarker on Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Andrews.

Mr. Ed. Clarke of Peterboro was a visitor on Sunday at Mrs. George Clarke's and attended the church service.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hough and Frances, of Frankford, were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stapley.

Miss Ruby Eggleton, of Stirling, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keegan entertained a number of friends on Sunday.

The young people here staged a rosy chivari for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mudd one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Beaudrie, of Colbourne were visitors over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stapley.

Mrs. Beaverstock of Montreal is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Nelson Prest.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker and family spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Heath, Ridge Road, and Mr. J. Ryan and lady friend of Trenton, were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stapley.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Carr, Alvin and Leah, visited Mrs. Carr's mother on Thursday night.

Friends here were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Roy Rose, of Holloway. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved parents.

Not till the loom is silent,
And the shuttle ceases to fly,
Will God unroll the canvass
And explain the reason why.
The dark threads are so useful
In the weaver's skilful hand,
As the threads of gold and silver
In the pattern He has planned.

CARMEL

(Crowded out last week)

Y. P. Society was held on Friday night with a Christian Endeavour programme. Miss Gladys Pyear led the meeting. After the devotional period Mrs. Frank Bailey gave the topic. Mrs. L. Bird gave a reading and Misses Marion Carlisle and Gladys Pyear sang a duet. After the colour count the Mizpah Benediction closed the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. A. Brown and family spent Sunday with friends in Wooler.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pyear spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Herb Caskey, Claremont.

Mr. J. Grills and family and Mrs. Foreman visited the former's daughter, Mrs. J. Johnston, Godolphin, on Tuesday.

The W. A. was entertained at the home of Mrs. A. Wilson on Wednesday afternoon by the Hoards W. A. The local ladies gave the program and a social hour and lunch was provided by Hoards ladies.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Messrs Charles Sharp, Claude Sharp, Ross Hoard, Allan Reid, Donald Sharp, Percy MacMullen, Thomas Andrews, Ray Williams, James Williams, Will Potts, Frank Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer and others were among those who were in Belleville Wednesday to hear the address by Messrs King and Hepburn.

On Sunday afternoon, June 18th, a report of Conference will be given by the pastor and Mr. Weaver. On Sunday, June 25th the quarterly communion service will be held at Mount Pleasant.

"Mumps" has invaded our burg as a very unwelcome visitor. The pupils of the schools are hoping no more cases develop until the exams are over.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp, Mrs. Cyrus Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer, Misses Lenora Williams and Helen Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Reid, Mrs. John Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Reid, John and Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Eileen and Ormel, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thornton, Miss Isobel Turner, Mr. John Holmes and Clifford, were among those from Mount Pleasant who attended Bethel Sunday School anniversary and listened to a forceful address by Rev. J. Koffend. The C.G.T. group with their leader, dressed in their natty uniforms, rendered special music.

The Trustees of the Allan School met at the home of the Secretary on Monday evening, June 5th, and looked over 216 applications and several others came in later. On Wednesday they hired Miss Muriel Milligan, of Newburgh, who has had six years experience in teaching. The parents and pupils are sorry that Miss Evelyn Neal was unable to teach for another term as she will be compelled to attend Normal or a summer school course before she can teach further.

Sport

On Saturday afternoon the Allan School and the Williams School pupils played a friendly game of softball on Mr. John Johnson's field. Mr. Elwood Johnson acted as umpire and scorekeeper, the latter being 21-29, in favour of Williams school. The lineup was Williams School — Bob and Betty Hoard, Don Johnson, Frank Spencer Jr., Harvey Couch and Vera McAdam. Allan School — Ormel MacMullen, Percy White, Howard Cooney, Mack Sharp, Donald and Kenneth Martin and Ray White.

On June 6th, Bethel journeyed to our burg and played one of the scheduled games in Rawdon League, the score being 3-1 in favour of Mount Pleasant.

On June 8th Mount Pleasant boys and a large number of fans visited Hoards and played another scheduled game, the score being 17-8 in favour of Hoards. The Mount Pleasant lineup was Kelly p, Coggin c, Clifford Holmes 1b, Bert Jeffs 2b, Kenneth Holmes 3b, Percy Melville ss, Fielders, Higgs, Hagerman and Charley Dunkley.

Y. P. S. will be held on Friday evening under the direction of Mr. Clifford Holmes.

Y. P. S.

Mr. Willie Jeffs opened Y.P.S. on Friday evening with "Saved to the Uttermost". Miss M. White read the minutes. After a short talk and prayer, Mr. David Bell, convenor of the Missionary Department took charge. He opened with "Saviour, Thy Dying Love" and The Lord's Prayer in unison. Mr. Norman McConnell read the Bible lesson, I. Hebrews, 1-12. Miss Lulu Johnson gave a blackboard talk on "Pioneer Missions", outlining 1—The Divine Mission - Christ must reign; 2—Our heritage - Jacques Cartier and others; 3—Church Heroes, such as Isaac Jogues. She paid tribute to the missionaries of past days. A new quartette composed of Messrs Harold White, Percy Melville, Harry Campbell and Bob Hedley, with Miss Frances McKeown as accompanist, sang very acceptably "Sowing in the morning". James Hoard and Frank Spencer Jr. gathered the missionary offering and the audience sang "Speed away". Misses Vera McAdam and Helen Spencer sang as a duet "Ivory Palaces" with Miss B. Thrasher as accompanist. Mrs. Ross Hoard then conducted a "singing bee". She divided the audience into two groups, married and single, with Miss Lulu Johnston and Miss Maegle Guernsey as judges. She then played various hymns and familiar songs and points were given and the single folk won the prize by one point. The meeting closed with "Faith of our Fathers" and a contest "Pioneers in Old Testament Times". There were fifty in attendance.

W.M.S. Pays Friendly Visit

On Wednesday afternoon, June 7, sixteen ladies from Mount Pleasant journeyed to Wellmans and the two societies enjoyed a pleasant and profitable afternoon together. Mrs. Walter Dracup, president of Wellman's W.M.S. opened the meeting with "Jesus shall Reign" and Mrs. George Maybee offered prayer and Mrs. Carl Clancy presided at the piano. She then welcomed the guests in a very neat speech and explained why some members were absent. Mrs. Ross Hoard, president of Mount Pleasant W.M.S. then took the chair and graciously replied to the welcome and said the programmes were planned to contain spiritual food to benefit each member from month to month. Miss Edna Thrasher presided at the piano and the programme opened with "Far, Far Away". The president then read Matthew 13, 31-33 and 44, 46, and explained about "The Mustard Seed" and The Pearl of Great Price. Mrs. Roy Thrasher gave a talk on the four most important words in the missionary work, Pray, Study, Give and Go. Those on the foreign fields need our prayers. We should all study what is going on in foreign fields and what is needed. Give what we can of time, talents and cash. If we can't go we can at least remember our missionaries in our prayers and always keep the great commission before us. After singing "Oh the World must be conquered for Christ" Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a brief resume of the past 50 years of missionary work in Japan. Miss Martha Cartmell, of Hamilton, now retired, was the first missionary sent to Japan by the W.M.S. and she began work in 1883. In November of this year Japan is celebrating her sixtieth anniversary Diamond Jubilee of the founding of our Japan Mission, and fiftieth anniversary Golden Jubilee of the beginning of the work of the W.M.S. in that land. Eighty years ago Japan was a small island Empire but during the past fifty years she has rapidly become modern. The W. M. S. has specialized in Kindergartens, boarding schools, high schools and the Woman's Christian College at Tokyo. Over 3500 girls have graduated from these schools. Evangelistic activities have also gone hand in hand with the schools and today we have newspaper evangelism, teen-age work, girls' clubs, summer camps, rural gospel schools, day nurseries, work in thirty factories, and in 1932 12 thousand meetings were held and nearly 15 thousand visits made. Several sentence prayers were then offered, based on "Thanksgiving" for the privilege of sharing, for fifty years, the gospel of the Lord Jesus, with the women and children of Japan. Miss Frances McKeown contributed a piano solo "Sweet bye and bye" with variations. Mrs. A. H. Bailey said the system of Christian Stewardship and giving was inaugurated in Jesus time and Paul taught it to the disciples and we read of it in 1st Cor. 16, 1-2. She also read a piece from the New Outlook re the recent Temperance Rally. Mrs. Arthur Phillips read a selection on "Faith". Misses Olive McConnell and Edna Thrasher with Mrs. Hoard as accompanist sang "The Cross is not greater than His Faith". Mrs. Frank Smith read a selection "Consider the Lilies, How they grow". After singing "See How Great a Flame Aspires" and the Mizpah, the visitors concluded their part. Mrs. Dracup thanked the guests for their inspirational program and Wellmans ladies heartily applauded. The offering was taken and then a very sumptuous lunch of various delectable sandwiches, swads of cake of many designs, combinations and flavours, dainty tarts, jellied apples and sweet pickles, topped off with tea was served by the hostesses. Mrs. Hoard heartily thanked the Wellmans ladies for their lovely hospitality and Mrs. McKeown seconded the motion and although the ladies were filled with good things they managed to show their appreciation with a hearty clap. The women then journeyed home, feeling the afternoon had been spent most profitably. Those from Mount Pleasant attending were Mrs. Roy Thrasher and Edna, Mrs. Cyrus Summers, Miss Olive McConnell, Mrs. Ross Hoard, Mrs. Don Campbell, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Allan Bailey, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Mrs. Blake Sharp, Mrs. Edgar McKeown and Francis, Mrs. Sarah McKeown, Mrs. Thomas McKeown and Mrs. John Hay.

TWIDDY - MUMBY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mumby, Harold, was the scene of a pretty June wedding on June 7th, when their only daughter, Mabel, became the bride of Mr. Albert A. Twiddy, younger son of Mr. Ed. and the late Mrs. Ed. Twiddy. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Mellow, of Ivanhoe, took place at eleven o'clock in the drawing room under an arch artistically decorated with pink and white streamers and a large white bell at the centre and banked with ferns.

The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, which was played by Mrs. (Rev.) Mellow.

The bride looked beautiful in a dress of white georgette trimmed with net. She wore a bridal veil of tulle, held in place by a bandeau of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of butterfly roses, maiden-hair fern and lily of the valley. Miss Roma Mumby, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a dainty dress of rose beige crepe trimmed with lace and carried a bouquet of pink opheila roses, maiden hair and baby breath. The groom was ably supported by his cousin, Mr. Donald Reid.

After congratulations had been extended the bride and groom led the way to the dining room where about twenty sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner, which was served by the Misses Leda Mumby and Vera Wright. The dining room was decorated in pink and white with bouquets of peonies, spiraea, orange blossoms and iris. The bride's table was centred by a large wedding cake. After the dinner a toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Mellow. This was responded to by the groom who also invited all to their home and thanked them for their lovely gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold pendant set with amber and pearls, to the bridesmaid and pianist white gold bracelets set with sapphires and to the best man a silver cigarette lighter.

On their return from their honeymoon they will reside on the groom's farm in Rawdon.

RYLSTONE

Another of our local boys was married recently when on Wednesday, June 7th Miss Maude Belle, of Springbrook became the bride of Mr. James Milne, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Milne. The ceremony was performed at the Seymour parsonage, Campbellford, by Rev. Mr. McTavish. The bride and groom were supported by Miss Wilma Seeley, of Belleville and Fred Milne, brother of the groom. After a wedding dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mumby, Springbrook, the happy couple left on a motor trip through Eastern Ontario. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Rylestone. We are glad to welcome Mrs. Milne into our community.

Mr. Chester Meiklejohn has been under the doctor's care.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Meiklejohn were host and hostess on Thursday evening. Some of the teachers in Seymour, including Misses Clara and Mildred Curtiss, Margaret Cook, Dorothy Barnum, Jennie Gilworth, Violet Patrick, Miss Horsman and Mr. Todd.

Rylestone church was packed to the doors on Wednesday and about as many more people could not get in when the relatives and friends of Clayton Mumby gathered there to pay him their last respects. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. H. A. Bunt and Mrs. Hind. During the service Rylestone choir rendered the anthem "Sometime We'll Understand." Remains were interred in the Rylestone cemetery. Further details published in another column.

Winnie Spencer has been sick for the past week with flu, but is able to be around again. As there has been an epidemic of weddings in our community, the children seem to come in bunches too. On Monday night a large crowd serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Kerr were visiting them so they didn't get a special visit. Later in the evening, after Mr. and Mrs. Fry had entertained them, they journeyed on to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Milne, where they spent another sociable hour together.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, Bobbie, Dot and Jackie were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Conley, at Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doupe, Margaret and Doreen spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Melville Finch. Quite a bad wind storm passed over here on Sunday night, but no serious damage has been reported such as occurred in some nearby places. On Tuesday evening the members of Rylestone League journeyed to Wellmans Corners to spend a social evening with the league members there. The meeting was held in the Wellmans United Church and was attended by a good crowd from both communities. The meeting was brought to order by Mr. Case, president, of Wellmans League, who delivered the address of welcome. Then the meeting was left in charge of our president, Mr. Clarence Anderson, who acted as chairman for the following program: Hymn "Glory to God, for his Sunshine is Free"; prayer by Rev. Mr. Joblin; Hymn "A Better Day is Coming"; Scripture reading, Psalm 23; devotional talk by Rev. Mr. Joblin; Topic "Flowers of Youth" by Miss Ethel Horsman; vocal solo, "A Shanty in Old Shanty Town," by little Miss Georgie Rutherford; piano duet, "Sanco Souci," by Mrs. F. M. Rutherford and Nona; recitation, by Miss Jean Stewart; Chorus, "Back in the old Sunday School"; by a group of young ladies; duet, "In the Dim, Dim, Dawning," by Jerline Thompson and Nona Rutherford; Debate, "Resolved that a woman on a farm can do a man's work better than a man can do a woman's work on the farm." Affirmative, Miss G. Dayman and Mrs. Sanford Meiklejohn; negative, Messrs F. M. Rutherford and H. Hoover; Judges, Rev. Mr. Joblin, Rev. H. A. Bunt and George Watson. Debate won by affirmative. Vocal solo with guitar accompaniment, "By the Silvery Rio Grande," by Sam Adams; dialogue, "Coon Concert," by Mrs. Roy Fry, Miss Jean Stewart, Mrs. Granville Meiklejohn, Kenneth Ray, Jim Barnett and Lorne Anderson. Piano accompaniments for dialogue played by Mrs. F. M. Rutherford. Contest, by James Barnett, Mizpah Renediction. At the close of the program the ladies of Wellmans league treated the visitors to a very delicious lunch.

The Rylestone Women's Institute is to join with the Wellmans branch in serving the dinner at the annual Institute convention to be held at Wellmans Corners on Tuesday, June 20th.

Our Institute is also invited to attend the meeting of Seymour West on Wednesday, June 21st, when Mrs. Towriss will speak.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford and daughters were Sunday visitors at Dartford and Centreton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Irwin, Garland and Glen, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thompson were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hunnalls, Harold.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Meiklejohn visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bateman, at Springbrook on Sunday.

Sunday School will be held at 10 a.m. and church service at 11 a.m. this Sunday.

THE LATE CLAYTON MUMBY

Loved and highly respected by all who knew him, Clayton Mumby passed away to his eternal home quietly and peacefully on Monday, June 5th, at the early age of twenty-one years, after a short illness of pneumonia. Though it seems to us that a life of exceptional promise has been cut short, yet we feel that Clayton has left with us such memories of unselfish goodness and kindness of heart that his brief span of years has borne rich fruit for his Master. And to live in hearts we love is not to die. The funeral was held from his late residence in the eleventh concession of Rawdon, on June 7th, was attended by a large concourse of friends and neighbours. The service was conducted in Rylestone Church by his pas-

Ministers and Wives Gambol at Oak Lake

On Monday afternoon, June 19th, Oak Lake became the Mecca for the devout ministers of the nearby districts and their charming wives. The fates were exceedingly kind, for the weather was all that could be desired. The day was warm, but not too warm, and an elusive little cool breeze trickled through the many trees to fan the assembly. Rev. and Mrs. Hill and little daughter Peggy Jean and Rev. and Mrs. Beezer, from Roslin, were the first arrivals. Mr. Hill was the only man in the party who was the proud possessor of a real picnic hat. It was one of those creations which tends to arouse the primitive instinct of possession which lies dormant in every man and woman, and numerous were the glances of half-veiled envy directed upon the flowing bonnet and many the whispered comments among the fair sex, usually culminating with the words "I wish my husband had a hat like that when he works in his garden."

The first thing on the program was a softball game. After the preliminary warmup, in which the ministers were forced to discard clerical collars and coats, two sides were chosen by Rev. Mr. Hill and Mr. Lovibond. Rev. Mr. Koffend was elected to do the mound duty for Mr. Hill's team of athletes, while Mr. Johlin was a tower of strength as a pitcher for the opposing team. Both pitchers were sparkling, and their terrific speed and fast breaking curves startled the hitting activities of both sides. Of course hits were made, and runs were scored because it was all in the game. Mrs. Swayne provided the fielding feature of the afternoon when she sprang into the atmosphere and brought down the soaring sphere propelled by the club of Mr. Herrington. It was a great blow-up for the opposing team, for the hit looked like a sure home run. Mrs. Mellow, on third, handled some hot line drives and played third like a veteran. Rev. Mr. Rowland and Rev. Mr. Mellow were a little late for the game, but both added new life and vigour to their respective sides. Mr. Mellow demonstrated why he was elected as the Ivanhoe softball captain, by driving out a long double, and Mr. Rowland at short cut off many a promising run. Mr. Hill's side were the victors by 14-7. Mr. Mellow made the only error in the entire seven innings when he suggested doing the running for Mrs. Swayne.

The physical man having been amply exercised the intellectual had a chance to assert itself. Mrs. Swayne brought an excellent contest dealing with the various parts of church, and the assembly was divided into select groups to puzzle out the twenty-five brain twisters. This was the only period during the entire afternoon that silence held sway. However, Mrs. Koffend and Mr. Herrington carried off the honours and incidentally the first prize. They had 20 out of a possible 25 correct. A few of the more daring and less lustrous members of the group decided to celebrate the occasion by going into the lake for a swim. "Why a lake," they reasoned, "if you fail to utilize its possibilities," and so was this philosophic thought uppermost they hied them to the waters and swam lustily about. Here Mr. Herrington was the hero of the hour for it was discovered that he was the only man present able to turn a back somersault with any degree of grace. Mr. Rivers, Mr. Mellow and Mr. Trumpour nobly arose to the occasion, but were only able to complete half the act successfully. After a lengthy debate as to weather conditions, which now looked a little showery, it was decided to adjourn to the Tabernacle for a good old-fashioned picnic supper. The repast was bountiful and was thoroughly enjoyed by the ravenous picnicers. It was Mr. Koffend's proud boast that he has yet to refuse the offer of a pickle on such an occasion.

Nevertheless, as is always the case where there are great heights of joyous fun there is always a tinge of sorrow present to neutralize and extend, and it was so even here, for it was with a feeling of sadness and personal loss that the group realized that Rev. and Mrs. Bunt were leaving their charge this year and so were passing out of the Fellowship of the group. Rev. Canon Swayne expressed the keen sorrow of the assembly in the loss sustained by Mr. and Mrs. Bunt's departure. Both have been very active members and they will be sorely missed when the meetings are resumed in the autumn. Mr. Bunt made a few valedictory remarks, expressing his hope for the continued success. These groups have meant much to the ministers and their wives both intellectually and socially, and a bond of sympathetic understanding has grown up between the various denominations. Rev. Canon and Mrs. Swayne kindly offered their home for the next group meeting, which will be held in late September or early October. The committee, with Mr. Mellow as convener and Mr. Swayne and Mr. Hill were nominated by Mr. Koffend to decide on the topic, and the announcement at the close of the meeting all voted the picnic a great success. Congratulations

BOWLERS WIN IN TWEED

The following rink of local bowlers composed of Dr. E. A. Carleton, J. S. Morton, W. Wright, W. J. Whitty, skip, took part in a men's tournament held in Tweed yesterday, with eighteen rinks in the contest. The Stirling rink captured the Tweed Lawn Bowling Cup and smoking stands as individual prizes.

IS NOW NURSE

Miss Katherine M. Bray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bray, of West Huntingdon, and a graduate of Stirling High School, received her diploma on June 9 from Nurses Training School of the Buffalo City Hospital. Miss Bray plans to take up private nursing. Graduation exercises were held at 8 p.m. Friday, June 9, in Edmund Hayes Hall on the University of Buffalo Campus.

STORES TO CLOSE JULY 3

July 1, Dominion Day, coming on Saturday, many enquiries have been received at this office whether the holiday would be observed in Stirling. Enquiries elicited the statement that the merchants will close their stores on Monday, July 3rd, in observance of Dominion Day but will remain open all day Saturday, July 1. The banks, however, will close on Saturday.

RECALLS BIG FIRE

Dr. B. F. Butler, Elm Creek, Man., visiting his nephew, Mr. J. G. Butler, paid the News-Argus a call on Saturday. In the course of conversation, Dr. Butler informed this paper that it was fifty-one years ago that day that the big fire occurred, when practically the entire business section was wiped out. Dr. Butler is an old Stirling boy and was in partnership in the drug business and medical profession with the late Dr. Robt. Parker.

FRACTURES COLLAR BONE

Mrs. Harry Clark, of Madoc Junction had the misfortune to have her collar-bone fractured in three places on Sunday when visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Danford. Mrs. Clark was holding her baby, while sitting in a rocking chair on the verandah. The little tot in her arms, around on her knee, lost its balance, and the mother in an effort to save the baby, fell off the verandah, with the above results. The baby escaped injury. The injured woman was taken to Belleville Hospital where an X-ray showed the fractures. She was brought to her parents' home, where she is at present.

BIRDS - IDEAL RESORT

Bird's Resort, Oak Lake, Stirling's ideal vacation centre, is proving to be about the most popular place for rendezvous in the district. Mr. Milton Bird, proprietor, has left nothing to be desired for the entertainment of both old and young. There are free tennis courts, diving boards, dressing rooms, swings, horse-shoe pitching courts, etc. There are special picnic tables and bridge or back tables, with easy chairs, under am shade - all free. There is also a special kiddies' playground. Bird's has gained considerable reputation in past seasons, for its lunches, but this year a qualified Chef has been engaged, thus the lunches will be even better, and at city prices. Groceries, ice cream and soft drinks are sold at the store. The public are assured of a welcome at Bird's. However, bathers who wear only trunks or rolled down suits will not be allowed in the grounds. Read the advertisement for this ideal Summer Resort in another column.

There are in order for those who so highly prize care of all the details of the picnic and the approval of the ministerial group is extended to the committee which so kindly permitted the use of the Tabernacle for the afternoon. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. Koffend, Rev. and Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. Musgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Lovibond, of Stirling, Rev. and Mrs. Hill and daughter, Peggy Jean, Rev. and Mrs. Beezer of Roslin; Rev. Lucille, of Thornburg; Rev. and Mrs. Trumpour and little son of Cooper, Rev. and Mrs. Rivers, of Madoc; Rev. and Mrs. Mellow, of Ivanhoe; Rev. and Mrs. Bunt, Rev. Canon and Mrs. Swayne and son Robert, of Bon-

WON PORKER

Mr. Ed. Bradshaw, of River Valley, held the lucky number in the contest staged by the River Valley W. I. and on a pig. The hog was donated by Mr. Frank Irvine. The drawing was held at the Rosebush pavilion on Monday night.

NO COUNTY GRANTS TO SCHOOL FAIRS

At the June session of Hastings County Council, held last week, the grant for rural school fairs was cancelled in the Committee of the Whole on Ways and Means report of the Agricultural Advisory Committee was received and the recommendations to give grants to seed fairs and school fairs were eliminated after brief discussion. The News-Argus is amazed that it was found necessary to cancel these grants. School fairs play an important part in the life of a rural school pupil and should be encouraged in place of discouraged in the County Council. Surely there were other not-so-important expenditures that could have been curtailed. However, what is done cannot be changed, but the action of the County Ways and Means Committee certainly intimates that School Fairs are worthless as far as the County Council is concerned.

MILLION DOLLAR RAIN

The proverbial "Million Dollar Rain" passed over this district yesterday afternoon - the year's longest and today the farmers are all smiles. Farm crops cannot be beginning to worry the agriculturalists due to lack of rain and excessive heat during the past ten days. The grain and other produce were being burned up. The hay yield is not as heavy as at first anticipated due to rain scarcity. However, a real electrical storm passed over yesterday and the ground was given a good drenching. The rain was accompanied by a heavy wind, and in some spots hail fell. Madoc suffered damage for the second time within two weeks when hail stones broke windows in buildings and trees were uprooted. The power was off in Stirling for about three-quarters of an hour. A break occurred in the line near H. Tulloch's residence, Front Street west. Forty-five street lamps were burned out. The Hydro staff were kept busy and today the line and lamps are repaired. No other damage has been reported.

TENDERS WANTED

Tenders for the painting of the interior and exterior of S. S. No. 7 school, Rawdon, will be received by the undersigned up to July 6th. Lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

John Green, Secretary

An article, revealing astounding events in the strange life of Sir Basil Zaharoff, who is reputed to have built his enormous fortune on death, destruction and misery, stirring wars and revolutions, so he might sell shot and shell from his munition factories - yet still hiding his real name and nationality, will appear in The American Weekly, with next Sunday's Detroit Times.

SATURDAY IS THE LAST DAY

Subscribers are reminded that this is the final week for the "Three Months' Free Subscription Offer". On and after 10 p.m. on Saturday, June 24th, the News-Argus will be $2.00 for one year in Canada. We urge that subscribers do not ask to secure the special offer that date - with the threat that their subscription will be cancelled, unless they get it. All subscribers who have so desired have had ample opportunity to take advantage of the Free Offer. The mailing lists will be corrected as soon as possible, of which announcement will be made, so that subscribers may see that they have been given proper credit. Don't forget you have only until 10 p.m. next Saturday night to secure Three Months Free.

THE SWIMMING POOL

Now that summer is here and "Old Sol" is shining forth in all his heated glory, the kiddies are wondering why the stop logs have not been put in the swimming pool, at the Memorial park. Several business men are also interested, and in all probability steps will be taken to have the pool cleaned out and put in operation at once.

BELLEVILLE BOWLERS INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Robert Dewar and C. Simmons of Belleville were rushed to Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro, yesterday afternoon, shortly after two o'clock, when a car in which they were riding left the road and turned over three times in the ditch on Highway 25. With two companions, C. A. Peck and C. Siliman, also of Belleville, Dewar and Simmons were going to Peterboro for the regional bowling tournament of the Peterboro Bowling Club. The accident occurred south of Fraserville, and it is thought to have resulted from a blowout of the left rear tire. The hospital reported their injuries as slight. They are all well known in Stirling, and have taken part in local tournaments.

WINS ONT. CHAMPIONSHIP

The following article, relating to Lloyd Delaney, whose father is a nephew of Miss Sara and Mr. Joseph Delaney, Stirling, appeared in last Thursday's issue of the Barrie Examiner:

Barrie became on Saturday the home of an Ontario champion athlete when Lloyd Delaney, 16-year-old collegiate runner, flashed down the track first in the intermediate 880 yards at the provincial schoolboy track and field meet at Varsity Stadium, Toronto. Delaney set up the mark of 2 minutes, 8 seconds for the half mile, a wonderful time for his class and age. It was the best showing he ever made, but then he was pitted against the best schoolboy runners in Ontario. Running in his bare feet Delaney took the crowd by storm when he passed four runners on the home stretch to win by two yards. In 1931 the new Ontario scholastic title holder was junior champion of B.C.I. and was just beaten out by a few points last fall. He trained well this spring and as a result has brought renown to himself and a trip to the Ontario Athletic Commission training camp this summer on Lake Couchiching.

JULY 1ST IS DATE

In an article last week it was stated that the first instalment of the taxes fell due on June 1st. A correction seems unnecessary, but the first payment is July 1st.

TO SUBSCRIBERS

The News-Argus desires to inform all subscribers who subscribed for this paper during the contest, last year, that the paper will be continued unless otherwise advised.

POPULARITY WINNERS

The following are the winners in the popularity contest, staged by J. S. Whitehead and which closed on Saturday:

Girls, 1st - Helen McTaggart, Speed King roller skates. 2nd - Phyllis Mitchell, large doll.

Boys, 1st - Don Hullin, wagon. 2nd - Don Murdoff, bat and softball.

GIRL CUTS LEG

Miss Marjorie West, ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John West, Evergreen Cheese factory, met with a painful accident on Sunday. While playing she ran into a barbed wire fence and caught her left leg in three places. She was brought to Dr. Alger's office here, and several stitches were necessary to close the wounds.

BOY SCOUTS WILL COLLECT OLD PAPER

The 1st Stirling Troop of Boy Scouts have an opportunity to make a little money to carry on their work and are asking your help. They are embarking on a paper-collecting campaign in Stirling. Each Saturday morning the boys will call at your homes and take all the paper you can give them - old newspapers, magazines, cardboard and wrapping paper. These amounts will then be sorted, packed and taken to the mills at Glen Millen and sold. You will give the boys a real hand if you save all your used papers and let them have the same when they call at the weekend. They sincerely hope the citizens will stand by them in this undertaking.

ACCIDENT AT MADOC JCT.

A head-on collision between two gas jiggers occurred on the C.N.R. curve near Madoc Junction on Tuesday morning. One of the cars was piloted by Harry Reid, of Madoc, and Building foreman, and who was alone on the jigger and the other car was in charge of Harry Clark, foreman for Madoc Junction section. Mr. Carl Reid was with the latter. Each jigger pilot thought the other would stop before colliding. However, when that was seen impossible, the riders jumped to safety. Reid, however, was too slow, and his left leg was caught between the vehicles and badly crushed. Dr. H. H. Alger was summoned to the scene, and upon examination discovered compound fractures in both bones, near the foot. The ambulance was summoned from Belleville and the injured man was taken to the hospital in that city, where an X-ray was taken. It was first thought the foot would have to be amputated, but hopes are held that it may now be saved. The jiggers were badly damaged.

Open Air Dancing - Geo. Wade and Cornhuskers, Fair Grounds - Tuesday night.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society met at Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh's home on Tuesday afternoon. Meeting opened with hymn Jesus calls us further the Tenth. Mrs. J. Reid led in prayer. Mrs. H. Poster read the scripture lesson from I. Thessalonians, third chapter. Minutes of last meeting were read and plans for next meeting made, and the various officers gave their reports. Roll call was answered with the keyword "Peace". "Peace, perfect peace in this dark world of sin" was sung as a second hymn. Mrs. Rollins took the first part of the topic from the study book "The Seven Seas of Service," dealing with the chapter on the Chinese work in Canada. She mentioned the great Christian work that is carried on by the Chinese in Knox Presbyterian Church in Toronto, and also in British Columbia. When they learn of Christ and his work, many of the Chinese go back to their own country as missionaries. Mrs. R. Williams played a piano solo. Mrs. Hammond gave a reading "Plant Gratitude". Mrs. Roy Eggleton sang as a solo "When the World Forgets". Mrs. Fargy dealt with the second part of the topic, the missionaries and their work among the Chinese. Each missionary teaches one person the language and they do not forget what they have done for them and the Chinese show their appreciation often by gifts. The meeting closed with hymn 381 and the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. McIntosh served a lunch at the close and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Orange Order Attends Church

On Sunday morning last, Stirling Lodges L.O.L. No. 110 and L.O.E.A. No. 658 attended Divine Service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The large representation from each of these lodges augmented by many visiting members from other Lodges, proved conclusively that Orangemen is still very much alive in the hearts of the people. Rev. J. Koffend delivered a stirring message and one that was full of meaning for each individual who heard him. He chose as his text Acts 24, 25 and based his remarks on the subject "A fearless Prisoner and a Trembling Judge". In his introduction he drew a very vivid character sketch of the speaker. He went on to describe the Judge as one who had risen from the depths of a slave to the pinnacle of a governor. He described him as one with the hatred of a slave mingled with the power of a king, one who allowed nothing to stand in the way of personal desire; no crime too base, no task too mammoth even to the flickering out of life, if life stood in the way of personal gain or pleasure. Before such a man who was so proud of his attainments, before whom no man dared insult the slightest error. Paul had stood warning a man who cared little for the right and less for justice, warning such a man of righteousness, self control, and above all a judgment to come upon himself. The speaker pressed home the fact of the intense influence of Paul's stirring address and the almost-perfected will yielded to Christ interfered with by procrastination. Too many are waiting for tomorrow and tomorrow never comes. Now is the accepted time. Tomorrow is not mine, just for today. I ask thee for light and help. Yes, tomorrow's cares I must not bear. The future is all mine. Two solos were sung, one by Mr. Stanley Wilbur and one by Rev. J. Koffend. These added much to the fine spirit of worship which was so clearly manifest during the service.

CURRENT COMMENT

We welcome back summer this week, after its week's vacation.

Local Taxpayers are reminded that the first install-ment of taxes falls due on July 1st.

We have been asked from time to time if it is possible for an editor to tell the truth all the time — sometimes the interrogation was touched with sarcasm. However, we can truthfully say it is possible — but not safe.

Reports from Germany indicate a keen competition this summer between rival nudist camps. If they had them over here they could combine operations and put on a ballet dancing show as well, with mosquitoes as promoters.

We have read where lie detectors have been developed by scientists. However these detectors are not so new despite the fuss and furor being made over them. To us the first of these "contraptions" was made thousands of years ago, out of the rib of a man.

Pick out 20 young men as you meet them and not five out of the 20 are making an effort to save a part of their earnings or making any preparations to provide for the future. A sad commentary, but practically universally true. Young man, stop, think. What will be your condition in life, ten, fifteen or twenty years hence?

These are anxious days for many school teachers. Not only are they busily engaged in preparing their pupils for the mid-summer examinations, but they are wondering whether they are going to be re-engaged for next year and what kind of a salary cut they will be expected to take. School boards in all parts of the country are using the pruning knife freely.

News that an exhibit of an old-fashioned rail fence is on display at the Chicago World's Fair is causing quite a chuckle among old-time farmers hereabouts. One retired agriculturist only the other day told the News-Argus that if Chicago had nothing better than an old-fashioned rail fence to show its visitors he would stay at home and save his money. He might even take a walk to the "back fifty" of the Old Homestead of an afternoon and momentarily "kid" himself that he was at the World's Fair. It would be much cheaper to do something like that. A drive through Hastings County reveals many real samples of these old snake fences and in many sections may be seen remarkable fences made from the roots of trees, the building of which reflects the remarkable patience and endurance of the pioneers.

Considerable interest was created amongst the business men by "Letter to the Editor" in last week's issue, relating to merchants selling goods on Sunday and re-maining open until after midnight on Saturday night, when a by-law states the store must close at 11 o'clock. The News-Argus is not taking up the issue in any way. However, the letter has emphasized a matter which we have been advocating for some time past and that is the organization of a local Business Men's or Merchants' Association. If such an association were formed matters

W. E. N. SINCLAIR LIKELY TO BE GIVEN ACCLAMATION

Insofar as the Henry Government is concerned, W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal Leader in the Legislature, will not, it is reported, face Conservative opposition in his riding of South Ontario, in the next provincial general election.

During the last session of the House, Mr. Sinclair's willingness, under the existing difficult times, to cooperate with the Government to reasonable lengths, earned him many new friends on the Conservative side of the House, although tending, it is reported, to widen the breach between him and the provincial Liberal chieftain, Mitchell F. Hepburn. Several Conservative members have openly expressed the belief of late that Mr. Sinclair should have an acclamation. The question, of course, is primarily up to the Conservative Association of South Ontario, but it is suspected it will be pretty well guided in this particular case by the feeling of the party at large.

Mr. Sinclair has had a man's job on his hands during the past year. Not only has he been attending diligently to his legislative duties, but he has been filling the role of Oshawa's chief magistrate in a manner that is bound to report have it to influence an inquiry into the giving of his majority regime for another year at least.

The rumoured intention of the Government to give Mr. Sinclair a clear field, next election, has added more fuel to the general belief that an appeal to the country will be staged by the Government no later than the middle of October, this year.

The lecturer was emphasizing the demoralizing effect of divorce. "Love," he said, "is a quest; a proposal, a request; the giving of a daughter in marriage, a bequest; and marriage itself the conquest. But what is divorce?"

Voice from the audience — The in-quest.

referred to in last week's aforementioned letter could be dealt with by the merchants as a body. In all probability the Council would take action if compelled to, but the open hours of local stores should be controlled by the merchants themselves. So, Business Men, why not organize now?

The Church and Politics

We were not only surprised, but amazed, to read in press reports last week, that at the Toronto Conference of the United Church, held recently, a report, or recommendation was presented, saturated with partisan politics. In the report there were clauses favouring the socialization of banks, transportation and industry and the discussion on the report was an absolute political debate. No wonder the church of today is being condemned by non-believers when such actions and views are taken by some of the leaders. Keep the church out of politics.

We cannot believe that the rank and file of the membership of the United Church approve of discussions which create such rancour and animosity as this political debate did. They regard the church as a spiritual force, organized for a purpose entirely different from engaging in partisan politics. They look to the church, and properly so, to right wrongs by making individuals right, by making them right with God and their fellow-men. That is very different from taking sides, politically, in a generalized debate on problems of government.

Speaking in a general sense, however, it is dangerous for the church to take active part in political issues of a partisan character. Church membership is made up of all shades of political opinions. They do not attend church to have political opinions thrust down their throats. And that is what would be happening if some of the speakers at the Toronto conference used their pulpits to make the speeches they did in the discussion under question. If church leaders are really concerned over maintaining the influence which their church exerts on mankind, they will leave severely alone that most controversial of all subjects, political partisanship.

The Northern Settlers Problem

Considerable propaganda has been appearing in the daily press, particularly the Toronto Star, the semi-tabloid paper, relating to the terrible conditions experienced by the settlers who went to Northern Ontario in the Land Settlement Scheme, sponsored by the Government. In some reports, those who have returned — supposed to be discouraged — have painted terrible pictures about the conditions in the new northern settlements. We felt sure exaggeration made up most of the stories and the complaints were without foundation. The following editorial, which appeared in Friday's issue of the North Bay Nugget, proves such to be the case:

"As investigations are made into the complaints of failures in the land settlement scheme in Northern Ontario, it is being found that the failures are usually due to the settlers themselves. The latest report is on the 'failure' of some men from St. Catharines, who returned home and told a tall story of the hardships to which they were subjected and the impossibility of getting on successfully. The City Council of that city did not accept these reports at their face value, but made an investigation by a special committee, the result of which has just been made available. This committee reports that the men went north imbued with the idea that all they had to do was to sit in their cabins and the city would supply the needed money on which to live. The cabins were built largely by the special men sent north with the settlers in the first place. The settlers were offered a winter's supply of roots merely for the digging and declined to bestir themselves. They also refused to do road work, to augment their living allowance and when leaving polluted the wells and broke the tools given to them. The report presents a very pretty picture of a group of 'don't-want-to-works' and a sample of one of the greatest problems arising out of this depression, the sending of men back to work after they have been given a living without being required to do anything for it. In nearly every case of so-called failure of the land settlement scheme it has been found that the fault lay with the settler. In some cases unsuitable men were chosen and so on, but in the majority of cases the experiment has been a success, and if it could be expanded, it would be a good thing for this country."

CORDOVA MINES ARE RUMORED UPON VERGE OF SECOND BOOM

Cordova Mines — The mines here are once more to be in full swing. It is said that the Consolidated Smelters have taken over the lease and will start at once to clean up in preparation for early mining and smelting activities.

The new process used for extracting gold from the mined product is said to extract 94 per cent of the precious metal which is contained therein. The old method was far from perfect and much of the gold was left in the refuse carted to the dump.

Cordova Mines which lies about twelve miles north-east of Havelock and ten miles north-west of Marmora, is a hamlet on the boundary line of Belmont and Marmora Townships. It consists of a handful of homes, a couple of stores, two churches, a post office and a number of empty houses, unoccupied, and though kept in a measure of repair, gradually falling into decay.

A few years ago, this was a thriving mining centre, where the hum of the wheels of industry made music in the ears of two hundred and fifty miners and their families. Today the music is silenced. The great motors that generated power for working the mines and lighting the homes of the miners stand idle. The water that drove the motors still passes through the flume, now falling into decay.

In the mining shafts the tools of the workmen lie idle, just as they were left fifteen years ago, when the signing of the Armistice dissipated the last hopes of the owners, who had installed a device for producing chromium steel, to be used in the manufacture of ammunition.

Marmora — The third annual decoration under auspices of District No. 1 Centre Hastings Orange Association, was held at Marmora on Sunday.

THE VALE OF CONTENT

As I sat all alone one morning,
My thoughts wandering far away,
They drifted back to a forest
Where I've spent many a day.
My mind was so bent on that forest
That I rose from where I sat,
And wandered down the byway,
And the birds were singing thereat.
The woods were solemn, the skies were dull,
In silence I took my way;
The brushwood green, and the silver
Of willow-flowers seemed to stay
In my mind, as I wandered along,
Of happy naught but the birds' sweet song.

I wandered down the hillside
Through deep ravine and glen,
And there I wished that I could abide Away from the world of men.
The birds sang sweetly, and on the breeze
Faintly I heard the rustle of leaves.
Thinking of naught but joy that day,
Drifting from dearest friends away,
I sank on my knees, with my head
upraised
And offered this little token of praise.

"Dear Lord, how thankful I should be To live in a land of Liberty!"
The sun came out, the clouds cleared away—
The woods seemed brighter, birds seemed to say,
"Cheer up! Cheer up! We are happy, aren't you?"
The sun on the trees came peering through,
The little animals seemed at ease.
They scampered and played in the rustling leaves,
All seemed contented, even the trees.
The trilliums and violets, the birds and the bees,
All living things seemed to echo the call.

The shrubs and the grasses, both great and small,
I thought as I turned to walk slowly away,
So sweet a vale should be named today.
As I looked back once more and began to lament,
I whispered, "Your name is 'The Vale of Content'."

SPECIAL LOW RAILWAY FARES FOR DOMINION DAY

Canada's principal summer holiday, Dominion Day, July 1st, falls on Saturday this year and for the convenience of those Canadians who wish to visit friends and relatives or to enjoy their outing at points away from their homes, the Canadian railways have arranged low fares provided for either the one-day or longer holiday trips. Announcement to this effect was made by C. P. Riddell, Chairman of the Canadian Passenger Association. Return tickets will be sold, good between stations in Canada at one and one-quarter times the regular one-way fare, good going from noon on Friday, June 30th, to noon on Sunday, July 2nd, and for return good on trains leaving not later than midnight, standard time, on July 3rd. In addition there will be special one-day fares, the return tickets being sold at regular one-way first class fares. There, tickets will be good going on any train after 1 a.m. standard time, on July 1st, with the return portion good on any train reaching the original starting point up to midnight of the same day. The special holiday tickets will be good between any points which can be visited within the period limit of the respective tickets.

BUCKWHEAT AND HONEY

The acreage of Buckwheat in the Province of Ontario is gradually increasing at the rate of about 10,000 acres per year, the present acreage being about 200,000 acres. With the European market opening up for Buckwheat and due to its ability to smother weeds, this crop is increasingly popular in Ontario with everyone except the honey producer.

The Buckwheat crop is both a curse and a God send to the apary owner. During the latter part of the season when other bloom becomes scarce, a large quantity of amber honey is made from the Buckwheat. Unfortunately, a small percentage of growers persist in planting buckwheat in June, with the result that Buckwheat is mixed with clover and other light honey with a tremendous selling loss to the beekeeper.

The apary with his millions of bees is a valuable asset to any farm in aiding fertilization of all plants, especially fruits, and the apary owner should not be discouraged and forced out of business through a small percentage of farmers thoughtlessly sowing Buckwheat early in the season.

CHEESE UP AGAIN

At the Belleville Cheese Board last Saturday morning 1861 white and 142 coloured cheeses were offered for sale and all sold for 10.75c, an advance of 3.15c over the price of Saturday last. On the corresponding Saturday a year ago, 2298 cheese were sold at 9.5-16 and 9.1-4c. The following factories were represented:

Little Bobby came crying into the house, rubbing the places where he had been bitten by a pet sheep. "But what did you do?" his mother demanded, "when the sheep knocked you down?"

"I didn't do nothing!" Bobby declared protestingly. "I was getting up all the time!"

There is nothing to be gained by this practice and a field or two of early Buckwheat in a district cuts the sale value of the white honey crop 50 to 75 per cent.

Officials of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, through years of experimental work, show that Buckwheat naturally fits into the crop rotation as a late sown crop or as a special smother crop and for best yields and as a means of checking weeds should not be sown until after July 1st.

This gives the farmer an opportunity of taking off a crop of hay before the Buckwheat is sown or in very dry fields the land may be cultivated as a summer fallow during May and June and the Buckwheat, sown during the first week in July, will come up quickly, smother and kill many of the remaining weakened weeds.

The Buckwheat crop is one of the most effective and cheapest means of checking weed growth and at the same time produces a profitable cash crop.

The variety most desired in Europe is the Silver Hull. The rough or Rye Buckwheat is a slightly heavier yielder but should never be grown for the export trade.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Delegation from Deloro Asks County To Route Highway by Way of Marmora to Madoc

After minutes of Tuesday afternoon session of the County Council had been read and confirmed at the Wednesday morning session some communications were read and were ordered to be filed.

A deputation from Deloro Village, headed by Mr. R. A. Elliott, was introduced and addressed the Council. The wish of the deputation was that a settlement be made in reference to Provincial Highway No. 7. All who spoke desired that the highway should be routed through Marmora to Madoc, which would follow an old county road. It was contended if this course was not pursued it would mean continuing the old road, resulting in an extra expenditure for maintenance and upkeep.

Mr. J. A. Moore, chairman of roads and bridges, was selected by the council in addition to the delegation to confer with Hon. J. R. Cooke in reference to the matter in question.

Mr. H. R. Frink made application to be appointed motorcycle officer for the county.

On motion the application was ordered to be filed.

34 in Refuge on Old Age Pension
 Mr. J. Bronson, Reeve of Mayo Township at the County Council session on Wednesday afternoon, presented a report of the Old Age Pension Committee. It showed that some hundreds were entitled and receiving the pension. Of this number 34 were inmates of the County House of Refuge and 7 were in other institutions. During the year a number of cases were investigated and a few were refused.

A number of communications were read by the clerk and disposed of as follows:

From Bruce County Council amending the statute whereby councilors attending sessions would receive 10 cents per mile for both ways. Received and filed.

From the County Clerk of Victoria County re the reduction of members of County Councils, alleging that the Legislature had reduced its membership and County Councils should do likewise. No action taken.

From Frontenac County Council, stating that a bill was introduced in the Legislature last session but was not passed, relative to the abolition of grand jurors. Hastings Council was asked as to its concurrence in this matter, also that petit jurors might be disposed of. Received and filed.

No action was taken in reference to the transferring of some property to S.S. No. 11, Marlborough, which is a union school. The petition presented stated that Tyendinaga Township Council had decided to take no action in the matter when requested to do so.

Previous to the Council taking no action, Mr. H. J. Clarke, School Inspector for South Hastings made some reference to the matter stating that some of the scholars attending the school were in Hungerford Township, which was in Mr. McGuire's jurisdiction as Inspector for Centre Hastings.

Mr. A. L. Burke presented a report of the finance committee which showed that a number of accounts were paid since the January session.

The tender for printing the auditors' report was given to the Stirling News-Argus at $1.80 per page. The total cost was $345.35.

Result, O'Brien vs. Township of Faraday. A special committee was appointed to interview Mr. O'Brien re a settlement. The case was settled for $900.00, the county paying $600 and the township of Faraday $300, each party to settle with their solicitor. A further sum of $76.40 was paid Mr. C. A. Payne, K. C., county solicitor for filing the dispute, which was in reference to some land sold for taxes.

The cost of administration of justice for 1932 was high—$28,075.88—of which amount the province paid $5,193.20.

The contracts for supplying stationery and sundries for the various county offices were awarded to different firms.

As the hospitals were making urgent demands for payment, $4,930.45 were ordered paid to various hospitals.

Indigent accounts are steadily increasing. Since the first of this year accounts totalling $3,820.50 have been rendered and with a balance of $1,415.85 brought forward from the year 1932 makes a total of $5,236.35 to be considered.

Report was adopted.

Road Committee Commended for Report Submitted and Same Unanimously Adopted

Mr. J. A. Moore, chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee, presented the following report:

"Your committee on roads and bridges present for your information a report on the progress of the work on the county road system."

"Snow removal costs have been less than any previous season, buses and transports have operated throughout the winter with few exceptions. On account of the light fall of snow and the extreme wet fall season, frost penetrated in the road bed deeper than usual and much damage was caused to the roads in the early spring season, as trucks continued using the roads with heavier loads than the road would carry at that time on account of the conditions created by the frost coming out too quickly. If more consideration was given by truck owners at the seasons of the year when the road bed will not resist the weight of heavy loads there would be a very much less expenditure required to get the roads back to the former conditions and thus save the taxpayer this extra expense. As many truck owners will not observe the traffic regulations it may be necessary for the county to appoint an officer to see that the regulations are complied with.

"The pavement laid in 1932 on the Madoc-Bellefleur road does not show any signs of defects in its construction, only as regards to part of the seal coat, and will prove a wise and economical investment. There is no provision made by your committee to continue the paving program this year.

"The amount as estimated in the January report and passed by the council — namely a 2 mill rate is scarcely sufficient to continue the necessary work in building up a stronger road bed — by training and resurfacing and in improving of many dangerous places — while costs may be increased by not using the usual road gangs formerly used, but we feel quite justified in spreading the work out to give as much benefit as possible to the greater number, by charging the men frequently even at a greater cost for the work.

Work Through Winter
 "The work in some sections where conditions were favourable has continued through the winter months as a method of providing necessities for those with families — wages were at the relief schedules — $23.00 per month for man and $2.50 per day for man and team — $23.00 per month varied the day's pay, according to number of days in the month and were paid on the day basis, as only a certain amount was allowed to each family. Those who had the privilege of this work were very grateful and they appreciated the opportunity of providing for their families by this more honorable way than by direct relief. The number of men on pay sheets this season is much greater than any previous year, namely January 204, February 167, March 206, April 294, May 256, an average for the five months of 225 as compared to 110 for 1932.

"Total expenditures for June 1st are $35,784.41, a decrease over the same period of 1932 and a decrease of $10,575 for the month of May. Expenditures have been well within the estimates for the first five months and we expect to continue through the season without over-running the amount appropriated, (2 mills). 12-80 yards of crushed stone and gravel has been placed on roads and there are now six crushers at work with a daily average of approximately 330 yards.

"We appreciated the generous attitude of merchants and others, who have accounts with the men in the employ of the county as they are collecting in small monthly payments with orders from workmen, and only one garnishee has been received this year. There have been as many as 40 orders for workmen for the first 5 months as there were for the full season of 1932—none of which were serious. We are also pleased to report that Hastings County was one of a few of the counties to get their subsidy from the Government on the 1932 expenditures promptly, namely $107,308.80. The amount owing the Province by the County, 20 per cent of the 1932 expenditures is $10,486.02 — of the $202,430.00 expended by the Highways Department in 1932 on which the County pays 20 per cent, 1932 $175,000 was expended in four townships, namely Thurlow, Marmora, Sidney and Rawdon.

Prov. road expenditures — 2.2 mills County road expenditures — 2 mills Totals 4.2 mills compared with 2 mills on Provincial roads and 4 mills on County road for 1932 making a decrease of 1.8 mills for road purposes.

"Your committee decided to operate on an 8-hour day for the entire season with 20 per cent, out in wages of 1932 as provided by the special committee at the January session. The cost of truck hauling has not been very uniform in costs as it varies from 7 to 16 cents per yard mile haul for the month of May.

"Estimated expenditures up to June 30th and balances for each road are as follows:—

Road	Appro-	Est. Expen-	Bal-
	pations	ditures	ances

Committee Commended

There was some discussion upon the report, the consensus of opinion being that the committee were to be commended for their work.

Mr. Bronson, Reeve of Mayo — The committee had done well and were to be commended.

Mr. Moore — If there were any criticisms to be made these should be made now.

Mr. Geo. E. Jordan, Reeve of Hungerford, if there was any criticism to be made he referred to the report.

There was the place to make it, not outside of the Council Chamber.

Mr. Larkin, Reeve of Tyendinaga was of the opinion that some signs should be placed at certain points between Madoc and Bancroft. Many to be made a reference to the report.

Mr. Phillip Carr, Deputy Reeve of Rawdon, was pleased at the report presented.

Mr. S. Fox, County Road Superintendent thanked the Reeves for their co-operation in helping the committee to give those who are unemployed work. The $33,000 he stated would not be over-run.

Mr. West, Reeve of Stirling, asked if it was the intention of the committee to employ local men, where work is being done.

Mr. Fox — This will be done.

Mr. C. S. Rollins, Reeve of Wollaston — We should be careful what signs are placed, if any. There are many places where signs could be placed in the northern part of the County. We are responsible for any dangerous spots north of Madoc as we are for such spots south of Madoc. Every dollar spent on relief in Wollaston Township was on road work. The road from Bancroft to Maynooth is good.

The report was unanimously adopted.

County Rate Down
 Mr. A. L. Burke, Reeve of Sidney Township presented the report of the committee on estimates during Thursday afternoon session. The report showed a reduction of 1 1/2 mills over the estimate for last year, which was a considerable good under existing conditions. The report was unanimously adopted and is as follows:

A. L. Burke, Chairman

Mr. S. C. Rollins — The Committee had reduced the rate this year 1 1/2 mills. Every care has been taken to reduce the expenditure and the committee has spent considerable time in preparing the report.

Warden Whytock — It is not the roads that are causing much expenditure, but some other matters over which the Council had no control. The indigent and hospital accounts were increasing rapidly.

Mr. Burke stated that the committee had spent considerable time in preparing the report as every item had been carefully considered.

Equalization Not Changed

The special committee of the County Council appointed to deal with the matter of equalization of the various municipalities was in session for some time on Thursday. As a result of their deliberations no change was made from the equalization of last year.

The report was presented to the council by Mr. J. A. Gunter, Reeve of Bancroft, was as follows:

Twp. of Sidney	$2,909,600.00
Twp. of Thurlow	3,402,800.00
Twp. of Tyendinaga	1,724,900.00
Twp. of Rawdon	1,923,300.00
Twp. of Huntingdon	914,900.00
Twp. of Hungerford	1,912,800.00
Municipality of Marmora and Lake	622,200.00
Twp. of Madoc	1,287,900.00
Municipality of Zeyvir and Grimsthorpe	280,100.00
Municipality of Tudor and Cashel	103,500.00
Twp. of Wollaston	87,900.00
Twp. of Limerick	62,100.00
Twp. of Faraday	72,500.00
Twp. of Dunganon	77,600.00
Twp. of Mayo	62,100.00
Twp. of Carlow	82,800.00
Municipality of Montague and Herschel	165,600.00
Municipality of Bangor	102,500.00

Village of Madoc	384,100.00
Village of Tweed	493,700.00
Village of Marmora	239,200.00
Village of Bancroft	179,700.00
Village of Deloro	130,700.00
Village of Frankford	295,900.00
Total	$18,354,800.00

Mr. Gunter — "The committee thought it would be unwise to open up the matter of equalization at the present time owing to the conditions which prevail. We hope for better times in Hastings County and some industries in the county to reopen."

The committee was virtually unanimous.

Mr. C. S. Rollins was in favour of the report but the equalization was greater than the assessment of his township.

Mr. Dalton Clarke said he thought Hungerford township was being imposed on. The township could not be sold for what it is equalized at, which is far in excess of the assessment.

Mr. Geo. E. Jordan said this matter would have to be considered at a later date. Tyendinaga Township was equalized far in excess of the assessment and for this reason he was not in accord with the report.

Ratepayers of Huntingdon Township Petition Council to Complete

Mr. Henry Wallace of Huntingdon Township presented the following petition signed by 195 ratepayers of that township:

"That the county council give consideration to the construction of a subdivided section of the Madoc road and that it be completed this season."

"Whereas the annual maintenance costs of the Madoc road have become enormous

"Whereas these maintenance accounts become a direct annual levy of 1/2-mill more or less each year on the total equalized assessment of the county.

"Whereas the conditions of the day demand that these annual levies be curtailed and that all honourable bodies such as yours make every reasonable effort to obtain employment for their people.

"Whereas the provincial government contributes one-half of the total cost of construction.

"Whereas the balance of the 50 per cent, if spread over a period of 5 or 10 years will become less burdensome to us.

"Whereas our people will be given employment and thus provide a better market for our produce and much more serviceable highway for all concerned.

"Whereas the work carried on in 1932 was a credit to your council and a great satisfaction to our people and we again beg your honourable body to take advantage of these facts and have this work completed this season."

Mr. Henry Wallace and Mr. Chas. Mitts spoke in support of the petition, contending the road should at least be oiled as it was so dusty as to be a nuisance.

Petition referred to the Ways and Means committee.

Moved by Mr. A. L. Burke, Reeve of Sidney, seconded by Mr. Geo. Bush: Council that the Belleville Collegiate Institute charge what is known as a commutation fund which is a fee of $1.00 that must be paid by each pupil to constitute a fund for athletic interests which is not provided for by statute or regulation of the Education Act, and that should a pupil not be in a position to pay this fee his name is placed on a blackboard in a public place in the school room, which because of no fault of the pupils, places them in a difficult and humiliating position.

"Therefore the council of the county of Hastings desires to place itself on record as being decidedly opposed to such practices being perpetrated on any pupil from the county and believe if any fee of this kind is collected it should come voluntarily from the pupils without undue publicity being exercised to extort same."

"That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Belleville Board of Education with the request that this practice be discontinued as far as county pupils are concerned."

"And also if necessary the Hon. Minister of Education be asked to have this unfair and humiliating practice discontinued by an order of the Department of Education."

The resolution was unanimously adopted without discussion.

Mr. J. M. Anderson, Reeve of Montague and Herschel, moved, seconded by Mr. West, Reeve of Stirling, "whereas it is desirable that municipal affairs should be managed by persons who are taxpayers of the municipality in an amount sufficient to insure that such persons have a substantial interest in the well-being and good government of the municipality and who will protect the interest of the ratepayers thereof."

"Be it resolved that the Lieutenant Governor and Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario be and are hereby humbly requested to amend the Municipal Act so that one of the qualifications of a person for election to any municipal office shall be that such person shall be rated on the last revised assessment roll of the municipality for land held in his own right for an amount not less than $500 in cities and towns and $400 in villages and townships in addition to any other qualifications required by the Municipal Act.

"And that in case of a tenant his rent must be paid in full before nomination day or he is disqualified from becoming a candidate for any municipal council or office."

"That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Ontario Government and to the members of the Legislature for the County of Hastings asking that they support this resolution."

The resolution was adopted.

Mr. Earl Davies, Deputy Reeve of Thurlow, moved, seconded by Mr. G. E. Thompson, "that this council go on record as being very much opposed to that recent regulation of the Department of Education sponsored by the Teachers' Association, that a teacher must have his or her first class certificate in order to go to normal school after the year 1935. We firmly believe that the only way to lower the cost of education after the teachers' salaries are reduced is to lower the cost of education to our teachers. We believe that just as large a percentage of the second class certificate teachers were competent as the first class certificate teachers and we strongly urge the government not to enforce any legislation that would create a scarcity of teachers and by so doing increase the hardship of the taxpayers."

Mrs. Edward Owens left on Monday for Killarney, Man., to visit her mother, Mrs. Marshall Mason, who is very ill.

A large number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mumby, 10th corner east, on Friday evening last, the occasion being a miscellaneous shower in honour of Miss Maud Bell, who was married recently to Mr. Jas. Milne. After the gifts were presented and speeches made, lunch was served. Following is the address which was read by Mrs. Arthur Mumby:

Springbrook, June 16, 1933
To Mrs. James Milne,—
Dome Rumour hath whispered. So someone hath said, That a lad and a lassie Have just been wed. The young folk both mentioned We tell you with pride, The Rev. Mr. MacTavish At Campbellford tied. James Milne, the groom, Maud Bell, the bride. So this is the occasion Why we have come here— The young and the old folk, To bring you good cheer, The house with our laughter and chatter will ring. You're a jolly good fellow, we'll all join to sing. Now Maud, we will miss you, when from us you part; A new venture facing, a new home to start. Our community loses a girl we all say.

Now as Rylestone benefits by the loss we sustain, Our friendship and love we still maintain. Sometimes you may long for the home you have left; Sometimes you may feel your friends are bereft. Now if you are lonely, just whistle and sing. It makes the clouds brighten like everything. Don't ever start nagging, be cranky or pout. It will spoil a home sooner than all get out. Just be to your husband a dear loving wife, And then he will love you the rest of your life. We are all gathered here now to wish for you Long life and real happiness, prosperity too. Accept of these gifts a slight token we pray.

Of the love and esteem we bear you away. May your pathway be joyous, your husband be kind, And remember to keep your dear Saviour in mind. Return thanks for His blessing, and always take heed To His loving commandments — We wish you God speed. Signed on behalf of the friends and neighbours of the Community: Lena Mumby, Hazel Fleming, Hazel Lough and Hilda McInroy.

WEST HUNTINGDON

Late Mrs. Geo. McCurdy

Perhaps never in the history of our community were we so shocked as last Thursday evening when it was learned of the sudden passing of one of our esteemed citizens in the person of Mrs. Geo. McCurdy, at six o'clock in the office of Dr. C. F. Walt, Stirling dentist, from acute heart failure, while waiting for dental treatment. On her way to town from her home, she complained to her husband of not feeling well, having been suffering from an acute heart condition for some time. Dr. Walt, who was quite unaware of this condition, was preparing to proceed with his work in the ordinary manner, when Mrs. McCurdy passed away. Mr. McCurdy, who was waiting in his car for his wife, was called, and Dr. Carleton, the coroner, who was summoned, pronounced the cause of death, as previously stated, acute heart failure. The late Mrs. McCurdy was born in 1894 in Prince Edward County and lived there until her marriage to Mr. McCurdy. By her most pleasing manner she won for herself a host of friends who now offer their sympathies to the sorrowing husband and children. These left to mourn her loss are her husband; one son, Delbert, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Earl Fox, of Concession; her mother, Mrs. Samuel Bush, of Wellington; three sisters, Mrs. R. Fox, Concession, Mrs. R. Gilmour, of Toronto, and Mrs. W. Blakely, of Wellington. The funeral, which was held on Sunday, was one of the largest ever held here. It was conducted by Rev. C. A. Sales, assisted by Rev. Scamhorn of Stockdale. The large number of flowers bore silent testimony of the deceased's friends. Interment was made in Luke Cemetery, the pallbearers being Messrs. McVillie Reid, Harry Thompson, Harold McGee, Everett Farney, Frank Cosby and Arthur Wilson.

The farmers are now busy with the hay harvest. There does not seem to be any holidays this year for those who are trying to wrestle a living from the soil. We just finished planting, when the roadmaster informed us that the roads needed our attention, and the advanced season, along with the dry weather, has brought the hay to our attention earlier than usual. We were sure of a bumper crop of hay, but judging from appearances at present, it will be only average; and the grain is badly in need of rain.

The Huntingdon Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society held their annual meeting at the United Church here on Wednesday evening. Mr. W. Wadland, of Knox College, Toronto, was the special speaker and gave a very helpful message. The officers for 1933 were elected as follows: President, Arthur Wilson; Sec-Treas., Mrs. E. T. Sables; Board of Directors, John Morton, Molra, Arthur Wood, Ivanhoe; Herbert Burke, Fuller; Rev. J. A. Koffend, St. Andrew's; Hector Wood, White Lake; Phillip Carr, West Huntingdon.

Miss Eva Hall of Sine is spending a few days with Miss Sarah Wilson. Miss Olive McGowan of O.S.D., Belleville, is spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McGowan.

The Mission Band held a quilting at the Orange Hall on Saturday night. Mrs. Winters, of Montreal is visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Sales.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond had their four children baptized at the United Church on Sunday morning.

Mr. Wesley Farrell, of Rawdon, was in town on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Holden and Miss June were callers at Mr. Geo. McCurdy's on Tuesday evening.

Miss Georgia Pitman gave a party on Tuesday afternoon in honour of Miss Nan Sales, who is leaving us next week.

The Endeavourers' Class held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. F. Fitchett on Tuesday evening.

We are very sorry indeed to hear of the accident which befell little Gordon Donnan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Donnan, on Sunday, while playing with his pet Collie. For some unknown reason the dog became angry and bit Gordon on the head, putting a large gash just over his right eye. He was immediately rushed to Dr. Carleton's office, Stirling, where Dr. Carleton and Demorest gave first aid. It required eleven stitches to close the wound. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ashley and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ashley attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Carman Ashley, at Belleville on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Corrigal, of Madoc, Mr. Simon Ashley, of Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Corrigal, of Dodland, Sask., were entertained at Mr. Howard Ashley's on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ashley, of Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Corrigal, of Dodland, Sask., were entertained at Mr. Howard Ashley's on Wednesday evening.

CENTRE HUNTINGDON

Quite a number of the ladies of this district attended the W. I. Convention which was held at Wellmans Corners on Tuesday. In spite of the extreme heat all report a good attendance and a splendid program.

Mr. Sandy Garrett, of Vancouver, B.C., called on some of his old friends here on Sunday evening last.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wilson, of Coe Hill are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wallace this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Donnan, Mr. Jas. Donnan and Mrs. Eliza Donnan, of Stirling, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Donnan.

Mr. Hector Wright, of Cobourg, spent a few days of this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Wright.

RIVER VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rosebush spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bush.

Mrs. Clarence Chard visited Mrs. Wm. Thompson in Stirling on Tuesday.

The July meeting of the River Valley W. I. will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Vandervoort on Thursday afternoon, July 6th. Mrs. Percy Utman and Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh are in charge of the programme.

CURE - YOUR - HAY

Spontaneous Combustion!

You may not believe in spontaneous combustion, but you do know that wet hay or grain will heat, so also will hay or grain that is dumped from fork or slings and not well spread.

The place to cure hay is in the field, not the mow. At the first of the season there is always the temptation to bring in hay that is a bit tough. This would not be so bad if it were at the top of the mow, but it's at the bottom instead. If you must bring in hay in this condition, salt it well, and spread it well. Half a pail of salt to the load isn't a bit too much. Help is cheap this year, keep enough of it in the mow.

OUR FATHERS KNEW--

"Brown Bread and the Gospel is good fare" was a common saying amongst the Puritans, when simple living and high thinking laid the foundations of a sturdy New England, the cornerstone of a strong Republic. They knew, these wise men and brave women, that they needed all their energies for the great work in hand; that they couldn't dissipate their health in a richly loaded table, and so they made Bread their chief food— Cannot we take a leaf from their book? We, too, need every atom of our health and energy for these strenuous times, to help pull civilization out of the chaos of a great war.

WRIGHT'S BREAD

is made from ingredients selected for their wholesome purity and high quality to produce energy through nourishment which can be entirely assimilated. Its rich deliciousness and a food-value greater than any other food on the market establish it as the loaf of flavour and economy. Order Wright's Bread today.

Softball

On Wednesday evening, June 14th, the girls' softball team played the married men and the girls won with a score of 30-21. Mr. Alfred Kelly umpired the game and the scorekeepers were Miss Isobel Turner and Mr. Kenneth Weaver. The lineup was: Girls—Mrs. K. Weaver, Evelyn McNoy, c, Marjorie Hagerman 1st b, Mrs. Don Campbell 2b, Olive McKeeown 3b, Marjorie McNoy cf, Frances McKeeown ss, Mildred Maynes lf, Evelyn Neal rf. Sub—Mildred Sharp.
Married Men—John Holmes p, Don Campbell c, Bert Bedford 1st b, Ross Hoard 2nd b, Claude Sharp ss, Leonard Sharp 3b, George Weaver cf, Blake Sharp rf, Ed. McKeeown lf. Sub. Frank Jeffs.

On Tuesday evening over fifty players and fans journeyed to Bonarlaw and Mount Pleasant won with a score of 14-8. On Friday evening over eighty journeyed to Bethel and Mount Pleasant won with a score of 14-9. The lineup for Bethel was—Rickman p, Ackers c, Beatty 1st b, Sutherland 2b, K. Broadworth 3rd b, Murney Johnson ss, Paul Stewart cf, J. Kirkey rf, Walter Warren lf.

Umpires—Don Campbell and Lorne Wilson. Scorekeepers, Mrs. Don Campbell and Arthur Broadworth.
It was a well contested battle and the fans did a lot of cheering. The play opened at Bethel with the air surging with excitement. During the first round Coggins and Holmes each scored a home run for Mount Pleasant and Ackers one for Bethel, with the score 7-2 for Bethel. In the second frame the score was 8-6 with Bethel in the lead. With the third round the Mount Pleasant boys got clean away and piled up a score of 13-8, and although the Bethel boys worked hard they didn't get a look in. In the fourth frame Bethel were fortunate in landing one and the visitors worked hard but gained nothing, making the score 13-9. In the fifth round the visitors made one more score, and from then on through the frame and the next two no scores were passed over the plate and the game ended 14-9 in favour of Mount Pleasant.

The men are busy drawing gravel and putting in their statute labour. This is better than paying it in the taxes as the gravel is put on the road where most needed.

Y.P.S. opened by the president with "Work for the night is coming" and prayer. After minutes and business, Mrs. Cyrus Summers gave a splendid devotional talk on "Will the Right always Win", and she admonished all to stand up for the right as patiently and persistently as Jesus did, and then all sang "God send us men". The convenor of Christian Citizenship, Mr. Clifford Holmes, then took charge and thanked all who had helped his meetings to be a success. He opened with "Onward Christian Soldiers" and Mrs. James Sharp offered prayer. Mr. Burton Sharp read the 23rd Psalm. Miss Frances McKeeown rendered a pleasing piano solo "Trip to Niagara". The pastor outlined the topic using as his subject "Mis-stroke" and he said the bulk of this world's work is done by those who sometimes miss their strokes. A duet "How Wonderful that He should die for me" was nicely given by Messrs David Bell and Bob Hedley, with Miss E. Thrasher as accompanist. Miss Eileen MacMullen read a leaflet "Too Much Machinery" telling why there are over 300,000 unemployed today. After singing "I need Thee" the meeting closed and a "Motor Romance" proved amusing. There were 49 in attendance. Miss Frances McKeeown will be in charge next week when the Y.P.S. will officially close for the season.

Mr. Carl Hay, of Cordova spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hay.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Donnan, West Huntingdon.

Friends here will be glad to hear that Rev. Whiteside, the evangelist, is now stationed on a circuit down east.

Mr. R. B. Duffin, of Stirling, has presented all the churches on Rawdon circuit with a supply of fans, which will no doubt prove very acceptable during the warm weather.

On Sunday afternoon Miss Mildred Sharp rendered a pleasing solo, "He Hideth my Soul". Mr. George Weaver gave a splendid report of the recent conference held at Bowmanville and gave a vivid picture of the highlights of that meeting where wonderful addresses were given by talented speakers. BONARLAW

On Sunday evening last, a large number of the members of St. Paul's Men's Club, of Marmora, with their wives, attended St. Mark's Church, Bonarlaw. The Rector, Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne, was assisted in the service by Rev. A. B. Caldwell, Rector of St. Paul's Church, Marmora and Mr. W. J. Cottrell, Diocesan Lay Reader, Parish of Rawdon. Canon Swayne welcomed the members of the club and their families to the service and taking as his text the story of the rich man, and Lazarus, the beggar, he preached a very powerful sermon, pointing out that the sins of omission, as a rule far outnumber the sins of commission, and warning all against the terrible sin of selfishness. He concluded by begging all to take advantage of the various opportunities for doing good, and made a strong appeal for co-operation in connection with the Restoration Fund Campaign. During the offertory Mr. J. F. Baker sang a solo, "Crossing the Bar".

Mrs. Annie McGuire, of Calgary, Miss Katherine Simmons, of Severn Bridge, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cavert, of Toronto, were visiting with friends and relatives at Bonarlaw last week.

Mr. John McLaren has gone to Kingston to take charge of the election there as foreman. Mr. Sandford Peters will be on the Bonarlaw section until his return, which will be several weeks hence.

SYNOPSIS

Synopsis: Joyce Ashton, poor stenographer, suffered loss of memory in a skidding taxicab accident in Chicago. One morning two years later, she woke after a fall from her horse, her memory restored, to find herself the wife of Neil Packard, rich California fruit packer. She determined to tell nobody of her predicament, but set about learning what she could of her life in the interval. From the conversation of her friends and letters in her desk she gathered that she had been a heartless, pleasure-loving young woman. One letter that troubled her was from a woman signing herself Sophie, blaming Frills for not giving a home to a baby Sophie was caring for. Could it be her baby, Frills wondered! She also found herself involved in an affair with a man named Maitland. In San Francisco, where she went while her husband was away on business, she met Robert Ainsworth, a poet whose work she had always admired. When Joyce returned home, she decided to be pleasant to Neil than Frills had been. But this line was dangerous, too, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back Frills' love. At his request they call upon Neil's mother, whom Joyce finds adorable. Later, she met the poet, Robert Ainsworth, and several times stopped for lunch at his cabin when she was horseback riding. One day he started to make love to her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Ainsworth lifted his head, put his hand under her chin and stared down into her face. Joyce's whirl of happiness filled her so full of emotion that she could not hold it at all and a little of it spilled over in tears. Her heart beat in rapid accord with the violent beats which she could plainly feel thumping in Robert Ainsworth's breast. He bent down then and kissed her eyes and her lips. At first, just lightly, almost in playful caress; but again and again, and each time a little harder, a little more intensely — until finally, his mouth crushed down on hers and it was as if she were lifted out of herself and had lost her identity.

After a few moments he released her abruptly. Joyce, so weak, she had to lean against the bookshelves to keep herself from falling, watched Ainsworth walk to the door and stand there with his back to her. She could not speak. It seemed to her that they stood thus for an eternity. Finally he turned around and smiled at her again. "Well, there it is and what happens next? Does the Beautiful Belinda depart forever in proud wrath and leave the poor insulating worm to live on with only the memory of his one daring deed or..." Leaving his sentence unfinished, he took a cigarette and lighted it. Joyce watching, saw his hand shake as he held the match to the tip.

Why did he not come back to her and take her in his arms again? Why did he not tell her he loved her? She had not repulsed him.

"Dickie," went on Ainsworth, sitting down on the step and picking up the dog who was nuzzling at him for attention. "It should be possible, one would think, for a sweet, beautiful girl to visit a man, even in a lonely place like this without being... er... manhandled." He smoked furiously. Joyce, feeling her knees trembling, sat down on the arm of one of the big redwood chairs and listened silently.

"But you see, Dickie, damn it, I've been living here all alone for months and months, and a man gets to fooling himself with his smart delusion that he's self-sufficient, that the lid is on good and tight — until, suddenly, along comes a girl, not just an ordinary girl, you know Dickie, but one with sweetness and beauty and intelligence, one who is a particular joy to be with, and—well, then bang, everything is off!"

A chill descended on Joyce. She felt a vast sickening fear settle down humbly over her. What did he mean? Did he—was he sorry for what had happened? A flame of white humiliation burned Joyce with intolerable pain. She must get away quickly and hide herself from this thought....

She stood up and tried to speak in a casual, ordinary voice. "I think Dickie, it's time for us ... to go." Ainsworth jumped to his feet, dropping Dickie unceremoniously, and came to her. "Look here, Joyce! Don't go. You're—oh what shall I say?" He took her in his arms and kissed her again and again. Then he looked into her eyes, met her anxious smile and said softly, "Oh what is there to talk about? We don't need any words, do we darling?"

Joyce shook her head without speaking. She was swept back again to the heights of joyous happiness and she clung to him now unquestioningly.

At last, however, she drew herself away, and stood up, straightening her silk blouse with nervous hands and hastily combing her hair, which Ainsworth's caresses had ruffled. As she stood in front of the mirror, he came up behind her and put his arms gently around her body again. His eyes met hers in the glass. He was so much taller than Joyce that his chin rested on the top of her curly yellow head. She leaned back against him, suddenly aware of the fact that she was almost limp with fatigue after the emotional storm which she had passed through, and smiled into the mirror. At that he whirled her around and crushing her to him again buried his face in her neck. "Oh ... dearest ... most beautiful..."

Joyce sat at her dressing table and stared dreamily at herself

She put her arms around his shoulders and whispered shyly, "Oh, am I all that ... to you?"

"And so much more that I can't put it into words!" he murmured, kissing the tip of her ear....

After a while Joyce was able to put on her hat, and then, with his arm around her, they set out to walk to the car through the woods.

After she was in the car, with Dickie on the seat beside her, Ainsworth leaned against it with his arms still around her and gave her a final kiss. "Can't I do the calling next time? We've got some serious talking to do about this situation of ours. Tell me where this mysterious aunt of yours lives!"

Joyce dropped her eyes suddenly. "Oh—please let's leave things as they are!"

All at once she realized the ambiguity of her position. "I'll come again in a day or two."

She was thankful for the unconventional slant that made him answer cheerfully, "Oh, all right. I have to go up to the city for a day or two. I think it's next Tuesday."

"Oh, no, don't ... don't stay away long," begged Joyce.

"But you'll come before I go? Good Lord, it's four whole days till then!"

Even though she knew it was late, Joyce drove home slowly.

It was maddening to have to go out to dinner at the Carters'. It was to be a more or less formal affair followed by a "theatre party".

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carter were devoted to Neil, but their aversion to Frills was only thin veiled.

When she was ready to go, Joyce sat at her dressing table and stared dreamily at herself, wondering what Robert would think of her now.

"You're looking stunning tonight, Frills!" Neil had come up behind her and interrupted her dreaming.

Joyce started at his words and blushed furiously, partly in a sort of shame at being caught so obviously admiring herself, partly with annoyance at being forced to a realization of Neil's right to so address her. She jumped up and went to the closet to get her evening cloak, remarking casually in a voice of which she tried to keep out all trace of her nervous irritation. "Thanks for the compliment, but the credit is really yours. It's a lovely dress but I couldn't have had it if you weren't such a generous provider, Mr. dear Mr. Packard."

Neil took her from the luxurious cape of sea-green transparent velvet and they went downstairs together. "By the way, mother telephoned me a little while ago," he said, "the doctor has ordered her to stay in bed a few days and she wondered if you would come tomorrow afternoon and sit with her for a while? She's missed you lately ... and ... you know ... and she's so happy at the way you've been to her..." "I'm worried," he went on, as he laid the lovely cloak about her shoulders and for a moment held her to him, "there's something wrong about it. I wish I knew what to do."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," exclaimed Joyce, "I'll go tomorrow and spend the afternoon with her. I've ... I know I've neglected her lately."

"Darling, that's sweet of you ... I wish ... I wonder ... Frills what the devil can I do to ... win you back? Isn't there any chance for me?"

"Oh, please Neil, don't!" cried Joyce, "don't start that again Come on, we'll be late and you know Mrs. Carter likes to begin on time when she's giving a theatre party afterwards."

Most parties in Manzanita had a way of splitting up into couples, and Joyce found herself taken in charge by her dinner partner when they afterwards set out for the theatre. This happened to be Paul Packard, much to her satisfaction, for his company made it possible to sit without talking during the picture. Joyce deliberately shut her eyes to the sartorial allurements of the picture and returned in spirit to the little shack on the lonely hillside.

Before the next afternoon she was torn by such longing to see Robert that she set out for Neil's mother's house in dragging rebellion. Even Mrs. Packard's gentle gratitude and pleasure failed wholly to rout her constant sense of frustration.

"I wonder whether something is going wrong in the business," Mrs. Packard remarked in the course of the afternoon, "Neil hasn't been himself lately."

"I don't know," replied Joyce, "he hasn't said anything to me and I think the business is all right." She knew only too well what was the cause of Neil's depression but she could not tell his mother.

"Please don't worry about Neil too much," she said gently. "I feel sure this is just a temporary thing. There may be some business deal in the air that Neil is brooding over a little. He'll come out all right."

Mrs. Packard looked as if she were grateful for Joyce's effort to relieve her mind but not wholly convinced that the matter was so simple as it sounded.

When Neil arrived, Joyce insisted on their leaving shortly after. All the way home she could not get out of her mind that one significant moment when the pinched grayness of Mrs. Packard's face had struck her.

"Mother sure looked tired, didn't she?" remarked Neil as they drove home, "How was she during the afternoon? Did she talk much?"

"A little less than usual, I think. It seemed to exhaust her. Neil, she's worrying about you. She thinks something is ..."

They were both silent. Joyce did not dare ask what it was that was troubling him because she felt so sure she knew.

Joyce lay awake a long time that night seeing the situation with an appalling clearness, from every point of view. "I was ready enough to condemn Frills for treating Neil the way she did. I was disgusted at her for having an affair with Maitland. And now, just because Robert Ainsworth seems to be worth a million Arthur Maitlands, it doesn't make any real difference. If I deceive Neil that way, I'm hurting him too, and I'm no better than Frills was. And ... and Oh, I feel like a miserable worm to be taking all this luxury and love without doing anything to deserve it, even using it to ... to hurt Neil so terribly. If only he didn't love me so much. And he was so happy for a while. It was almost pitiful how grateful he was for so little. "Oh, I can't bear to ... to think of it even." Joyce buried her face in the pillow and tried to stifle the sobs which shook her.

At breakfast the next morning Neil glanced at her and said, frowning anxiously, "Didn't you sleep, Frills? You look kind of pale and dragged out this morning dear."

Joyce's nerves were on edge after her stormy night and Neil's concerned tone struck her almost like a blow. To her horror she felt her eyes fill with a quick rush of tears. The worried look on his face deepened. "Why, sweetheart, what's the matter? Aren't you well? Does your head ache? Why didn't you stay in bed?"

But Joyce swallowed the lump in her throat and summoning all her self-control she answered quickly, "Oh, I'll be all right. I just didn't sleep very well."

"Well, you'd better take a nap today sometime. What are you doing, anything special?" he went on.

"No, I ... guess not. I'm going to run out to your mother's for a few minutes about noon and take her some magazines and books. I may ride this afternoon."

Belleville — A car driven by Dr. Carl J. Haig, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, formerly of Campbellford, collided head-on with an auto driven by Thomas Martin, 11 Belsize Drive, Toronto, with the result that Mrs. Edith Patterson of Kingston, and her son, James Patterson, aged 8, were killed instantly, while the drivers of the two cars and Jack Patterson, aged 15, were severely injured, and rushed to Belleville Hospital, shortly before 6 o'clock last Friday evening.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Life would be ideal were there no mosquitoes or flies to torment us, or weeds or grubs in the garden.

It doesn't take the average property-owner long to find out that one difference between death and taxes is that death doesn't get worse every time the County Council meets.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams celebrated their 47th wedding anniversary on Friday, June 16th. The dinner guests were, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jeffs, Mr. and Mrs. Totten Williams and Mrs. Frank Potts. Friends wish Mr. and Mrs. Williams many more happy years of life together.

W. M. S.

The regular meeting of Mount Pleasant W.M.S. for June was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Thrasher, on Thursday afternoon, with an attendance of eighteen. Mrs. Ross Hoard opened the meeting with prayer and all joined in "The Church's One Foundation". Mrs. Elwood Johnson read the 12th chapter of Romans. The minutes were read and the roll call was answered with Missionary information by nine members. The president asked all to be in prayer for Mrs. A. M. Phillips, of Toronto, who is ill. In July the Mission Band will be given the programme and be entertained by the W.M.S. New program committee appointed: Mrs. T. McKewen and Mrs. Roy Thrasher. The treasurer reported $7.10 for May. Miss Marguerite White sang a beautiful solo "The Church by the side of the Road." Mrs. Percy MacMillen and Mrs. John Holmes then gave their reports of the recent Branch Conference held in Trinity United Church, Cobourg, and were tendered a vote of thanks. Mrs. Frank Smith gave a splendid Devotional topic and began with one verse of "What a Friend we have in Jesus". She based her talk on the subject "Is it wrong for a Christian to worry?" She then quoted this poem:

Said the robin to the sparrow, I should really like to know, Why these anxious human beings Rush about and worry so?

Said the sparrow to the robin: Friend, I think that it must be That they have no Heavenly Father

Such as cares for you and me.

Four things are needed in our lives — prayer, supplication, thanksgiving and requests. Mrs. Smith gave several incidents of other lives and closed with a fine rendition of the Weaver's poem. Mrs. A. H. Bailey read a leaflet, "How to win new members." The offering amounted to two dollars and eighty-five cents. Closing hymn "All the way my Saviour leads me" and Mrs. Bailey closed with prayer.

A reader of this column sent us the following clippings last week as they felt others would like to read these opinions, and so we are passing them on for your perusal:

For the past few weeks some of the principal topics of conversation have been the attempts of the different nations of the world to come to an agreement so that peace can prevail and war be done away with forever. Everyone is talking about it and seem to be very much in favour of it. But when Toronto parades its militia the people leave churches to cheer for military splendor. How un-Christian it all is. How easy it is to make us all forget the ideals that the Prince of Peace taught us and that it should be the duty of every Christian church to promote. And then to top it all the soldiers marched to a service to ask the blessing of God in a Christian church. No wonder so many have left the church when the very instrument that should be attempting to set up peace is glorifying the instruments of war. Some people will never learn from past experience. Encourage things of this sort it is time for us to hang our heads in shame. True Christianity and militarism cannot go together although it has always been attempted.

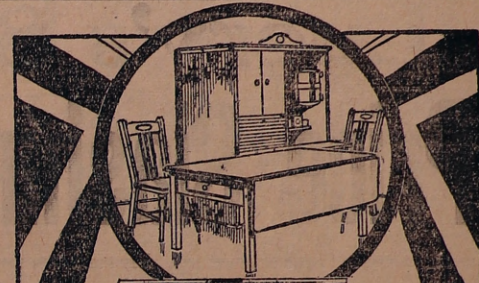

Parents should spend a few minutes looking at the photographs provided by the Tubercular Veterans' Association on Yonge St., Toronto.

These tell the truth about war — nothing glorious or splendid there. May we all realize our personal responsibility and live in a manner worthy of the name of Christian.

Glorifying War

"I love a parade". Yes, wasn't it fine to see all the gallant uniforms, the flash of gold and silver, the glint of medals; hear the martial tramp of feet, the blare of bands, the shriek of the pipes. Who wouldn't be that shining drum-major with his imposing head-dress and his twirling baton?

All this and more one could read in the ardent glances of the thousands of children who lined the route of the garrison parade last Sunday. Thus early does the war ballyhoo seize its influence to bear on tender minds. Suppose we could put at the head of every military procession the mangled ghosts of those who suffered violent death for the sake of the delusion of war — headless ghosts, sightless ghosts, limbless, writhing in the convulsions of gas poisoning, shaking, twitching and grimacing with their mentality blasted by shell shock, their rotted flesh dropping from their shattered bones, their once comely faces eaten by maggots — how many adults, let alone children, would remain to see the glamorous march of war's modern disciples? Take your children to 145 Yonge St., Toronto, where the Tubercular Veterans' section of the Canadian Legion is displaying actual uncensored war photographs showing war in its true colours. Explain to them how this poor dismembered wreck of a boy whose lifeless body swings on rusted barbed wire was once a glorious specimen of dawning manhood such as they saw in the procession. In humanity's name, surely we are past deluding the children by the gorgeous mockery of the garrison parade.

General News of Interest

Campbellford — Thirty-three cases of first grade eggs were stolen from the egg grading station of T. S. Baker here, some time Monday night. A rear window and an inside door were smashed by the thieves in gaining entrance to the storage room.

Belleville — Classes at Ontario School for the Deaf concluded this week and holidays began on Friday for the three hundred and fifty-eight children who are students there. The children will enjoy holidays until September 13th, when sessions at the school will be resumed for another term.

Cordova Mines — Fire which broke out in the roof of the farm home of Mr. Howard Hamilton, about two miles south east of here on the Marzora Road, destroying the two storey building last Friday afternoon about 4.30. Mr. Hamilton who is employed by Mr. Bruce Althart was away at work at the time and Mrs. Hamilton was engaged in weeding the garden.

Campbellford — A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday morning last week, at St. John's Church, Manse, Campbellford, when the Rev. H. P. L. Seymour united in marriage Arthur Edward Owens, son of Mrs. Owens and the late James Owens, and Vera Rebecca Godden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Godden, both of Campbellford. Mr. and Mrs. Owens will reside in Campbellford.

Madoc — At the instigation of the coroner's inquest inquiring into the death of Mrs. Margaret King, who was killed in a motor car collision on the Tweed-Queensboro road on the evening of May 27th last, a verdict of "death as the result of a motor car accident" was rendered. The inquest was held at Madoc last Friday, under Coroner Dr. Eagleson, and B. C. Donnan, K.C., for the Crown.

Cobourg — Major James Franklin Beatty Belford, of Codrington, former Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature, has been appointed sheriff of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. He succeeds Sheriff Nesbitt who resigned on account of poor health. Major Belford was born on the Belford homestead at Codrington 67 years ago. A graduate of Trinity College, Toronto, he entered the Anglican ministry, holding curacies in the province of Quebec and later going west to the Diocese of Rupert's Land where he was rector of several parishes. He was in the West for 12 years, during part of that time being professor of Moderns at Manitoba College.

Toronto — A. W. Gray, Brockville, was elected Grand Master of the Grand Council of Ontario, Independent Order of Oddfellows, on Friday. The Grand Council held its annual sessions here on Friday, attended by more than 500 representatives of subordinate lodges. The council adopted a recommendation of the committee on legislation to reduce the representatives of subordinate lodges to the Grand Lodge to one. Hitherto subordinate lodges with more than one hundred members have been entitled to two representatives. Other officers were elected as follows: Deputy Grand Master, W. A. Black, Renfrew; Grand Secretary, William Brooks, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, N. J. M. Ockhart, St. Catharines; Grand Warden, J. P. F. Williams, Toronto; Grand Representative, Rev. A. C. Cummer, London.

A barn valued at three thousand dollars was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday night, the property of Andrew Haig, Seymour Township; six pigs, five calves, harness and a quantity of hay and oats also falling a prey to the flames, which, despite the efforts of neighbor volunteers, had gained too much hold to be extinguished. Going to the back of the house to throw out water, Mrs. Haig saw the barn in flames, and immediately rushed across the fields to a neighbor's house to give the alarm. A quick response followed, which, however, proved useless to save the building, which was a large frame structure. It was razed to the ground. Mr. Haig was in Campbellford, visiting his brother, Charles when the fire was first noticed and hurried home to find he had sustained a heavy loss. The origin of the fire is undetermined, for it is thought that no one was at the building at the time. Insurance is carried.

SIDNEY CROSSING

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Grills on Wednesday of last week. A goodly number were present to enjoy a helpful program.

Mrs. G. Brickman called on Mrs. E. Elmy on Thursday afternoon. Master Norman Wheeler took dinner on Saturday with his sister, Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton.

Miss Margaret Purvis spent Thursday night with Miss Marie Stickle. Mrs. W. B. May and Loreen, of Belleville, spent the tea hour on Saturday with Mrs. E. Elmy and family.

Mrs. Lee Grills was a Friday afternoon caller at Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton's. The hay harvest in this locality is now in full swing. The curing has been slow as the recent weather has been most backward.

Master Garnet May, of Belleville is spending for a few days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle.

Mr. Wm. Phelps spent Sunday at Mr. Stanley Spafford's. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yatenam, of Thurlow spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Manchester Ketcheson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton and Barbara, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, were Sunday visitors at Mr. Harry Hess's, Trenton.

Miss Helen Ketcheson spent the ten hour evening last week with her little friend, Grace Jeffery.

$1000 be given to the County of Hastings by the department to be spent in repairing the above mentioned road, and that a copy of this resolution be given Mr. J. A. Moore, county delegate on the committee to interview the department of highways relative to No. 7 Highway for presentation on his visit to the Department of Highways. Carried.

Motions were adopted requesting that certain roads in the County be inspected by the chairman of roads and that a copy of this resolution be given Mr. J. A. Moore, county delegate on the committee to interview the department of highways relative to No. 7 Highway for presentation on his visit to the Department of Highways. Carried.

Salaries of County Clerk, Treasurer and Road Supt. Reduced 15 P.C.

At Friday afternoon's session of the County Council, the greater portion of the time was taken up in discussing what per cent of a cut should be made in the salaries paid Mr. S. Fox, road superintendent, Mr. J. W. Haggerty, County Treasurer, and Mr. W. H. Nugent, County Clerk. A few of the members were in favour of a 20 per cent cut and some 10 per cent. Finally it was decided by the greater number of the members to make the cut in each case 15 per cent, and by-laws to that effect were passed.

It was upon the by-law to fix the salary of the Road Superintendent that all the discussion took place. His present salary is $2,500.

Mr. S. C. Rollins — We have a superintendent second to none in Ontario. If you start cutting we may possibly lose money. Our superintendent is efficient in the discharge of his duties. It would be wrong in (the speaker's) opinion to cut the salary.

Mr. R. C. Brett, Reeve of Limerick — If Mr. Fox should resign we would have to appoint an engineer, which would mean considerable more expenditure. Mr. Fox is an efficient official.

Mr. E. Denyes, Deputy Reeve of Thurlow — Miles of road have been taken off the County Road system, which means less work for the superintendent. He was in accord with the cut. The road superintendent's salary in Northumberland and Durham had been reduced to $1,500.

Mr. Larkins, Reeve of Tyendinaga — We have cut the labouring man, why should not officials have a cut? Mr. J. A. Gunter, Reeve of Bancroft — Mr. Fox is an official who is fair and is willing to take a cut in his salary. Mr. Fox's heart is in the work of the County. It would be economy to keep his salary intact.

Mr. J. A. Moore, Reeve of Elzevir and Grimsby, said the road superintendent in Northumberland and Durham had a salary of $1,500 and has a stenographer who is paid $800. There is also more mileage in Hastings County than in Northumberland and Durham, which should be taken into consideration.

Mr. P. Carr, Deputy Reeve of Rawdon — Cutting wages is going on all along the line and it was only fair that Mr. Fox should take a cut as the labouring man has had a cut.

Mr. W. H. Sayers, Reeve of Tweed — It is not a cut but a readjustment of salaries, was the contention of the speaker. We have to economize. The Council should, in his opinion, also take a cut.

Mr. C. S. Rollins — The County Council should take a cut. He was willing to take a 20 per cent. cut. Mr. Fox spends much time in the interest of the county. He thought the Council was going too far in making a 20 per cent. cut. If you want a cut use the big knife and cut all.

Mr. Brett moved an amendment, seconded by Mr. Ford, that the cut be 10 per cent.

Mr. E. E. Metcalfe, Reeve of Deseronto — Mr. Fox had previously taken a cut. Probably the labouring men should get more than they are getting. Our road superintendent has been giving us good service and his salary is below that paid by some other counties.

Mr. Carr — Some of the ratepayers have been unable to pay their taxes. Home is the biggest institution of this country and some are being driven from their homes. His attitude was that if we cut the labouring man others receiving good salaries should take a cut. He believed Mr. Fox would take a 20 per cent. cut.

Mr. L. R. Churchill, Reeve of Dunnville — We should have a spirit of optimism. In the northern country our ratepayers are doing well. He was not in favour of such a cut. We have efficient officials in Hastings County, giving their services in a most unselfish manner. He would favour a 10 per cent. cut.

Mr. E. Denyes — Talking will not place bread and butter on the table. He only wished the depression was over. He was not a pessimist nor did he desire to be one.

Mr. J. Bronson, Reeve of Mayo — Go where you like to any county and we can see conditions that are not as they should be. There was in his opinion post officials and other officials that could be dispensed with. The poor working man should be considered in this matter.

Mr. Jordan, Reeve of Hungerford — There is no hard times in Hungerford. In speaking of the cut Mr. Jordan said men in that township had suffered a cut. All officials should be cut alike.

Mr. W. Gray, Reeve of Thurlow, spoke in support of Mr. Fox's worth to the county. If all salaries would be cut 15 per cent. he would support such a move.

Mr. Rollins — Be fair in this matter, and a reduction of $250 on salary paid Mr. Fox he considered, was sufficient. At one time we had a superintendent and an assistant. Mr. Fox is virtually doing two men's work. It would be too bad to make a 20 per cent. cut. Mr. Gray should be content with a 10 per cent. cut.

Mr. Carr — Mr. Fox has an able assistant in Mr. Moore, chairman of roads and bridges.

Mr. Penneck, Reeve of Carlow, was in favour of a 10 per cent. cut. We do not desire to lose an efficient official.

Warden Whytock — He was in favour of a 10 per cent. cut, when he was in the committee which considered this matter. Some members were in favour of a larger cut. This report was not unanimously carried.

Mr. D'Alton A. Clarke, Deputy Reeve of Hungerford, was willing to have the cut 20 per cent. but possibly all should not have such a cut.

Mr. Larkins: We have been using the big knife in Tyendinaga as the officials have had a considerable cut.

Mr. Metcalfe: Fifty per cent. of the superintendent's salary is paid by the provincial department of roads.

Mr. Sayers: Every day men come to him to get a job to get something to eat. All should take a cut at the present time. Should we cut the labouring men 20 per cent. and officials only 10 per cent. He thought that the 15 per cent. cut proposed by Mr. Gray would be about right.

Mr. Burke: We must take into consideration conditions today. Sidney township was behind in its tax collection. Mr. Fox was agreeable to a cut. We have very efficient officials but the ratepayers should be taken into consideration.

Mr. Rollins: Are we going to cut down our stipend? No answer was recorded to this question.

An amendment to the amendment was made that a 15 per cent. cut be made and upon a vote being taken the amendment was carried, 21 voting for it and 7 against it. Those voting against it were in favour of a 20 per cent. cut.

A by-law to fix the salary of the county treasurer was introduced.

A motion to cut the salary of $600 15 per cent. prevailed all members being in voting for it without any discussion.

A reduction of 15 per cent. was made on the clerk's salary of $1800, 18 voting for the reduction.

The by-laws were passed through their various stages and numbered.

Mr. W. H. Sayers, Reeve of Tweed: Why could not the councillors take a cut. He thought the business of the county could be finished in three instead of four days.

Mr. C. E. Metcalfe moved, seconded by Mr. S. C. Rollins, that the pay of the councillors be reduced 15 per cent. This motion will in all probability be considered at the December session of the council.

Upon the resumption of the council on Friday afternoon the council went into committee of the whole on by-laws, Mr. W. West, Reeve of Stirling, in the chair.

A by-law was passed authorizing the levying of a certain amount of money to meet current expenditure before taxes were collected.

A by-law to levy rates on the various municipalities of the county was passed. The amount to be levied to be $183,548.

A by-law to levy rates for roads and bridges in the various municipalities amounting to $73,412.20 was endorsed. Rate on county roads, 2 mills, and 2 mills on provincial highways.

A by-law to equalize the assessment of various municipalities was read. The assessment totals $18,354,800.

Mr. George Jordan, Reeve of Hungerford township, thought that there should be a reduction in the township as it was assessed too high. He moved that the assessment of Hungerford township be reduced $100,000.

Mr. S. C. Rollins, Reeve of Wollaston, stated that the motion of Mr. Jordan opens up a rather serious matter. The committee had carefully considered the equalization.

Mr. West, Reeve of Stirling Village: The rate cannot be lowered if the assessment is lowered.

As there was no second to Mr. Jordan's motion it was not recorded.

A by-law was passed giving the three police magistrates of the county $175 each in lieu of offices and stationary.

Moved by Mr. Burke, seconded by Mr. Larkin that the land tax be commuted and proceeds of same be diverted to the county instead of to the county treasurer as at present. Referred to ways and means committee.

Moved by Mr. W. West, seconded by Mr. J. A. Gunter, that this county council ask for a decrease of all high, continuation and public school teachers' salaries be reduced 15 per cent. from 1932 salaries. Same to take effect September 1st, 1933, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to all school boards within the county of Hastings. Carried.

Upon a vote being taken it was decided to have a tax sale this year. The ways and means committee resumed. Mr. Rollins in the chair.

A number of accounts were passed and business of the June session was completed.

No Action Upon Huntingdon Road

No action was taken by the County Council in the petition presented from the 195 ratepayers of Huntingdon Township for the construction of the unfinished section of the Madoc road which runs through a portion of that Township. The petition also requested that at least the road be oiled as the dust was designated as a nuisance.

Mr. Wm. Morton, Reeve of Huntingdon, introduced a resolution that the prayer of the petition be granted. This was presented in the Ways and Means Committee. After a brief discussion Mr. A. L. Burke, Reeve of Sidney Township, asked for a brief discussion. Mr. Morton withdrew his motion, which ended the matter.

curve near Madoc Junction on Tuesday morning. One of the cars was piloted by Harold Froates, Bridge and Building foreman, and who was alone on the jigger and the other car was in charge of Harry Clark, foreman for Madoc Junction section. Mr. Carl Reid was with the latter. Each jigger pilot thought the other would stop before colliding. However, when that was seen impossible, the riders jumped to safety. Reid, however, was too slow, and his left leg was caught between the vehicles and badly crushed. Dr. H. H. Alger was summoned to the scene, and upon examination discovered compound fractures in both bones, near the foot. The ambulance was summoned from Belleville and the injured man was taken to the hospital in that city, where an X-ray was taken. It was first thought the foot would have to be amputated, but hopes are held that it may now be saved. The jiggers were badly damaged.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society met at Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh's home on Tuesday afternoon. Meeting opened with hymn 'Jesus calls us o'er the Tumult' and Mrs. J. Reid led in prayer. Mrs. H. Foster read the scripture lesson from I. Thessalonians, third chapter. Minutes of last meeting were read and plans for next meeting made, and the various officers gave their reports. Roll call was answered with the keyword 'Peace'. 'Peace, perfect peace in this dark world of sin' was sung as a second hymn. Mrs. Rollins took the first part of the topic from the study book 'The Seven Seas of Service', dealing with the chapter on the Chinese work in Canada. She mentioned the great Christian work that is carried on by the Chinese in Knox Presbyterian Church in Toronto, and also in British Columbia. When they learn of Christ and his work, many of the Chinese go back to their own country as missionaries. Mrs. R. H. Williams played a piano solo. Mrs. Hammond gave a reading 'Plant Gratitude'. Mrs. Roy Eggleston sang as a solo 'When the World Forgets'. Mrs. Farrey dealt with the second part of the topic, the Chinese and their work among the Chinese. Each missionary teaches one person the language and they do not forget what they have done for them and the Chinese show their appreciation often by gifts. The meeting closed with hymn 351 and the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. McIntosh served a lunch at the close and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Thomashburg — Mr. Elisha Maynes, a prominent lifelong resident of this community, passed peacefully away on Monday morning at his late residence following a short illness.

He was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Maynes, born in Huntingdon Township 77 years ago. Mr. Maynes was one of the most enterprising farmers in this district, being greatly interested in the raising of Durham cattle. He was President of Tweed Fair Board and a former President of the Moira Valley Cheese Factory, and a former councillor of Huntingdon. In politics he was a staunch Conservative, a member of Thomasburg Orange Lodge and in later life a member of Knox Presbyterian Church, at Fuller. In April 1878 Mr. Maynes married Miss Sarah Clark, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isalah Clark. On April 9th, 1929, Mr. and Mrs. Maynes celebrated their fifty-first wedding anniversary. Mrs. Maynes predeceased him in November, 1929, also one daughter, Margaret, wife of the late Robert Howe, passed away a number of years ago. Left to mourn his death are two sons, Frederick and Clark, at home, and two grandchildren, Miss Helen Howe, of Napanee, and Mr. Murney Howe, also one sister, Mrs. Jane Reeves, of Belleville. Mr. Maynes will be sorely missed by all who knew him for his kind and helpful disposition. The funeral service was held yesterday with interment at Thomasburg cemetery.

Miss Myrtle Reid spent Sunday at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Blackburn, Mrs. H. McKinnon and Campbell and Miss Mary Campbell, of Orillia were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood.

Mrs. Martin Mitts, one of the oldest residents of this section, passed away at her home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Chambers, of Foxboro, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wallace on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ashley spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. Wood.

West Hastings W.I. Holds Convention

The West Hastings District Annual was held at Rosebush's Pavilion, June 18th, under the auspices of the River Valley Branch and was a decided success. Over 100 attended.

The meeting was opened with the newly-elected president in the chair. It opened by singing "O Canada", followed by the Lord's prayer.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. In the President's address he referred to our past President's, Mrs. Shaw's services during her six months' Presidency on her second year. The result was a motion that the Secretary send her a letter of appreciation.

The minutes of the District Executive meetings were given by the District Secretary; also the financial report of the district, showing a balance of $23.55. Total expenses for the year 1932-3 were $145.19. Total receipts, $170.04. Total expenses for the branches and district combined, $113.57. Total receipts for the branches and district combined, $138.33. Balance on hand $402.66. The financial reports of the branches were given showing a nice balance in each branch to start the new year's work with. The work among these branches for the year were very encouraging.

The following resolution was passed: "That on and after May 1st, 1934 the optional Federation fee of fifteen cents per member be abolished, and that in place of this there be a definite re-apportionment of the annual membership fee of twenty-five cents as follows: ten cents to be forwarded to the District Secretary to be sent on by her to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Federation Board."

The reports of the following headings were given by the different chair ladies:

Health — Mrs. C. Ketcheson, Trenton.
Agriculture and Immigration — Mrs. E. Morrow, Stirling.
Canadian Industries — Mrs. B. Finkle, Holloway.
Relief — Mrs. C. Holmes, Belleville.

Education — Mrs. Sager, Stirling.
Historical Research — Mrs. Bert Bush, Frankford.
Home Economics — Mrs. Percy Westover, Frankford.

A demonstration was given by Mrs. P. Westover. A very humorous reading was given by Mrs. B. Bonisteel, Trenton. A very interesting description was given by Miss Luella Holmes of her two week's course at Guelph, Miss Holmes having won the scholarship given by the District to the High girl in the judging contest. Very Rev. Mr. Rowland, on behalf of the River Valley Branch gave a very hearty welcome to the visiting branches, speakers and friends. Mrs. Holmes, in replying to this address, thanked Mr. Rowland for the very hearty welcome.

Mrs. Reid gave two very excellent solos, accompanied by Mr. Chas. Allen. These were delightfully enjoyed. Mrs. Mitts gave a very nice piano solo, which was greatly appreciated. A piano solo was given by Mrs. A. Wood. Mrs. (Rev.) Rowland and Mrs. Arthur Pyper, Mrs. Haggerty of Cherry Valley, the Prov. Fed. Rep. of the Belleville area, gave her report on Fed. She explained the ways and means of Federation and the meetings of the Ontario Board, held in Toronto. She also gave the financial report of the year ending 1932-3. A piano solo was well given by Mr. C. Allen. Mrs. Dadds and Mrs. Fox very ably conducted the meeting for a short while and the following officers were elected, nearly all by acclamation:

President — Miss Edna Ketcheson, Belleville.
1st Vice-Pres. — Mrs. C. Holmes, Belleville.

2nd Vice-Pres. — Mrs. C. Ketcheson, Trenton.
3rd Vice-Pres. — Mrs. R. Melkielehn, Stirling.
Sec. Treas. — Mary E. Vandervoort, Stirling.

Fed. Representative — Mrs. C. Holmes, Belleville.
Auditors — Mrs. C. Chard and Mrs. N. Rosebush.

Chairladies of Standing Committees — Legislation, Mrs. Bert Bush, Frankford; Immigration and Agriculture, Mrs. C. Ketcheson, Trenton; Canadian Industries, Mrs. G. Pollard, Belleville; Health, Mrs. R. Melkielehn, Stirling; Historical Research, Mrs. E. Morrow, Stirling; Community Activities, Mrs. Mitts, Holloway; Relief, Margaret Ketcheson, Belleville; Education, Mrs. Sager, Stirling.

The following ladies from other branches and districts gave short addresses: Mrs. Dadds, District President, Cherry Valley, Prince Edward; Mrs. Fox, ex-Dist. Pres., Rednersville; Mrs. Weese, Sec. Belleville Convention Area, Rednersville; Mrs. J. Bailey, Dis. Pres. North Hastings, etc.

Miss Towrie, the guest speaker, gave a good address on "Woman, the World's Wonder". Everyone could take home a wonderful message from her interesting and helpful talk.

A demonstration on making wool bats for comforters was given by Mrs. G. Nicolson and Mrs. C. Ketcheson, of the Wallbridge. A vote of thanks was given to all speakers, officers and others who helped to make this one of the best conventions. The next annual convention will be held at White's Church, under the auspices of the Bay of Quinte Branch. Proceeds of the dinner served by the River Valley Ladies amounted to nearly $17.00. Meeting closed with the National Anthem.

so much taller than Joyce that his chin rested on the top of her curly yellow head. She leaned back against him, suddenly aware of the fact that she was almost limp with fatigue after the emotional storm which she had passed through, and smiled into the mirror. At that he whirled her around and crushing her to him again buried his face in her neck. "Oh ... dearest ... most beautiful ..."

She put her arms around his shoulders and whispered shyly, "Oh, am I all that ... to you?"

"And so much more that I can't put it into words!" he murmured, kissing the tip of her ear....

After a while Joyce was able to put on her hat, and then, with his arm around her, they set out to walk to the car through the woods.

After she was in the car, with Dickie on the seat beside her, Ainsworth leaned against it with his arms still around her and gave her a final kiss. "Can't I do the calling next time? We've got some serious talking to do about this situation of ours. Tell me where this mysterious aunt of yours lives!"

"Joyce dropped her eyes suddenly. "Oh—please let's leave things as they are!"

All at once she realized the ambiguity of her position. "I'll come again in a day or two."

She was thankful for the unconventional slant that made him answer cheerfully, "Oh, all right. I have to go up to the city for a day or two. I think it's next Tuesday."

"Oh, no, don't ... don't stay away long," begged Joyce.

"But you'll come before I go? Good Lord, it's four whole days till then!"

Even though she knew it was late, Joyce drove home slowly.

It was maddening to have to go out to dinner at the Carters'. It was to be a more or less formal affair followed by a "theatre party".

Both Mr. and Mrs. Carter were devoted to Nell, but their aversion to Frills was only thin veiled.

EXAMINATIONS ARE LATER THIS YEAR

Ontario departmental examinations I've begun will begin six days later than usual, according to announcement made by the Ontario Department of Education.

This is in response to the desire of school boards not to shorten the school term more than necessary.

Many Attend Exhibit at P. S.

An outstanding, as well as enjoyable event was held at the Public School on Friday night, when the annual exhibit of the manual training, household science and art work by the pupils was held. A new feature was the choruses by the different classes, under the leadership of Miss Jean Moffatt. The teaching of singing was inaugurated a little over three years ago and has proven an important subject on the school's curriculum.

The rooms were well filled with exhibits. In room four the work of the Jr. and Sr. IV. also room three boys in Manual Training, taught by Prin. Snowdon, were displayed. In room three work by the girls of the Jr. and Sr. IV. and third room, in Household Science, taught by Miss L. Johnston, were shown. In room 2, lower floor, the bench and tool equipment was on display. In room 1 was the display of Canadian and Old Masterpieces of Art. In all rooms the walls were decorated with Art Work in watercolours and pencil. This work is taught throughout the school by Miss Moffatt.

At 7.30 the doors were opened and a large number of citizens were present who inspected the exhibits, which showed considerable ability on the part of the classes. At 8.30 the pupils were lined up in the halls and marched outside, where a program of songs by each room was enjoyed by a large crowd. Miss Moffatt teaches singing throughout the school. Prin. S. L. Snowdon and Chairman J. B. Belshaw of the Board of Education welcomed the audience and voiced appreciation of attendance and interest shown. Dr. C. F. Walt addressed the gathering and spoke highly of the new activities of the school. The following program was given:

Chairman's Remarks. Welcome to visitors by Principal Snowdon and Chairman J. B. Belshaw.

Chorus by the Junior Room: "Hop, Hop, Hop!"; "The Rain Song" and "Busy Bees".

Solo — Barbara Bolte.
Chorus by Room 2 — "Nursery Rhyme"; "The Schoolroom is a Happy Place"; "Merrily on the Snow"; "Echo"; "The Clacker"; "A Round".

Address — Dr. C. F. Walt.
Chorus by Room 4 — "The Minstrel Boy"; "Try, Try Again" and "Day is Closing".

Duet — Helen Jeffrey and Maurieta McKee.
Chorus by Room 2 — "Men of the North"; "Come, let us Learn to Sing"; "The Birds' Ball"; Two-part, "Merrily the Cuckoo".

WIN AT DESERONTO

Two rinks of local bowlers took part in the men's tournament held in Deseronto yesterday, with eighteen rinks in the contest. The rinks were as follows: Fred Mallory, Dr. E. A. Carleton, R. T. Dunlop and T. Solmes skip; J. S. Morton, J. E. O'Donnell, C. R. Bastedo, W. J. Whitty, skip. The Solmes' rink did not enter the prize column, but Whitty's quartette were successful in capturing third prize, beautiful silver trays.

A CLEVER STUDENT

We noticed in the first year Arts results for Toronto University that Miss Thelma Green, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Darius Green, of Bayside, formerly of Stirling, has been successful in passing every subject with high marks in her honour course in Science. The News-Argus joins Miss Green's many friends of this district in extending congratulations for her splendid showing. She is an ex-student of Stirling High School.

IS NOW NURSE

Miss Grace Vanderwater was among the successful nurses who recently graduated from the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. Miss Vanderwater, who is the daughter of Mrs. Lottie Vanderwater, of Toronto, formerly of Stirling, is well known in this district. She formerly taught school in Rawdon township and was a member of the local public school prior to entering the hospital as a nurse-in-training. Her many friends of the community will be pleased to learn that she is now an "R.N."

MEETING TONIGHT

A meeting of the Stirling Agricultural Society will be held in the Agricultural office tonight, at 8 p.m. A good attendance is hoped for as plans will be outlined for this year's fair.

IS 79 YEARS OLD

The News-Argus extends congratulations to Mr. Jonathan S. Chard, Front St. West, who celebrated his 79th birthday on Friday. Mr. Chard is one of this district's pioneers, and although nearly to the four score mark, he is enjoying good health. May he enjoy many more celebrations of his natal day.

HOLIDAY MONDAY

Elsewhere in this issue appears a proclamation from Reeve W. C. West, requesting observance of Dominion Day on Monday, July 3 instead of Saturday, July 1. The observance of the holiday on Monday is in line with the decision of other municipalities to observe the holiday on the same date. All business places will be closed, with the exception of the banks, which will observe Saturday.

A MEAN MOTORIST

There is someone driving a touring car that is a mean contemptible "cur". On Tuesday night the Irish terrier dog belonging to Mr. Ned Potts was killed by the driver of such a car, who drove away after accomplishing the murderous deed. The little canine was walking on the sidewalk and the car deliberately left the roadway, raced over to the sidewalk and hit the animal, knocking it on to J. B. Belshaw's lawn. The guilty party is in the same category as the dog poisoner. The owner is offering a liberal reward for any information that will unearth the culprit.

A HEN SHOWER

A unique event, sponsored by Mrs. George Richards, was held at the home of her nephew, Mr. James Todd, Colborne, last week. Mr. Todd, who is a poultry fancier, has just moved to the latter village from Toronto. The occasion took the form of a hen shower, which is something new for this district. Cousins and other relatives were invited and requested to bring a hen or its equivalent in cash. Over twenty of the fowl were presented. The amusing part of the event was that during the social part of the afternoon the hens, not to be outdone, laid a sufficient number of eggs for the evening meal.

LISTS CORRECTED

We are pleased to announce that many of our subscribers took advantage of the Special Three Months' Subscription offer which ended on Saturday. The mailing lists have been corrected and we request that all subscribers look at the labels on their papers NOW and make sure they have been given proper credit. If an error has occurred immediately inform this office — do not wait until a month or a year to do so. All subscribers who had paid their subscription in advance of August 1st, 1933, prior to the "Gift Offer" have had their subscription extended. Remember, unless otherwise designated, all subscriptions expire on the FIRST of the month, and the figures on the label mean the year, NOT the day of the month.

MASONS INSTAL OFFICERS

At a regular meeting of Stirling Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 69 G.R.C. held in the Masonic lodge room on Monday evening the newly-elected and appointed officers for 1933-34 were installed. The installation was under the supervision of Wor. Bro. G. B. Bedford, assisted by Wor. Bros. T. W. Solmes, F. R. Mallory and E. A. Carleton. The officers are as follows:

BORN

BEDELL — On Saturday, June 24th, to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bedell, a son. WALT — On Saturday, June 24th, at St. Joseph's Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walt (nee Dawn Gillespie), 461 Dovercourt Road, Toronto, a son (William Charles).

Mrs. Sam Nicolson, of Frankford, mother of Mr. Ezra Nicolson, is seriously ill with pneumonia.

The southbound train which left Anson Station every Monday at 4.45 p.m. now leaves at 5.05. The new change went into effect on Monday.

PROCLAMATION! PUBLIC HOLIDAY

Owing the fact that July 1st, observed as a Public Holiday throughout the Dominion, falls on Saturday, and the Merchants of Stirling have decided to close their places of business on Monday, July 3rd, I would respectfully request that all citizens of the Village observe Monday, July 3rd, as a Public Holiday, instead of Saturday, July 1st.

WM. C. WEST, Reeve

P. O. OPEN SATURDAY

The local Post Office will observe Monday, July 3rd as a holiday. The office will be open on Saturday, and the rural routes will be served as usual, but on Monday there will be no rural delivery, and the general window will be open from 8 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. only.

LIGHTNING KILLS COWS

Although Stirling and district suffered no great damage from the electrical storm that passed over north of here yesterday afternoon, Madoc district again suffered damage. At Hazard's Corners, north of Madoc, a herd of cattle, sixteen in all, belonging to Mr. Foster Keene, were all killed by one bolt of lightning. Unfortunately no insurance was carried on the animals. Some years ago, Mr. Alex McCrory, who owned a farm about three miles north of the Keene farm had twenty-four cattle killed at one time by lightning.

DANCE A SUCCESS

Geo. Wade and his Cornhuskers, of Toronto, proved a great drawing-card at the dance held at the Exhibit Hall, fair grounds, on Tuesday night. Over 1500 men, women and children were present. The night was ideal, even though somewhat warm. The committees in charge are to be commended for their efforts in making the event such an outstanding success. The location proved to be ideal. It is expected that the net proceeds will amount to approximately $200, the Agricultural Society to receive sixty per cent and the Legion forty per cent. Both organizations greatly appreciate the splendid support given by the residents of the village and district.

HOT WEATHER!

Hot weather is the order of the day. Yesterday was the hottest day in the year when the thermometer touched 94 in the shade. Rain is badly needed and it was thought the blessing would be realized yesterday afternoon. About three o'clock heralded by gusty wind that sent paper and other debris sky-rocketing above the buildings in the business section, a heavy storm swept north of the village. The sky was black with storm clouds and had all the appearance of those typhoons that sweep the middle west. However, only a drop or two of rain fell. Two trees were blown down on Mr. C. N. Baker's lawn by the wind. No further damage has been reported. The air was cooled for a while. Today however, Old Sol is still shining forth with his strong rays and as we go to press the heat is as terrific as yesterday. Unless rain arrives soon crops are going to be burned up and the outlook for harvest time is somewhat discouraging.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education met on Monday evening with the following members present: Chairman J. B. Belshaw, J. S. Morton, F. T. Ward, H. F. Martin, Dr. H. H. Alger, W. Wright, E. Luery, E. G. Bailey, Ewart Bailey, C. F. Linn and Dr. C. F. Walt. Not much business came before the Board for discussion. Representatives of a paint and varnish firm interviewed the Board regarding a preparation for use in the boilers, and also roofing material. The matter was left in the hands of the Property Committee. The donating of prizes for the public school exhibit at the Championship School Fair to be held in September was thoroughly discussed. It was the opinion of some of the members that small prizes might be an incentive to those taking the courses at the public school, and help to make the work even more interesting. However, it was the opinion of the Board that considering the times, no prizes should be awarded this year. The fact that pupils may keep for themselves the articles they make during the year should be ample compensation for their work, as the better the article produced, the more value it would be to them when they were allowed to take it home. The Stirling Tennis Club were granted permission by the Board to erect a small building on the east side of the tennis courts. The report of the School attendance officer was received and filed, and after the passing of the accounts the meeting adjourned.

CURRENT COMMENT

Stirling ratepayers are reminded that the first installment of taxes falls due on Saturday, July 1st.

Stirling stores will remain open all day Dominion Day,
Saturday, July 1st, but will be closed on Monday, July 3rd.

Ontario is experiencing an unusual number of windstorms this summer — and it might be noted in passing that the province is also suffering from "a little storm" of political wind.

Some reductions in the salaries of rural teachers seem to be out of all proportion to the urban teachers, and the Government would do well to fix a minimum salary.
To cut a teacher's salary from $1,000 to $500 is a little too extreme.

It begins to look as if the visits paid to Washington by representatives of other nations a few weeks ago were a waste of time. Proceedings at the London conference have yet failed to disclose any sign of agreement. O, well, it is a holiday for statesmen from the different countries.

Wheat futures at Winnipeg have passed the 84 cent mark, and it is likely that it will go still higher. The dollar mark was reached on the Chicago market on Tuesday.
With wheat jumping in price the Federal government is more than ever likely to make a handsome profit on its wheat transactions.

Barrie Examiner: "Residents should be very careful about their dealings with transients who beg on the street and from door to door. The police recently began fingerprinting all transients caught begging at Guelph. The prints of sixteen were sent to Ottawa and word was received that every one of the sixteen had a criminal record.
One man had sixteen convictions."

Again the Minister of Highways, The Hon. Leopold Macauley, through the Motor Vehicles Branch, is inaugurating an aggressive, widespread publicity campaign in an effort to stem the tide of disaster on the streets and highways of the Province. Despite an educational program which the Highways Department have carried out over a period of years, deaths and injuries caused by motor vehicle traffic are alarmingly, unnecessarily high. The Highway Department this year is utilizing daily and weekly newspapers, the trade press, school teachers, the radio — every available means — to improve conditions.

Historical Sketch Stirling Horti- cultural Society

The following is a brief history of Stirling Horticultural Society, compiled by J. S. Carstairs, of 60 Hewitt Ave., Toronto, and forwarded to Mr.
J. B. Belshaw, president of the Society:

Apparently the Society was organized in the fall of 1897. Among some newspaper clippings relating to the last months of 1898, I find an undated one stating that "the annual report showed that the first year of the Society had been most successful". They began the new year with a balance of $26.00 on hand. Mrs. Jas. Boldrick received a hearty vote of thanks for her untiring and successful efforts, as president, in behalf of the Society during the past year. I recall that I had served as first Vice-President.
For the following year the officers were:

President, Mrs. James Boldrick;
1st vice-Pres., J. G. Carstairs; 2nd vice-Pres., Mrs. Zwick; Directors —
Mrs. Geo. H. Brown, Mrs. Morden
Bird, Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. George Lagrow, L. Melkjohn, J. Earl Halliwell, T. H. McKee, Geo. E. Scott, R. B.
Jones, Auditors — George Smith and G. E. Kennedy. At a subsequent meeting of the Society, Mr. D. Sager was elected Secretary and Mrs. E. F. Parker, Treasurer. Mr. James Currie, of The News-Argus received a vote of thanks as the retiring secretary. This will suggest the personnel of the first year's office-bearers. Of them, Mrs. Boldrick, as you know, is living here in Toronto; Mrs. Geo. H. Brown has for a number of years lived in Newmarket. As chairman of the membership Committee, under date of Dec. 6, 1898, I appealed to the village in a letter in The News-Argus. My letter is rather informing — unfortunately I cannot take time to copy it in full. I felt that the Society could easily find its own distinct and special lines of usefulness. We were justly proud of our well-kept homes, our trim hedges, our magnificent old trees and our wide stretches of lawn.

But our back streets were not always free from weeds, our public buildings did not show the same trimness and neatness as our homes. What could the Horticultural Society do? It could create the spirit and help supply the funds to make even the desert spots in our pretty town blossom as the rose. The Society has a membership of fifty-three, each paying a dollar a year. What does it give to each of its subscribers?

1. A year's subscription to The Horticulturalist.
2. A premium from its publishers every year — a well grown tree, plant, shrub or vine (costing fifty or sixty cents).
3. A cloth-bound copy of the proceedings and papers of the (publishers) Ontario Fruit Growers' Association — the very latest and methods of Floriculture and Horticulture.
4. The annual visit of a free lecturer and instructor.
5. A liberal annual grant to the local Society from the Ontario Government (for the current year, $75.).

Nor did this exhaust the benefits accruing to members, it was only one side of them. Here is the local Society's record for the current year:

The Society expended twenty dollars in premiums for its members; owing to the rates secured we had the purchasing power of thirty dollars.
2. Members that wished to fill a private order for garden supplies got the same rate of discount.
3. In the fall a second premium was authorized — of 800 bulbs; representing to each member a value of about fifty-five cents.
4. Grants: $5.00 for ornamental shrubs in the parks; $1.50 in seeds and vines for the schools; and for the expenses and prizes and management of the Floral Exhibit at the North Hastings Fair.

It was the miracle of making two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before. The Society was a centre not only for the growth of flowers, trees and shrubs, but for a healthy public spirit to assist all public kindred enterprises.

It was from the Society as a centre that inspiration came to purchase the Park site, to take public care of it by periodical "bees" of workers, Of-

The Late Examinations

The News-Argus bespeaks the thoughtful co-operation of every motorist and every pedestrian in the interest of safety.

A great "hullabaloo" has been and is being made about the fact that departmental examinations will this year be held in July, and we hear that failures will be numerous on account of the heat when the exams will be on and that parents are being worn to a frazzle coaching their children for the exams, and that they will not be able to keep it up till July. This to us seems too silly for comment.

When some of us went to school, there was nothing else dreamed of but that the exams would be in July. The teaching term continued till June 30th, so, of necessity, the exams could not start until after that. And some of us had to do considerable concentrating of the mind on the Twelfth of July when drums were rolling outside to keep our minds on the questions we were trying to answer inside the examination room. But somehow we never dreamed those days of making a hullabaloo about our hardships. We were supposed to know a thing on a hot day just as well as on a cool day and if we could not remember the answers on the Twelfth of July just as well as on any other day it was considered evidence that we did not know them. Things have changed now. Certain newspapers have adopted the plan of holding interviews with themselves and manufacturing yarns which are supposed to tell against the powers that be, and if you don't know your lessons the custom is to blame the Government. We feel that the "terribleness" of the late exams is entirely imaginary — and we hope the students will not take advantage of the sympathy.

Canadian Titles

Many newspapers in Canada have taken up the subject of titles for Canadians, either for or against. There is much to be said for both sides, but we believe that this privilege of His Majesty's should be allowed to continue and Canadians meriting recognition by the bestowal of a title should receive this honour. There is a certain dignity added to a person before whose name a rank such as Sir or Lord is affixed, just the same as Dr. or Rev. gives distinction to a vocation. The trouble has been apparently that politics has entered too much into the bestowal of titles and many who have no right to them have received them, thus cheapening the honour. If Canadian leaders were statesmen enough to leave politics out of the matter and recommend titles only where the recipients are worthy of them, then there is no reason why titles should not be granted to Canadians as they are to English, Scotch, Irish, African, Australian and New Zealanders. Of course many are opposed purely for political reasons and yet we note that many of these carry titles. We wonder how any privy councillor who has Right Honourable before his name would like to give it up, or if any army officer would like to drop his rank, or a minister or doctor his title. One of the most ardent opponents of titles seems to be Capt. Elmore Philpott, the C.C.F. leader, and this seems amazing as he himself carries with him all the time a title earned in the Army. Capt. Philpott is one man who has earned and is entitled to his title and if all had earned them as he has done there would be no opposition to the bestowal of titles. Just as soon as political patronage is left out of the matter the opposition to titles will drop and His Majesty will once again be able to exercise the prerogative that is his.

ten Mr. Sager and I turned our youngsters loose on the Park and cleaned up the grounds and pulled the weeds.
The most magnificent elm I have seen in the country is in the heart of Stirling — the tree beneath which my wife was born. From the Society came the suggestion that its roots must be protected from the waters of the creek. The Council joined us in a grant for crib-work. And if I remember correctly, the owner, T. H.
McKee, made out a title transferring the site free to the village. Since then the site has become historic. In far Nova Scotia I read that the Hon.
Arthur Meighen delivered from under its ambrageous branches his first speech as Premier of Canada, in 1920.

Another newspaper clipping. In 1899 I left Stirling to assume the duties of Second Classical Master in Harbord Collegiate Institute, Toronto.
The report of the Stirling Horticultural Society in its third annual meeting, Wednesday, January 10th, 1900, has been treasured because of a message of remembrance my friends recorded there.

They could report enough members to guarantee the government grant.
The show of plants and flowers at the fall fair had been a special matter of pride. They had begun the year with a nest-egg of $96.41; they closed it with a balance of $40.15.
The Government grant had been $55.00; the total expenditure $154.52.
The Horticulturalist had given an extra premium; the distribution of bulbs as premiums had almost tripled in value; the floral exhibit had been more comprehensive. The year's membership of 51 had been increased for the coming year by four. The lecture by Mr. Burrell in the spring had been well attended and successful in its results.

For 1900 the officers elected were:
President—Mrs. James Boldrick.
1st Vice-President—G. E. Kennedy.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Morden Bird.
Directors — T. H. McKee, Robt.
Jones, L. Melkjohn, Mrs. Cooney,
J. Earl Halliwell, Mrs. Bissonnette,
Mrs. Geo. Lagrow, Miss Young, Mrs.
John Shaw.
Auditors — G. L. Scott, G. E. Kenney.

Treasurer—Mrs. E. F. Parker.
Secretary—David Sager.
Unfortunately some other sources of information are not available tonight. They are at the Parliament Buildings and I am confined to the house through illness.

Marmora Man Dies from Burns Received in Car

Marmora — Dragged from the rear window of his blazing automobile, which he parked in a remote section of Spry's Settlement in Rawdon Township, Hugh Crawford of this village, was admitted to Belleville Hospital early on Sunday. He succumbed to shock and burns early yesterday afternoon. Believed to have resulted from a cigarette stub, after Mr. Crawford had fallen asleep in his parked car, the fire completely destroyed the automobile. The tragedy cast a gloom throughout Marmora and district, where Mr. Crawford was well known. He was senior partner in Crawford and Murray's service station and garage business.

Mrs. Elias Spry, who resides near Spry's Schoolhouse was awakened at about four o'clock Sunday morning by the barking of a dog, she related.
Detecting the smell of smoke, she awakened her husband thinking the garage was on fire. Mr. Spry rushed to the garage with two pails of water. He noticed a car parked on the 14th concession in front of his garage, which was by this time enveloped in flames. The feet of a man were sticking out of the rear left window of the car. Working frantically, Mr. Spry extricated the man from his perilous position, while Mrs. Spry informed the police. Neighbours of the Spry's had gathered meanwhile, and James Forrier drove into Bonarlaw, to notify Provincial Constable Percy Gray of the burning car. The constable recognized the car from the number of the license plate furnished by his informant. He routified Mrs. Hugh Crawford, the wife of the deceased, and also Dr. H.
Crawford. With County Constable H.
Gillen, Constable Gray proceeded to the scene of the burning car.

Mr. Crawford, still conscious, was suffering great pain. He was conveyed in Constable Gray's car to Belleville Hospital. After walking into the hospital unassisted, Mr. Crawford collapsed soon after admittance. From the first his life was despaired of.

It is understood that it had been the intention of Mr. Crawford to visit Peterborough on Sunday with his wife to witness the decoration day memorial ceremonies under the auspices of the I.O.O.F., but he left Marmora shortly before midnight and was not seen until four o'clock Sunday by Mr.
Spry in the burning car.

The late Mr. Crawford was born in Marmora forty-one years ago, and had resided in the community all his life. He was held in popular esteem.
He was a member of the Sacred Heart Church. Besides his widow, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. R.
O'Connor of Marmora and Mrs. J.
Eaton of Peterborough.

Jury's Finding
Belleville — A coroner's jury on Monday found Hugh Crawford, Marmora garageman, came to his death from burns suffered when his automobile caught fire from undetermined cause. Evidence at the inquest indicated the man had consumed considerable liquor before leaving Marmora Sunday morning.

An Early Morning Blaze

Wednesday morning about 1.30 while most people were sleeping, or trying to obtain that refreshing commodity, the piercing strains of a cornet rang out on the morning air, all awakened by it turned over and wondered who was making himself so disagreeable, all thinking, it was someone of the July 1st Merry-makers returning home from their revels. It must have been fully five minutes before the clanging of the fire bell joined in and the people realized that fire was again an unpleasant visitor to our fair village, there was also a delay in answering by the telephone office. If proved to be in the old Conley cooperage building, which lately had been used as a storehouse and a town polling booth. It was well burned down before the brigade and the small engine got there and pumping was not started nor the big engine taken out, and the large crowd watched it slowly burn out, while the Messrs Conley tried to save some of their tools and stuff in a damaged condition. At first it was so fierce that it gave Mr. Baragar, proprietor of the Kerby House, a bad fright for the safety of his large stable and horses.

Local and Personal

son of James Sharp. The ceremony was performed at 9.00 a.m. Only a of rice, confetti and good wishes of friends.

Static by the Editor

It is our modest guess that nobody, young or old, ever had lips of the cherry colour the present-day lip-sticks paint them.

Edith—"Do you love me, Richard dear?"

Richard—"Huh! Do you suppose I'd be laughing my head off every night at your father's stale jokes if I didn't love you?"

Jack—"How do I stand in your affections, Elizabeth?"

Elizabeth—"I'd have to refer to my card index, but I think you are pretty near the top."

He was wakened in the middle of the night by his nervous wife, who said: "I hear sounds as though someone is coming up the stairs."

What's the time?" he asked sleepily.

"Two o'clock," replied the wife.

"S'all right, he said, turning over; "It'll be me."

The two young married women were talking seriously over the affairs of married life.

First Newlywed—"I'm very much concerned lately about the way my husband is treating me. Gradually he has been getting lax in his attentions, stays down town for dinner quite frequently, leaving me home alone, and sometimes comes home late at night with very slim excuses. I don't like it at all."

Second Newlywed—"I went through that same experience, but I soon broke it up."

First Newlywed—"How?"

Second Newlywed—"Well, I waited until he came in very late one night, and as he came quietly up the stairs I called out: 'Is that you, Charlie?' And that broke him of staying out nights."

First Newlywed—"My Goodness! How did that break it up?"

Second Newlywed—"My husband's name is John."

She—"The man I marry must be as brave as a lion, but not forward; handsome as Apollo, but not conceited; wise as Solomon, but meek as a lamb; a man who is kind to every woman, but only loves me."

He (enthusiastically)—By Jove! How lucky we met."

Helen—"What do you do when a man tries to kiss you?"

Clarice—"Oh, that's something you will have to find out for yourself."

Catching Up

A number of policeman in Chicago are reported ill with measles. At last! A Chicago policeman has caught something!"

Doctor's Orders

"I told that man I was so dead broke that I had to sleep out-doors, but he wouldn't give me a nickel!"

"What's the matter—is he a Scotchman?"

"No; he said he was sleeping out-doors himself and had to pay the doctor for telling him to do it."

The difference between a cook and a chef is that the latter can fix things up so you can't tell what they are.

Eddie—Yep. Those were awful sharp teeth Sammy Jones used to have.

Forever and Ever

"I strongly object to the custom of christening ships with champagne," said a man who was a strong temperance advocate.

"I don't" replied the friend. "I think there's a temperance lesson in it."

"How can that be?"

Well, immediately after the first bottle of wine the ship takes to the water and sticks to it ever after!"

Reputation is what men and women think of us; character is what God and the angels think of us.

After the First Bottle

"Did that cure for deafness really cure your brother?" asked Dr. Jones.

Murphy—Sure enough; he hadn't heard a sound for years, and after he took that medicine he heard from a cousin in Australia.

Yankee Wit

A knotty old Yankee was in his garden one morning when the town's religious zealot, passing on horseback, called:

"Brother, have you made your peace with God?" He didn't hear and inquired: "What say?"

The question was repeated and resting on his hoe, he drawled: "We ain't come to no open break #t!"

Everything that is mine, even to my life, I may give to one I love, but the secret of my friend is not mine to give. — Phillip Sidney.

Dad—Why single out Africa?

At a football match between Scotland and Wales, two spectators were interested in another, who during the whole progress of the game never uttered a word, and displayed no excitement or sign of partisanship.

"It's a funny thing," said one of the men. "He can't be a Welshman or he'd have been shouting his head off."

"And he can't be a Scotsman," said the other, "because he's bought a program."

NEWS OF INTEREST

Peterborough—A diamond valued at $1,500 owned by C. Sulman, Belleville, was lost in a motor accident on the Port Hope Highway. Sulman was one of a party of four coming from Belleville to a lawn bowling tournament here when a rear tire blew out and the car was ditched. The four men were thrown out and in the wreck Sulman lost the stone from his ring.

NORTH HASTINGS WOMEN'S INSTITUTE CONVENTION

The twenty-fifth annual convention of the District Institute of North Hastings was held on Tuesday, June 20, at Wellmans Corners, with a splendid attendance of over one hundred and sixty. Fine weather and good roads contributed their part, and the interest always shown in these meetings was well sustained. Shortly after half-past ten the morning session was opened with the Institute Ode and the repetition of the Lord's Prayer in unison, Mrs. Jas. Bailey, of Eldorado presiding. After the reading and approval of the minutes of the last meeting at Ivanhoe, Mrs. Carl Clancy of Wellmans extended to the assembled visitors a very hearty welcome and the reply was made by Mrs. E. Moore, of Cooper and Remington Branch.

Correspondence was dealt with, including notes of acceptance from the speakers invited, and one of regret from Mrs. W. R. Grass, of Gilmour, for enforced absence. The financial report was presented by Mrs. T. L. Nickle, of Madoc, showing a membership for the District of 373, an increase of 12; 121 meetings held, increase of 8; total attendance 3028; and 157 papers and addresses given; total receipts for the District, $161.22; expenditure, $133.12; balance on hand of $28.10. For the combined report of District and Branches the Receipts are $2028.46; expenditure $1458.34; Cash on hand, $570.12.

The President, Mrs. Bailey, hoped that all would feel free to take part in discussions and criticisms. Speaking of her visits to the different branches, she gave a brief summary of activities noted during the year, and commended the excellent work done in each branch.

Eight secretaries gave reports from the Branches, that of Cashel and of the Busy Bees, Juniors, being given by the District Secretary. After some singing, reports were received from the Chairmen of Standing Committees. Mrs. F. Nickle, of Eldorado in giving the report on Health and Child Welfare, spoke of the increasing interest in this subject as shown by the number of reports received, and stressed the value of sunlight to the child, urging that sunlight and out-of-door play is better than cod-liver oil and cough medicine.

Legislation reports were given by Mrs. Webb, and Education by Mrs. W. J. Barlow, both of Springbrook Branch. These reports were resumed in the afternoon, as noon-hour interrupted.

Dinner was served by the members of Wellmans and Rylestone, and the guests heartily enjoyed the sumptuous meal provided.

Beginning the afternoon session by singing "O Canada" the reports of Standing Committees were continued. Mrs. Ken Bateman of Eldorado gave Canadian Industries and spoke of various exhibits; also Roll Calls and Papers on Pulp Wood Industry, Woolen Industry, and Pioneer Handicrafts.

Mrs. Moon of Madoc gave a summary of the relief work done through the district, including clothing, shoes, underwear, food, medical aid and good cheer to the needy and shut-ins. Three papers were reported on Immigration by Mrs. Haacke, of Deloro, and a letter was read regarding conditions of immigration in England, and the extravagant promises made to would-be immigrants. Mrs. Sills, of Ivanhoe reported for Home Economics and showed the wide range attempted by papers and discussions in the Branches. Community Activities given by Mrs. Barnum, of Rylestone was very comprehensive and several original ideas were presented.

Mrs. Geo. Ferguson, of Cooper, gave Historical Research report. Many of the Branches have Current Events at each meeting, sometimes as a talk and one Branch uses it occasionally as a roll call. Pioneer implements and utensils were exhibited and old stories retold, and very interesting meetings held in three or four of the Branches.

Rev. Mr. Joblin was called on and spoke briefly in welcome to the visitors. He spoke of the many activities of the Institutes, which are world-wide and always most energetic. He named the chief characteristics of the members as "push", and thought that if Institute members could take part in the World's Economic Conference they would get things done.

Mrs. Geo. Putnam, Superintendent of Institutes, Toronto, was introduced, and was asked to conduct the election of officers. A vocal solo by Miss Fleming, of Ivanhoe, "The Church by the side of the Road".

Scrutineers appointed were Mrs. F. Nickle, Mrs. A. Parks, Miss K. McComb and Miss N. Webb. Voting by ballot, the officers elected for 1933-34 are:

President — Mrs. Jas. Bailey, Eldorado, (re-elected).

1st Vice-President — Mrs. C. N. Whytock, Madoc, (re-elected).

2nd Vice-President — Mrs. Carl Clancy, Harold.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mrs. T. L. Nickle, Madoc, (re-elected).

Federation Delegate — Mrs. Wm. Shaw, Ivanhoe.

The Chairmen of Standing Committees were declared elected as nominated by the Executive Committee:

Health and Child Welfare — Mrs. F. Barnum, Rylestone.

Home Economics — Mrs. Wm. Miller, Madoc.

Education — Mrs. J. R. Brown, Ponnarlaw.

Agriculture — Mrs. Theodore Todd, Wellmans.

Relief — Mrs. W. R. Grass, Cashel.

Community Activities — Mrs. R. Reid, Ivanhoe.

Historical Research — Mrs. E. Moore, Cooper.

Canadian Industries — Mrs. K. Bateman, Eldorado.

Publicity — The Secretary.

The District Directors as nominated by the Branches were elected on motion of Mrs. Sills and Mrs. Moore, as follows: Madoc, Mrs. Wm. Miller; Marmora, Mrs. Haacke; Ivanhoe, Mrs. Geo. Cooke; Wellmans, Mrs. Clifford Clancy; Springbrook, Mrs. J. R. Brown; Rylestone, Mrs. Robt. Mumby; Cooper and Remington, Mrs. Stanley Rollins; Busy Bee Jrs., Miss Helen Whytock; Cashel, Mrs. W. R. Grass.

Mrs. W. C. Haggerty of Cherry Valley, Federation Representative, spoke of the benefits received by the individual branch through the Federation. She urged all to see that the Federation dues are paid yearly. It was found that seven branches were fully paid up, and that Madoc "Busy Bee" Jrs. had not yet joined the Federation.

Mrs. Heagle, of Rylestone, gave a very fine vocal solo, "Sunrise and You," after which Mrs. A. Parks, of Cooper and Remington Branch explained the large exhibit made by that Branch of "Things made of odds and ends of time and material." This included articles too numerous to mention, such as white bedspreads, tufted, made from flour bags, materials costing less than thirty cents; pillow covers both embroidered and with crocheted lace, also from flour bags; articles from Full-O-Pep bags, also from oil cloth, crepe paper, unbleached cotton, flannellette, boys' jerseys, ravelled yarn, bottles and jars decorated, painted etc., and a variety of rugs and mats and slumber robes, made by an aged member. The patterns and instructions of any or all of these may be obtained from Mrs. A. Parks or from the Secretary, Miss Freda McCoy, Madoc No. 3.

Marmora Branch supplied diversion in the duet "In the Gloaming", by Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. Brown. Miss Nellie Webb, winner of the North Hastings Scholarship to Guelph, gave a very interesting account of her two weeks in Guelph, and urged the necessity and wisdom of some such stimulus to the girls of the coaching classes.

Mrs. Bailey then spoke of the new Banner, "For Home and Country", displayed for the first time, and asked the Branches to share the expense. It was decided on motion that each branch would contribute $1.25 towards the cost.

Mr. Putnam was again called on and completing his remarks made during the election of officers, urged the members to make better use of the literature available from the Department, and that each Branch strive to utilize and develop the talents available in each community. He also asked that the Lessons on Nutrition be studied. He explained the financing of the new paper "Home and Country" and urged that use be made of the information contained in it.

An invitation was received from the Cashel Branch that one or more of the officers of the District visit them in September. Arrangements were made that this be done, and it is hoped to organize a Branch farther north, and possibly one or more in the older parts of the District. The officers will be glad to learn of places wishing to organize or re-organize.

Mrs. C. N. Whytock, in behalf of Madoc Branch extended an invitation to hold the District Annual in Madoc next year, which was accepted. Mrs. Whytock also moved a vote of thanks and appreciation to the hostesses of the day, to the guest speakers, and to all who had contributed to the success of the day's program.

The session was closed with "God be with you till we meet again" and the National Anthem.

There are thousands willing to do great things for one willing to do a small thing.

SOFTBALL NEWS

CENTRE LEAGUE

The Centre League schedule is drawing to a close and Minto seems assured of first place. The games have been well contested for the most part and the League has done much to further good sportsmanship in the community. Ivanhoe has continued their losing streak to the end. They lost to Minto at Ivanhoe 13-12. Good softball was in evidence on both sides and it looked like anybody's game throughout the entire seven innings.

On Friday night at Ivanhoe Evergreen were the victors. They piled up a score of 32 runs against 8 tallied by their rivals. The Ivanhoe pitchers were hit freely, and loose fielding resulted in the large score. Milt. Shaw provided the fielding feature for the evening, when after a long run he leaped into the air and pulled down what looked to be a sure hit. Evergreen fielded well, and although a little wild, pitched a fast game for the visitors.

The lineups were:
Ivanhoe — Rashotte c. Fergus p. and cf. H. Henderson 1b. M. Reid 2b. Mr. Mellow ss. Harry Benson 3b. M. Shaw cf. and p. Fred Benson lf. P. Hyde rf.

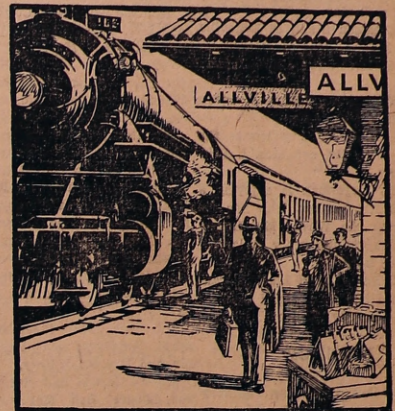

Evergreen — H. Burrell c. S. Broadworth p. R. Broadworth 1b. A. Rogers 2b. B. Stapley 3rd. D. Rogers ss. M. McGee cf. K. Stapley lf. J. Mitta rf.

On Tuesday night, June 20th, White Lake defeated Evergreen on the latter's home ground 15-4.

The final standing of the teams up to Friday night, June 23rd, are as follows: (West Huntingdon still has to play Evergreen).

	W.	L.	P.
Minto	6	2	12
White Lake	5	3	10
West Huntingdon	3	3	8
Evergreen	4	3	8

CURE - YOUR - HAY

Spontaneous Combustion!

You may not believe in spontaneous combustion, but you do know that wet hay or grain will heat, so also will hay or grain that is dumped from fork or slings and not well spread.

The place to cure hay is in the field, not the mow. At the first of the season there is always the temptation to bring in hay that is a bit tough. This would not be so bad if it were at the top of the mow, but it's at the bottom instead. If you must bring in hay in this condition, salt it well, and spread it well. Half a pail of salt to the load isn't a bit too much. Help is cheap this year, keep enough of it in the mow.

WEST HUNTINGDON

Now for a good, old-fashioned summer, one of those nice warm summers we have been longing for. Yet strange to say, some are complaining a wee bit. The farmers are wishing for a good rain. However, they are making good use of the motto "Make hay while the sun shines".

Isn't it strange how, just because some of our young ladies have become discouraged watching the young lads play football, now they have organized a team of their own and are going to play, as they say, to show the lads how they can put our town on the map. We cannot say exactly who will be on the lineup. But such names as Evelyn and Marjorie McInroy, Mona and Helen Wright, Vera Wilson, Mrs. Horton, Frances Reid, Gladys Cook and Ruby Bray are likely to be among the stars. We understand that a game has been arranged with Mount Pleasant for Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox and Mrs. Julia Fox, of Rednersville, have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. Geo. McCurdy.

Five members of the Oxford Group of Belleville paid us a second visit on Thursday evening. The meeting was held in Mr. Edward Pitman's home. Those composing the group were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Campbell, Mrs. Gilroy, Miss White and Harold Hutchinson. The nature of the meeting was more of the discussion kind and not too much preaching.

The Women's Association of the United Church held a quilting and dinner at the home of Mrs. Foster Wilson on Thursday. A large number were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. William McMechan and Miss Margaret, of Madoc; Mrs. Hugh Barclay and Miss Jean, of Dryden, Sask., were visitors on Friday at Lorne and Arthur Wilson's.

The family of the late Harry Staley have the sympathy of this community.

Mr. Stapley was well known here, having lived here for twelve years on the farm now occupied by Mr. Lewis Reid.

Mrs. J. J. Wilson, Mrs. Melville Reid, Mr. Lorne Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wilson, Donald and Glen, attended a picnic north of Port Hope on Saturday it being the annual picnic of this family. Members of the family were present from Oshawa and Toronto.

Miss Evelyn McInroy had school on Saturday for her entrance class and in the afternoon they journeyed to a nearby woods for a picnic and velder roast. Those writing this year are Donald Stapley, Leah Carr, Marion Richardson, Jack Woods and Rene Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fitchett attended the Strickland-Fitchett wedding at Stirling on Wednesday.

The regular monthly meeting of the Endeavour Sunday School Class of West Huntingdon was held on Tuesday last, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fitchett. Twenty-eight members answered roll call showing their skill at art, which caused much amusement. A reading was given by Howard Cook, musical number by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fitchett. The main feature of the program was a debate.

"Resolved that an untidy, slothful, good-natured wife was preferable to a neat, tidy bad-tempered wife." This proved very interesting and humorous and the negative side were the winners, those taking part were: negative, Clifford, Elliott, Mrs. Clayton Wright, Mrs. Sandy McCurdy; affirmative, Elmer Post, Mrs. Foster Wilson and Mrs. T. Elliott. Following this was the initiation of members just recently joined the class. Later the hostess served lunch after which a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the host and hostess. All left for home thinking it a well-spent evening.

CENTRE HUNTINGDON

Rain is badly needed in this district.

White Lake Softball team played West Huntingdon team here on Monday evening. The score was 13-15 in favour of White Lake.

Rev. J. A. Kofferd visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sills on Tuesday at the noon hour.

Rev. Mr. Robinson of Campbellford Presbyterian Church occupied the pulpit at St. Andrew's Church on Sunday afternoon.

Quite a number from this neighbourhood attended the concert given by George Wade and the Cornhuskers in Stirling on Tuesday evening.

BURNBRAE

Mr. Grant Thain, B.Sc. has secured an important position as teacher in a continuation school at Englehart. Congratulations.

Mrs. White, of Calgary, visited her cousin, Mrs. George Craighead, last week.

STIRLING

MADOC JUNCTION

On Friday evening a number of neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mr. Clinton Juby and presented Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mudd with a miscellaneous shower. The following address was read by Miss Margaret Danford:

Dear Dorothy and Henry—The neighbours declare it, the papers have said That a youth and a maiden Have lately been wed. The young couple joined Age with us tonight—Dorothy with Henry, The pride of his life. This evening your friends Have all gathered here, The young lads and lasses To wish you good cheer. We trust that your future Will always be bright, Your pathway be joyous, Your troubles be light. Now if shadows should come Just both whistle and sing, It will make the clouds vanish And much brightness bring. Dorothy, be to your husband A kind trusting wife, And then he will love you The rest of his life. Henry, be a good sport, Don't be cranky or pout, Then your wife will be happy When you are about. Now, on this occasion, Have brought you tonight, Bowls, basins and kettles, All shining and bright. We hope you will like them, And that useful they'll be; Also serve to remind you Of friends one, two or three. Please kindly unwrap them And we will stand by, And watch with delight As each piece you untie.

Signed on behalf of the community Mrs. Jack Cook and Mrs. Mina Wilson.

The bride and groom expressed their thanks for the numerous gifts. Lunch was served by the ladies and music was supplied by Ken, Doug, and Ruby Stapley, and a social time enjoyed. Before the gathering broke up everyone joined hands around the newly-married couple and sang "For they are jolly good fellows."

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett and Rosella attended the Strickland-Fitchett wedding in Stirling on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eggleton were dinner guests on Saturday of Mrs. Ethel Danford, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd, Mrs. E. Danford and Marjorie, of Belleville, called on friends here on Sunday.

Friends here were shocked on Friday night to hear of the sudden death of Mr. Harry Stapley, of Carmel. The funeral was very largely attended and was held in Carmel United Church on Monday. Interment was made in the Clarke cemetery here. The sympathy of the community goes out to the sorrowing widow and family.

ily and to the aged father. Nearly every home in this section was represented at the funeral.

Mrs. Jos. Bronson, of Stirling visited her daughter, Mrs. Russell Stapley, on Monday night.

Several from here journeyed to Stirling on Tuesday night to hear Geo. Wade and his Cornhuskers.

Evergreen ball team won in a lively game with Ivanhoe on Friday night. The score being 32-8. On Monday night Evergreen defeated West Huntingdon by an 18-10 score. Lineup for Evergreen: Henry Burrell, c, Gerald Broadworth, p, Raymond Broadworth, 1b, Aubrey Rodgers 2b, Bruce Stapley 3b, Don Rodgers ss, K. Stapley lf, Maurice McGee cf, J. Mitts rf.

WELLMANS

On Thursday afternoon the teacher, pupils and a number of the parents held a picnic in Mr. Wilfred Sine's grove. There were fifty-three present. The afternoon was spent playing ball and swimming, after which a delicious lunch was served and a social hour was spent. Rev. Mr. Joblin was also present and assisted in the games, which helped to make the afternoon a very enjoyable one to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson, Carleton Place and Miss Dayman took tea on Sunday evening, at the home of Mr. John Rennie.

Miss Mina Dracup is spending the week at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Watson and family spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bronson.

Miss Edna Wallace spent the weekend visiting Miss Jean McCaughen. A number from Wellmans attended the dance Saturday night in the dance hall at the Paisley House and report a good time.

It is reported that a number of young men, on their way home from town on Saturday nights, are visiting the farmer's milk stands. This is a dangerous practice and we think should discontinue this before someone gets in wrong.

Miss Grace Dayman was a Tuesday evening guest of Mr. and Mrs. Butler Rupert.

Energy for the Day -

Just one food meets the varying needs of every member of the family

The Man of the House loves Bread because it gives him the clear, alert brain, the spring in his step, the perfect digestion and quick smile that make him a favourite in his family and a factor in his business.

The Lady Opposite loves it because she can keep her family happy, healthy and well nourished on Bread at a much reduced cost.

The two Bobbed Heads love Bread for its delicious flavour — that's enough. They can eat it three times a day and many times between meals without ever tiring.

Try reducing your high-priced luxury foods and increasing your Bread-eating. You may be surprised to find how you'll cut expense without loss of food-value.

NEWS OF INTEREST FOR BUSY FARMERS

Branded Beef Increases

Branded beef sold in all Canada during the month of April totalled over two million pounds, an increase of approximately 32,000 pounds, a week as compared with March, and an increase of 50 per cent. as compared with April 1932.

Wide Cost Range Shown

In Cheese Manufacture According to Dr. J. F. Booth, of Ottawa, the cost of making cheese in 115 Ontario factories ranges from $1.85 per hundred pounds where the production amounts to 393,000 pounds to as high as $3.21 per hundred pounds where only 47,000 pounds are produced.

Cull Dairy Cows in Denmark

Go to Happy Hunting Ground The slaughtering and burning of cull dairy cows is proceeding rapidly in Denmark. This has been cited as one practical method of reducing over-production and lowering production costs of milk. Also, it has been indicated, far too many Canadian dairy cows, having outlived their milk-producing usefulness, are shipped to market, instead of being consigned to the soil from whence they came.

Half of Canada's Berry Crop

Is Supplied by this Province Canada's commercial production of strawberries for 1932 amounted to approximately 20,600,000 quarts. Ontario's contribution to this total was estimated at 10,184,000 quarts, or close to fifty per cent.

The commercial production of raspberries, for the same year, was established at 7,250,000 quarts. Ontario again supplying about half this total or approximately 3,317,000.

Weekly Crop Report

Agricultural representatives report that rain is badly needed in most sections of the province. Meadows and spring crops which looked very promising on June 1st are not coming up to expectations due to the extremely hot weather in early June which was followed in some sections by very cool temperature and frost. It is reported that in some areas alfalfa is an exception and reports indicate a satisfactory tonnage from this crop will be secured. Eastern Ontario has reported pastures drying up and milk production falling. Haying operations have been general in all parts of the province during the past week. From Southern Ontario come reports that the drought seriously hurt the strawberry crops. Essex for instance, declares that its crop will not average 30 per cent. of normal years. Many fields of tobacco in Norfolk have had to be set out over again owing to the combined damage of wind, frost and sun.

Canadian Bacon Export

During the first quarter of 1933, bacon importations into Great Britain were down some twenty per cent. according to the Statistics Branch. Canada and the Netherlands were the only countries to increase their contributions to the bacon supplies.

Ontario Onion Pool

At a meeting in Chatham, it was decided to continue the operations of the Ontario Onion Pool. Directors commenced a campaign with the object of securing members to sign up on the basis of a one-year contract. At the recent annual meeting it was decided to cancel the existing five-year contracts.

Care Will Save Money

Farmers sustain enormous losses, each year, through careless methods of shipping livestock by train and truck. Experienced shippers recommend that all cattle be dehorned, that each class of stock be separated by partitions, that loading chutes be used, and that all spikes and silvers, etc., be removed from cars and trucks.

Wider Market Probable

Increased opportunities for Canadian cattle breeders to sell to the British market are believed to exist through the tariff differences between that country and Ireland. At one time the Free State shipped about 800,000 head per year and have exported as much as 1,000,000 head in peak seasons.

The full effect of the new heavy English duties against the Irish Free State will probably not be felt by Canada immediately but a gradual reduction in Irish cattle breeding is anticipated. Providing Canadian producers assure a continuity of supply an excellent opportunity exists for increasing cattle export.

Raspberry Diseases

Mosaic and leaf-curl are the two diseases largely responsible for the so-called running-out of raspberry plantations, according to Dr. C. H. Berkeley, in charge of the Laboratory of Plant Pathology, of St. Catharines. "Experience," he says, "based on experimental evidence, has also shown that the use of healthy certified stock in setting out new plantations is the only satisfactory way we have of checking running-out. Stock free from these diseases may now be purchased, and it is with disease-free stock, certified stock that new plantations should be set. All certified stock must be sold in bundles of twenty-five canes, to which is attached the official government tag bearing the name of the variety, certificate number and year of production.

Crops for Rolling Lands

Permanent pastures are extensively grown on rolling lands. Canada blue grass, red top, Kentucky blue grass and white clover are useful for this purpose. The first mentioned grass is of particular value where the soil tends to dry out in the summer. The common mixture of red clover, alsike and timothy may be sown for hay and the timothy left down for a number of years. Alfalfa is an excellent crop for hillside and is to be desired over other crops where it will grow successfully. In order to receive a good stand of this permanent hay crop, liming may be necessary on some soils.

Oats, rye, wheat and corn are crops frequently grown with success on rolling lands, but these crops are not as effective in controlling erosion as hay and pasture crops. If satisfactory crop yields are to be secured, a farm manure must be applied at seasons when it can be ploughed under before any loss of fertility takes place. Fall and winter applications of manure (farm or commercial fertilizer) are not desirable except on level land because of the great loss of fertility which is liable to occur from spring run-off.

RYLSTONE

A large number from here attended the meeting of the Women's Institute at Wellmans on Tuesday. A full report of the meeting appears on page two of this issue.

On Wednesday afternoon the members of Rylestone Institute were invited to attend a meeting with West Seymour and Trent River Institutes at the home of Mrs. Chas. Macoun, when the guest speaker was Miss Collins, of the Department of Agriculture. The meeting was held under the trees on the lovely lawn. The following is the program: Institute Ode; reading, "Then and Now," Mrs. Maun, Trent River; address "Home-making as an avocation" and "To and Fro in Ontario," by Miss Collins; memory reading "The cow and the Bishop," Mrs. Murray Melkielejohn, Rylestone; piano solo, "Canadian Boat Song," by Mrs. F. M. Rutherford, Rylestone; piano solo "Sühnsucht" (Longing), by Miss Bessie French, Trent River; short address by Mrs. Granville Melkielejohn, president of Rylestone Institute; vote of thanks, Mrs. Bob McCullough, West Seymour. God Save the King. Rain came on when the meeting was in progress and the program was finished in the house. After the program a dainty lunch was served by the Seymour West ladies. About 15 ladies attended from Rylestone.

Quite a few from Rylestone attended the Ayrshire Field Day held at the home of Mr. Alex Hume and Son, Burnbrae, on Thursday, and report a very interesting and instructive afternoon.

Linn Family Reunion

On Saturday, June 24th, the Linn family held their annual reunion picnic at the picnic grounds, Crowe River Bridge. Lunch was spread on the tables and about sixty-five sat down to their annual meal together. After lunch the president, Mr. Charles Linn of Stirling, called the meeting to order and in a few well-chosen words told how glad he was to be able to attend and to see so many of his relatives there. A report of last year's picnic and the financial report was given by Winnie Spencer. Short speeches were given by the following:—Wm. Linn, Marmora; Herbert Spencer, Campbellford; Sam Wallace, Wellmans Corners; Boulter Johnston, Minto; Arthur Linn, Toronto; Grant Thain, Wellmans Corners; Wilfred Spencer, Campbellford; Jonathan Thain, Wellmans; Robt. Irwin, Perth; Eric's Corners; James Linn, Bancroft; James Hough, Deseronto; Tom McKeown, Campbellford; Bogart Linn, Wellmans.

It was decided to hold the picnic in the same place next year. The election of officers was as follows: President, Chas. F. Linn, Stirling; Sec. Treas., Winnie Spencer, Campbellford; assistant Sec., Mrs. Percy Mumby, Springbrook; sports committee, Jim Hough, Deseronto. After the registration of the guests a few went swimming; a few remained to visit, while the rest adjourned to the ball grounds where two husky teams battled for supremacy, married men vs. single men (assisted by the young ladies). The line ups were: Married Men—Arthur Linn p, Bogart Linn c, Sam Wallace ss, Jim Linn lb, Wilfred Spencer 2b, 3rd base vacant, Boulter Johnston lf, Jonathan Thain rf, Single Men—Ernest Thain p, James Johnson c, Lorne Johnson lb, Jim Linn jr, 2b, Jimmy Farrell 3b, Tom McKeown lf, Carl Linn rf, Umpire, C. Linn. The score was 35 to 22 in favour of the youngsters. After the ball game a few races were run, the winners receiving lollipops as prizes. About thirty remained for supper. Visitors from a distance were: Mrs. Jane Hogle, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Linn, David, Dorothy and Harry, Toronto; Mrs. Wm. Graham, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. James Linn, Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Hough and Douglas, Deseronto; Grant Thain, Toronto.

Mr. Herbert Spencer and Winnie, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer and children, Tom McKeown, Mrs. Bert Solmes and Helen visited at the home of Mrs. Fannie Linn, Springbrook, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Linn and family, of Toronto, are visiting in this community for a few days.

Thad Wolsey, of Toronto is spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doupe and children were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Brown, Stanwood, on Sunday.

A miscellaneous shower was held on Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. James Milne (nee Maude Bell) at their home on the 11th concession. The bride and groom received a nice lot of valuable presents and good wishes. The evening was spent in dancing, music supplied by Mrs. Harold Simpson, Arthur Petherick and Walter Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford and daughters and Thad Wolsey spent Sunday in Havelock.

Mr. Louis Grills of Strathclair, Manitoba, called on Mr. Herbert Spencer on Wednesday.

On Monday evening the congregation of Rylestone United Church at Rylestone Community League met at the home of Mr. John S. McKeown to bid Rev. H. and Mrs. Bunt and children farewell before their departure for their new charge at Adamson. During the evening an address was read and Mr. and Mrs. Bunt were presented with a silver and pyrex casserole from the Rylestone congregation and a silver flower vase from the League. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bunt thanked the people for their kindness and voiced their regret at leaving the community, also inviting any or all to visit them at their new home or at their cottage at Rice Lake. After the presentation a ring was offered around the Bunt family and "Old Lang Syne" and "Their All Jolly Good Fellows" were sung. The crowd was then entertained with music by Grant Melkielejohn, piano; Clarence McKeown, violin and Reg. McGee, guitar. Lunch was served.

MENIE

Miss Nellie Potts of Bradley Bay is visiting with Mrs. Whittton.

A number from here attended the ball game at Hoards on Monday evening. Hoards defeated Glen Ross. Mrs. Kerr of Toronto is visiting with Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw.

A number from here attended the Farmer's Picnic last week held at Mr. Alex Hume and Son's.

Mr. Masson Twigg, of Toronto is spending his summer vacation at the home of Mr. Robt. Ketcheson.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy and family of Coneseon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nix.

Seymour West defeated Menie on Saturday evening.

Miss Nellie Jones, R.N., and Mr. Murphy, of Toronto, spent the past week with the former's mother, Mrs. Jones.

Rev. E. B. and Mrs. Sexsmith and Eddie took dinner on Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle and family.

Mrs. Ernest Outwater was a Friday evening caller at Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton's.

Mrs. T. A. Hinchcliffe very kindly opened her home for the Alkens Ladies' Aid which held their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday of last week.

A few from here attended the strawberry and ice-cream social held at Stone Church on Monday evening of last week. All reported a good time and the play "The Colonel's Maid," put on by the young people of Stone, was much enjoyed by all.

A few also attended the social held at Centenary on Tuesday night and White's church on Wednesday night.

Among the visitors at Alkens Church on Sunday were Mrs. Embury, Mr. George Saylor and daughter, Eleanor, Front Road, and friend, with Miss Irene Grills.

Master Everett Eggleton has been suffering with ear trouble recently.

Rev. E. B. Sexsmith preached his farewell sermon in Alkens Church on Sunday morning last. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith have made in their six years of service here are sorry to know of their leaving. They are taking charge at Harrowsmith, but we feel that our loss will be another's gain. Rev. Johnson and family of Harrowsmith are taking up this charge, and we feel sure that they will make many friends as did Mr. and Mrs. Sexsmith.

Mrs. Bruce Hogle and little grandson, Garnet May, of Belleville, took dinner on Tuesday at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Earle Elmy.

Mrs. Richard Eggleton spent the ten hour on Friday evening with her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Morrison, second concession.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ketcheson and children spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Ketcheson, Belleville.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Messrs Percy, Granville and Randall Melville took tea on Sunday evening with their brother Bob.

Mrs. Ross Hoard and Mrs. Geo. S. Wallace attended a recent meeting of River Valley Women's Institute.

On Tuesday evening Mount Pleasant boys and Glen Ross played off their tie on Stirling Fair grounds and our boys won the long end of the score 18-8.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melville and family and Mr. R. Pounder spent Monday evening with Mr. Carl Dunham who is somewhat improved after his recent illness.

Several young people from here took in the Cornhuskers in Stirling on Tuesday evening, but owing to the intense heat many preferred staying at home. The ball players had free admittance.

AWAKENED WOMAN

by ELINORE BARRY

Sixteenth Instalment

SYNOPSIS

Synopsis: Joyce Ashton, poor stenographer, suffered loss of memory in a skidding taxicab accident in Chicago. One morning two years later, she woke, after a fall from her horse, her memory restored, to find herself the wife of Neil Packard, rich California fruit packer. She determined to tell nobody of her predicament, but set about learning what she could of her life in the interval. From the conversation of her friends and letters in her desk she gathered that she had been a heartless, pleasure-loving young woman. One letter that troubled her was from a woman signing herself Sophie, blaming Frills for not giving a home to a baby Sophie was caring for. Could it be her baby, Frills wondered! She also found herself involved in an affair with a man named Maitland. In San Francisco, where she went while her husband was away on business, she met Robert Ainsworth, a poet whose work she had always admired. When Joyce returned home, she decided to be pleasant to Neil than Frills had been. But this line was dangerous, too, for Neil was pathetically anxious to win back Frills' love. At his request they call upon Neil's mother, whom Joyce finds adorable. Later she met the poet, Robert Ainsworth, and several times stopped for lunch at his cabin when she was horseback riding. One day he started to make love to her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Do you know dear, I haven't had a ride with you in a dog's age. I think I'll cut out the golf today and go with you. Take me on, will you?" Neil spoke with smiling carelessness but the look in his eyes gave him away.

"Of course, what time will you get here?" She spoke casually. Neil would never guess the turmoil of unhappiness under the calm. Did men ever divine things the way women did? One man perhaps... Robert? as the name stabbed her she turned away quickly, scarcely hearing Neil's answer, "I'll come home to lunch, I think. Then we'll have the whole afternoon together."

Even in her pain Joyce heard the change in Neil's voice. That last word was spoken with so touchingly confident and happy a note.

"All right, I'll be ready. Good-bye," and she ran upstairs and shut herself in her room. There she sat down on the edge of the couch-bed and clenched her hands, staring dry-eyed out of the big window to the distant mountains.

Joyce was wrapped in a mood of warm compassion for Neil. She felt she could not add another unkindness to the many that Frills had inflicted upon him. His eyes haunted her, and she felt more utterly miserable than she had at any time since she had awakened to find herself occupying another woman's shoes. She could not contemplate failing Neil and his mother that way.

Riding off with Joyce that afternoon, Neil was in high spirits, with an elation in his manner that filled Joyce with shame. She rode in silence, hardly answering his questions, and not looking at him.

Neil soon fell in with her mood as they rode along and no longer bothered her with conversation. Gradually then she began to feel remorse, and wished she could be less surly with Neil. He tried so hard to please her in everything, to adapt himself to her moods. It struck Joyce suddenly how much of that sort of thing he must have been doing in his married life.

"Sam says McBreedy has a new lot of horses in," remarked Joyce, "did he tell you there's a man from Salinas who would like to buy Fire Queen?"

"Yeah," replied Neil, eyeing her sideways, perhaps to see if her general expression matched the friendly casualness of her voice. "I said I'd like to get rid of her myself but I'd have to consult you about the matter. I hate the sight of the damn brute after what she nearly did to you, dear."

A flash of amusement curled the corners of Joyce's mouth for a moment as she remarked, "You needn't consult me. I'm quite satisfied with Rosita, thank you."

"Really? Gosh that's great. Sure relieves my mind."

A little later they dismounted and sat down on a slope overlooking the valley to eat the package of sandwiches and fruit Joyce had brought. To her relief Neil talked about Manzanita topics: his mother's condition, Paul's departure, Sam's progress in the correspondence course, plans for the new subdivision north of Manzanita and so on.

He finally stretched out on the ground and put his head in her lap. Joyce had just stroked back a lock of hair from his forehead, thinking absently that Neil ought to be doing something about the increasing thinness of his hair, when the thud of horse's hoofs in the distance caught her ear. She stiffened and glanced up with an apprehensive fear clutch-her; he was showing no reversal of his personality.

Robert, however, had suddenly become a stranger to her. Was this her "perfect companion", was this the man whose subtlety and sympathy she had so deliciously counted on? He sat on his horse coolly and looked down on them with an expression of amused cynicism. If this attitude were a cloak for his hurt feelings, Joyce thought swiftly, it was a less lovely one than Neil's.

These valuations passed through Joyce's mind in one glancing second, while she stood there helplessly, wondering where to begin.

"May I have the pleasure of meeting your husband?" Robert asked, smiling.

Joyce looked at him. "Get off your horse, please," she answered, "there's a lot to be straightened out and it'll take some time... Robert Ainsworth, this is Neil Packard, my husband..."

The men acknowledged the introduction, Neil curtly, Robert with the same hard amusement that so offended Joyce.

"Charmed," said Ainsworth lightly. "Oh, don't talk that way!" Joyce

"Please, please — Don't begin to fight" ing at her heart and stopping its beat for a moment.

There, in an opening between the clumps of oak trees about sixty yards away, on the trail they had just left, rode Robert Ainsworth! He did not see her at first. Then his idly roving glance turned to the couple on the ground. His eyes met Joyce's, and a quick smile of recognition spread over his face. Then his look dropped to the figure of Neil lying with his head in her lap. A quizzical shade passed over his face.

"Hello, Joyce!" he shouted. His horse leaped forward under the spur of his heel, and they galloped up the slope. Before Neil could stumble to his feet Ainsworth was drawing rein nearly upon them.

"This precise situation," he said easily, "demands a galloping retreat on my part, but I'm too inquisitive to be so gallant. I prefer to advance and see what happens instead!"

Joyce's self-possession left her entirely. She stared numbly at the two men, miserably aware that they were both looking to her for explanation, and even more miserably aware that she knew not how to begin.

Neil was the first to come to Joyce's rescue. "I beg pardon," he said, courteously, "you seem to know my wife?"

The quizzical smile deepened on Robert's face. "No, I seem rather to have made a mistake—" he began. A new, almost insolent note in his voice whipped Joyce into anger. All at once she knew what her course must be. It mattered little to her what the outcome of this meeting was; she was determined not to be led into further deceptions.

"No mistake at all," she said quietly. "Neil, he's lying if he says he doesn't know me—"

She looked from one to the other of the men. Neil's expression was that of the same partly-repressed hurt that he had shown when Maitland's name had been mentioned. She knew at once that he thought Robert had taken Maitland's place in Frills' life, but that his value of decency and dignity was holding him in check. Neil's immediate, unconscious reaction to this situation did not surprise cried, "I don't know you at all in this mood — you're making it terribly hard for me—"

Robert threw back his head and laughed. "Think, Joyce, what a lot I'm going to learn from this meeting! Think of the value of it all to a novelist! Why, I wouldn't be missing it for anything! I only wish I had the pen of an Elmer Glyn to write it up adequately—"

Neil drew forward. "I don't think my wife and I have time to stop and listen to that sort of damn' drivel from you—" he began hotly, when Joyce interposed.

"Oh, this is all so fantastic! Please, please, don't begin to fight over it, when neither of you really knows a bit what it's all about. Neil, I've been trying to make up my mind to tell you — Robert, there's a good deal due to you, too! I hadn't expected to tell you both at once, but since it's happened this way, for Heaven's sake don't make it so difficult for me! I want to tell both of you the truth!"

She turned to her husband, "Neil, you never heard of Joyce Ashton, did you? Answer me that Neil?"

"You don't mean Joyce Abbot, do you Frills?"

"No, no, I don't... Tell me this, Neil, what was my name before you married me? ... Don't look at me as if I were crazy! What was my name before you married me?"

"Why, Frills, this is nonsense! Don't you know your own name? It was Florence Hilton, of course. What's that got to do—"

"Oh, will you please let me tell you? Sit down, both of you, this is going to take a long long time. Please don't begin by thinking I'm crazy. You've both heard of amnesia victims, of course? Did you know you'd married one, Neil? Did you know that Florence Hilton was a girl without a past, without a life? You've got to help me tell this story, Neil, because I remember nothing before the morning after Fire Queen threw me on my head!"

Neil was staring at her dumbfounded. "You're not serious, Frills? Why, what when—"

Robert Ainsworth said, "Lord! Tell us what you're driving at, Joyce!"

Joyce suddenly found it possible to talk to those two men. It was as if her mind had for some time been preparing the story it had to tell, so that the words came swiftly, tensely, dramatically. She told them of being born Joyce Ashton, of her early life in New England, of her aunt and uncle, of her work in Philadelphia, and then of her start toward the Coast in search of adventure.

"I remember getting into the taxicab in Chicago in the snow—that sort of light snow, when the streets still aren't quite wet, but the dirt makes them sticky. The taxi skidded violently—there was a crash—and when I woke up I was in a bed, on a sleeping porch, looking out at a tree on which oranges were growing. A man came onto the porch and asked me how I felt! That was you, Neil, whom I in my first appalled state fancied to have been my kidnapper!"

"Why on earth—say, how on earth have you kept this all to yourself? How long ago was all this, Joyce?" It was Ainsworth speaking. Neil seemed too stunned to take in the significance of it all.

"I don't know just how I have kept it all. Of course, at first I was so terrified I couldn't think, much less act! Then I've always been awfully reticent—hated scenes—and I usually followed the line of least resistance. Neil was just leaving to go on a business trip to Chicago. He kissed me good-bye while I was still in that paralyzed state, and I was left to figure things out for myself! It was all terrible, of course, but in some ways it was fascinating. Your horse, Neil, is so lovely, and the outdoorsness appealed to me—it was so different from the pinched, dark, meagre life I'd been leading in the Philadelphia boarding-house that I hung greedily on... And then, of course, I found out about Frills.

"Frills was the vicious imp that had taken possession of my body while I was an amnesia victim. I found out that as well as having gotten Joyce Ashton a good husband and a beautiful home, she had made that husband desperately unhappy, been a cross little beast."

Neil looked up. "Do you mean to tell me you don't remember having married me?"

"Yes, Neil, just that. I'm trying to tell you that I remember nothing between the time of the taxi accident in Chicago two years ago, and the recent accident on Fire Queen!"

"Humph." Neil looked closely at his wife, as if trying to fathom some hidden reason she might have for making a fool of him.

"Neil, haven't you noticed that I've been different lately? Look back to your return from Chicago that last trip. Haven't I been less reckless, less troublesome generally, than the Frills you married?"

JOHNSTON — ASHE

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the United Church at Ivanhoe, on Saturday, June 17th, when Catharine Blanche, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. William Ashe was united in marriage to Roy Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnston, the Rev. Mr. Mellow officiating. The bride wore a lovely frock of hyacinth blue, with touches of grey, and matching hat and carried a bouquet of white peonies and orchids. She was attended by her sister, Miss Olive Ashe, who wore a frock of grey with white hat and accessories. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. David Johnston.

After the ceremony the happy couple left for a short honeymoon, after which they will reside on the groom's farm at Carmel.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS

(Too Late for Last Week)

Our softball team did not have very good luck on Saturday evening. The three teams in Seymour League are pretty well matched and some good games are expected. Menie won from Seymour West in the first game by a 7 to 6 score. Pethericks won from Menie 14-11, while Seymour West won from Pethericks 7-3.

Wedding bells kept ringing at Pethericks Corners. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Petherick. Who will be the next?

The Ladies' Aid met last week at the home of Mrs. Wm. Ford. Most of the time was spent in quilting.

While Lorne Hay was returning from the shower at Mr. Sandford McKeljohn's last Friday night the steering gear of his car broke, and having no control of the car it took to the ditch, crashing into a telephone pole. The pole was taken right out of the ground completely. The car was quite badly damaged, but the occupants were only badly shaken up. Mrs. Roy Fry had charge of the program at Zion League last Thursday evening, the president taking the opening exercises and general business while the rest of the program was announced by Arthur Petherick. Scripture lesson was taken by Elsie Ford; devotional address by Rev. MacTavish. Reading by Lindsay Anderson; violin selections by Arthur Petherick, accompanied on the piano by Fred Barnum. Topic and contest by the leader.

Rylestone W. I. met at the home of Mrs. Lorne Barnum last Wednesday.

Farmers are busy with the hay. The dry weather is bringing it on sooner than usual.

YARKER ITEMS

(Crowded out last Week)

Splendid attendance is reported at the Standard Church Camp meetings, held in Mr. Curle's grove, the meetings were graced with the presence of Bishop Monahan.

Rev. G. T. McKenzie gave interesting reports of the proceedings at the recent Bay of Quinte Conference held at Bowmanville, at the services here on Sunday.

Several from here attended the Sunday School Convention held at Camden East.

The Yarker ball team came home greatly elated with their win over the Gibbard team. The locals have not lost a game so far in the County League.

Yarker W.M.S. entertained the members of Moscow Society at the June meeting which was held in the hall with a splendid attendance. The visitors provided the program and received generous applause. Among the interesting numbers was an address by a Registered Nurse, Miss Margaret Patterson, who spent some years in Mexico and detailed the work of the nurses in that country; also an address on Japan by Mrs. Armstrong, who spoke on the work of the first missionary, fifty years ago, who is still living and sent greetings for the anniversary. Mrs. Evans contributed piano solos that were appropriate. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered and delicious refreshments served.

Haymaking has started in this district and more rain is badly needed, although Friday's showers helped the gardens.

Mrs. Gilligan, of Shannonville has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Huffman, who is seriously ill at her home here. Shannonville station has been closed and the agent, Mr. Gilligan, has secured the station at Giffin, near Midland.

Hello! Mount Pleasant! Many thanks for W.M.S. reports and parcel. Will write you. Kind regards to Madec Junction, Fuller, West Huntingdon, and especially the Office Owl and staff.

9 SENATE VACANCIES

Ottawa — The death of Senator Paradis brings the list of senatorial vacancies to nine, the largest number of unfilled seats in the red chamber for some considerable time. Saskatchewan, Ontario, New Brunswick and Quebec are each short two Senators, while Nova Scotia has one appointment to be made. Senators have yet to be named to fill the places of the late Hon. W. E. Willoughby and J. H. Ross, Saskatchewan; Napoleon A. Belcourt and Andrew Hayden, Ontario; I. R. Todd and J. W. Daniels, New Brunswick; Jacques Bureau and P. J. Paradis, Quebec; and E. L. Girroir, Nova Scotia. Senator Paradis' death makes the party standing in the Upper House: Conservatives 47, Liberals 40, with nine seats open. The late Senator was a native of Quebec City.

General News of Interest

Havelock — Mrs. J. McArthur likes wild strawberries, but probably will not again go berry-picking alone in the bush. The aged woman spent more than 12 hours of the week-end lost in the woods while the town's population searched for her. She was located long after sunrise, a trifle alarmed and considerably the worse for mosquito bites. She had walked all night.

Chicago — Dollar wheat was reached and passed on the board of trade on Monday in one of the wildest sessions since the war. Sensational advances which reached maximum of more than six cents a bushel in the last few minutes of trading after yesterday's seven cent jump, carried the December delivery to $1.01 7-8 cents a bushel and the May delivery to $1.06 3-8.

Rumours from Ottawa state that Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighan is to be appointed chairman of the board of trustees for the Canadian National Railways. Mr. Meighan is a present member of the Government without portfolio, and Government leader in the Senate. If the report is confirmed, it will mean that Senator Meighan will retire from Hydro Board of Ontario, from the Senate and from private business. Salary for the chairmanship is not to be less than $25,000 or more than $40,000 a year for a five-year term.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. John Holmes visited Mrs. Sarah McKeown on Friday.

Mrs. Albert Dunkley is recovering from her recent illness.

Friends here were sorry to hear of the accident which befell little Gordon Donnan, when he was bitten by a dog, necessitating several stitches. Latest reports say he is gaining nicely.

Messrs. Henry Hagerman, of Edmonton and Will Hagerman, of Salem, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. George Heagle and Wednesday and Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White.

On Tuesday evening Bonarlaw players and fans journeyed to our burg to play one of the scheduled games in the league. A large number were in attendance and the boys exhibited a good clean game. The lineup were:

Bonarlaw — M. Heath c, R. Black p, G. Brooks lf, J. M. McGrath ss, P. McCoy cf, A. O. Reid lb, C. Wellman 3b, R. Neal rf, J. Peters 2b.

Mount Pleasant — C. Holmes lb, J. Coggins c, Tom Bowler ss, A. Kellar p, H. Higgs 3b, K. Holmes rf, C. Dunkley lf, B. Jeffs 2b, H. Hagerman jr.

Umpires — Orno Sharp and W. R. Bone.

Scorekeepers — Edna Campbell and J. F. Baker.

The visitors went to bat and scored four runs and our boys scored another four, which was a whirlwind start, making a 4-all score. In the second frame Bonarlaw scored another run and three of our boys went down to defeat so it looked like a win for the visitors. 5-4. In the third round no scores were made as each side played defensive. In the fourth frame Hagerman made a neat catch on a fly ball and Mount Pleasant played fast and furious and scored 3 runs, making the score 7 to 5 for the home team. Bonarlaw boys lost heart and were unable to score any runs in the fifth frame and our boys worked hard and piled up another five runs. Kenneth Holmes made a home run which also let Higgs home and this home run was the only one scored during the evening. Hagerman, Holmes and Coggins each scored a run and the score was 12-5 for the hometowners. Bonarlaw boys decided it was time to dig in and in the sixth round Neil and Peters scored a run each and Mount Pleasant boys felt they also should go battle, so they played their best and Higgs and Jeffs each scored a run. Kenneth Holmes made a long shot and McCoy exhibited a good catch and caught him out. This brought the score 14-7. Beginning the last frame McGrath and McCoy went out. Reid journeyed to third and Wellman went out and the hometowners did not play the last half inning, so the game ended 14-7 in favour of the home boys.

On Tuesday evening Glen Ross journeyed to Springbrook and the teams tied and Hoards visited Bethel and went home with the short end of the score, 15-12.

On Thursday evening Glen Ross journeyed to Mount Pleasant and a snappy game of softball was played. The umpires were Orno Sharp and E. Hulin. Scorekeepers, Edna Campbell and Ernest Carlisle. Lineup: Glen Ross — Harry Brown ss, J. Armstrong rf, K. Wickens 2b, A. Fraser cf, G. Pyear lb, B. Hagerman c, J. Carlisle lf, H. Brooks p, R. Brooks 3b. Mount Pleasant — C. Holmes lb, J. Coggins c, T. Bowler ss, A. Kellar p, H. Higgs 3b, K. Holmes rf, C. Dunkley lf, B. Jeffs 2b, H. Hagerman jr.

The visitors went to bat and Harry Brown made a run and in the last half of the first round C. Holmes, Bowler and Kellar each scored a run leaving the score 3 to 1. In the 2nd frame K. Holmes in the field made a splendid catch and B. Hagerman who made the long shot, was out. The visitors failed to make a run and the home team piled up three more with Bert Jeffs making the only home run of the evening and C. Holmes and J. Coggins the other two. The score — 6-1. In the third round the visitors worked hard to even the score and B. Brooks, Armstrong, Wickens and Fraser each scored a point and Hagerman scored a run for the home team. Score 7 to 5. In the fourth frame H. Brooks made around the diamond and the home team boys, with Kellar and Higgs, scored two, making the score 9 to 6. As the fifth round came, the air was filled with excitement as each team was anxious to win as the previous game resulted in a tie. However, the visitors had a stroke of bad luck as Wickens and Fraser went out, Pyear got to second and Hagerman went out. The home team also shared in the bad luck as Coggins and Bowler went out, Kellar made second, Higgs first and K. Holmes went out with neither side making a tally. As the sixth frame came K. Holmes caught out Carlisle, C. Holmes caught out H. Brooks and Kellar caught out R. Brooks. The home team went to bat and Dunkley, Jeffs and Hagerman all lost and this round was short, if not sweet. The visitors began the seventh with determination and H. Brown and J. Armstrong each made a score. Fraser made third and three men went out, leaving the score 9-8 and the home team didn't finish their part of the play as they were on the winning side.

Mr. Elgie Joblin spent a few days recently in our midst.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Elliott, of Tweed, and Mr. Conger McConnell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Potts.

Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Heath and Miss Lola Heath visited Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bailey and Miss Isobel Turner on Sunday.

Mrs. Manson McConnell is slowly improving and is now able to dispense with the duties of a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harvie and Miss Frances Harvie, of Wooler, visited Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Reid on Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Stewart and Douglas of Foxboro are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Montgomery.

Friends here were very sorry to hear of the sudden death of the late Harry James Stapley of Carmel, and several attended the obsequies on Monday afternoon. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved.

Miss Faye Andrews spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sine and was able to attend school again on Monday of this week.

Mrs. Paul Sharp and Jack, of Wellmans spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sharp entertained Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tucker of Salem to dinner on Sunday.

Miss Olive McConnell visited Miss Edna Thrasher on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sharp called on Mr. R. Post, who is ill, at Belleville Hospital on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Nell White, of Calgary, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sharp last week and on Friday Mr. and Mrs. Sharp and Mrs. White visited relatives in Frankford and Murray.

Mrs. W. Anderson spent Tuesday with Miss Mildred Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson and Lola, of Salem, visited Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers and Mrs. Emma Summers on Thursday. Master Eric Summers accompanied them home for his first holiday.

The girls' softball team had a practice game on Monday evening as they have been invited to visit Bonarlaw on Wednesday evening and enjoy a friendly game.

A number of our people journeyed to Oak Lake on Sunday afternoon and enjoyed the cooling breezes.

Mrs. E. Summers is slowly recovering from a very painful bunion on her foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sharp spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Melville Donnan, West Huntingdon.

Mr. Harvey Pitcher called on relatives in our burg on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sharp have been visiting relatives and friends here for a few days.

The rain which came on Wednesday afternoon was surely appreciated and folks were most thankful for the shower which was of great benefit to crops and gardens. We are hoping for a steady downpour for a few hours to soak up the earth properly.

Master Ray Donnan, of West Huntingdon has been holidaying with relatives here.

At the W. I. Convention last Tuesday the ladies of Rylestone and Wellmans served a very delicious dinner to a very large number. Mrs. Chas. Danham is the very efficient president of Wellmans Institute and she along with Rylestone are to be congratulated on their very fine meeting. Splendid reports on the various subjects were given and the special speakers were Mr. George Putnam, Supt. of Women's Institutes, Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto, and Mrs. C. W. Haggerty of Cherry Valley, the area representative of Federation Institutes. The reports covered education, legislation, relief, health, Canadian industries, home economics, publicity, community activities, agriculture and historical research. Beautiful afghans, rugs, quilts and many other decorative and useful articles were on display.

Next Sunday service will be held in the morning and the Orange brethren are having their service at Wellmans in the afternoon.

The folks at Mount Pleasant extend to Rev. B. F. Byers their good wishes and hope both he and Mrs. Byers will be richly blessed with true friends in their new surroundings. Mr. Byers has been in Stirling for the past 28 years and his genial personality will be greatly missed.

The men are busy in the hay fields these hot days.

Y. P. S. Closed

On Friday evening June 23rd, the Y.P.S. held their closing meeting for the year with a large attendance. The president, Mr. Willie Jeffs opened with "The Church's one Foundation" and the pastor offered prayer. The Sunday School and Y.P.S. decided to hold a picnic on the south side of Oak Lake on July 6th. The president thanked all who had in any way helped to make the year's meetings a success, especially the executive for their co-operation. Miss Frances McKeown, convener of the social department then took charge, using "What a Friend we Have in Jesus", and Mr. Herbert Smith read the lesson. Miss Mildred Sharp rendered a pleasing solo "Only a Rosebud". Mrs.

Roy Thrasher outlined the topic on the theme "Being True to our Friends, or Friendship and what it means." The pastor in his discussion emphasized the fact that we have one central friend, our Lord and Master. He also gave an expression of indebtedness on behalf of himself and Y.P.S. members to the president for his four years of service. Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers rendered a musical selection, harmonica and piano. Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave "Hank Spinks' Discovery." The boys' Quartette, Messrs. Bell, Coggins, Higgs and Holmes, with Miss E. Thrasher as accompanist, sang "Juanita" and as an encore, "Oh, Katherina." After singing "What a Fellowship, what a joy divine", a contest was staged, "Things our Grandmothers Missed."

Holy Communion was celebrated on Sunday last in Mount Pleasant Church with a good attendance despite the intense heat. The church was beautifully adorned with a variety of flowers, roses predominating. Miss Olive McConnell rendered suitable music throughout the service and Miss Edna Thrasher was the accompanist for the quartette and solo. Messrs. Holmes, Higgs, Coggins and Bell sang very effectively: "Come to Jesus, come today" and Miss Olive McConnell rendered a beautiful solo, "God is now willing, are you?" The pastor passed on an informal message of gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. David Tucker who were in attendance; also a message of courage and faith to the congregation from Mr. James Scott, who was unable to attend. The pastor spoke from the text "Where is the death chamber", and urged that more time daily be given for meditation to honour our guest, Jesus Christ. Messrs. J. Pauley, B. C. Tucker, C. U. Heath and J. Scott assisted the pastor in dispensing the elements.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sine, Mr. and Mrs. D. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Heath, Miss Lola Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cummer, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Martin,

Mr. and Mrs. John Scott and Miss Laurene Scott, of Bethel, Mr. John Pauley, Mrs. Paul Sharp, Mr. Jack Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clancy and sons and Mrs. Israel Clancy were among those who attended the service here on Sunday.

Mr. Grenall Melville, of Marmora, has accepted a position at Mr. Arthur Phillips'.

The Quarterly Board met at Mount Pleasant Church on Monday evening with a good representation from the three appointments. Many items of vital interest to the circuit were discussed and several motions were passed, including two of appreciation: one to Mr. Duffin for the donation of fans, and one to Rev. B. F. Byers, on his retirement. Those in attendance report a very successful meeting of great interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rupert and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rupert and son, Donald and Mr. Lorne Rupert, all of Shannville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Butler Rupert of Wellmans Corners.

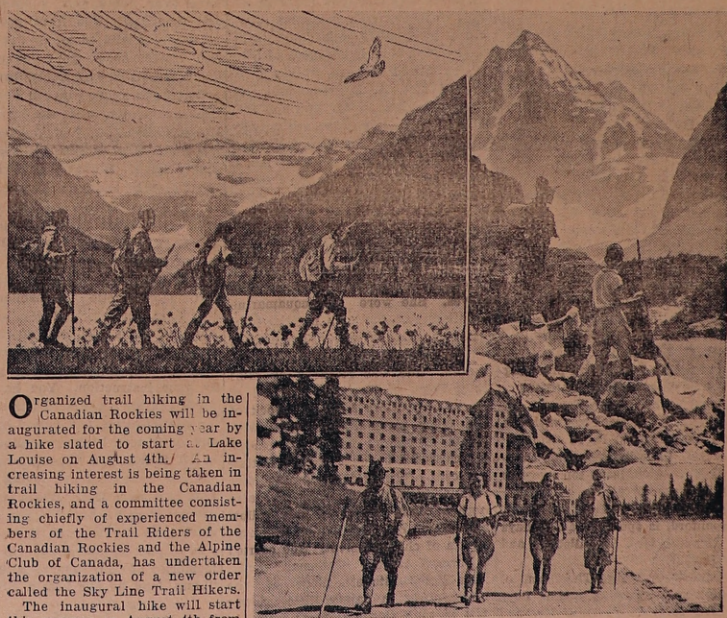

Feathered Stowaway

A pigeon that found itself "in the soup" was taken care of by a butcher, but will never end up in a pie, made the front page a few days ago when the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain" arrived at Quebec from Southampton with a homing pigeon on the list as a stowaway. The pigeon, eyeing the camera with a querulous expression, is seen above in the hands of J. Gibson, Chief Butcher of the Empress liner in whose keeping all travelling pets are placed.

Battered by storms after fighting heavy head winds for a number of hours the pigeon, which had been released some 250 miles west of Land's End in fog from the steam trawler "Ocean Lux", fluttered to rest on the tennis deck of the Empress of Britain. It carried a message showing time and place of release, and date of its last feeding. On the return of the big liner to England next week the feathered stowaway, after its two way crossing of the Atlantic will be thrown into the air to find its way home, with a message from Capt. Latta tied to its leg, in authentication of the strange story it will have to tell.

Sky Line Hiking in the Rockies

Organized trail hiking in the Canadian Rockies will be inaugurated for the coming year by a hike slated to start at Lake Louise on August 4th. An increasing interest is being taken in trail hiking in the Canadian Rockies, and a committee consisting chiefly of experienced members of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies and the Alpine Club of Canada, has undertaken the organization of a new order called the Sky Line Trail Hikers. The inaugural hike will start this summer on August 4th from Lake Louise and tramp over the Saddleback through Paradise Valley and over Sentinel Pass to Moraine Lake, where the first night's camp will be made. On Saturday, August 5th, the party will hike from Moraine Lake over Wenckhemna and Onapin Passes and will have the thrill of crossing two glaciers before arriving at Lake O'Hara. On Sunday the hikers will be able to take in the magnificent scenery around Lake MacArthur, Lake Oesa, and Mount Odaray, and members of the party will be able to enjoy the excellent fishing in Lake O'Hara. The Pow-Wow will be held on Monday, August 6th, after which the members will hike to Wapta and catch the evening train back to Lake Louise.

The magnificent scenery of the Canadian Rockies and the pure joy of achievement, together with the comforts assured by the arrangements made by the Canadian Pacific Railway make this one of the finest and most healthful of holiday outings.

STRICKLAND - FITCHETT

A pretty wedding took place in St. Paul's United Church yesterday afternoon of Mary Olive, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Fitchett, of Stirling, to Alfred Edward, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Strickland, of Pictou, the Rev. E. W. Rowland officiating. The church was attractively decorated with ferns, roses and blue delphiniums, and the wedding music was played by Miss Grace Pittman. During the signing of the register Miss Bessie Conley sang "I Love You Truly". The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of aquamarine chiffon cut on princess lines with raglan puff sleeves. She wore an aquamarine mohair picture hat with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of red Timpalar roses and blue cornflowers. She was attended by Miss Ruby Toms of Toronto, as maid of honour, who wore a "Joan" frock of pale green mousseline de soie, with turban of chiffon velvet to match. She carried a bouquet of pink Butterfly roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Gurnee Kinsley of Toronto, who also wore a "Joan" frock of pale yellow mousseline de soie with matching turban of chiffon velvet. She carried a bouquet of rust. Talisman roses.

Miss Helen Fitchett, niece of the bride, made a dainty little flower girl in pink flowered frock and carried a basket of baby Butterfly roses. The best man was Mr. Carmad Burr of Pictou, and the ushers were Mr. Donald Ivey and Mr. Kenneth Sine, both of Toronto. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of brown and white flowered chiffon with picture hat of white lace. She wore a shoulder bouquet of Butterfly roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of beige chiffon, with matching accessories, and wore a shoulder bouquet of Butterfly roses. Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Ottawa and Montreal. For travelling the bride wore navy blue and white ensemble with white hat and accessories. On their return they will live in Toronto. The groom's gift to the bride was an aquamarine necklet, to the best man and ushers white gold cuff links. The bride's gift to the maid of honour, bridesmaid, organist and soloist, beautiful white gold bracelets.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Rabber, Mr. and Mrs. T. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Marquies Parks, of Pictou, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Strickland and son Alex, of St. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irvin, Tweed, Miss Nettie Ford, Campbellford.

Rev. and Mrs. Byers Honoured

Rev. B. F. Byers preached his farewell sermon in St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, last Sunday evening, having been rector of the parish for 28½ years. He spoke of the many friends of all religious bodies who had been so kind and staunch, and after dwelling upon his pastorate which had been made so pleasant for him called upon two of the United Church Clergymen, with whom he had been associated in Church work, the Rev. F. G. Joblin for ten years, and Rev. E. W. Rowland, for nearly five years. Both gave splendid and feeling addresses. Mr. Fred Houchin sang a solo in his usual excellent way. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers. The lay reader, Mr. Gerald Craven, read the lesson. After the service was over Mr. Byers was asked to re-enter the church and be seated for a short time, when the following address was presented which was a great surprise to him. It was signed by the Wardens of the Church on behalf of the members and friends. A large purse of gold was presented to him and Mrs. Byers, who was unable to be present.

To Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Byers,
St. John's Church, Stirling.
Dear Friends,—

We, the members and adherents of St. John's Church, most sincerely desire on this occasion, which marks the closing of your long, useful and affectionate ministry among us, to come and register our appreciation and thanksgiving to Almighty God the Father, for having vouchsafed His blessing to you and to us, and given you both strength of body and soul to carry on and build up His Kingdom in the parish for a space of twenty-eight years. We wish also to express to you our love and loyalty and to bid you Godspeed as you seek a period of well-earned rest.

Through the vicissitudes of all those years, Mr. and Mrs. Byers, we have ever found you helpful, kind and inspiring. You have proved to be a real friend to all in the parish and furthermore your sympathies and interests flowed freely forth with understanding and concern to the entire community, and we know that the members of other communities felt the impact of your broad-minded, kindly spirit. Within that period you have greatly endeared yourselves to us by your amiable character, your earnest devotion to duty and the hearty interest you have manifested in our welfare as a people. In our homes you have been our sincere and sympathetic counsellor and friend. In our hours of pain and sorrow you have spoken gentle and soothing words to our troubled hearts. Our children have profited by your instruction. You have baptised, you have prepared our children for confirmation, and united our sons and daughters in holy wedlock, and in all things you have proven yourself our competent and loving pastor. You, Mr. and Mrs. Byers, will be moving from Stirling, but you are not leaving us for we will ever cherish your friendship and always hold dear memories of your labours with us. "Long, long be our hearts with such memories filled."

Like the vase in which roses have once been distilled.
You may break, you may shatter the vase if you will,
But the scent of the roses will hang round it still."

With a deep sense of your many benefactors those assembled here have requested us in their name to present to you this purse of gold, as a token of our mutual and increasing admiration and esteem for you and Mrs. Byers, and for our gratitude for your labours in our behalf. We ask you to accept it as freely as we offer it, ever making, as we sincerely hope, hours, days and many years of happiness for you and yours.

Signed on behalf of the congregation of St. John's Church—

J. B. Belshaw
H. H. Alger

Mr. Byers spoke touchingly on the work and kindness of all, after which at the door of the Church he shook hands with all those who had assembled on that occasion.

Mrs. Byers Honoured by Ladies

Members of St. John's Women's Guild and W. A. met at the home of Mrs. Byers yesterday afternoon and presented her with a beautiful bouquet of roses and an exquisite imported vase of Grecian design, inlaid with sterling silver. The following address was read:

Stirling, June 25th, 1933

Dear Mrs. Byers,—
We have met here today as representatives of the Guild and W. A. to try and express to some slight degree at least, not only the deep affection we have for you, but also our appreciation and gratitude for the great interest you have always manifested in these organizations. Your devotion to duty has been as we all realize of inestimable value to the parish, and we know your example has been an inspiration to all. We know also that the success of both organizations has been due largely, not only to your very capable management, but also to the untiring energy you have displayed all these years. It is unnecessary I am sure to tell you how we regret the fact that you are leaving us, but we are all very happy to know that you will be near, and we are hoping you will come to our homes whenever it is possible for you to do so. As a slight expression of our love and appreciation we want you to take this little remembrance with you, along with our good wishes for your health and a most happy future.

Honoured by Frankford Parish

At Trinity Church Parish Hall last evening a large number assembled to say farewell to the Rector and presented him with a substantial sum of money. Mr. Byers referred to the loyalty of the people, saying without their co-operation he could never have carried on the work. After the presentation a beautiful basket of roses was presented to the rector for Mrs. Byers. Luncheon was served by the ladies of the congregation. Mrs. Ketcheson presided at the organ and all united in singing "He's a jolly good fellow." The following is the address:

Frankford, June 28, 1933

Dear Mr. Byers,—

We, the members of Trinity United Church are gathered here this evening to hold a farewell party due to your having decided to leave the parish, owing to your condition of health. In all the years we have known you, you have ever been a true and loyal friend to each and every one of us, and as you will not be living at a great distance we trust that both you and Mrs. Byers will be able to visit us frequently in the future. Expressing our appreciation of your services in the parish during the twenty-eight and one-half years, and the love and esteem in which we hold you, we ask you to accept this sum of money as a small token of our regard.

Signed on behalf of the parishioners of Trinity Church — A. E. Casey, Rector's Warden, E. E. Ketcheson, People's Warden.

WAS NATIVE OF RAWDON

Mr. J. B. Belshaw attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Henry Killoran, in Campbellford yesterday afternoon. The deceased had passed away at her home in Sudbury on Monday, after an illness of three weeks. She was a native of Rawdon township, having been born on the fourth concession eighty-four years ago, and was well known in that section. Her husband predeceased her 52 years ago. Surviving are two daughters, Mary of Sudbury; Mrs. E. J. O'Heare, of Ottawa; and one son, Wm. J. of Sudbury. Mrs. John Farrell is a niece and Mr. John Killoran a brother-in-law. She was a sister of Mr. Wm. Ryan. The remains were taken to Campbellford, the funeral taking place yesterday afternoon to St. Mary's Church, and interment being made in St. Mary's Cemetery.

CATHOLIC W. L.

The regular meeting of the Stirling subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was held at the home of Mrs. Thos. McGrath, on Thursday afternoon, last week, with a record attendance. Before the meeting was officially opened, Rev. H. J. Farrell addressed the assembly, asking that the ladies unite in making a concentrated drive to gain new subscriptions to the "Canadian Freeman", the official diocesan organ. The president, Mrs. J. Clinton McGee then took charge of the meeting which was opened with prayer, followed by the reading of the Secretary's report by Miss Patricia Shea, and the roll call. A motion was made and carried that an invitation be extended to Mrs. C. J. Brennan of Deseronto, and diocesan president of the Catholic Women's League to visit our sub-division. Several committees were then appointed, Mrs. J. E. O'Donnell being made convener of the Relief Committee, to be assisted by Mrs. Fred Gibson and Mrs. Jas. E. Lagrow. A special Church Committee, consisting of Mrs. Jas. Fitzpatrick as convener and Mrs. Thos. McGrath and Mrs. W. J. Whitty as assistants was named to superintend all matters relative to the upkeep and cleaning of the church.

A discussion arose concerning the advisability of holding a church picnic.

Our ball team lost their last game on Tuesday evening to Mount Pleasant which put them out of the running for the finals in the league this season. However, the boys made a very creditable showing of sportsmanship throughout the schedule. They were the only team in the league who used entirely home material, giving the juniors a chance to gain experience for another year. The line-up was as follows: Harry Brook, B. Bert Hagerman, c. Gerald Pyear 1b, Keith Wickens 2b, Roy Brooks 3b, J. Carlisle rf, Albert Fraser cf, Jack Armstrong lf, subs Don Scott, Gerald Armstrong.

THE LATE HARRY STAPLEY

Mr. Harry Stapley, aged 59, who resided about three miles east of Hoards, passed away very suddenly on Friday evening last about 9 o'clock. He had not been in robust health for a couple of months, although he had done all the spring's work and kept about all the time. He had spent most of the day on Friday with his father, Jas. Stapley, of Stirling, returning home to help with the evening chores. The children of the family had gone to Stirling to the movies with an aunt from the United States who was visiting them, Mr. and Mrs. Stapley remaining at home. Mrs. Stapley went to shut in her chickens while her husband said he would go to the barn and see if the gates were closed. Shortly afterwards she noticed her husband on the path midway between the house and barn. She went to him, finding that the dog was guarding while the man had fallen across the path and was to all appearances dead. She rushed across the road to a neighbour who came, and also summoned a doctor, who said he had died immediately he fell. He had carried two pails of milk from the cooling trough up the little grade to the milk wagon, sat them on the ground and fell. No doubt the effort was too much for his heart. Word was sent out to relatives and friends and came as a great shock, for very few knew he had been ailing.

Mr. Stapley was the eldest of a living family of 11, and leaves to mourn his loss a wife and four children, the youngest being 12; four brothers and six sisters, besides his aged father, who is 82. The funeral service was conducted on Monday afternoon, service being conducted at Carmel church, interment being made in the family burying ground known as the Eggleston cemetery on the Oak Hills, east of Stirling. The profusion of flowers signified the esteem in which the departed was held. The sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved.

There is an old saying that the "hand that rocks the cradle rules the world". That's going to be hard on a lot of us who don't stand in well with the hired girl.
